FIRE RECORD

Yesterday afternoon at 4:02, Box 73 brought the apparatus to the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre. The organist of the church had started to play on the instrument when smoke started to pour out. The firemen upon arriving found that the motor operating the organ had become overheated. Little damage was done to the church edifice.

Yesterday noon Box 641 was for a grass fire on land off Clark street, Newton Highlands. At 1:19, Box 282 was for a grass fire near Linwood avenue and Nevada street. Tuesday morning at 11:10, Box 812 was for a grass fire on the Woodman estate on Beacon street, Chestnut Hill. At 11:54 a. m., Tuesday, Box 117 was for a fire in a Dodge automobile owned by the Elmwood garage. Tuesday afternoon at 4, Box 53 was for a fire in the building on the Lower Falls playground. This fire caught from burning grass.

Monday at 2:35 p. m., Box 46 was for a slight blaze on the roof of the house at 21 Central avenue, Auburndale, occupied by Hector Gai. Sunday afternoon Boxes 991 and 921 were both pulled for a grass fire on land off Parker street.

RABBI SPEAKS ON RUMANIA

Last Sunday at Agudath Achim Synagogue, Adams street, Newton, Rabbi Victor Landau, Secretary of the New England orthodox Jewish congregations, addressed a joint meeting of Newton and Waltham orthodox Jews. He told of the persecutions being inflicted on Jews in Rumania, and asked for assistance for them. Samuel Fisher and Abraham Alpert also spoke. Musical selections were rendered by Cantor Glickstein of Temple Mishkan Tefah, and Cantor Katz of Temple Agudath Achim of Mattapan.

WILLARD E. HIGGINS

Willard E. Higgins, a native and life-long resident of Newtonville, died Sunday at his late home, 133 Lowell avenue. He was engaged in the building business, having succeeded his father who was associated with the firm of Higgins & Nickerson. He is survived by a widow and two children. His funeral service was held Tuesday at the Universalist Church. Delegations were present from Dalhousie Lodge of Masons, and Newton Lodge of Elks, of which organizations the deceased had been a member. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

WATER SUPPLY

Water Department at Work Improving The Supply

Employees of the Newton Water Department, under the supervision of Ernest Harvey of the City Engineer's force, have been engaged near the Kenrick street bridge in Needham, in taking precautionary measures to safeguard the water supply of the city. It is this work which has delayed the resumed use of Newton's own water supply, and the continued use of the inferior Metropolitan water supply. During the process of cleaning the long wooden conduit of the sediment which had been accumulating in it for many years, the supply from the large gathering well on the reservation was shut off. Water was then pumped out of the 30 inch cement conduit which carries the water from this well (located towards the Dedham end of the reservation) to a manhole just at the end of the wooden conduit near Kenrick bridge. When the water was pumped from this conduit, and the inside pressure removed, it became evident that a certain degree of porosity was present in the conduit, which might allow surface water to percolate into it from the marshy land above. As the river overflows each Spring onto this marsh land, the Water Department, working in conjunction with State officials and the members of the Board of Aldermen composing the special committee investigating the water supply, started work to eliminate this source of probable pollution.

A large plug was made which reduced the opening in the cement conduit, where it empties into the manhole, from 30 inches to 12 inches. Flange were attached to this plug connecting a 12 inch iron pipe which extends nearly to the top of the manhole. By this method, the level and pressure of the water inside the conduit is raised above that of the ground water which might seep through were this expedient not resorted to. It will effectively prevent surface water from percolating into the cement conduit. This method is temporary. The

KIWANIS CLUB

Principles of the Club Explained to New Members

At the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday 70 members were present, including 13 new members. These were—M. John Barry, A. C. Bellinger, Clarence Hutchins, John Cleary, Colin McIsaac, Arnold McIntosh, John Metz, August Osterlund, Peter Turchon, Eugene Ufford, Herbert Ward, U. G. Wheeler and Will White.

Albert H. MacAuslan explained the principles of Kiwanis to the new members. William M. Cahill made a report on the proposed activity of the club for the assistance of underprivileged children. He told that the committee dealing with this work had been in conference with the Newton probation officers, and that these officials would welcome co-operation in reclaiming wayward boys. Last year 174 boys were brought before the Newton Court at its juvenile sessions, charged with misdemeanors. At least 50 of these boys need the assistance of some older person who will take a friendly interest in them. In the past a number of societies and individuals, have at various times, attempted to assist Newton's probation officers in this work, but their efforts were not continued. The club voted to accept the recommendation of the committee that each member act as a Big Brother to some boy designated by the probation officers.

MARTIN HICKEY

Martin J. Hickey of 19 River street, West Newton, died Tuesday evening of pneumonia after a short illness. He was born in Brookline 54 years ago, but had spent most of his life in this city. For many years he conducted milk farms at Oak Hill and at Newtonville. He is survived by his widow, one son and a daughter. His funeral service was held this morning at St. Bernard's Church. Interment was in Holyhood Cemetery.

RESTRAINED FOR 30 DAYS

Aldermen Decree That All Dogs in City Must Not Run At Large. Rabies Feared.

The Newton aldermen held a special meeting Monday night, called at the order of the Mayor, to take action on ordering dogs restrained in this city. For some months rabies has been prevalent among dogs in neighboring communities, but Newton was not troubled with this dread disease. Recently it has started to show itself in the Newtons, and acting on the advice of Dr. Charles A. Boutelle, Inspector of Animals for Newton, Mayor Childs summoned the aldermen to consider taking precautionary measures to prevent further spread of this disease which is so fatal to both dogs and humans. All the aldermen were present except Leahy and Grebenstein.

Dr. Boutelle was in attendance to answer any questions asked by the aldermen. Alderman Collins inquired, "Can owners of dogs be required to have them immunized?" Dr. Boutelle answered, "Such an order has not been issued."

vious, and which had come in contact with other dogs. A few days ago another dog developed the disease in Auburndale. It takes three weeks for the disease to develop after an animal becomes infected.

Asked by Alderman Favinger, "Is the disease dangerous to children?" Dr. Boutelle answered, "It is dangerous to all humans." Alderman Favinger thought any order authorizing the police to kill all dogs not restrained within 24 hours after the restraining edict goes into effect, would be too drastic. Dr. Boutelle replied, "Anyone who thinks anything of a dog will have a collar on it, so that notification may be sent if the dog is captured by the police. We have no means of keeping many dogs in pound. There has been no epidemic of rabies in Newton for 15 years. At that time the few dogs confined, were kept in a cell in police headquarters."

Alderman Favinger then asked City Clerk Grant, "How many dogs are licensed in Newton?" Mr. Grant answered, "About 2300, and I think there are almost as many unlicensed dogs in the city." Mr. Favinger then displayed a most unusual confidence in human nature by saying "that many dog owners may innocently have failed to have had their dogs licensed." He also commented, "I would not favor having 2000 dogs killed in 24 hours. People think a great deal of their dogs. We ought to devise some better scheme, some more humane way."

Dr. Boutelle replied, "There will be a certain number of dogs the police cannot catch. There will be no alternative, if the rabies continues, than to shoot these dogs. If persons care for their dogs, they should restrain them."

Alderman Ball asked, "What penalty is imposed on owners who do not

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

NEW ATHLETIC COACH

Newton High Authorities Considering
Many Applications

Approximately thirty-five applications for the position of athletic coach left vacant by the death of the late Mr. Dickinson are being considered by Francis L. Bacon, director of secondary education, and Clifford Brownell, director of physical education. These applications have come from all over the country with one from Texas and several from the Middle West. The two directors will eliminate those deemed unsuitable for the position and then consider carefully the remaining ones. When the choice has dwindled down to one of several the ultimate choice will be made by Superintendent of Schools U. G. Wheeler, with the approval of Bacon and Brownell. The athletic council, composed of Messrs. Maxim, Richmond, Brownell and other faculty advisers has no other voice than to decide matters of policy in regard to athletics.

The first qualification the successful applicant must have will be the acceptance of some position on the faculty staff of the high school. This requires a man who has had some experience as a teacher. On this basis the report that the position will be offered to Alfred (Jake) Stafford, Newton high and Harvard football star, can be eliminated. While Stafford has a fine personality and the foundation for a successful career as a coach, he has not had experience as a teacher.

The appointment of Mr. Brownell as baseball coach this spring does not fill the vacancy in this sport. This appointment is but an emergency one and Mr. Brownell will positively decline to take it another spring. It does not need to be said that the first consideration will be to find a man capable of handling the football situation. If the same man has the ability to handle baseball or some other sport Newton will be the gainer and not the loser. First, however, a football coach will be appointed within the next month or two in all probability. Later if the position as baseball coach is vacant other applications will be received.

N. H. S. BASEBALL

Baseball practice for the Newton high school 1927 nine continues daily at Clavin Field. A team which should hold its own with former Newton teams is in the making under the direction of Coach Clifford Brownell and his assistant John Sullivan. A practice game of a few innings is a daily part of the conditioning with the various pitchers taking their turn in the box.

One of the most important changes made is the shifting of Captain John Proctor from shortstop to second base. The blonde-haired athlete is troubled by the sore arm which handicapped him last year and the coaches have deemed it best to place him on the near side of the bag to reduce the strain on his arm.

Who will replace him in short is a question although it would not be at all surprising to see Frank Spain get the job. The Waban boy is doing a good job behind the bat but the necessity of having a veteran on the far side of the diamond in order to support an inexperienced third baseman is apparent. Victor Stout and Casey, infielder on the Earnshaw Mills twelfth league team last year, are battling for the job at the hot corner and it is impossible to pick the winner. First base is another problem that is proving troublesome. Harold Andres, deMille, and Arthur Wilson are the three choices. All of a lot to learn about covering the initial corner. Andres may go back to centerfield as he has the best arm of any man on the squad and is a regular hawk at going back after the longer flies. DeMille seems to have the edge at present but Art Wilson who caught some last year, is a peppery individual who should also make good.

Taking Spain and Wilson away from behind the bat will give Mickey Monahan his chance to come through. He is not a heavy hitter but in order to strengthen the infield defense it may be necessary to sacrifice a little batting strength. The outfield will probably be made up of Andres at center, Mullen or Gatchell in left and Stubbs or White in right. Linguist and McCleary, pitchers, are hard hitting batsmen who may get positions in the outer garden if the others fail to connect. The pitching staff will surely include Linguist and McCleary as well as Mace, Bill Riley and Don Wilson. This quintet will furnish plenty of competition among themselves for regular duty.

With the first game only a week from next Wednesday the coaches have got a lot of work cut out for them. In addition to deciding on the line-up they must drill considerable baseball science into the boys' heads as there are but few veterans left from last year's nine available.

SPORT NOTES

Henrich Expected To Score
Candidates for the Harvard outdoor track team reported the first of this week. Among the foremost hurdlers who are expected to score for the Crimson this spring is Bill Henrich.

Blaney A Williams Prospect
With but one veteran twirler available it seems probable that a few of the likely looking candidates for pitching berths at Williams will be counted upon to take a turn in the box. Bill Blaney, hockey star of the past season, is one of several good prospects who may make the grade.

DeWitt-Clinton Schedules
Coach Gordon Goodwin, of the DeWitt-Clinton High School baseball team has already scheduled five games for the spring season. The first game will be played with the Rivers School on April 22nd. The other games scheduled are with Middlesex School on April 27th; Dummer Academy on May 4th; Noble and Greenough School on May 20th; and Middlesex School again on May 25th.

Dual track meets have been scheduled with the Concord, Milton, Malden and Lexington High Schools.

Whitmore On Mound

Howard Whitmore took the mound for the Harvard varsity in a practice game against the Yannisians on Tuesday of this week, alternating with Barbee, the Crimson ace. The varsity won in six innings, 3 to 1. Whitmore is good enough to be picked as one of the eight or nine twirlers who will make the southern trip the week of April 18th.

Hammond Making Unusual Record
Merrill M. Hammond, freshman at DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana, and son of M. M. Hammond of 133 Eastbourne road, Newton Center, has made an unusual record during the short period of his college course. Hammond was the outstanding 220 man on the varsity swimming team. Since he is only a freshman, he was awarded class numerals in place of the varsity D. He is also a member of the DePauw rifle team which has won all its dual meets up to date.

Besides these activities, Hammond plays drums with Doc Noble's orchestra, a dance organization which plays for many social functions in Indiana and nearby States. With all his extra-curricular duties, he is maintaining a scholastic rank well above the average. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Bryant On All-Team

Selections for the All-Eastern collegiate swimming team were made recently by Frank Sullivan, Princeton coach and editor of the official swimming guide. Five choices for each event were made. Dartmouth with five places out of the thirty was third in the total number of places. John Bryant accounted for two of these by being second choice in the 100 and third in the 50-yard swim.

Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Andrew D. Fuller, S.B., Massachusetts Life Underwriter, gave a very interesting talk on "Baby Life Bonds," before the Fellowship Club last Monday evening. He advanced the new idea that we should not only teach children thrift by asking them to earn money, saving a part of it by depositing it in the savings bank, but that it was also very important for the parents to buy Baby Life Bonds in order that the child from the very beginning might have some money to spend, thus teaching that money properly invested, bringing regular dividends, enables one to buy things that otherwise they would not be able to enjoy.

The speaker next Monday will be Lieutenant Reginald D. Thomas of Naval Aviation Corps. Lieutenant Thomas has done a great deal of flying and knows the Aviation game in all its phases. He will use pictures to illustrate his talk.

The bowling teams from the Newton Y. M. C. A. played the Brockton Y. M. C. A. bowlers at Brockton Saturday evening, March 26th. The result was a tie, both the first and second teams each winning two points. Mr. John C. Ward and John L. Sullivan, excellent for the Newton teams. Those representing the Newton Y. M. C. A. were: Messrs. Tucker, Cooper, Bills, Ward, Lane, Sullivan, Rodman, Irving, Lawrence Trowbridge, and Fred Trowbridge.

On Saturday thirty-nine members of the Boys' Division went on an educational trip to the United States Navy Yard at Charlestown. The Yard Superintendent very courteously showed the group around the premises. He allowed them to go on board "Old Ironsides," and through a submarine chaser, besides exploring other parts of the Navy Yard.

Other interesting trips are on schedule for the members throughout the spring.

The following boys have just taken out new membership tickets in the Boys' Division of the "Y": Russell Nicholson, Thomas McManus, Harold Everett, Emmet Roy, Victor Cremer, Edmund Hawes, Anthony Capodanno, William Hague, Edwin Weldig, and Curtis Beach.

Ponce De Leon Lured by Gold, or Lobsters?

Many historians concede that Columbus discovered the island of Borinquen, as Porto Rico was then called, on November 19, 1493, and that he came ashore next day. With him came Ponce de Leon, destined to write his name with his sword across the map of Florida and to perish in Cuba from an arrow wound while in the Everglades. Legend states that they were kindly received by the Indians, who deemed the bearded strangers immortal and feasted them on strange fruits and the delicious langostas, or lobsters, which are still found in great profusion in the waters of Aguadilla bay, says the New York Times.

Ponce de Leon, perhaps the most distinguished of the admiral's companions, became very fond of the crustaceans and ate many of them during his stay. Tradition has it, indeed, that his return to Aguadilla from Santo Domingo in 1509, at the head of an exploring expedition, was due more to his love for lobsters than to the lure of gold. The gallant adventurer had not at that time heard of the fabled "Fountain of Youth."

Not long ago fishermen in a nearby river discovered an Indian idol of carved soapstone, depicting a bearded figure, seated, with an enormous lobster twining its claws lovingly about the man's neck. The tail of the crustacean reaches the ground, indicating that the body of the model must have been nearly four feet in length. At once the news spread that an image of Ponce de Leon had been found, and the curio was deposited in the museum of Captain Azua in Bayamon, where it is now on exhibition.

Bird's Color Changed by Feeding Methods

The food a bird eats can modify the colors of the plumage. Canaries, for instance, can be changed from their usual clear pale yellow to a rich orange hue by mixing with their food sweet cayenne and the husks of capiscum. Pigeons, too, can be similarly altered. Some years ago the Austrian scientist, Doctor Sauermaier, kept pigeons which he fed upon foods mixed with harmless aniline dyes. By use of one dye he obtained pigeons of a beautiful red, and with another dye he got others of a rich blue. The African touracou has crimson feathers, but its color is not "fast," and if the bird is exposed to heavy rain it fades to a sort of pink. By steeping the quill feathers of the touracou in boiling water a beautiful dye can be obtained. The bird's second color, green, is quite permanent. Some humming birds can only be described as living jewels, but the most varied and brilliant coloring is found in the parrot tribe. The most beautiful British bird is the kingfisher, but as a rule brightly colored birds belong to hot countries.—Montreal Family Herald.

Forgivable

James M. Whistler, the artist, who was noted for his peculiarities, on one occasion was walking about an art gallery, gazing with eagerness in action at the pictures. Another artist, who knew him slightly, was sitting in the center of the room when a friend approached him and begged an introduction to Whistler. Feeling very proud to be able to grant his friend's request, he rose and approached the American.

"Oh, Mr. Whistler," he said a little nervously, "excuse me, this is my friend, Mr. B."

Whistler halted in his slow march around the room, and then looking back over his shoulder and casting a rapid glance at B, he replied, "Oh, indeed; well, it doesn't matter."

Goat's Good Qualities

The goat is one of the most misunderstood animals living in domesticity. From the very dawn of history it has played an important part in the progress of mankind. By the Semite people, round which our history centers, the goat was highly esteemed. Its milk was considered delicious; its meat was food for guests. It is now a lover of men and unlike its relatives of the bovine world, it appreciates the association of humans—especially children—and never wanders off to solitary pastures as do the cows and sheep. It almost equals the dog for fidelity; certainly is on a par with the cow and sheep in utility.

EDITORIAL

Newton is not alone in the matter of false alarms for fire, as there seems to be an epidemic of this nature in Boston, Brookline and other Metropolitan municipalities. Ringing of false alarms indicates either a childish desire to see the fire department in action or a malicious nature which hopes for the thrill of an accident of some kind or the other.

Such a contingency is always possible as the serious accident at Auburndale recently indicates and which besides injuries to the firemen, will cost the city many thousands of dollars for damages to the apparatus. Chief Randlett estimates that it costs the city in depreciation of apparatus, gas and oil, at least $50 to respond to any call, in addition to the possible damages by accident. Every taxpayer therefore has a direct interest in keeping down this needless expense and can give some assistance by carefully noting the appearance of any one who is seen pulling in an alarm for fire.

We fail to understand the attitude of those persons who are willing to run the risk of hydrophobia rather than take a few elementary precautions to prevent the spread of that dread disease. It should be borne in mind by such persons that the real danger does not come from the dogs owned by careful and decent persons, for such dogs are well looked after. It is from the stray and homeless dogs, who are more apt to take the disease and pass it on to others. It would do the city no harm whatever to have such dogs eliminated. In the mean time let us protect our children first, even at some inconvenience to a few dog owners.

The new traffic regulations in Nonantum square create one grave source of danger, particularly when the traffic officer is not on duty as occasionally happens. We refer to the Brighton bound automobiles from Watertown, passing the end of the M & B tracks, while a trolley car is standing. We understood that these cars were to be stopped some 65 feet from the end of the tracks thus giving an opportunity for an adequate view of the situation. The standing trolley cars only ten feet from the end of the tracks block the view entirely.

We are glad to note that there is a possibility of some kind of bus service between the north and south sides of the city. We suggest that the Street railway company be granted permission to try out the various routes before a definite decision is made.

Attorney General Reading touches a big problem in stirring up the issue of lotteries for church fairs and fraternal bodies. Mr. Reading is absolutely right in his position that such practices are against the law.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Tuesday morning automobiles driven by Joseph Watkins of Greendale avenue, Needham, and Farris Zattily of Tremont street, Boston, collided at the corner of Lincoln and Highland streets, West Newton. Farris Velipity of 731 Tremont street, Boston, was slightly injured in the crash.

Friday afternoon as Mrs. Genevieve Thornton of North street, was backing her automobile out into Washington street, opposite 331, a car driven by Mrs. Rebecca Dodd of Wales street, Dorchester, came along and ran into the Thornton auto. Mrs. Herbert Tinkham of Cambridge, who was riding with Mrs. Dodd, was thrown against the windshield and suffered cuts on her face.

Cars driven by Timothy Sullivan of 114 Dedham street, Newton Highlands, and John G. Mason of Bradford road, Newton Highlands, collided yesterday at the corner of Lincoln and Columbus streets, Newton Highlands. Sullivan reported that he received injuries.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

We understand that a conference was held the other day between the Mayor and the Select Committee on the New City Hall. We believe the conference was held last Saturday, according to the rumor we heard. We wish to impress upon our readers that we cannot vouch for the accuracy of this, or what follows. We merely "heard" of it. We have not attempted to extract any information on this, or any other "inside stuff" regarding the new city hall, from any alderman. To do so would not be ethical. It would be anything but nice for an alderman to reveal any matter transpiring at a conference, "in committee," or at a closed meeting.

According to what "we heard," this conference was held to enable the special committee to have a heart to heart talk with the Mayor regarding the matter of asking the Legislature to permit Newton to borrow $1,000,000 outside its debt limit to finance the building of a new city hall, and the purchase of land on which to erect this monumental new edifice. According to what "we heard," the Mayor has not shown any undue enthusiasm over this proposition, and the committee wanted to "talk turkey" with him. From what "we heard" the conversation at the conference was somewhat animated. It is barely possible that the Mayor may run again, and realizing that this city has some financial problems to meet through the need of building more schools, improving streets and such necessary things, it may be that he does not see the necessity of adding another $1,000,000 more onto the burden of the city at present. If he gave his consent to this, it might be used as a political argument against him. If he refuses to endorse the project, it also may be used as a political argument against him. It is quite probable that something may be said at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night about the present status of the new city hall.

In another part of this paper we had something to say on the secrecy veiling the meetings held by the aldermen when they have discussed the proposed new municipal capitol. It might be timely to mention here an aftermath of this conference to which we have been referring. Before many hours had elapsed after this conference had been held, a certain gentleman who has invested heavily in West Newton real estate, (note that we do not call this gentleman a real estate speculator) apparently had obtained considerable information as to what had occurred at the conference. We do not blame this gentleman for obtaining any information possible about the plans which are being formulated regarding the new city hall. He has a large amount of money tied up in his investment at West Newton and he has been quite patient in connection with the uncertainties created by the deliberations anent the projected aesthetic municipal workshop of Newton.

Anyhow, "we heard" that this gentleman "got hep" to the details of the gabfest between the Mayor and the select committee on the new city hall. And he proceeded to give indications that he does not intend to do any longer taking definite action on developing his property and obtaining some financial returns from it. When some of the members of the select committee learned that this gentleman had been "wised up" on their conference, they became quite indignant. It is disconcerting to discover that apparently among their number is, or are, one or more than one, who will not observe the gentleman's agreement "that publicity will not be given to what occurs at meetings which are supposed to be private." We would again suggest that there is one very practical way to stop such leaks. Let the aldermen discuss city affairs publicly. Let our citizens and taxpayers know what is transpiring. It seems quite evident that some of them will know, despite the efforts of some of the aldermen to keep secret important city projects in order "that real estate speculators will not have an opportunity to profiteer."

Many Newton residents will be leading dogs during the next 30 days. And every dog in the city will be "leading a dog's life," deprived of his customary freedom. This is too bad, from the dog's point of view, or from the point of view of some of the owners of the dogs. But it is much more important that some human lives will be protected from that terrible disease, hydrophobia, than that even a few thousands of dogs will be restrained for one month.

There are persons who scoff at the statement "that there is such a disease as hydrophobia." These persons should see some unfortunate victim suffering the terrible tortures of the last stages of hydrophobia. They would then change their opinions on this matter.

The order will be enforced. It goes into effect today. The police have a cage installed on an automobile and officers will be detailed to tour the city with this to round up dogs which are not restrained.

Damage by Forest Fires.

Most forest streams are slightly acid—a condition known to be well adapted to trout—but forest fires often cause a deposit of ash which gives the streams an alkaline quality most destructive to fish life.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The antagonism between Governor Fuller and the Legislature was strikingly manifested this week in the action of the House on the bill recommended by the governor in relation to the establishment of branch trust companies. Several votes were taken on different phases of the matter and on each one the vote was overwhelmingly against the legislation the governor favored.

It also flamed up a bit in the action taken by the Senate Ways and Means committee on the bill affecting the Boston Elevated. Only one member of that committee favored the bill recommended by the joint committees on Street Railways and on Metropolitan affairs. It is thought that this adverse report means no action on this important matter this year. As Governor Fuller has been most urgent that the Boston Elevated situation should be cleared up at this session, it is evident that this mulish action of the Legislature is an indirect attack on the chief executive. At the hearing before Senate Ways and Means, Mr. Henry I. Harriman, who has given this object a great deal of attention and who is probably one of the best posted men in the state on the situation, spoke in favor of the bill, even though he believes in a longer term of public control than 25 years. Representative Hollis also spoke on the bill, opposing the 25 years control as too long and also favoring appointment of trustees for 5 years instead of 10.

The Senate took wise action this week in referring to the next annual session the absurd preliminary bill which has been reported by the Election Laws committee. The Senate Ways and Means reported against this bill and in view of a probable recess committee to consider election law changes, reference to the next session was the better plan.

The action taken by the House Ways and Means committee in approving a two cent gas tax in place of the three cents recommended by the Committee on Taxation has been endorsed by the House. The money raised by the extra cent was to be given to the various municipalities of the state, and as we have heretofore pointed out would not have increased the amount available for local street construction, as nine out of ten of the municipalities would have merely cut down the amount appropriated locally.

The family home for a long time was in Roxbury, first in the Elm Hill section and later in Wales street. Mrs. Forbes was a native of Fall River, the daughter of Dr. Foster Hooper. A surviving daughter is Mrs. Henry Dudley Klous, living at 90 Summer street, Newton Centre.

Heartbreaking news knocks at the door of our Newton Welfare Bureau. Need of service, of sympathy, of readjustment. Above all, need of money to tide over distress. No other organization in the city is so far-reaching in its ministrations to all classes of people. Immediate help is given when needed, but often much time must be given to working on cases. Please be ready to meet the drive in behalf of the Newton Welfare Bureau and give generously. Leaders of the drive in Newton Centre are W. H. Rice and Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr.

NEWTON LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The program for the March meeting of the League, held on the fourth Wednesday of the month, was extremely unique and enlightening. Two representatives from the government of the City of Newton were speakers.

Mr. Frank Grant, City Clerk, told briefly and forcibly about the good work of the men who are in charge of our city affairs.

Mr. Grant then introduced Alderman Henry W. Ball, chairman of the special committee on Water Supply. He explained the water situation of Newton in a "straight from the shoulder" manner and held the interest of his audience with a talk that was vitally interesting. Many questions were settled in the minds of his hearers and Mr. Ball was cordially thanked by the members of the league for his clear cut information on a problem that has been so trying to all the citizens of Newton. The outlook for better water is assured.

The next meeting of the league will be held as usual on the first Wednesday evening of the month, April sixth, at eight o'clock at the rooms of the Welfare Bureau, 12 Austin street. Mrs. LaRue Brown, Chairman of the Child Welfare Committee, National League of Women Voters, will speak on The Shepard-Towner Act and Its Present Status. All women of Newton are cordially invited to come and hear about this important topic.

"IDEAL" Granulated Peat Moss

An indispensable product for garden, greenhouse, lawns, etc., is found in "Ideal" Granulated Peat Moss, imported from Holland, and used extensively in this country.

This Peat Moss consists of a decayed vegetable matter of mostly aquatic plants, and forms a wonderful humus. Its main character is the moisture-retaining capacity, which assists seeds to strike root properly, at the same time preventing the roots from too sudden changes of temperature.

Lawn and Link. Long weeks of drought badly affect lawns and sport links. "Ideal" Granulated Peat Moss is the remedy. Sow your grass seeds mixed in wetted Peat Moss, and you will have a fresh-looking, ever-green lawn. In the late fall, lawns should be heavily covered with "Ideal" Granulated Peat Moss, which will be almost entirely absorbed in the spring. No liming is required when using Peat Moss.

"Ideal" Granulated Peat Moss is packed in 220-pound bales, burlapped on all sides and wire strapped. When loosened, the contents will cover 100 square feet three inches deep.

Prices. Ask us for our delivered prices on any quantity from one bale to a carload.

He is survived by two daughters, Miss Constance Ashenden who makes her home with him and Mrs. Charles M. Whelden of Orchard street, Newton. There is also a son, Mr. Richard C. Ashenden of Auburn-dale.

Funeral services will be held from his late home, 127 Oakleigh road, Newton, and Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace church, of which Mr. Ashenden was an old and valued member, will officiate. The burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Brighton.

WEST NEWTON PRIEST TRANSFERRED

Rev. John J. Allston of St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, was transferred this week to St. Patrick's Parish, Lowell. He will be succeeded by Rev. Michael Danahy who comes from St. Peter's Church, Dorchester. Fr. Allston has been stationed at West Newton, since his ordination several years ago. He was very popular with the people of the parish and his departure is regretted.

The report that Rev. James F. Haney of the Sacred Heart parish, Newton Centre, had been transferred to Brockton, was incorrect. Rev. David Waters, formerly of Newton Centre, who has been stationed at St. John's Church, Roxbury, has been transferred to Ayer.

Library's Great Value

Not Fully Realized

Our libraries can be made one of the most potent instruments of a creative citizenship, which aims at humanizing that grim industrialism, the grip of which tightens every day. Our policy must be to teach the community to find in the library a central laboratory of sweetness and light—a radiating power house of the spiritual and intellectual antidotes to the mechanistic materialism with which life today is saturated and by which it is degraded. We must insist that the library represents the literature of power, as distinct from the literature of knowledge and of information. Just as most men and women cannot understand maps without careful instruction, so most readers do not know really how to read. We have taught our people to decipher print; we have not yet taught them how to read. The universities tried to do that—but even if our ideals are realized the percentage of our congested democracy that will pass through a university must always be comparatively small. The library can do what the university cannot. Let us convince the public that it pays to read the literature of power, and it will pay to have that literature in abundance. —Principal Grant Robertson in a recent address.

Common Phrase Once

Had Distinct Meaning

"A name to conjure with" is a phrase more used than understood, as conjuring was not always the term for stage or parlor tricks of the present day. Originally conjuring stood for the art of the magician—the conjurer of the Dark ages being really the same personage as the wizard. His conjuring really meant a very solemn compact or agreement, the word itself being taken from the Latin for an oath. Part of his ritual consisted in the then popular belief that he could summon up Satan or some other spirit by the saying of some "word of power, such a word being generally mysterious-sounding, like 'abracadabra.' Occasionally the name of some departed great one, such as Solomon, was used. This name would then be known as sufficiently mighty to "conjure with," spirits hearing it being bound to obey. Today, we no longer believe in magic, and the magician of mystery and dread has turned into the harmless gentleman who produces rabbits from his hat at children's parties; but the old phrase still remains, and we refer to this and that great man as having "a name to conjure with."

The Motor Shovel

In unloading ore or coal from the holds of vessels on the Great Lakes there is always a certain amount of material in corners and between hatches that cannot be reached by the unloading buckets. The superintendent of one railway has designed a motor-driven scraper shovel that moves such material much faster than it can be moved by hand.

The machine carries a shovel that can be raised and dumped automatically, but whenever possible the ore or coal is pushed underneath the hatch openings, where the unloading buckets haul it out of the ship. The power-scraper shovel is said to do the work of 12 to 40 shovelers, according to the type of boat, and to save from one to five hours' time in the unloading process.

Chinese Kitchens

Except for the fact that gas is the fuel instead of grass and wood, as in China, Chinese kitchens in American chop suey restaurants are closely fashioned after the patterns of the mud stoves in the Orient. There the stove is always broken before a family moves to a new abode. Here the kitchen range is built of tile, but still on the model of the old. The great shallow pans, the ladies and the oil pots, however, are strictly Chinese, and strange jars of water chestnuts the corymb of a water plant imported from China, and other jars filled with slices of bamboo shoots are much in evidence among Chinese kitchens here as in the East.

Changes in Date Line

The so-called international date line was designed to remove certain objections to the meridian of 180 degrees west, the most important of which is that groups of islands lying about this meridian differ in date by a day, although only a few miles apart. Several forms have been suggested. These generally agree in retaining the meridian of 180 degrees in the mid-Pacific, with a bend in the north in order to make the Aleutian Islands and Alaska of the same time as America, and also in the south so as to bring certain of the South Sea Islands into a line with Australia and New Zealand.

Gold Market Wild Scene

The wildest scenes of commotion are to be witnessed on the Chinese exchange at Shanghai where brokers, dealing in gold bars, create more noise and display less regard for the physical and mental being of their neighbors than do even the brokers on the New York Stock exchange, the New York curb or the Chicago Board of Trade, according to Geraldine Sartain, special correspondent to the Honolulu Star-Bulletin. There are 100 brokers on the gold bar exchange and these participate in a continuous scramble for positions around a table where the dealings are carried on.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The fact that the Putnam street bridge over the B. & A. tracks was closed to traffic for over a week to permit the moving of an old house, should encourage our aldermen to persist in continuing to grant permits for the moving of ancient houses along our streets. This practice, which was supposed to have been abolished in this city until last year, appears to find special favor with our present aldermen. That the public is inconvenienced, and shade trees endangered, is, apparently, of little concern.

During the discussion at the special meeting of the aldermen last Monday night on the restraining of all dogs in this city for 30 days, Alderman Favinger stated "that he believes that many persons in this city do not know that they must have their dogs licensed." We disagree with the alderman. In our opinion there are very few persons so innocent, or ignorant, as to be unaware that dogs must be licensed. We have heard assistant assessors relate of persons in this city who have been known to send their dogs to friends living out in the country just before the 1st of April, to avoid paying the license fee. There is a law compelling all dogs to wear a collar with the license number on it. This law has not been enforced in Newton for many years. There is no reason why it should not be enforced. There are many reasons why it should be enforced. The police should be ordered to enforce this law.

Alderman Favinger also said, "I would not want to see 2000 dogs in this city killed within 24 hours." This remark was made as a result of the passage of the order which would authorize the police to kill any dog running loose after the order had been in effect over 24 hours. Mr. Favinger need not worry about the police of this city killing 2000 dogs in 24 hours. There are few marksmen on the force. Even if they succeeded in rounding up 2000 dogs within 24 hours, we believe the police would have to use machine guns to kill such a number before another 24 hours would have elapsed.

Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher, alderman from Ward 1, has been serving the past year as a member of the special committee dealing with the water supply of the city. He has given without stint of his time in this work. Daily, and sometimes more often, he has journeyed to the water reservation where the various tasks of improving the water supply have been in progress. If Newton water is not purer in the future, it will not be because Dr. Gallagher has been derelict in his duty.

SYMPTOMS OF RABIES

Rabies, or hydrophobia, is an acute infection caused by a living parasite found in the saliva of a "mad" dog. The symptoms of rabies vary much, and it is customary to consider them in two groups—furious rabies, and dumb rabies.

With furious rabies the dog is uneasy and his disposition is changed. A naturally good dog may cease to obey, and become sullen and treacherous; a mouse and vicious dog may become quite friendly. Frequently there is the appearance of "sore throat," or bone in the throat. The dog is now apt to eat sticks, stones and other strange things. He soon develops a desire to run away; a mad dog covers great distances, and frequently attacks all persons and animals it meets on the way. It is now "mad" and often delirious. It has a peculiar bark, somewhat resembling the bay of a hound. It may froth at the mouth, but this is not a constant symptom.

The furious stage gradually passes into a quiet stage due to paralysis. The paralysis begins in the hind legs, and gives the dog a peculiar gait. He may return home after a couple of days, very weak; perhaps unusually affectionate, but still subject to vicious moods. The paralysis extends over the body, and death results, sometimes quite suddenly. The visible stage of the disease runs its course in four or five days.

In "dumb rabies" the dog is usually depressed. There is little desire to run away or bite. In fact, the lower jaw is more or less paralyzed so that biting is not easy. There is often the appearance of "bone in the throat," the jaw remains partly open, saliva the jaw remains partly open, saliva may become dry, frequent attempts to drink are but partly successful, because of paralysis of the throat. If harshly treated, the dog may become vicious and run off. If put in a cage and away from friends, it may try to bite its way out. Paralysis soon comes on.

The law requires all dogs over three months old to be licensed, and to wear a collar, marked with the license number and the owner's name.

If your dog has symptoms of rabies consult a veterinarian. If a person is bitten by a dog suspected of being mad, consult a physician without delay and have the bite properly cauterized with nitric acid.

No dog, suspected of being mad, should be killed except as a matter of self-defense. It should be confined and a veterinarian called, or officials notified. While in confinement the dog should be properly cared for, and kept under observation. Many dogs have been needlessly killed because of having been wrongfully suspected of having rabies.

FIND MAN POISONED

Shortly before midnight Saturday, a pedestrian discovered a man lying unconscious on the lawn of Elliot Church, Newton. He notified Patrolman Cody, who called the police ambulance, and the man was taken to the Newton Hospital. There it was found he had swallowed iodine and was in a critical condition. His identity was revealed as Peter Pappas of 1523 Columbus avenue, Roxbury.

DOGS ORDERED RESTRAINED

restrain their dogs?" Alderman Weeks informed him, "There is no penalty. The dogs are killed. There is no provision, according to the state law for impounding dogs found running loose." Alderman Hinckley suggested that the city co-operate with the Animal Rescue League by asking that organization to take the dogs which will be collected by the police." It is doubtful if the Animal Rescue League has sufficient collecting trucks or parking space for wholesale numbers of dogs. Dr. Boutelle stated, "I do not care to see dogs killed, but I do want to see the rabies suppressed."

Alderman Gordon said, "If the aldermen had been living in Auburndale, they might have different views on this matter. A number of persons in Auburndale have been worried sick over the outbreak of rabies in that village. Danger exists not only to dogs, but to humans. Our real object is to save human lives, not dogs' lives."

At this time, the Committee on Claims and Rules went into conference to draw up an order calling for the restraint of all dogs in the city, and the aldermen took a recess. When the committee resumed its debate on the order, again was resumed. Alderman Madden explained that his committee had conferred with Dr. Boutelle and City Solicitor Bartlett, and had drawn an order similar to one issued three years ago. He also contradicted President Weeks' answer to Alderman Ball, by stating, "Anyone who fails to obey the order by neglecting to restrain a dog, can be fined $25." He continued, "We are up against a serious situation in Newton today. We must pass an order with teeth in it, or it will not be obeyed. The question is—do we want to protect human lives, or shall we lean over backwards in favor of dogs? The City Solicitor says, 'It is up to the Mayor and Chief of Police to see that this order is enforced.' We can feel assured the Mayor will be reasonable in this matter. The police will distribute notices of this order and it will be printed in the local papers."

Alderman Gallagher said, "I have kept dogs all my life. I own many of them. City officials should disseminate the news that dogs should be immunized. Ordinarily immunization is effective for one year. We can't compel persons to have their dogs immunized, but it is the only sure way to wipe out rabies. There are no licensed dogs in this city. There is nothing more appalling than hydrophobia. It is a terrible disease. Many persons in this city are now in a great state of worry. The Pasteur treatment is expensive, long and painful. The victim who takes it must receive a jab in the abdomen daily for three weeks with a two-inch hypodermic needle. I advise the restraint of dogs. I have had my house dog restrained for a number of days. I bought 75 feet of wire, attached a six foot chain with a swivel to the dog's collar, hitched the other end to the long wire, which has been stretched across my yard, and the dog, though restrained, gets plenty of exercise. Strap muzzles are a joke. The only effective muzzle is the old fashioned basket muzzle, and it is a persecution to put on of these on a dog. If your dog goes mad, and bites a person, you are liable to civil suit, and any damages awarded against you, are automatically doubled by law."

Dr. Boutelle suggested that the order contain a recommendation advising persons to have their dogs immunized. Alderman Heathcote moved that Dr. Boutelle's suggestion be included in the order. Alderman Hinckley suggested that the order be worded as to inform citizens that dogs, even though immunized, must also be restrained. Alderman Heathcote thought that Dr. Boutelle should give information on the circulars which will be distributed "as to where dogs can be immunized." Dr. Boutelle stated "that any veterinarian can immunize dogs." Alderman Gallagher ventured the remark that Dr. Boutelle was not seeking business at the expense of dog owners, and while Dr. Boutelle can immunize dogs, he would not advertise such a fact in connection with the notices which will be sent out."

Alderman Hodgdon wanted the notices so worded that the public will not get the impression that dogs will be immunized at the expense of the city. Alderman Gallagher answering him said, "If a person wants a dog immunized, he will have common sense enough to obtain proper information as to how this can be done, and it can be easily ascertained that the city will not pay for it. Just one treatment is necessary to immunize a dog, and it costs about $5."

The order was then passed.

How to Play BRIDGE

A new series of lessons by Wynne Ferguson

ARTICLE No. 11

There are certain definite requirements of bidding that should be complied with at all times, if the auction player wants to become a sound bidder. These requirements are more or less arbitrary and vary with the position of the bidder. For example, if you hold five hearts to the ace, king, it is a sound heart bid if you are dealer; but if three players have passed, it is not a sound fourth hand bid. In the same way, a bid may not be sound on the first round of bidding but may be perfectly justified on the second round. The real reason for these so-called conventions of bidding is due to the fact that all sound bidding is part of a harmonious whole. Each bid, if it is sound, should consider not only the bid itself but also its effect upon and interpretation by one's partner. If it tells him the truth, it is a sound bid, but if it deceives him or may be misconstrued, it is not sound. Whenever you make a bid, think not only of your own cards but also of your partner and what he may do after he hears your bid. You should also consider your own course of action if the bid you now intend to make should be overbid by your opponents. Have you started something that either you or your partner can carry to its logical conclusion? If so, it is a sound bid, but not otherwise. Here is a hand that illustrates the value of looking ahead and deciding one's future action before making a bid:

ENJOYABLE RECITAL

The Beethoven Centenary recital by pupils of Gertrude Bowes Peabody at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Rushmore, on Dudley road, Newton Centre, Saturday afternoon was enjoyed by a large number of friends.

The program was rendered by Doris Jones, Frances Koshland, Cecily Livermore, Olive Riley, Stephanie Rushmore, Catherine Thompson, Rachel Warner, George Bennett, Roger Cutler, Austin Ivory, Joseph Richardson, violins; Faith Barney, Paul Ivory, violoncellos, and Alice Thompson, trumpet.

The ensemble work of the class was particularly good in the Andante Cantabile, Symphony No. 1 and Austin Ivory's playing of Romance Op. 50 in F, deserves comment.

A handsome souvenir program was furnished with an excellent likeness of Beethoven.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

The regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. was held Wednesday in Y. M. C. A. Hall. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mr. Clyde Hess, the Y. M. C. A. Boys' secretary, and the speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Irving O. Palmer. Her subject being "Busy Idleness." Mrs. Palmer presented this subject in her usual charming and interesting manner. At the close of the program there was a social hour and tea was served by the social committee with Mrs. Henry Urquhart as chairman.

Newsprint Paper

Wood mechanically ground into a pulp. But the hardwoods are unsuitable because too much power is required to grind them. Only the long-fibered, light-colored, nonresinous balsams and spruces are important commercial sources of ground wood. Pulp made by this process cannot be used for print paper by itself. It needs to be strengthened by the addition of stronger fibered pulp, which is made by cooking chips of wood with a chemical under steam pressure in a specially designed cooker. In this process a large part of the wood known as lignin is removed, leaving fibers consisting of almost pure cellulose.

Many Adverse Reasons

The editor had already that afternoon rejected the manuscripts brought by six poets, and consequently was not in a pleasant mood when the seventh of the breed of bards entered his office. "Here," said the versifier, handing a bulky manuscript to the editor, "is a poem that you cannot afford to ignore." The editor looked the verse over hurriedly. "Can't use it," he said abruptly. "Why not?" demanded the poet. "It's too long," the editor replied. "And besides, its too wide and too thick."

Electricity for Belts

Electricity now has been called into use in experiments to give loose belts a firm grip on the pulleys. Metal pulleys are coated with any smooth, hard and durable insulating substance, and the friction of the belt causes it to be charged with electricity on its inner surface. As the belt passes over the insulating coating, the metal of the pulley becomes charged by induction with electricity of the opposite pole, and strong attraction between belt and pulley is developed.

Three in School District

In a sparsely settled portion of Kansas there resides a man and his wife, with a son and daughter. This constitutes the entire population of the school district, and every year the man, his wife and son elect themselves as the three members of the school board. Then they vote a six-months' term of school at $40 a month, and employ the daughter as teacher. Her only pupil is her brother, and he attends just when he feels like it. At least, that was the procedure until the scheme was found out.

Chinese Delicacy

Salt eggs, a favorite delicacy of the Chinese, are ducks' eggs encased in clay or ashes of rice salted to preserve them.

NEWTON SPORTS

Waban Boy Wins Letter

At the end of the winter sport season at Dartmouth the awarding of letters was the big event, and one Newton boy came in for a minor letter, beside Dick Rogers who gained his hockey letter. William North of Waban was on the Big Green's wrestling team this year, taking part in the light-weight bouts where he had a great deal of success. He has not indulged before in any of the sports and it reflects credit to his versatility to be able to take up a sport and make good at it as quickly as he did.

Blaney To Captain Hockey at Williams

When the annual banquet for the hockey men was held at Williamstown, the results of the election was of interest to the people of Newton, for Bill Blaney of Waban was selected to lead the Purple on the ice next year. He was a member of the exceptional team that the college had last year and was a regular on the high-powered sextet that graced the ice this season. Besides being a good defensive wing he is a forward with great scoring powers and should turn in a good account of himself.

Third Newtonian Elected Captain

With the election of Gyp Lawless as captain of the Newton hockey group for next year, Newton has the unusual honor of having three captains in this sport in her midst. Gyp is the best performer on his wing in college circles being the main cog in the Boston University attack. He was by far the best individual player seen on the ice at the Arena this year, and with all his experience he should lead the in-town group to another successful season.

Departure of Golfer for Bermuda

For a time it was feared that Clark Hodder, the sensational young golfer, would not be able to leave for Bermuda on Saturday night while the car was parked in front of his residence on Wiltshire road, Newton. But he recovered in time to make the trip as scheduled. He is after a vacation in order to rest from the hockey season that has just drawn to a close, and hopes to find some time for a good deal of golf.

Souther Trying For Infield Job

Hartwell Souther now that the basketball season has come to a close has reported for the diamond activity and is getting himself into shape for a hard season. A veteran prep school player as his letter from Wiltshire indicates he should have little difficulty in making the infield where he has starred in past years. Always a fair batsman he has improved with years and probably will be up in the leading hitters at the Back Bay School.

Girl Star at Point of Pines

Helen Elwell, last year's graduate from Newton has been chosen as one of the leading players at the Point of Pines School. She played forward on her sorority team and from her excellent showing in the finals she was chosen as one of the best players in the school. Considering that she never played on the Varsity team at Newton she has done remarkably well to reach such a height in such a short time.

Lacrosse Claims Another

At Lehigh where the lacrosse game is immensely popular, a Newton boy has announced his intentions of going out for the team, and from all reports has a good chance to make it. Chester Pratt with all his football and wrestling experience in back of him should be a splendid defence man for the strenuous game made famous by the Indians. He is fast enough and has enough skill at body play to make a regular player even though lack of experience may tell against him.

B. U. Tennis Starts

At the annual call for candidates for the Terrier tennis team, Don Martin spoke to the assembled candidates.

The Waban boy has been one of best players that ever graced the courts of the school, and with his reputation as a tournament player he has made a record that will be hard to exceed in the near future. Although he did not play hockey this year, he is now ready to take up the tennis schedule with a vengeance. The prospects for a supporting team seem very good this year, and he himself should have a very successful season.

Holbrook Reports for Spring Football

When the call for candidates for football players was issued last week over across the Chavins, Guy Holbrook of this year's freshmen was one of the first to answer the call. Although he is at present ineligible, he expects to be off marks in time to play football next year. His prospects of making the varsity are exceptionally good because he is a man who can do anything in any of the three important departments. Last season he was a star on an all-star freshman team and should be a valuable man for John Harvard before he finishes.

Northeastern-B. U. Rivalry

These two colleges have been practising baseball against each other in practise tilts against each other for nearly a week. The star in the Terrier line-up is Gyp Lawless who continues to hold down his berth in the outfield, besides hitting the ball with his usual nonchalance. He is far and away the best ball snatcher of the crew, and besides is the fastest runner on the bases. In the same last Saturday Neil Mahoney was unable to play for Northeastern but he is in shape now and is ready to take up his old job although he will have to hustle for there are two or three rookies that are very anxious to keep him out of the bench.

POLICE NEWS

A Firestone tire was stolen from the automobile of Phillip Gilfoyle on Saturday night while the car was parked in front of his residence on Wiltshire road, Newton.

Maurice Quinn of Cherry place was fined $50 in court on Wednesday for driving while under the influence of liquor.

A neighborhood row brought Mary Barzekian of 58 Mechanic street, Upper Falls, and Mary Baradosian of 62 Mechanic street into court on Monday charged with assault and battery. The case was continued until April 1st.

Mrs. Olin Verteresian of 58 Mechanic street had been summoned into court as a witness on this case. When she did not appear, a contempt warrant was issued for her and she was arrested by Officer Conant.

About 6:30 yesterday morning Patrolman Tim Riley noticed a "man" meandering along Cotton street. Upon being questioned he gave the name of Fredlen Hansen. As he did not give, what the officer considered satisfactory reasons for being in the Centre street at such an early hour, Riley arrested him for vagrancy.

He was taken to police headquarters and the customary search for weapons started. It did not proceed very far, for the "man" was discovered to be Ethel Wilson, alias Ethel Kimball of Somerville. Ethel has been in the clutches of the police many times during the past 29 years. When caught she usually is garbed in male attire. On at least one occasion she was posing as the husband of another woman. Her case was continued until today.

Yesterday noon a reed rocking chair disappeared from a Holmes, Luce Company's truck while the machine was proceeding along Commonwealth avenue between Lake and Centre streets.

Minnie Carr of Trapelo road, Waltham, was in court yesterday charged with the larceny of a promissory note for $995 from Fred Holland Chamberlain. It is alleged she gave the note on a loan and then took the note. Her case was continued until April 4th.

COLLEGE NEWS

By Harold P. Carver, N. H. S. '26

Continuing the story of the sons of John Harvard let us turn to some of the older and supposedly most sedate members of the college, the wise old seniors. There are three seniors whose names immediately come to mind, Clement Coady, Jake Stafford, and Fred Sears. The first two men are among the most prominent in their class due to their athletic ability, and rightly so, for Coady was one of the greatest tackles that the game of football has ever produced, and Stafford at his best was one of the brainiest quarter-backs. Both these boys were stars at Newton playing on that great team in 1921 when Newton bowed her head to no team that she played. Stafford has been hampered by illness, but finally was able to finish his college course while Coady spent a year at Exeter then worked for a year before he went to college. Sears although not a star athlete has always loved sports and was a leader in the class football games, playing end for the senior team, which was the runner-up to the victorious sophomores. Stafford besides his ability as a football player, has added to his laurels as an actor and is moreover one of the best sleight-of-hand artists that New England has. He has been a member of the Pi Eta show for the last two years and is usually cast in one of the leading roles. Clem has been a member of the hockey team for two years, and also on the baseball team acting as a general utility man. He is in line to be one of the marshals of his class the graduation exercises and is one of the biggest men in his class. During his freshman year at college he was elected to the presidency of the class and since then has justified the honor bestowed upon him by reason of his splendid record as a man of ability. It is due in part to his far-seeing judgment that the new system was installed at Harvard this year by Howard and it was by Clem's backing up of the new methods from the power of the position of captain that helped Harvard come through a season as successfully as she did. He has undoubtedly laid the foundations for a far-reaching plan of coaching that will begin to make itself felt in the years that are coming. Jake has been a member of the freshmen team and then graduated to the ranks of the varsity without too much difficulty. Later sickness overcame him, and then in his junior year he was just coming into his own when an injury in the Brown game put him on the bench for the rest of the year. This season after a slow start he demonstrated his ability to run the team for all it was worth in the Brown game and was regarded by many as the best quarter-back ever at Harvard.

Jake's record at Newton speaks for itself. He was easily one of the most popular boys that ever came to the high school and when he graduated he left a distinct vacancy in many of the hearts of the younger boys of the school for he has always been most kind and attentive to the coming boys, and never fails to toss them a cheery word or two. He was the class president right through his years at Newton, an unusual and a great honor, and then he showed very clearly in what esteem his classmates held him. He was on the Debating Club for his last three seasons and became its president in his sub-senior year. As he was class president he sat on the Student Council all of his terms at Newton and was one of the best men that ever enjoyed the position because he was such a keen and careful executive that the school felt the wisdom in back of his government and gave heed to it. He took the leading role in the senior play which was written by Don Reynolds of the class of 1922, and was prominent in all the dramatics that the school produced. For his three years after his first term he was on the Review the school magazine that was issued once a month and has since given way to its more able successor, the Newtonian.

He played football three years, being the captain the last year, and also was a member of the baseball team for one, and in his last terms took part in the track events. Fred Sears while at Newton was on the football squad for two years and did very well considering his lack of weight until an injury forced him to the sidelines. He was enrolled in the English Club his last two years, and also was one of the first members of the newly formed Alpha Gamma Tau. During his final weeks at the place he was chosen as one of the officials of the Student Council which was then acting effectively under the direction of the student representatives.

Clem while at Newton was wrapped up in athletics playing football, hockey, which was his best sport, being captain in this for a year, and also covering first base for the varsity leading the team in batting his final year. After leaving Newton he went to Exeter where he was the big gun on the line, being called by one of the coaches the most expert diagnoser of plays that he had ever seen. He then started the season as the defence man for the Red and Gray and before it was over he was the best player that they had had for some time.

Two other members of the Crimson cohorts that are sophomores are Robert Williams and Edward Rice. Both were proficient at Doc Martin's sport playing on the varsity for two seasons, both of which were highly successful. Eddie Rice graduated in 1925, and was a member of the Student Council in its last year of existence, and then when the new legislature came into vogue he was selected as a member to that. He also had a deep love for football which led him in his junior

The old house which had been perched up in the air for about two weeks at the Putnam street bridge, was finally moved across the bridge Wednesday. The delay was occasioned through formalities over cutting the many telegraph wires which parallel the Boston & Albany railroad. The house, a picture of which is shown above, was built in 1838. Additions have been added from time to time. It was formerly located at the corner of Washington and Putnam streets, West Newton, and its new location will be at the corner of Lincoln park and Margin street. It was purchased by Peter J. McAleer.

A peculiar feature of the moving of the house is the fact that it was rolled across the Putnam street bridge which is posted as being limited to sustain no weight over 14 tons. It was estimated that the house weighed about 60 tons. This may seem unduly heavy for a house of this size but at the rear of the structure is an addition containing much brick and concrete. Some years ago when the house was altered, brick fire-walls and steel girders were used in enlarging year to go out for the Intermediate team, and then in his senior year he was an end on the varsity, putting up a splendid game despite his lack of weight.

Another Harvardonian is Edward Stimpson, the great golfer, who is finishing off his final work over at Cambridge this year. Graduating in 1923 from Newton he left a decidedly strong impression of ability and has kept that up ever since then, being one of the most promising men in the graduating class this year. At Harvard he has done very well in his studies and just now he is one of the most promising of the younger golf school. His work on the Harvard teams has been of the best, and his success in summer tournaments was by far the best turned in of all the junior golf players. He is captain of the Harvard team this year and hopes for a good season, which seems almost assured as there are so many veterans back. At Newton he was class treasurer his first two years, then in his next to last term he was selected as the class scribe. He was a member of the golf team all three years he was at school shooting number one man his last two seasons. A member of the Student Council his last semester, and in the Debating Club and the later product, the Forum, he was prominent. He also joined the Mandolin Club, which only lasted two years, and was on the rolls of the English Club, and the Mathematics Club of which he was Vice President.

CONCERT AT WABAN

Preliminary arrangements have been completed for a concert by the Colgate University Glee Club, which will be held in Waban, at the Waban Neighborhood Club, on the evening of Tuesday, April 12. The Colgate musicians will come to Boston during their annual Easter tour, which this season includes appearances at Troy, N. Y., Brattleboro, Vt., Worcester, Mass., New York City, and East Orange, N. J. They will sing under the direction of Prof. William H. Hoerner, who has been head of the Colgate music department since 1912.

In addition to numbers by the Glee Club proper there will be selections by a quartet and numbers by soloists. A seven-piece student orchestra will appear in concert numbers and will also provide music for the dancing which will follow the concert. The Glee Club will be made up of between 30 and 35 students, many of whom have had three or four years of training that are very anxious to keep him on Hoerner.

the building, to conform to the building code applying to that section of the city. After brick walls had been built to prevent fire hazards, wooden siding was placed outside them. Strange, but true.

When it was proposed to move the house over the bridge, it was supposed that considerable shoring must be placed under the bridge to safeguard the structure against the great weight of the house. This was not done. Two long timbers were placed over the bridge, resting on piles of ties, located at either end of the bridge. By resting to this method, it was claimed that little, or no weight of the house rested on the bridge. Anyhow, the bridge did not collapse.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

The place of honor—leading the column—belongs triumphantly this week to the Newton Highlands Woman's Club. Events are always listed by date, but with moments eliminated in the marking of such an epoch as the breaking of ground for the construction of a NEW CLUBHOUSE, with all the years of joys and achievements it will entail, of what avail a mere date! Your editor offers her heartfelt congratulations upon this happy day and affair, and with her best bow, throws wide the column and introduces the press chairman, Mrs. Anthony Warfield, who tells herewith of the glad event:

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

The long cherished dream of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands for a Clubhouse, is being realized this season, in condensed form, in the Club Workshop for which ground has already been broken on Columbus street, on land generously given by Seward W. Jones.

Although there has been a building fund for some years, too many obstacles loomed before the members to allow the venture taking practical shape until the last fall, when the loss of the Barn Studio left the Art Committee without rooms for classes or exhibitions. And the plight of that Committee brought home the realization that nearly all the committees were working under the handicap of no place for lectures, rehearsals, classes or meetings. The great need of some central meeting place, where all committees could function brought into being the building which now is to serve for all the Club needs, save that of housing the large, semi-monthly meetings, which will still be held in the Parish House of the Congregation at Church.

The building is to be of hollow tile and stucco construction and will have a main room 42 ft. x 26 ft., which will seat 165 people, and thus take care of the smaller lectures and entertainments. Adjoining the main room, at the rear, will be a kitchen and two dressing rooms with sanitary facilities. The building is to be set well back from the street, insuring privacy and quiet, and is bound to prove a benefit, not only to the Club, from its Board of Directors, down through the smallest and least active of the committees, but to the entire community, as a centrally located, clean and safe place where the townspeople of all ages may gather and entertain their friends.

The directors, who have the building of the Workshop in charge, are Miss Marian Dorr, Mrs. Loren F. Fletcher, Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs, Mrs. Harvey G. Hatch, Mrs. Donald D. McKay, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee and Mrs. J. T. Waterhouse. To raise additional funds for the building, a Ways and Means committee has been formed with Mrs. Grosvener D.W. Marcy as chairman, the other members being Mrs. Charles H. Keeler, Mrs. Earl G. Manning, Mrs. Lawson W. Oakes, and Mrs. Fred G. Sandford.

COMING EVENTS

Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands

Mrs. W. M. Mick is in charge of the Quiz of her fellow-members of the Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands on the Review of Shakespeare's play "Timon of Athens," which is the program for their meeting on Saturday afternoon, April 2nd. Mrs. Bernard Early presides in double capacity, as president and hostess, at her home, 2322 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

April 4th is Conservation Night for members of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club. Mr. Charles B. Floyd, treasurer of the Federation of Bird Clubs of New England, will be the speaker, and his lecture will be illustrated—a delight to the eye, as one drinks in knowledge from word of month that always adds infinitely to a program. Miss Clementine Vara is chairman for the evening, and the meeting takes place at the Club Rooms, Emerson School Building, at 7:30 o'clock, for the business session, and 8 o'clock for the lecture.

Newton Mothers' Club

The Newton Mothers' Club is providing a most fascinating program for the entertainment of their guests on Guest Day, April 4th, in the vestry of the Second Church, West Newton, at three o'clock. Prof. F. S. Holmes, of Worcester Academy, will give an illustrated talk on "Glacier Park," that most beautiful and interesting of our country's possessions. Probably there are few, indeed, who have not felt the allure of knowing more about this wonderful spot of nature!

Auburndale Review Club

"Our Neighbors to the South" is the topic for the members of the Auburndale Review Club on Tuesday morning, April 4th. The subject sounds most friendly, as the reaction to that choice of words "neighbors" always is, but as one considers further, one wonders, for the neighbor in this case is that most troublesome little thorn in the flesh, Mexico. Mrs. James G. Patterson will give a paper on "Mexico City and the Mexican Volcanoes." Alas, volcanic might describe many matters of this turbulent little state! Mrs. J. Scott Rider will tell of "Yucatan and the Maya Civilization," and Mrs. Susan F. Tuttle will describe "Lower California." Mrs. Patterson is hostess at her home, 338 Central street.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

The concluding talk on current events will be given Tuesday afternoon, the 5th, by Miss Eunice Avery, who at that time, will have ended her fourth annual course of lectures before the Newton Highlands Woman's Club—an enviable record for such lectures. The purely Club Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Hale Ginn, is to sing before the lecture.

Thursday is the day that all Club members have been asked to reserve for the meetings to be held all over the village, as the initial move toward a drive for funds for the new Club Workshop. Twenty-five hostesses are to open their homes at 2:30 o'clock, and 20 members, alphabetically assigned, will gather in each home, to devise means by which each "team" may raise its quota.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Mothers in the Newtonville Woman's Club may look forward with pleasure to "Mothers and Daughters' Day" on April 5th, for they will be entertained by their daughters at the New High School auditorium. Aunties, grandmothers, and, in fact, all Club members will be delighted with the interesting program that has been planned for this day. The Freshman girls will give two dances, "The Scarf Dance" and "The Dance of the Hoppie Toads and Mushrooms." The Sophomores will give a clog dance called "Kiss O'Grady." A pantomime, "The Big Brown Bear," ought to be a source of merriment. This dance will be given by six girls. The Juniors and Seniors will compete in some Greek Games.

There will also be work shown by the Class in Corrective Posture, and Mr. Greene's Class in Community Civics will hold everyone's unwavering attention by a Shadow-graph on "Bum-bum Rides." The Drama Club will manifest its talent by presenting "Romanesque" by Edmond Rostand. The music for the afternoon will be given by the Girls' Glee Club. Guests will be pleased with the exhibits that will be displayed in the corridor by The Home Economics Club, and by the Boys' Class in Handicraft, and will doubtless leave the hall with the pleasurable sensation of enjoying another equally delightful Mothers' and Daughters' Day next year.

The Arts and Crafts Exhibit has been postponed until Friday, April 22nd.

Community Service Club of West Newton

The Annual Meeting of the Community Service Club of West Newton will be held on Wednesday, April 6th. This final event of the Club is always preceded by a most enjoyable luncheon at one o'clock, this year in the Unitarian Parish House. The business meeting will then complete the year's accounting of stewardships, and thereafter a most fascinating program—a real bit of "play"—will be presented by the Art Committee, Mrs. J. D. Roquemore, chairman, in the person of Mr. E. E. Clive, of the Copley Theatre, who will speak on "The Stage, Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow."

row." Tickets for the luncheon may be obtained from Mrs. E. W. Whorf, 23 Sterling street.

Social Science Club

The meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, in Hunnewell Parlors, will be a business one, this being the efficiently housewifely method of this Club of attending to all business the first of each month, and setting one's house in order. This is the more appropriate even at this time, with spring house-cleaning in the air. The hostesses for the day, to supply the social atmosphere which always makes a Club gathering so enjoyable, will be Mrs. J. Herbert Young and Mrs. F. Ashley Day.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Club members, and many non-members, but residents of Newton Centre, have been enjoying the interesting and attractive studies of Cape Cod in its beauty, its quaintness, its peculiarities, as portrayed by a master artist and master of understanding, Gerret Beneker. For those who have not yet viewed this collection, it will be comforting to know that the exhibit will extend until April 9th.

Other delightful activities enjoyed by members are going forward.

On Monday, April 4th, at 10:30 o'clock, Mrs. Frank H. Loveland will give the third lecture in the Garden Series, which has been conducted by the Art Committee. Mrs. Loveland's subject will be "The Perennial Border."

The Literature Committee offers the last in their series of lectures on Monday, April 4th, at 10:30, when Mrs. Frank E. Anderson will be the speaker, taking for her subject "Eugene O'Neill."

The Art Committee has planned a visit to Fenway Court on Tuesday morning, April 5th. For information please call Mrs. Sarah R. Comer, Centre Newton 1631-M.

The play to be presented by the Dramatics Committee, Mrs. Everett C. Winslow, chairman, marks a new departure in this Club's plays, in that the cast is not confined to Club members as previously. "The Boomerang" will be given Thursday evening, April 7th, at 8 p. m., with Mrs. Willis E. Pattison, Miss Molly Draper, Mr. Alexander Fuller and Mr. Philip Dalmryple in the leading roles.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

"Humor and Humorists in English Literature" is the subject of a talk to be given by Rev. Arthur M. Ellis, in Players' Small Hall, on Friday, April 8th, at 2:30 o'clock, for the West Newton Women's Educational Club. A welcome topic surely for who does not wish to find a smile in this "sad, old world?" There will be music, and tea will be served—a social hour that makes for friendships, Club and personal.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The last of a series of three Current Event Talks by Grace Morrison Poole will be given in the Burr School Auditorium on Thursday morning, April 7th, at 10:15.

The Legislative Committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club, Mrs. John F. Brown, Jr., chairman, has done a splendid service in offering these lectures not only to Club members but to the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the Burr School.

State Federation

PRESIDENTS' CONFERENCE.—Presidents should not forget their Conference on Wednesday, April 6th, at South Boston, by invitation of the Mattapanock Woman's Club, in Phillips Congregational Church, Broadway, near Dorchester street. The morning session is at 10:30 o'clock; the afternoon one at 1:45. The attractive features of the day were given in detail in this column last week. Tickets for Luncheon may be obtained before April 4th of Mrs. Charlotte L. Roultson, 780 Broadway. The inspiration, the information, the friendships, the spirit of unity and hope, faith and charity, to be gained from these gatherings, is simply invaluable to all leading Club officers, and they should not neglect the opportunity offered.

CONTINUATION SCHOOLS.—Mrs. David D. Nickerson, chairman of Education calls the attention of Club women to the value of Continuation Schools upon the lives, welfare, prosperity, and happiness of those young people who can have this blessed privilege—and her quotation of the statements of authorities upon this subject should arouse the Club women to continue with greater earnestness and determination their efforts to have these inaugurated everywhere.

Like Cicero, she says, "Fellow citizens, lend me your ears," that she may encourage you to interest yourselves and others in Continuation Schools. "L. A. Wilson of the Vocational and Educational Extension Department of New York City gives us much food for thought in telling of his experiences. (Continued on Page 14)

The Solution of Many Problems

The automobile, the radio, electricity and gas, with their many domestic uses, the telephone, and the commercial bakery are all the perfect natural outgrowth of strongly defined national tendencies.

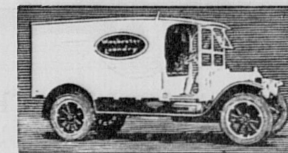

It is also true of laundry service. Originally used as a convenience by those momentarily incapable of presiding at the wash tub, it has now grown to a public service industry of nation-wide scope.

In many homes the set tub covers are seldom removed. The "New England Way" has proved, for many a housewife, to be the answer to her need for conserving her strength, increasing her leisure, pleasing her husband, and keeping her maid.

Higher Quality at Lower Prices because of increasing Volume Production!

January, 1925—There was introduced a new Chevrolet which scored a tremendous success. Among its many new features were a new and rugged rear axle, an improved unit power plant, a new single-plate disc-clutch, a much stronger frame, semi-elliptic chrome vanadium steel springs, cowl and dash lamps, and new Fisher bodies finished in Duco . . . the price of the Coach was $735 f.o.b. Flint, Mich.

August, 1925—Chevrolet announced a new measure of value based on many new quality features—such as motor-driven Klixon horn, improved sheet metal construction in the bodies, corrugated steering wheel with walnut finish, new headlamp rim construction and a more convenient gear-shift lever. Yet, despite all the additions . . . the Coach was reduced to $695 f.o.b. Flint, Mich.

January, 1926—Another spectacular increase in Chevrolet value—a model offering many mechanical improvements, such as a smoother, quieter motor with three-point suspension, a silent V-belt generator drive, new oil pump, more efficient cooling, an air cleaner, larger brakes, etc. Notwithstanding these improvements . . . the Coach was reduced to $645 f.o.b. Flint, Mich.

CHORAL CONCERT

Eighth Season of Newton Society to
To Close on April 5th

One of the principal musical events of the year in this city will be the spring concert by the Newton Choral Society to be given Tuesday evening, April 5, at the new high school auditorium. This concert closes the eighth season of the society, and never before has this organization been doing as good work as at this time. The years of practise which many of these singers have enjoyed have increased their ability to render the finest type of music in an effective way.

The most important feature on the program is the very beautiful cantata "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," by Cole-ridge-Taylor. The gifted composer of this work had a peculiar genius for illustrating ideas through musical forms. Every note and phrase in the music is expressive of the thought of the text. The colorful story of Hiawatha is reflected in this romantic and very melodious music, with its original and interesting harmonies. The society presented this cantata at its concert in the spring of 1922, and the audience were very enthusiastic at that time. The performance at the coming concert will be even better, and the Boston Festival orchestra will add a great deal by its fine performance of the accompaniment, which is an essential part of this composition.

The remarkably beautiful tenor solo in this cantata will be done by Joseph Lautner, who will also present an interesting group of songs. The chorus and orchestra will render "Homage to Spring" by William Gerleke, former conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra, and one number in the program will be by the Festival orchestra.

SEASCOUT SPRAY

This week we are submitting a model program such as used by the Seascout Ship No. 13.

The meeting starts at seven o'clock (six bells) 6:55—All Aboard. The Boatswain's mate appoints side boys to salute the Skipper as he comes aboard.

7:00—Boatswain's mate strikes six bells. Skipper aboard. The Skipper is saluted by side boys and the Boatswain's mate while the crew stands by at attention. Skipper returns the salute and dismisses the side boys to their respective watches.

7:05—The first mate passes the word to the coxswains to muster their crews. The yeoman takes the Roll call and collects dues (10c per week) then reports to the Skipper "All present or accounted for, Sir."

7:15—Seamanship or other drill.

7:30—Boatswain's mate strikes seven bells. Ship continues work on boats, ropes, and tests, etc.

8:45—Lecture by Skipper on Seamanship, and navigation.

9:00—Crews muster and Skipper leads in the Scout Oath. The Boatswain's mate then dismisses the ship. The first mate then directs the cleaning up of the meeting place and sees that everything is locked securely.

This program is carried on through the winter and fall, punctuated here and there by week-end trips, but as soon as the boats are put into shape the boys meet on the river, where instructions in small boat sailing are given under expert tutelage.

The Seascout Ship No. 13 will board the "Black Duck" this spring for a week's cruise in nearby waters. It is estimated that about twenty-five of "Newton's" boys will take this trip, lasting from June 25th until July 2nd, at a cost of about 15c per boy. This will afford the boys practical experience on a sail boat of size.

Also the boys are building two A. B. C. racing sailboats that will be entered in the races on the Charles River and will afford the boys a great deal of pleasure.

All fellows from 15 to 21 of a good moral character, whether they have had experience or not, are welcome to join and share our good times.

The Seascout Headquarters (Veterans Fire Station), Watertown St., West Newton Open every Friday Evening.

HISTORY OF SCHOOLS

Mr. Grosvenor Calkins Talks at F. A. Day Jr. High School Assembly

There is a magazine which has a department called "We Nominate for the Hall of Fame." Under this heading are pictures of persons whom the magazine thinks have the right to lay a claim to greatness. The Junior High School is conducting its own Hall of Fame and to date many prominent Newtonites have qualified for admission by addressing the school.

The latest one to thus speak at an Assembly is Mr. Grosvenor Calkins. One of his brothers is the well loved Dr. Raymond Calkins, the minister, whom all college folk remember for his inspirational Weeks of Prayer, another brother, often has his name in the table of contents of a brown covered magazine familiar to the intelligentsia of America. This particular Mr. Calkins is a member of the School Board of Newton. When he was introduced by Mr. Carr we were told that this marked the first occasion, since the organization of the school, that a member of the School Board had addressed the school.

The subject of the talk was the History of the Newton Schools. Mr. Calkins remarked that Newton has not always had such a fine reputation for its schools as it now possesses. He upheld this statement by the facts which he told in a most comprehensible manner.

Newton can not claim distinction with Hingham, Dorchester and other towns for being one of the earliest settled towns. As late as 1688, there was a town called New Town. That was what we now call Cambridge. The village at the southern end of New Town was what we now speak of so proudly as Newton.

In 1647 the first foundation for the educational and cultural future of the United States was laid when a law was passed which said that every town boasting 50 families must provide an elementary school and any town boasting 100 families must provide a preparatory school.

Now it happened that in Newton the population was very scattered. There were three centers—Oak Hill, Nonantum Square, and Centre Street, as they are called in the parlance of today. Who was to have the school? Everyone claimed the right for his own district—so they chose one school master and then the row began. We wondered whether or not there was disparagement in this statement of Mr. Calkins. At any rate they compromised and had one school master and two schools. The master received the daily stipend of fifty cents.

Mr. Calkins at this point told his interested audience about the New England Primer and the Horn Book—those guides to easy and pleasant reading which from comparison make our books of today so greatly appreciated.

How many are there who realize how long a way the women of today have come on the road to independence? Before the Revolution it was considered of no importance to teach girls, with the astounding result that four out of six girls were unable even to write their names.

In 1820 Newton had a population of 1556, with seven or eight graded schools and one master as lord of all he surveyed.

In 1835 came the change that was to mean so much to the further development of Newton. This was the opening of the Boston-Worcester R. R., which, of course, meant many new residents in and around Newton.

By 1850 the dissatisfaction with the educational system was so prevalent that two-story buildings of four rooms began to replace the provincial district schools. Trouble arose from the need of a high school and there stepped forth one energetic and talented man who gave wide publicity to education in Massachusetts schools and so brought about the changing of many laws and made a high school a requirement in Newton. This man was none other than Horace Mann.

In 1860 the first high school was built. There was, the first year, an attendance of 75 pupils and a teaching force of two. From 1860-1865 there was graduated from the high school the yearly average of ten pupils. One reason for this was because the high school was devoted mainly and solely to those who intended to go to college. By 1875 pupils were beginning to be taught to do a little thinking!

Right here Mr. Calkins brought his talk to a close, so we, too, can close our account with this delightful work "To be continued," for this delightful and instructive speaker has promised to come to us again to tell us of the

CLIFFORD HUNTING

Sometime ago Clifford Hunting, who conducts the Winn Sign Shop, informed us that he intended to do some advertising in the Graphic. "Why don't you put your photograph in the paper?" we suggested. "Nothing doing," replied Mr. Hunting. "I have not had a photograph taken for 38 years, and people might consider me conceited if I had my picture in the paper."

But we convinced him that it was about time he had another photo taken, not because of vanity, but because a number of persons in Newton had asked us, "Who is that tall, dignified man with the white hair?" Mr. Hunting is known to many persons in Newton; many more know him by sight but not by name. His picture printed above will reveal his identity to these.

Mr. Hunting is a veteran at his profession. He began to learn sign-painting under the guidance of his father back in 1885, and has continued at this business ever since, with the exception of three years spent in the employ of the Edison Phonograph Company. His many years' experience have made him unusually skilled in painting signs of many descriptions. He became associated with the late Walter Winn in 1920, and following the death of Mr. Winn, in 1922, Mr. Hunting assumed control of the Winn Sign shop at 374 Centre street, Newton.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

When you start on a still hunt there's no telling where you may land. My reference to "still" in this connection is not the same as that contained in a prohibition enforcement officer's report. I use the word as an adjective and not as a court exhibit and therefore I refer to a silent pursuit of—well, in this case, knowledge, or worth-while information.

When I glanced at the calendar and saw that my next column in the Graphic would be printed Friday, April 1st, I said, "April Fool." No, please do not misunderstand. My thoughts were not of myself, or what I should write for this week. Instead, my gaze and my mind were fixed on the first day of the new month and I wondered—yes, pondered in amazement over the fact that after all I knew nothing of the origin of "April Fools' Day" or "All Fools' Day." So, I began my quest and here, summarized, is what I found: "April Fools' Day or All Fools' Day. The first day of April, when for centuries throughout Christendom it has been customary to play irresponsible tricks on one's neighbors. Many and varied explanations have been vouchsafed for the origin of this practice, but all seem to lack the stamp of authenticity.

"The most convincing surmise, however, is that the custom owes its origin to the French, who adopted the Gregorian calendar in 1564. Prior to this date the French were wont to pay formal visits to their friends on April 1. On the change of the calendar these visits took place on January 1, but mock visits continued to be paid on April 1, especially on those who might forget the new order of things. The French term for this custom, poisson d'Avril, is more euphemistic and appropriate than our own. It means an "April fish," that is, a young fish, consequently one that is easily caught."

I believe I have already declared, in other words, that you cannot tell where you'll find genuine information or where you're likely to stumble on something you didn't know.

Just think, we are indebted to the French for the word "fish" as a bit of slang slander. We say, "the poor fish" and they, in order to get the same meaning say, "the young fish." They say, "April fish," and we say "April Fool." Both use the word "fish" as a less violent term when they mean "fool." Now there's something worth knowing, and it's no April Fool joke either.

The youngsters may properly call this, "The Day We Celebrate." The occasion is also fittingly observed by many grown-ups who still think more of a horse-laugh than a reputation for horse-sense. As far as I have observed the juvenile celebrators may be a bit rough but they show more originality than their elders. With the latter the old telephone jokes seem the favorite method of putting over April Fools' Day humors. Some of them are sad, especially when they try to copy the Sunday paper "funnies."

I hope nobody gets an idea that I have been the victim of some hoax and am still resentful. Far from it—that is, far from resentful. On the other hand, I should be, and to a certain extent, am somewhat penitent when I think of the April Fools' Day mischief in which I have participated. In the days when I was one of those who celebrated we boys found door-bells a great temptation. Some of them had an ancient history as well as a spring. As a grandfather's clock and when the ringing started it didn't stop until the entire household, as well as the neighbors, had been aroused.

I confess that the old "tick-tack" produced more thrills, which statement would probably be agreed to by those who suffered from its operation.

A "tick-tack," for the benefit of the uninitiated, was an ingenious contrivance. The "master" in the gang of boys knew best how it should be rigged. Several yards of stout thread were employed. It had to be threaded, for any heavier cord would have defeated the purpose of the perpetrators. A tack was tied to one end of the thread. About three inches from the first tack a second was tied. The first tack (or was it the second?) was placed in the window sash while the other rested against the glass. Now I am sorry my memory isn't clear as to the details of this contrivance, but this I know, any movement of the thread caused one of the tacks to strike the pane. The "tapping" which was created was enough to send chills up and down the spine of the most hard-boiled resident of Newton. But they were seldom selected as victims. It was the timid folk who were more to suffer. Can't you imagine the sensation? Suppose you were sitting peacefully in the living room in a chilly and windy night—an evening when all outdoor noises seemed to possess a weird significance. Just think of enjoying the security of this atmosphere when your blood suddenly turns frigid at the sound of a mysterious tapping on the window pane? Wow! ! !

I submit that such an April Fool joke as that (it was no more a joke than are others) took a little skill and patience to put over. It meant more, as it should, especially if ever the young rascals were caught and soundly spanked as they were on one April 1 p. m. of which I have vivid recollection.

It is plain that I have got to resume my campaign against bicycle riding on the sidewalk. I wish it was as funny as it seems to strike some people—this effort to correct an injustice. But dodging a half-grown youth, propelling his bike at top speed, is not the least mirth-provoking. In the first place you are inclined, when walking on the sidewalk, under ordinary circumstances, to maintain a middle course, ready at short notice to swerve to the right. The sight of a bicycle will thaw anybody—even the most solid, self-contained and steady citizen, into a semi-panic. The bicycle rider comes head-on regardless of all rules of the sidewalk. I defy a man of judicial training to keep his mental balance while threatened with destruction in the form of a two-wheel engine of death.

Last Sunday morning I saw several sidewalk riders. They could not possibly offer the excuse that there were "too many automobiles." Not a sign of a motor car and yet these boys were making a bicycle park of sidewalks on Vernon, Tremont, Park and Eldridge streets. They seemed utterly indifferent to the fact that children were going to Sunday school and that older people were returning from church. Instead they indulged in a carnival of cycling, compelling those who had a right, and the only right to the sidewalk, to step off in the gutter or hop on somebody's lawn as a place of refuge.

Spring is here—here as far as sidewalk bicycle riding is concerned—and the time is ripe for action. As this is the season of buds let us nip in the bud the bike-riding of the boobs who must be stopped sooner or later. It is every body's right to "call a cop" but if that is going to give protection to those of us who still believe that pedestrians have some privileges, let us go the limit.

Otherwise, let us register all pedestrians. It may not accomplish much if we waddle along with a number on our back, but it will aid materially in the work of identification when we are rolled flat by a bicycle rider who understands his business.

There used to be great prejudice against moving. Maybe there is great prejudice now, but the older prejudice was greater. Wasn't it an ancient saying "Three movings are worse than one fire"? Strikes me a lot of people believed that nonsense as they believed a quantity of foolish sayings, and still do.

Well, "moving" is no longer the hush and terrible experience it used to be. The thing has become a matter of scientific practice. Under the old order there had to be weeks of preparation, preliminary and final packing, planning, plotting and debate that started a month before "moving day" and continued a month after. If the weather was a bit inclement the whole business had to be postponed until the next fair day. And on "moving day" everybody went without food unless the old or the new neighbors were kind enough to prepare something and "bring it over," together with dishes, forks, knives, etc.

What happens today? The whole business is turned over to a professional mover to whom it is no trouble whatever to move a family of ten and all their belongings. He puts everything in a van which is more commodious than a freight car and nothing is broken, missed or mislaid.

The whole process of moving has been so simplified that it isn't half the worry it was, but on the other hand it invites desirable changes, provides that which is new and fresh and makes everybody feel glad that it has taken place.

I have been dipping into all sorts of reading matter the last week or so because much of it has been provided by friends. One volume of the collections is of such a character I do not know whether to refer to it as a token or a mean trick. I refer to a seed catalogue, beautifully, gloriously and I may say extravagantly illustrated.

If ever a printer was permitted to run amuck among the color presses it was the one who had the job of getting out this vari-colored document. No doubt the firm of publishers or seed dealers instructed him to spare no pains. I cannot say he carried out instructions. As far as he was concerned no pains were suffered, but what he has inflicted on the eyes of the reading public is close to criminal. If vegetables and flowers grow in such colors the entire landscape would be so vivid in its aspect that all the population would be forced to wear sun-glasses. Truck gardens and flower gardens would be so dazzling in appearance that the sun itself would shrink with envy. It all goes to show, however, that the largest vegetables and the most luxuriant flowers flourish best in the imagination of a commercial artist.

Here's something I received while staging a comeback from one of those things they do to you in hospitals: Dear Lev—The other day I met an old friend, who has recently moved into a city of which you seem to know a good deal.

"If you're ever over that way, be sure to come to see us. We live on Middle-deedee avenue, right on the corner." I said: "On WHAT corner?" Said he: "On the only corner that hasn't got a filling station on it. You can't miss it."

WANTS SIDEWALK CHANGED

A petition signed by Charles E. Almy and other residents of Amburdale has been presented to the Board of Aldermen. This petition asks "for a change in the layout of the sidewalk on the southerly side of Auburn street between Woodland road bridge and Amburdale square, by abandoning said sidewalk from the end of the granolithic walk west of the tunnel to a point near said Woodland road bridge, and making the space thus abandoned a public park under the Park Department; for the reasons that said sidewalk is never used, as there are no buildings on that side of the street; that said sidewalk is separated from the street by a row of trees; that the railroad fence adjoining said sidewalk is unsightly and if said place should be planted with up-standing shrubs or small evergreens, the appearance of the street would be greatly improved and beautified; that the cost of maintaining said sidewalk would be stopped; that on said street opposite this sidewalk the city now maintains an attractive well kept fire station, and the new Plummer Memorial Library will soon be erected."

NEW CITY HALL

Secrecy Veils Consideration of Sites Contemplated

Where will the new City Hall be? When will it be? These are questions that are bothering some persons in this city. Most of the citizens of Newton don't seem to give a hoot about where the new City Hall will be built, or whether it will be built. But if it will become a reality, most citizens of Newton will take some interest in it, because the cost of its construction and the cost of the land where it will be erected, will add very materially to the tax-rate of Newton.

The small percentage of Newtonians interested in the new City Hall, are quite interested. Certain residents of West Newton believe that should the city hall be removed from that village, West Newton will rapidly decline in importance. The proponents of the "triangle site" fear that unless the city hall will be built there, that section of the city will depreciate into an unattractive residential district.

Despite the large amount of publicity given lately to the proposed new city hall, almost complete ignorance prevails among the public as to the developments concerning this matter in late weeks. Several weeks ago the special aldermanic committee on the new City Hall met. The committee voted on the location of the new city capitol. The result of that vote was a surprise to some. On Saturday, March 5th, the special committee held a conference at City Hall with the special citizen's committee. On Monday, March 7, the special committee held a meeting at the Woodland Golf Club to discuss the new City Hall. To this meeting, which was started at 5 in the afternoon, all the aldermen had been invited. The press were not invited. It was a closed session, as had been the conference with the Citizen's Committee on the preceding Saturday. Aldermen Heston did not attend the meeting at the Woodland Club. Several hours later at the regular meeting of the aldermen at City Hall, he denounced such secret meetings. He asserted that the taxpayers and the press should have admission to meetings where important matters, involving the expenditure of huge sums of money are involved. He asserted that he would not attend in the future, any secret meeting of the aldermen. We approved of this attitude of the alderman from Ward 4. And we grieved that he consciously, or unwittingly, walked into another such secret meeting, immediately after the regular meeting had adjourned.

These secret meetings are held, theoretically, to protect the taxpayers of Newton. The proponents of the "closed door sessions" claim that these "cozy wozy" conferences are held to prevent avaricious real estate speculators from obtaining knowledge as to where the city intends to purchase land. It is contended that if these real estate "sharks" learn of the location of the land to be seized, they will rush and purchase said land, and then demand an exorbitant price from the city for it. There are 21 members on the Board of Aldermen. They are men, so far as we have been able to observe, of high character. But they are not superhuman. And in all due respect to them, we doubt if all of the 21, after each secret meeting, keep their tongues absolutely sealed regarding what transpires at these closed sessions. Adversely, or inadvertently, some of these members, we believe, drop some information, slight though it may be, to their wives, families, or intimates. And where 21 or more persons have knowledge of a matter, it is inevitable, in our opinion, that some of the alleged real estate sharks, if they so desire, will obtain knowledge of the decisions made by the aldermen at the "committee of the whole," or secret meetings.

It is rumored that the majority of the special committee of Aldermen favored the "triangle site" for the new city hall. It is rumored that the majority of the citizen's committee favored this same site. It is also rumored that subsequently the special committee of the aldermen reversed its decision and favored West Newton. It is also rumored that the citizen's committee favored West Newton. What the full Board of Aldermen favored, we will not say. It would not be ethical to do so—according to the advocates of the "closed door sessions." If we told you, the real estate speculators might rush and purchase the site which is favored by the majority. This would eventually involve the city in expensive litigation. The city will have, perhaps, litigation whether West Newton or the triangle will be chosen as the location of the new city hall. Certain parts of both proposed sites have already been acquired by real estate speculators. We believe, however, that the courts will not permit scheming speculators to extort exorbitant profits from the city, even should they so attempt.

The aldermen will probably ask the Legislature for permission to borrow outside the debt limit of the city, in order to finance the purchase of land and the construction of a new City Hall. Perhaps the Legislature will grant such a request. Perhaps the Legislature will not grant permission.

Newton's City Hall is not an architectural masterpiece. It is inadequate in many respects. But it will serve the city for a number of years without impairing the efficiency of our city government. With new schools needed, with streets needing re-surfacing, with other necessary heavy expenses facing the city, it is wise to further burden the taxpayers with a new city hall project which may run into a cost of a couple of millions of dollars? Comparatively few Newtonians ever visit City Hall. The fact that the present City Hall is an unattractive, old building does not appear to have retarded the growth of the city. Few persons will rush to locate in Newton simply because an ornate new building will be erected. We would suggest that the land at the "triangle site" be acquired by the city for "some memorial purpose." Later on this memorial may take the form of a city hall, or some other form. In the meantime the old building at West Newton will suffice, even if it does not please the

We would also suggest that the aldermen terminate the present vogue of secret meetings on all important matters. The argument "that these secret meetings save the city money, by keeping real estate speculators in the dark," is, in our opinion, "blather."

MAIN STREET AND NEIGHBORS

Ten years ago Main Street had party-line service—six-party lines, at that.

If Mrs. Edgell took her telephone from the hook and found Mrs. Mason talking to her sister, she had no compunction about breaking in and saying: "Is that you, Mrs. Mason? Would you mind letting me call the grocer so's I can get some sugar on today's delivery. Thank you, I won't be more'n a minute, and then you can have the line again."

It is different today, because Main Street is different, with its land developments and additions, and its apartment houses.

Its neighbors do not know each other well, if at all; consequently, there is a reluctance about breaking into a telephone conversation, because what once would have been accepted as a friendly interruption might now be regarded as an impertinence.

A party-line telephone is a sure test of neighborliness. If with two or four friends you could make an agreement for joint ownership of an umbrella or an automobile, and harmoniously share in its use, you probably could get along with a four-party telephone line and never find or give cause for complaint.

If the ringing of telephone bells disturbs you, if delays in sending or receiving telephone messages irritates you, consider whether the additional cost of a two-party or a one-party line will not be worth while.

We recommend one-party lines wherever we have the necessary facilities in place—and in most places we have them.

Call the Telephone Business Office if you want service as a new subscriber, or a change from party-line service.

NEWTON AUTO HITS MAN

A car driven by Angelo Annicelli of 192 Adams street, Newton, hit James Johnson of Gilbert street, Atlantic, on Sunday night, on Mount Auburn street, Watertown. Johnson was taken to the Cambridge Hospital to be treated for two bad cuts on his head. An-nicelli claims that Johnson darted from the sidewalk in an attempt to chase a street car, and ran in front of his auto.

An automobile driven by James Concave of Arlington ran into a tree on Centre street, near Grafton street,
Newton Centre, on Sunday night.
Mrs. Dorothy Hall, who was riding in the car, was hurled through the windshield and severely cut. She was taken to Mosher's drug store for first aid, and was then removed to the Newton Hospital.

INTER-CHURCH COUNCIL

Sunday, April 3rd, is to be observed as "Every-Member-Present-Sunday" for young people and for boys and girls of the Sunday Schools of the Norum-bega District.

This idea is being promoted by the Inter-Church Young People's Council, which is a unit of the Norumbega District Sunday School Association. Over 100 classes of the ages 12 to 24 years have enrolled in this campaign and agreed to push the plan in their own churches, endeavoring to secure 100% attendance of their class members on that Sunday at both Sunday School and church services.

This is a part of the Pre-Easter observance of the Young People's Council. The next step is the "Win-One Crusade," and evangelistic emphasis for young people, carried on in a quiet way in local churches and in church school classes.

The regular meeting of the Young People's Council takes place next Saturday evening, at the Church of the New Jerusalem, Newtonville. Reports of progress in Y. P. Departments of church schools and in Y. P. Societies will be made at this meeting, followed by a social.

The basketball supper, at which cups will be presented to winning teams in the Inter-Church basketball league, is to take place soon after Easter. The winning teams in these leagues are as follows: for boys, Watertown Methodist; for girls, Newton-ville Congregational Church.

AUBURNDALE FORUM

The Auburndale Club invites all residents of the village, and all interested persons, whether residents of Auburndale or not, to an OPEN FORUM on Sunday, April 10, at 3:30 p. m. Note that the forum will be held at the clubhouse, 100 Main street, Auburndale.
The speaker of the afternoon is sure to present his striking subject, "The Danger of Being an American" in a manner interesting to all groups of our citizens. The address will be followed by questions from the floor. The presiding officer for this meeting is Dr. George W.
Coleman, who is recognized as "the Father of the Forum Movement," and has made Ford Hall so famous. The meeting will open with singing in which the choirs of the Catholic, Congregational, Episcopal, and Methodist Churches will join. Admission is free to everyone.

MR. PERRY'S WILL

The will of Frederick C. Perry of Newton, who died March 9, was filed in Middlesex probate court last week.
According to its terms the entire prop-
to his widow, Mrs. Martha J. Perry, for life. On her death the will directs that the following bequests be made:
$5000 to the Gordon College of Theology and Missions, Boston; $2500 to the Morgan Memorial; $1500 to the First Church of Newton; $1000 parsonage, First Church of Newton; $2500 to the Rev. Edward M. Noyes, pastor of the First Church of Newton; $2500 to the Salvation Army, Boston; $1000 to the Rev. A. Z. Conrad, pastor of the Park Street Church; $2500 to the Anti-Saloon League of this state. The residue of the estate, after the payments of annuities of 10 persons named in the will, is to go outright to the American board of commissioners for foreign missions.

MISS E. MABELLE ALBEE

Miss E. Mabelle Albee, who taught during the past fifteen years in the Mason School died on March 25 after a brief illness.
Miss Albee was one of Newton's most respected and beloved teachers.
A woman of culture and of broad education, she taught with great success in her chosen field, English, and developed in her pupils firm foundations of scholarship and of character. Each pupil was to her a friend for whom her talents and efforts were used to the utmost. This deep individual interest was a very striking characteristic of her work. Her intense loyalty and her kindly, cheerful, enthusiastic spirit will ever remain an inspiring memory to her pupils and her fellow-teachers.

Miss Albee was a teacher of the very highest type, unassuming and efficient.
Her fine ideals, her contagious enthusiasm and her genial optimism have exerted a marked influence on the life of the school. It was, indeed, fortunate to have had such an one to radiate encouragement, good cheer, and inspiration.

She lived for her pupils, and dying bequeathed to them an influence for good that will remain a strong influence in their lives.

Her reward has come, and it is good beyond human measurement.

Her planting now is o'er,
Good is sown in the safe sown;
Earth knows her never more,
Heaven has reclaimed its own.

DEATH OF MR. NICHOLS

John H. Nichols, long a resident of Dedham and Dorchester, died Friday at Newton Center in his eighty-fourth year. For sixty years he had been associated with the knit goods business in Boston, and for the past twenty-two years had been in business for himself. During the Civil War Mr.
Nichols enlisted in the forty-third regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers, and was in the United States Signal Corps. He was a member of the Charles W. Carroll Post 144, G. A. R., of Dedham, and of the Forty-third Regiment Association. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Willie
R. Fisher of Waban, a son, Chester W.
Nichols of Newton Highlands, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the residence of his son, Mr. Chester W. Nichols, on Norman road. Rev. George Lawrence Parker of the Newton Centre Unitarian Church officiating.

NEWTON SPORTS

MERMEN PLACE THIRD

Prior to the Meehan interscholastic swimming meet last week Brookline was regarded the favorite with Huntington school and Newton high picked to finish second and third. The meet ran true to form with history repeating itself. Brookline won with 20 points, Huntington followed with 13 and Newton third with 12. Country Day school tied Norwood high for fourth with five points and nine schools splitting the balance of the points.

Lloyd Osborne, Newton's star, swam true to form and set up two new interscholastic records. He bettered the mark set by Hamilton Lincoln of Country Day school last season in the 100 by 2 2/5 seconds when he was clocked in 59 seconds flat in a trial heat. Not content with that he then bettered his own record in the 200-yard event by 4 3/5 seconds. His time was 2m.
17 3/5s. Osborne was the outstanding performer of the meet with five points in each of the events. The orange and black annexed two more counters in the relay race by placing third. Brookline won and Huntington was second.
Hogan, Durrell, Lodge and Capt. Merrill swimming in that order composed Newton's relay four.

Hamilton Lincoln, star swimmer at Country Day school, showed his heels to the field in the 50-yard swim for the only points the local private school team tallied. His effort was enough to tie Norwood high for fourth place.

THREE NEWTON MEN ON ALL- STAR TRACK TEAM

Three of the leading performers on the Newton high indoor track team of the past season have been rewarded for their efforts by being picked for places on the Boston Globe's All-Star scholastic track team. Captain Wally Fullerton was further honored by being picked for two events, the hurdles and the standing broad jump. James McCruden, the 1000-yard runner, is selected for fourth in this event as is Ted Hammond in the high jump.

Fullerton is regarded as one of the four outstanding individual track athletes in the state. Marshall of Medford leads with 26 points scored in four state-wide or New England-wide meets. Fullerton second with 20 points, Robinson of Lawrence third with 17 and Harrington of Lowell fourth with 14.

In the hurdles Marshall is ranked ahead of Fullerton whom he defeated at the Andover meet. Fullerton evened things up by nosing out the Medford flyer at the State meet.

McCruden beat out Barrie of Brookline and Hanson of Lynn for the fourth man in the 1000-yard run. Mc-Cruden tied the Brookline runner for first at the Andover meet at which Hanson took third and he placed third at the state meet ahead of both his opponents.

Fullerton was easily the outstanding broad jumper of the season with marks over ten feet on two occasions. He was expected to shatter the record in the state meet but a blistered heel handicapped him to such an extent that he was forced to take second.
Rogers of Dorchester beat him out for first at the state meet but on the All-team their positions are reversed. Fullerton is first and Rogers second.

Ted Hammond, although he made a mark of 5 feet 11 inches at the inter-class meet fell off when it came to dual and interscholastic competition.
He cleared 5 feet 7 inches regularly however and this was good enough to place him among the four men picked for the team. Robinson and Janis of Lawrence and George Chalmers of Medford precede him.

The orange and black relay four, composed of Brewer, Reynolds, Reed and Cole was fast enough to be considered among the best five although no one team was picked because of the impossibility of determining the outstanding four.

REED ELECTED CAPTAIN

Malcolm Reed, 300-yard and relay runner of the 1927 Newton high school indoor track team was elected captain of the 1928 outfit last Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Rogers of Dorchester beat him out for
first at the state meet but on the All-
team their positions are reversed. Fullerton is first and Rogers second.

OUTDOOR TRACK STARTS SOON

The Newton high school outdoor track team will start practice the week of April 11th at the Cabot Park track. Ted Hammond, the high-jump champion of the team which has excellent prospects for a good season.
A well balanced schedule has been arranged with Brookline, Concord, Quincy, Milton and Medford, as opponents.
In addition to interscholastic meets,
the first meet, that with Newton's greatest rival, Brookline, will take place at Huntington field on April 25th.

Newton will have largely a veteran team with strength in all events except the shot-put. Fullerton and Cole will take care of the century and hurdles. Reed and Reynolds the 220, Reynolds and Burton the quarter, and McCruden the half-mile. Hession is slated to run the mile with McCruden concentrating his efforts on the shorter run. In the field events the Orange and black has its best talent.
Hammond and Ebelhars should finish one and two in the high-jump in more than one of the dual meets, and Fullerton, supported by Cole, Kinradie, and Kollmyer, in the broad jump will show his heels to the majority of schoolboy jumpers.

CITY-WIDE MARBLE TOURNA- MENT

The City-wide tournament of the old fashioned "Ringer" game will start this week on most of the playgrounds in Newton. The tournament is open to boys and girls of 14 years and under. A boy or girl who becomes 15 on or after July 1927, is eligible to play and one who becomes 15 anytime before July 1, 1927, is not eligible to play.

In order to give all those of our boys and girls in Newton a chance to play if they so desire, 16 playgrounds will conduct individual tour-

A cheap tube can cost you 10 times its price.....

THIRTY-NINE YEARS of tubebuilding experience has proved to Dunlop that "cheap tubes" do not pay.

That is why Dunlop tubes are made casing shaped. It costs a little more than to build them on a straight pole, as cheap tubes are built.

But a casing-shaped Dunlop tube is strong everywhere. The outside edge is not weakened by excess stretch. The side next to the rim has no wrinkles to crack with age and blow out. A Dunlop tube protects your casing, because it fits. And your casing is worth ten times the cost of the tube.

We strongly recommend a Dunlop tube for every casing

The Boston Traveler who have for a number of years successfully promoted the "Ringer" game in this part of the country as a part of the nation wide movement to help our boys and girls in this game, which develops not only skill but real sportsmanship, has again offered a beautiful medal for each district champion and a special medal for the city

Last year the Newton Centre play-

Bryant Takes Second

John Bryant, Dartmouth swimming star, was again forced to accept defeat in the 100-yard swim when Harry Lewis of Rutgers winner of the intercollegiate 200-yard swim, outprinted the Green nator in the final of the century, at the intercollegiate events in New York last Saturday night at the City College pool.

Houghton Doing Fine Work

Donald Houghton, a former pupil of the late Coach Dickinson, has been accomplishing remarkable results as coach of athletics at the St. Charles school in Waltham. The senior and junior basketball teams of this winter have both made fine records with the latter team winning all of its nine games. The football team of last fall also made a creditable record and with the approach of spring Houghton is concentrating upon plans for the baseball season.

He says that in the past we have allowed untold thousands to leave school without any idea of a vocation. Continuation Schools and all vocational training insures the increased prosperity of the average American home. Leading thinkers in the industrial world realize the increasing value of special training for special crafts. They realize also, that Continuation Schools make for permanency of occupation, not twelve positions in as many months.

"President Butler of Columbia says of Continuation Schools—'There is no more useful period than when youth is giving part time to concentration in study and part time in learning an industry—the less sharp the transition the more valuable the training.'"

"Mr. Wilson claims for Continuation Schools: Additional Citizenship Training; Effective Health Work; Definite Vocational Training; Adequate Placement Service; Permanent Position Training; Home Training for Girls."

If all of these things can be given unto the younger people by Continuation Schools, would they not be a boon that the Club women would be proud to have a hand in bestowing?

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Community Club

The Newton Community Club "Children's Day," Thursday afternoon, March 24th, was a decided success. The Junior Choir of Elliot Church sang three songs appropriate to the Easter season, one a processional, one a recessional.

Stories which pleased both the children and their "elders" were charmingly told by Miss Dorothy Dean, formerly scout leader of Greater Boston.

Two piano solos by Lewis Huntington, a young lad, won hearty applause. After these pleasant preliminaries the chief speaker of the afternoon was introduced. Bhaskar Panturang, Hialeah, graduate of the University of Bombay, who is now studying at Harvard, preparing to return to India in May to teach in the University from which he was graduated. He exhibited some interesting things which he had brought from his native land, showed many colored lantern slides, and played a few records on a little victrola which were typical of Indian music, speaking always in a way to interest his youthful audience.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club enjoyed a most successful Musical on Monday evening, March 21st, in the Club Room, Emerson School Building. Master Thomas Howell, a ten-year-old boy soprano, rendered several songs. Master Howell has a high range, and an ease of manner which is very unusual. Readings by Miss Andrina Steele Kenney were pleasing and varied. Miss Sue Kerr, who is well-known among Club members, entertained with contralto solos. Miss Galdys Billings accompanied Master Howell and Miss Kerr. The artists were most generous with encores. Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin was chairman of the evening.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Mrs. Henry L. Goodman, chairman of the Volunteer Service Committee, accompanied by the Juniors of the Auburndale Woman's Club made a trip to Newton Highlands, Thursday afternoon, to give a tea to the ladies of the Stone House.

The Auburndale Woman's Club Chorus, with Mrs. Wilbur D. Gilpatrick as chairman, has had a particularly good year as evinced by the concert presented in the Auburndale Club Auditorium on the evening of March 23rd. Rev. Eynhart Harper has been the leader of the chorus work and director of the concert with Mrs. Franklin E. Leland, accompanist.

The program was a very pleasing one, the variety of music as presented by the Woman's Club Chorus, the Boston University Theological Male Choir, Esther Stevens Kendall, soprano; Irene Forte and Mary Tucciarelli, violinists; and Charles S. Hempstead, tenor, was most acceptable. There was, too, a splendid showing of the new and progressive movement in chorus music and the theme of "America Singing" as interpreted by Gaul, one of our modern choir masters, was thoroughly enjoyed.

The program given by the Auburndale Woman's Club Chorus assisted by Esther Stevens Kendall, Soprano; Charles S. Hempstead, Tenor; James Marlin, Baritone; Irene Forte, Violinist; Mary Tucciarelli, Violinist; and the Boston University Theological Male Choir was as follows: "Darkest Thou Now, O Soul," "Three Voices," "Summer Evening," with solo obligato by Esther Stevens Kendall, and "Around the Gypsy Fire" by the Auburndale Woman's Club Chorus. "The Heavens are Declaring," and "The Galway Piper," by the Boston University Theological Male Choir. "Song of the Sun," "Softly Soundeth Through My Soul," "I'm Coming

"Minuet," "Grave," and "Allegro," by Irene Forte.

"I Hear America Singing," by the B. U. Theological Male Choir, with tenor solo by Charles S. Hempstead. Cantata, "Fair Ellen," by Auburndale Woman's Club Chorus with Soprano, Esther Stevens Kendall, and Baritone, James Marlin.

The final number, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," was a Grand Ensemble of Instruments and Voices.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

Dr. Mary R. Lakeman, of the State Department of Public Health, gave a clear and forceful explanation before the West Newton Women's Educational Club last Friday afternoon of the great strides that medical science has taken in its crusade to prevent disease. She told of the progress that has been made in the control of cancer, and urged a physical examination at stated periods. This she said would enable the physician to detect inclinations towards this dreaded disease, and enable preventive measures to be taken to stay its progress. Efforts are now being made by the State to obtain money for the purchase of radium for use in cancer control.

Though the serum used for scarlet fever is not always positive, much progress is being made in a preventive measure, she stated. Measles also are coming under control. Another field in which the state is carrying on research work is that of mental diseases among persons in middle life. That also is very promising today through preventive measures.

Disease is spread largely by hand—another plea for personal cleanliness and water, milk, and insects, are the greatest disease carriers.

Physicians urge parents to take the greatest care possible of the health of their children. If children are examined regularly from birth over a period of years, she said, physicians can determine if they are susceptible to various forms of disease, and preventive measures can then be taken. Massachusetts has ten per cent. of all the health nurses in the country, or one for every 2,000 of its population.

"If we only put into effect the knowledge we have in regard to health it would be one of the greatest factors in public health, which represents the largest organ of anything in the country."

Miss Mary C. Wiggin, of the Joint Board of Sanitary Control, described the work of the organization in promoting sanitation.

When approached by the striking garment workers during their recent strike in Boston, she was surprised to learn that it was not an increase of wages sought, but safe and sanitary shops under which to work. She urged Club women to purchase only clothing that bears "sanitary labels."

Clendenning Smith gave two violin solos, with Constance Dort as accompanist.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Tuesday evening, the 29th, saw a large party of interested Newton people set forth to visit the Dreary Family in their mountain fastnesses of Dutch Pennsylvania, termed Reinhardt Station. Can greater praise be given to the actors in "Erstwhile Susan," presented by the Dramatic Committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club? From the moment that the curtain rose, in the Newton High School auditorium, upon discouraged, browbeaten, pathetic, adorable Barnabette Dreary, tiredly scrubbing the floor, until her glorious emancipation, and the final row between disgraced mercenary relatives of the grim villain, Barnaby Dreary, there must have been few, indeed, in that audience who were not convinced that they were actually within that "dreary" household, and acting that can be so rendered passes unquestionably into the professional realm!

Hazel H. Shelley, silent, nay "dumb" Barnabette, hungry for knowledge, and the slave of fate and two brothers, even to the business of giving a strap, proved herself a gifted, finished actor, and all who witnessed her perfect conception of this heartbreaking drudge, pay her tribute in her wonderful talent. Mrs. Shelley has the further distinction of being the chairman of the Dramatics Committee.

H. D. Billings, the dour, grim father who did not hold with the running of a business, and finally became the type he was representing in tone and expression of character, but his make-up was a masterpiece of idea. He was neither too uncouth nor "backwoods," but rather gave the impression of latent patricianism gone to seed. C. W. Tylee, as the suspicious, sly, overbearing Jacob Dreary, favorite son of Barnaby's first wife, who expected to inherit all, and who shrewdly accepted money from the third wife for a wedding trip to California, only to go to the home of this latest wife to hunt evidence to her discredit, so convinced his audience of his being a "chip of the old block," that when he discovered that his own letter to his father to harm this woman had resulted in the destroying of the will that would have given him much more than he received from the first wife, he felt that everyone felt that he got only a small portion of what he deserved. Mr. Tylee, in other words, became Jacob Dreary, proof of his genius. Paul R. Knight, Jr., brother of Barnabette, standing several rungs lower in the scale of fatherly consideration because he was the son of the "second," gave most excellently the impression of a bit kind heart, and consequently had the sympathy of his audience when he received more money than he had expected, and those in wrath to inform the elder son that he, too, was a son of Barnaby.

Derby Brown, the uncouth but sincere, even though conceited sutor of Barnabette, whom he warned that she should think twice before turning down the best proposition in Reinhardt, interpreted to the nth degree the appearance and personality of this swain, Abel Buchter. Anne Wilbur Brown, the Juliet who dared to tread in where angels feared to tread and become the wife of Barnaby in order to bring sunshine into the daughter's life, portrayed the peculiarities of the genius so excellently that she actually ran the gamut of rousing mirth from the misunderstanding to the winning of their hearts and respect. Her poetic outbursts, with attendant over-saccharine tone, were a joy of portrayal. Her "allow me the choice of weapons, son," when she removed the knife from Emanuel's mouth, and substituted the fork, in the hilarious supper scene, was the acme of sweet sarcasm. But her big moment came when she snatched the strap from Barnaby's hand when Barnabette returned from a ride with Judge David Jordan—Henry W. Bates, Jr., who played the lover from the city with sympathy and charm.

After two acts that wring the heart "God worked in a mysterious way his wonders to perform," and Barnaby—to the satisfaction of all kind folk—falls off the Methodist Church roof, to secure work upon which he has made Barnabette's life torture. Then comes the reading of the will! The arrival upon the scene of the lawyer to read this will brought appreciative laughter on the makeup of Bartlett W. Boyden. (His chin whiskers were "great!") Barnaby is a millionaire, from the sale of lands to Judge Jordan's railroad interests through roundabout means, and—horror upon horrors!—two despoiled members of the weaker sex come in for a large part of it, since he had torn up his will, and not made another. His four Mennonite relatives, appalling in their black robes, lament the waste of entertainment upon him in the past, and the spending of carfare—thirty-five cents—to come to hear this ingratitude. It is left for Jacob's wife, Ramah, to point out that "Barnaby didn't lay to falling off the roof before he made a will," and this Ethel Tylee did most effectively!

The complete cast was given in the Column of March 18th, and to each and every one is due the statement that the portrayal, great or small was perfect.

Before the play, and between the acts, the Glee Club, whose chairman for the year has been Mrs. William F. Ferrin, and whose director is Mrs. Dorothy Fairbanks Baesler, gave great pleasure in choice selections admirably rendered. The blending of voices was most harmonious, and the solo sung by Mrs. Clinton W. Kyle, whose rich quality, clear tone, and beauty of voice was unusual, may be taken as indication that Mrs. Ferrin has gathered as members of this Glee Club singers of real ability and gift. Mrs. Lucy Simonds was accompanist, and Miss Irene Forte and Mrs. Kenneth B. Hastings the violinists. Mrs. Baesler's conducting was a delight to watch in its professional technique.

Mary Louise Foss headed the ushers, who included Barbara Billings, Dorothy Tylee, Louise Trowbridge, Molly Owens, Eleanor Horton, Betty Farum, Naide Penin, and Elizabeth Arend. The program had a collection of advertisers that attested the business skill of Mrs. Harold C. Bond, chairman of publicity.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

In New Church at Newtonville by Peter V. Ross, C.S.B., Of San Francisco

Two lectures on Christian Science were given Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week in the beautiful new Christian Science Church in Newtonville to large and interested audiences. The lecturer was introduced by Wentworth P. Barker, First Reader of the Newton Christian Science Church in these words: "Before introducing the lecturer of the evening I want to take just a few moments to say that it is a great pleasure to the members of this church to be able to extend to our many guests a cordial welcome, and we wish to say that you will be equally welcome at our Sunday morning and Wednesday evening services."

The lecturer of the evening has a very helpful message for us all, and I feel that I can state without fear of contradiction that if we will give him careful attention we will leave this church tonight, at least a little better than when we came in and if we are carrying a burden we will find that it has been lightened.

He speaks with authority on the subject of Christian Science for he is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Massachusetts. It gives me great pleasure to introduce to you Peter V. Ross, C. S. B. of San Francisco, California. Mr. Ross spoke as follows:

Thoughtful observers, and we are all such at times, are impressed with the apparent imperfection of things as they pass before us in the panorama of life. Conspicuously imperfect are the works wrought by mankind, but imperfection, though in less degree, seems to abound in the world of nature, even in the higher realm of animate beings. The plant is twisted, the tree gnarled, the beast vicious, while man, the noblest of earth's inhabitants, seems so deplorably prone to disease and evil that he is described as mortal and fallen.

Not that beauty and goodness and health are absent or unknown. They are not. They are here and in profusion, and in a way, we need and enjoy them. But always they seem hampered by their opposites, always they seem overshadowed by blight, suffering, and decay. They appear, struggle for a season, and disappear, to mortal sense.

We are confused by this outlook, this, to human sense, lack of perfection; and permanence, confused, because we have an intellingent conception that the Creator is good, that He is wise, that He is perfect. Therefore we look for a man and a universe that are perfect. If, then, personal sense or the human mind informs us that man, and creation generally, are faulty, and sickly and transient, shall we accept this testimony as true? Shall we not rather suspect that the human mind, itself confessedly imperfect, fails to see things as they are, but forms a distorted picture of that which, were it seen in its fullness and actuality, would appear without spot or blemish?

May not all the supposed imperfection which lies about us rest in our mistaken sense of being rather than in the things themselves? Unquestionably God has made all things perfect and permanent. Otherwise the universe could not endure. Flaws in the universe would soon bring about general disaster. The source of the difficulty, then, must be sought in personal sense or in the human mind, and the remedy must be applied to this mind. The end that a perception be attained that sees man and the universe as God made them.

Under the influence of ordinary processes of education the human mind gains a higher, a more accurate perception. Thus the cultured mind sees in the artist's picture touches of emotion and character where the undeveloped mind sees dabs of paint. The technical mind envisages the outlines and beauties of a great building from the architect's figures and formulas, which are all but meaningless to the untrained mentality. So the human mind or consciousness, meliorated and uplifted by that inflow of truth and love which Christian Science brings to mortals, begins to lose its sense of fear, unrest, suffering—imperfection, and to gain a sense of peace, strength, health—perfection, and hence actuality.

THE PERFECTION OF CREATION

If we are to escape the dangers and difficulties which beset the pathway of human existence, our starting point, therefore, must be a perfect God and a perfect man—the starting point which Christian Science has brought to light. Most of us have recollections of a God manlike in form and in temperament. But this crude sense of Deity, though more or less prevalent to this day, is steadily giving place to a conception of God as a Spirit, Mind, without outline or fixed locality, all-knowing, and all-powerful. Not everyone realizes, however, that this advance toward an enlightened conception of Deity during the past half century has been largely due to the discovery of Christian Science by Mary Baker Eddy.

Mrs. Eddy defines God as divine Mind, Life, Love, Principle. Happily enough this definition corresponds with the highest Scriptural conception of God, for the Bible speaks of Him as Life, Mind, Love, Spirit. Moreover, the Christian Science conception of God has the support of sound logic, since only as we conceive of God as divine Mind can we conceive of Him as all-knowing. And when we think of God as Mind we immediately think of Him as Life, also, for intelligence cannot exist apart from life. Inanimate things do not think. And always associated with Mind and Life is Love. These three, and with them Principle, are inseparably interwoven with one another, for Mind, Life and Love, to be Deity, must be, and they are, in accordance with Principle. They cannot be on the level of human intelligence, life and love, which are so deplorably deficient.

And Principle, in this sense, is not cold, abstract and mindless, like the law of gravitation, but it is the living, loving, intelligent influence omnipotently forming, sustaining, and directing all things. When we conceive of God in this sense, that is, as ever-present, ever-operative Mind, Life and Love, we see that Principle is a perfectly accurate name for God, indeed that Principle is God; and we can understand how God can be all presence, all power, all being—the life and intelligence of every animate creature.

This conception enabled Paul to declare "One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all." In this sense, that is, as ever-present, ever-operative Mind, Life and Love, we see that Principle is a perfectly accurate name for God, indeed that Principle is God; and we can understand how God can be all presence, all power, all being—the life and intelligence of every animate creature.

The realization of the divine presence is the prayer or treatment which in Christian Science destroys sin and sickness. Have you, ever been filled with anxiety or resentment? Yes, more than once. And when you were in this condition has something occurred to fix your attention on things above? What then happened to the anger, the discouragement, the alarm? They have been put out of thought, and away, by the nobler impulse which took possession of you. The grosser always yields to the finer. So it is that as one realizes the presence of God as Love, this realization, diffusing itself through consciousness, literally melts away the fear and doubt and hate which are tormenting him. Then come enlarged freedom and happiness. Then, too, comes better health, for whatever cures human consciousness cures also the human body, because the body is only the lower layer of consciousness, as we shall presently see.

There is no definite line of demarcation between fear and disease, between hate and pain. They are only gradations of mortal thought or belief, and they are all cured by the same spiritual process, the flooding of consciousness with Truth and Love. I well remember a boy who, as boys are wont to do, one day threw a stone aimlessly, but with all the force he could command. As the stone left his hand his mother unexpectedly came around the corner of a building and crossed the path of the speeding missile. The stone did not hit her, though it seemed as if it would, but the boy, terror-stricken and consciousness-stricken, was racked with pain in his very finger tips. We speak of fear, malice, and remorse as companions and causes of disease, and in a sense they are, but in a truer sense they are different names for essentially the same thing. There is no sharp distinction between the grip of rage and the wrench of so-called physical pain. All these things are mental monstrosities, and hence Mrs. Eddy could truly say that "not partially, but fully, the great healer of mortal mind is the healer of the body" (Science and Health, page 326).

It is not meant to intimate that all people are necessarily unkindly in temperament, for obviously they are not, though they will often be found to be fearful, unconsciously so many times. But the human mind believes in sickness, has, in belief, enacted laws of disease, and has grown to fear its own creations and illusions, and you and I become victims, oftentimes without specific fault on our part, to these false beliefs and so-called laws, until we learn in Christian Science how to protect ourselves through a realization of the all-presence and all-power of perfect, eternal Life.

THE REALM OF MIND

The Christian Science conception of God as Mind, Life, Love, and Principle has, as we have seen, the support of reason and revelation alike. Reason and revelation likewise insist that man, God's creature, is like God; is, to use the words of the Bible, the image and likeness of God; or, to employ the language of Christian Science, man is the reflection or expression of God. In other words, Life, Mind, Love, Principle are individualized in man. Thus man becomes the embodiment of God's qualities, a manifestation of perfect Mind and Life. He must, then, be mental and spiritual; he must be consciousness, rather than corporeality; and, finally, he must be perfect and immortal, whatever the human mind may suppose or mistake him to be.

The human mind, because it is human, catches at most only faint glimpses of what is going on about us. Even in the physical realm, and according to physical science, the eye and ear, since they respond only to a limited range of the vibrations supposed to be the basis of sight and hearing, taking no cognizance either of the lower or of the higher vibrations, recognize only a section, a fragment, of the phenomena of this world. Small wonder, then, that personal sense or the human mind is unable to take in the beauty and wonder of spiritual things. When it tries to do so it forms a grotesque picture, and instead of visualizing them in their glory and perfection it disfigures them and renders them sickly and ugly.

So it is not surprising that the human mind should misinterpret, should belittle man. And this is precisely why the human mind does. Divine Mind creates and sees man spiritual and perfect, above and beyond disease; but the human mind, unable to comprehend him in his fullness and perfection, visualizes him as physical, as a finite form or figure, awayed by evil, tormented by disease, always limited and imperfect. Thus it is that evil, disease, and imperfection have their source and abiding place in the human mind or consciousness. Hence their cure must there be brought about. And it is in the realm of the mental, which after all is the only realm, that Christian Science operates.

Material things, the human body included, seem very real and tangible. But actually matter is only a mistaken sense of things as dense and heavy, as having weight and ends and sides. For the human mind is, so to speak, short-sighted. It gets a blurred sense of things as dimensional and ponderous. This restricted sense of things constitutes matter. Matter will therefore disappear as mortal sense, under the influence of truth, gives way to a right perception which sees things as they are in spiritual perfection. The disappearance of matter does not mean that the foundation of things will slip away or that the individual will disappear or lose his identity. It means that our heavy, awkward, cumbered, suffering sense of ourselves, and of things generally, will give place to the buoyant, free, spiritual—the true sense of God and of ourselves.

A person absorbed in his work, a musician or baseball player for example, forgets his hands and limbs. Then come lightness, precision, and grace of action. If consciousness were entirely detached from the body the individual would not lose his identity. He would simply part with his heavy sense of himself, for that is what the physical body is, and he would gain the freedom of movement and locomotion which his thought now enjoys; and thought runs instantly whithersoever it will. It does not know locality, distance, or obstruction. We experience something of this freedom in dreams, where we do not lose ourselves but only our heaviness. And should we as incorporeal beings be able to recognize and communicate with each other? Certainly, and with more facility than before, because perception is mental, communion is exchange of thoughts, and what mortals call objects are, if they are anything, ideas.

Suppose three persons are together in a room. The first one, fully awake and with eyes wide open, sees, as he looks toward the center of the room, a table with people gathered about it eating dinner. The second, with eyes closed but with attention fixed in the same direction, sees, precisely where the table appears to his companion, a field of waving grain with people hard at work with their harvesting implements. The third, meanwhile having fallen asleep, visualizes, in the same place, not a field of wheat nor a dining table, but a rugged mountain, and, starting to climb it, loses his footing and tumbles over a precipice.

These things, then, which seem so fixed and rigid, and which we call formations of matter, are really formations of thought. And different individuals in different states of mortal consciousness formulate different things and different events, all in the same place at the same time, with no collisions nor interferences the one with the other. And this will continue until we all are awakened and drawn by the truth into the one absolute consciousness, which is God, where we shall not lose our individualities, but where we shall drop our beliefs of accident and strife and distress, and gain a sense of security and continuous life.

We live, then, in a mental realm. All things are mental, man himself being an aggregation of thoughts, a state of consciousness, instead of an aggregation of cells or a physical body as physiology declares. And it is toward consciousness rather than toward matter that Christian Science treatment is directed. Science, by declaring perfection in all things and in all places, operates to eliminate from human consciousness its beliefs that matter is actual, that disease is present, that evil is attractive. It sweeps from consciousness the heavy, sickly sense of man, and brings out the true sense of man as healthy and holy, as spiritual and perfect.

For there are not two men, one material the other spiritual, one bad the other good, one sick the other well. There is only one man, the perfect, immortal man of divine Mind's creating. The supposedly physical, imperfect man is only the human mind's mistaken sense of what man is. This false sense of man must be displaced by the true sense of health and continuous life are to be realized. And this is exactly what Christian Science is doing. It is bringing out in the experience of the individual a sense of his true selfhood—a self which knows and manifests good and health and intelligence, and it is putting aside the erroneous sense of man as sick and sensual and mortal.

Christian Science accomplishes this by presenting the facts to the individual and arousing him to the true situation. It declares to him that the presence of God who is Love and Life leaves no place or possibility for disease and suffering; that man as the reflection of God is as perfect in the degree as God is; that man is an expression of perfect Life and Mind and therefore that he is well and knows that he is well. The effect of these truths, as they are accepted by the individual, is to work a change in consciousness whereby his sense of pain or unrest, which is false, gives place to a sense of health and peace, which is true.

THE REAL MAN

When Christian Science insists that man is perfect, without fault or blemish, it does not have in thought the human mind's misconception of man as physical, with finite form and outline, but it has in thought spiritual man, the individual's real selfhood. Do you not at times get glimpses of another self, a self that is, so to speak, in the background, a self immeasurably finer than you present to the world in ordinary affairs? Indeed the world has never seen this better self and scarcely suspects its existence. You do not see it all the time, nor every day, but there are moments when you glimpse it. This is your real self, the likeness of God, the perfect, the spiritual man.

What is the connection between the spiritual, perfect man and the physical sense of man? Simply this: As you get even a faint conception of your real selfhood as an expression of divine Life, Mind and Love—a man of Principle—and hold to this conception as best you can from day to day, repudiating as none of yours all sickly and wrongful thoughts, you find that the mistaken, sensuous concept of yourself begins to fade away, and the true sense of yourself as free from disease and evil and limitation comes out more and more in your experience. You find your intellectual faculties expanding, your capacity for doing things enlarged, your affection for good increasing, your life moving toward the harmonious and ideal.

By this mental or spiritual process you put off the old, the imperfect, the Adam man, and put on the new, the real, the Christ man, as Paul admonishes. In this way you work out your own salvation, that is, extricate yourself from the difficulties and distresses which seem to enmesh you. You accomplish this by right thinking, followed up by right doing, a process in which every individual can effectively engage, a process wherein everyone becomes his own physician and his own spiritual adviser.

Everyone has observed that right thoughts, when held to, possess a certain energy which puts wrong thoughts to flight. You have it in your power, by giving audience to healthful and wholesome thoughts and rejecting sickly and sensual thoughts, to attain a consciousness which knows only good and harmony. In other words, you can, with God's help, have that Mind which was in Christ Jesus, and which will, if you give it opportunity, produce the perfect man in you as truly as it did in him. The potentiality of right thinking is boundless, for thereby you find your oneness with God.

We have been too much given to regarding God as afar off, whereas God as Mind, Life, and Love is always at hand. He is so near that, as Paul says, He is in you and through you. This means that perfect Life is asserting itself precisely where your pain, if you think you have any, seems to be. As a realization of this truth fills consciousness the belief of distress necessarily melts away. It is impossible for you to entertain a belief of sickness and at the same time realize the presence of God who is perfect Life. Such contraries cannot both stand in the same consciousness at the same time. And as the false concept fades out, you will realize that the true one has always been present awaiting recognition.

Unable, through personal sense, clearly to discern the real man, we sometimes wonder where he is, and whether he now exists or is yet to come into being. Since man is an expression of ever-present God, he must be, and he is now and here. He is precisely where (though of course not fixed nor confined to that spot) the troubled mortal man seems to be. We look right at him, it may be said, and fail to see him because of our human shortsightedness, our clouded mortal vision. But a right perception, a true vision, on our part, would reveal him.

This vision and perception Jesus possessed, for, says Mrs. Eddy, "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appeared to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick" (Science and Health pp. 476, 477).

THE TRUE VISION

What we need, then, is to gain that perception which will enable us to see (Continued on Page 16)

ourselves and others cleansed of the "muddy vesture of decay" with which mortal thought would clothe us. How shall we cultivate that perception? By being good. By setting the affections on things above. By thinking wholesome thoughts. By departing from the sensual and "bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ." Thus was Paul caught up into Paradise, where he saw in describable wonders, and John saw the new heaven and the new earth wherein was no corporeal body with appetites and sufferings. These men were still groping in the dubious twilight of mortal existence, even as you and I struggling with the same infirmities and temptations with which we struggle, yet at times they attained that consciousness, and we can attain it, wherein men know as they are known.

True vision is realized more or less by people right among us in the hurry and confusion of modern life, but we hear little of what they see because persons of fine sensibilities shrink from voicing their extraordinary experiences. I know a little girl and her aunt, they are both Christian Scientists, who, while they were down town one day, were attracted by the usual morbid attention from passers by. The child, after observing him and them for a moment said, "They don't see what we do, do they Aunt Emily?" The girl saw something of the real man, fashioned in grace and symmetry, where the people thought they were seeing deformity, and she naturally supposed that her aunt, as a Scientist, was seeing likewise.

"Know thyself," says the Greek law giver. Matthew Arnold gives the reason for this injunction when he writes: Resolve to be thyself, and know that he who finds himself loses his misery. Why does he who becomes acquainted with himself lose his misery? Because he discovers that he is the beloved son in whom the Father is well pleased. He discovers that, from the beginning, he has been about his Father's business, and that his follies and misfortunes and sufferings have been no more than excursions of mortal thought into a realm apart from the real—a sort of dream experience. Insist, reverently and intelligently, that you are the only begotten son, that this mortal self is really not you but only a mistaken sense of you, and understand the reason why. Then, acting and living, as best you can, in accord with this exalted truth, you will grow, consciousness will advance, toward, to use the language of St. Paul, "the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

True selfhood, or the real man, may be overlooked or ignored for a time, but he will not remain forever unrecognized and unheard. Eventually he will assert himself despite mortal willfulness and perverseness. Shortly after the crucifixion two of the disciples, finding Jerusalem a turbulent, dangerous place, departed for Emmaus. While they were hastening along the road, the Master overtook and journeyed with them; and, as he talked, their hearts burned within them. They felt the call to duty. They returned to Jerusalem, with its turbulence and hardships, where their work was and where they were needed.

Since that time, and before, many are they who have sought to escape their problems by fleeing from them. Their work has been hard, their position intolerable, they have been misunderstood and maligned, they have been in distress, even in danger. Listening to the siren voice that in some other place or at some other time their difficulties can be avoided or more easily overcome, they have abandoned their posts, but they have not always found peace and satisfaction. They may have gained a sort of temporary relief and contentment. They have too often felt the sting of remorse that comes when opportunities have been neglected and tasks have been left unperformed.

Sometimes men have found home so congenial and comfortable that they have contemplated separation from their dear ones. They have fancied that liberty lies in that direction. It does not. Liberty and happiness come through manly and right conduct. Their realization is hastened by cheerfully and patiently meeting and mastering the difficulties and irritations which accompany human relationships. The more closely people are associated the more necessary are tact and kindness, and the less excusable are untimely rebuke and plain speaking and uncovering of error. If affection seems to wane, it can be revived by the same kindly attention and consideration which kindled it in the beginning. If mistakes are made, as they are sure to be, they can be overlooked. No mistake is so serious but, when repented, it can be consigned to the nothingness from which it sprang, and be forgotten as something that never was. If we cannot forgive others how can we expect forgiveness ourselves, and certainly every mortal stands in need of forgiveness and mercy and this in generous measure. If we cannot see the perfect man in those close about us, how can we hope to find him in ourselves, and it is only as we find him in ourselves that life will lose its bitterness.

THE SUPREME DEMONSTRATION

Human existence, with its strange contrasts of joy and sorrow, health and disease, life and death, is a mystery; and we wonder why we are here and what is the purpose of it all. Years ago, yet not so many after all when we consider how long mortals have trod this planet, a young carpenter in a small town in a remote part of the world pondered these same questions, for they are the common stock of humanity, until the answer to the riddle and the remedy for earthly woes were revealed to him. But he kept at his work, proving himself a dutiful son and a good carpenter before undertaking the role of the great teacher and leader.

At the age of thirty, however, he felt ready for the larger, universal service and went forth to teach what had been revealed to him and to show people the way of escape from their ills and oppressions. Crowds came to hear him. A palsied man induced his friends to carry him. Finding the place packed by those who had already arrived, they took the helpless man upon the housetop, opened the roof, and lowered him, bed and all, into the midst before Jesus. Noting their faith, Jesus said to the sick man, "Arise, take up thy bed, and go thy way." And the man did so, while the audience "marveled and glorified God, which had given such power unto men."

At another time a ruler of the synagogue whose daughter was at the point of death besought Jesus to come and heal her. Before Jesus reached the house the girl had died. Entering the room where she lay and taking her by the hand, he said, "Damsel I say unto thee, arise." And immediately she arose and walked, and the friends and people who had gathered about were filled with astonishment.

After reaching this understanding whereby he could see and demonstrate that disease and death are, in Science, unreal, Jesus one day took three of his disciples up into a high mountain—up into the exalted consciousness which he had attained—and there communed with Moses and Elias, both of whom had passed from mortal sight centuries before. So vivid was the picture that even the disciples saw these men, because, as the Scriptural narrative runs, "the face of the covering cast over all the people" was, for the time being, destroyed, and it was realized that individuals who are supposed to pass away in fact continue to exist and maintain their identity and carry on their work, for as Jesus talked with Moses and Elias they spoke of his decease which he was soon to accomplish at Jerusalem.

For the storm was gathering. Jesus' teachings could not long pass unchallenged. His spirituality was a constant, stinging rebuke to the grossness and materialism of the times. His example and his marvelous works enraged the forces of evil beyond all bounds. There could be but one outcome. His life would be sought. He could take refuge in flight or he could stand his ground and permit evil to try to destroy him. He chose the latter. One night (you all know the story) he was seized by a mob, given a mockery of trial in the morning, and cruelly executed. Three days later he came from the sepulcher, and appeared not once but several times to his friends and talked with them during a period of forty days. Then he ascended, that is, became invisible to the physical senses. He had demonstrated that individual life is indestructible and continuous.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY

It might be thought that the significance of such a stupendous accomplishment would never be forgotten, but, within two or three centuries, it was, very largely, until some sixty years ago, when, here in America, a spiritually minded and deeply religious woman, apparently approaching the end of mortal existence as the result of an accident, turned to her Bible for consolation. While she was reading one of the gospel accounts of healing performed by Jesus, a sense of strength and freedom stole over her. She arose, dressed, and presented herself to anxious friends, sound and well, and from that time she was in better health than she had known before.

But she was not content with this. She must understand the process, the modus operandi, of spiritual healing. To this end she searched the scriptures and devoted her life. She found, in the course of three years' study and consecration, that Jesus, in overcoming disease, setting aside material laws, and abolishing death itself, invoked absolute Science, which he understood and which, as he declared, others can understand and apply to the solution of their problems and the alleviation of their sufferings.

As she came into the understanding of this Science she put it in practice. She tested it when sick folk came to her for help, and found that it brought relief to the suffering and sorrowing in her time as certainly as it had done during the early Christian era. In order that the world at large might profit by her discovery, she set forth the fundamentals of this Science, and the rules for applying it, in her great book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures"—a book which today is found in countless homes and libraries and is read and pondered more in Christian lands, perhaps, than any other book except the Bible.

Afterward she established the Christian Science Church with its periodicals and other means for disseminating and guarding the truth. Thus it was, in brief, that Mary Baker Eddy became the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science and earned the right to be called the Leader of the Christian Science movement—a movement which has for its purpose nothing less than the overthrow of sin, disease, and death. These three enemies Science is now destroying as they have never before been destroyed, because Science has uncovered their vulnerable spot, namely, their unreality. The time is coming, and let us not needlessly postpone the day by insisting that it is in an inconceivably remote future, when the last enemy shall be destroyed.

THE CONTINUITY OF LIFE

The conviction is all but universal that man is immortal. The primitive American, Indian, the intellectual Greek, the devout Jew, each in his own time and peculiar way arrived at the same conclusion that life continues beyond the grave. Intuition, reason, and inspiration unite in declaring that life is eternal, and that death is not the end of individual existence, but an incident or transition not yet fully understood. The whole tendency of modern thought, tremendously stimulated and strengthened by Mrs. Eddy's writings, is in this direction, with the result that people are losing their fear of the king of terrors and coming to see that Christian Science is entirely reasonable in declaring that death, as well as disease, can be mastered through an understanding of Life.

When we conceive of man as consciousness, instead of corporeality, we place ourselves in a position to appreciate his immortality, for consciousness persists and continues whatever may seem to happen to the physical. Thinking is constant and continuous, swifter and freer, if anything, when we are asleep than when awake. Nothing can check the ceaseless flow of thought. Accident and disease cannot stop thinking; cannot destroy consciousness; cannot interrupt the eternal course of Life. Sickness or catastrophe may seem to overtake our friend, and we may say that he is dead and gone, but he knows that he is alive and is here. Hence arise two opposite states of consciousness something as when one person falls asleep while his companion remains awake and neither recognizes the other for the time being.

Why do we not see our friend? Because we insist that death has come between us, has even destroyed or carried him to an unknown realm. This self-imposed stupidity or denseness, this clouded mortal sense of things, which we tenaciously hold to, constitutes the veil of the flesh that shuts us out from the so-called departed. But as thought is clarified and uplifted, a perception, an understanding will unfold which knows no veil, no death, no separation. In this mountain of enlightened consciousness God will destroy, so the promise reads in Isaiah, "the face of the covering cast over all people, and the veil that is spread over all nations. He will swallow up death in victory" and "wipe away tears from off all faces."

Trying by means of physical sense to penetrate the veil or to outline or visualize our friend will end only in confusion and disappointment. Materiality cannot apprehend spirituality. The qualities which endear our friend to us and which really constitute our friend and make him undying are not of the flesh. They never existed in a material body. They are spiritual qualities—integrity, faithfulness, love, and other attributes of Soul. They are not appreciable to material sense; they never have been and never can be. They are appreciable to spiritual sense only. Let us cultivate this sense. Let us think rightly, live rightly. Let us rise above sin and sensuality. This is what our friend is doing. Then with our thoughts and aims in the same direction our pathways will converge. We shall come out of the different states of consciousness to which mortal sense has consigned us, and which have seemed to separate us, and come together into the one absolute consciousness of Life eternal.

It is humanly natural that we should be concerned about our friend and wonder what and where he is, but if we are wise we shall trust him to God's tender, constant care, thinking of him rationally and helpfully. Grieving and speculating can do no good and may spread confusion where peace and calm are needed. When our friend was here we emphasized his good qualities, we admired and dwelt upon them in thought, dismissing erring qualities as not representing him. In other words, we saw something of the real man as an expression of imperishable life and unchanging good. We should continue to do so. Right thinking, comprising thoughts of love and life and peace, is always and universally helpful. It knows no barrier. It reaches its destination certainly and instantly.

In Christian Science practice we observe that right thinking, treatment, or prayer heals the absent or sleeping patient as quickly and effectively as though he were awake or present. Intervening walls, mountains, oceans, and varying states of human consciousness, offer no resistance to the truth liberated by right thinking. In Science the here and there are merged, and we are neither separated from God nor from one another by walls of matter or walls of consciousness. These supposed barriers exist only to erring physical sense, and they disappear as physical sense yields to spiritual sense or the true vision.

GIRL SCOUTS

Hold an Enthusiastic Rally in High School Gymnasium Last Saturday Afternoon

Troop No. 18, the Senior troop in Auburndale, and Troop No. 22, the Junior troop in Newtonville were the outstanding features in the Newton Girl Scout rally held at the new gymnasium of the High School on Saturday afternoon, April 2nd. Troop No. 18 won the pennant for Senior competition and Troop No. 22 for Junior competition before an audience of over 1,000 friends and parents. Troop No. 11, Newton Highlands, and No. 3, Newton Centre, came in 2nd and 3rd in the Junior division and troops No. 21, Newton Highlands, and No. 10, Newtonville, 2d and 3rd in the Senior division. This rally was attended by 610 Girl Scouts and 47 Girl Scout officers. Promptly at 2:25 "first call" was sounded by the bugler and at 2:30 the troops marched into the gymnasium and stood at attention for the opening meeting. Their flags made a double row across the center of the gymnasium down which the red sashed color guard marched and slowly hoisted the stars and stripes to the strains of "Colors" blown by Captain Plimpton of Troop No. 25, Newton Centre. After the Pledge of Allegiance, Star Spangled Banner, Girl Scout Law and Promise the troops marched to their seats around the hall and the competitions began.

The knot tying relay for Juniors was first on the program. This was won by Troop No. 11, Newton Highlands, 2nd place Troop No. 22, Newtonville, 3rd place Troop No. 4, Waban. Next came Morse code signalling for Seniors which was won by Troop No. 21, Newton Highlands, 2nd Troop No. 13, Newton Centre, and 3rd, Troop No. 18, Auburndale. Following this 1 Junior troops did scout stunts, among which were history of the flag, fire prevention, scout law and promise, and the G. S. initials.

SALARIES INCREASED

Police and Firemen Benefit After Heated Arguments

Members of the Police and Fire departments of Newton, including the rank and file, were given increases of $100 in their salaries Monday night by the aldermen. The Mayor had recommended $300 increases for Chiefs Burke and Randlett, somewhat smaller increases for the officers in the two departments, and $200 increases for the privates in the Fire Department and the patrolmen and traffic officers in the Police Department.

Alderman Collins, Chairman of the Finance Committee stated "that the problem of increasing the salaries of policemen and firemen is a difficult one. Great pressure is brought to bear in all cities in the state to obtain such increases. The rate of salaries paid in other cities, while a factor to be considered, is not a compelling reason. The cost of living in Newton is higher than in other cities, and the wages paid here put Newton about in the middle as compared with other cities in the State. The Finance Committee considered that an increase of $100, which will give the firemen and policemen here a maximum salary of $2100, will be just to both the men and the taxpayers.

Chief Burke has asked for seven more policemen. The Finance Committee recommended that but one be granted. Chief Randlett asked for five additional firemen. The Finance Committee recommended but two. Alderman Heathcote criticised the committee for failing to recommend the number of men asked for. Alderman Collins explained that the one additional policeman recommended will be a motorcycle officer, and inasmuch as several motorcycle officers have been appointed the past two years, fewer patrolmen should be necessary, as the Chief has said "that one motorcycle officer can cover as much ground as two policemen on foot. The two additional firemen are for the new piece of apparatus at Chestnut Hill; a combination pumping and hose truck which will replace the hose truck there.

CHORAL CONCERT

Hiawatha's Wedding Feast the Leading Feature in Last Concert of Season

Although the Newton Choral Society was unfortunate in having bad weather for its 15th concert, which was given Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium, a large audience gathered to enjoy the fine music, and they encouraged the performers by hearty applause. The society was fortunate in having as its soloist Mr. Joseph Lautner, whose strong and pleasing tenor voice made a most favorable impression. Mr. Lautner sings with enthusiasm and sentiment and intelligence, and his voice has unusual power and sweetness on the higher notes.

The main feature of the program was the cantata "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," in which the picturesque and poetic verses of Henry L. Longfellow are set to colorful and expressive music by Coleridge-Taylor. The society gave this cantata once before to an enthusiastic audience, and following a long period of rehearsal since about January 1, the second performance was even better. The highly accented music was rendered in a way to suggest the barbaric nature of the theme, and the chorus responded faithfully to the effort of the conductor to bring out the wide range of expression in this masterpiece of imaginative music.

The performance was greatly helped by the fine accompaniments rendered by the Boston Festival orchestra, assisted by Miss Irene Forte, Mrs. Kenneth Hastings, and Mr. Charles S. Goddard, violins, Miss Mary Pucciarelli, viola, Miss Doris Forte, and Miss Hildegard Berthold, cellos. The orchestra played three dances from the suite "Nell Gwyn" by German, with fine spirit and sympathetic rendering. The chorus and orchestra also rendered very effectively the "Chorus of Homage" by William Gerike, former conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. William Lester Bates as usual officiated as conductor, and displayed his remarkable power for bringing out the finer meanings of the score. Miss Lillian West was accompanist, and as

"OLD CHINA AND NEW"

At the Children's Museum of Boston, Jamaica Plain, on Sunday, April 10, Miss Dorothy Smith of the Museum Staff will give a moving picture talk on "Old China and New." If you are interested in seeing pictures of a canal which was old as long ago as 486 B.C.—myriads of boats, picturesque arch bridges, riverside laundries, barges towed by man power, curious irrigating pumps worked by coolies as treadmills, duck growing, fishing and sailing junks—if you want to hear of China—its everyday life and customs, its civilization, what modern industries originated there—come to the Museum. Miss Emily Rollins, dressed in a Chinese bride's costume, will be ready to point out the different exhibits in the Museum collection. Admission is free.

This concert closes the season for the society. Those desiring to take part in the December concert should apply to the secretary, Miss Theresa L. Cram, and those wishing to join the society as associate members should apply to the chairman of the association membership committee, Mr. F. C. Alexander.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC MEET

Juniors Win the Annual Exhibition Held in the High School Gymnasium

One of the most colorful events in this city is the annual gymnastic meet of the Girls of the Newton High School. The meet took place this year last Friday night in the new gymnasium and fully two thousand parents and friends managed to find seats while hundreds were turned away.

The High school band added much to the enjoyment of the occasion by a well selected program.

The girls marched into the gymnasium, with costumes alike save for the tie which indicated the class to which its wearer belonged, seniors being red, juniors yellow, sophomores blue and freshmen green.

They were led by Miss Marion Frost in their salute to the flag which was carried by Miss Faith Wing.

The first event was a floor drill, by each class in turn. This was followed by apparatus work including back vault, saddle vault, horizontal ladder, ropeclimbing, rope ladders, box vault, parallel bars, swing jump and rings, and it was like a three ring circus, keeping track of what was going on.

A series of games followed and the contestants were urged on by the cheers and frantic applause of their classmates.

The dancing, always a pretty feature of the meet, were particularly enjoyable, the freshmen giving the scarf dance, and pantomimes, the sophomores fundamental relaxation exercises and Sweet Rosie O'Grady and the juniors and seniors giving dramatized Greek games.

The judges Miss Chellis of Thayer Academy, Miss McLean of the Day Junior High school, Miss Rathbone of Wellesley College, Miss Sewall of Waltham High and Miss Somers of the State Department of Education rendered their decision in favor of the juniors, an award that was greeted with enthusiastic applause by the girls of that class.

The detail of the award is as follows, posture, seniors 1st, juniors-sophomores tied for 2nd; Floor drill, juniors 1st, seniors 2nd, individual gymnastics, sophomores 1st, freshmen 2nd; rope climbing, freshmen 1st, juniors 2nd; saddle vault, seniors 1st, juniors 2nd; box vault, freshmen 1st, sophomores 2nd; stunts, sophomores 1st, freshmen 2d; swing jump, juniors 1st, seniors 2nd; rings, seniors-juniors tied, parallel bars, juniors 1st, sophomores 2nd, box vault, freshmen 1st, sophomores 2nd; rope ladder, seniors 1st, juniors 2nd, relay race, won by juniors, a total of 34 points with seniors second with 7 points.

The cup was presented to Miss Virginia Spurrier, secretary of the class by Principal Francis L. Bacon.

Mr. Bacon also presented "N's" and numerals to the basketball teams the first team consisting of Chellis Cook, captain, Cleone Place, manager, Elizabeth Barrett, Gladys Brown, Ellen Chase, Elizabeth Clark, Eleanor Davis, Priscilla Dennett, Emily Dunleavy, Marion Frost, Virginia Hodder, Louise Horrigan and Betty Richardson. The second team consisted of Margaret Decker, Eleanor Harding, Marion Leith, Gwendyth Quinby, Mae Schultz, Ruth Taft, Margaret Warren and Faith Wing.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

N. A. A. ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Newton Athletic Association will be held on Monday evening, April 25th, at the Newton Club. Officers for the coming year will be elected and plans discussed for honoring the 1927 high school hockey champions as well as for the monthly meetings for the coming year. All members are urged to attend and get behind the project to bring about a well-equipped athletic field for the high school athletes.

NEWTON OPENS SEASON

The Newton high school baseball team will open its season next Wednesday afternoon against the strong Needham high nine on Claffin Field. The visitors will present a veteran team and will have one of the best pitchers in eastern Massachusetts high schools on the mound. They have already been mentioned as possible state championship contenders. The orange and black nine however has been rapidly rounding into shape and will present some unexpected changes in its lineup. These changes have come about as the result of certain problems which Coach Brownell and Sullivan have had to face.

Two of these problems dealt with the left side of the infield. Captain John Proctor's arm which troubled him at times last season has not rounded in to shape as yet and unless the weather is exceedingly warm he will start at second base where he has been playing in practice. The shifting of the blonde-haired athlete to the other side of the infield has caused a big gap which must of necessity be filled by a seasoned veteran to give the team strength. Out of the few remaining letter men from last year's nine Frank Spain is the logical choice to take Proctor's position. The Waban youth has heretofore been looked upon as the first string catcher but his value to the team will be greater at shortstop although he will go to third should Proctor's arm return to normalcy. At present, however, the berth at the hot corner will be filled by either Mike Casey, Victor Stout or Edgar Warren.

With Spain eliminated from the receiving position the Newton coaches were forced to seek about for someone to fill the bill. Mickey Monahan has been forced to give up all athletics because of ear trouble, and Art Wilson, who got into a few games last season behind the bat, has been shifted to the outfield. Harold Andres, one of Newton high's several three sport athletes, donned the mitt and mask the other day and showed the coaches that he was quite at home behind the bat in spite of the fact that he has never before played the position. He has the best and strongest arm of any man on the squad and added to this his coolness under pressure and his confidence in himself he should make good with a vengeance. A little more polish and experience is all he needs.

Penny deMille will cover the initial sack and his height and reach will enable him to make many a putout of throws that ordinarily would be beaten by a step. Thus the infield will be completed with three veterans and two new men.

The outfield positions are not quite as certain. Art Wilson will be at centerfield, Mullin or McCleary in left and White or Gatchell in right. It seems certain that Sam McCleary, who hits them high and hard, will start at either right or left field.

In the box Don Wilson and Harold Macy will attempt to subdue the visitors. Linqvist, a portlander who hails from Maine, will be saved for either Lawrence on Saturday or Cambridge Latin on the holiday while McCleary will probably work the other game.

As far as the batting order goes it will be up to Frank Spain to lead off. He will be followed by either Mullin, White or Gatchell with Captain Proctor as third man. McCleary will take the clean-up position with Andres, deMille, Art Wilson, Casey, Stout or Warren, and the pitcher following.

The student body is behind the team strongly and over 1100 season tickets have been sold in the drive to increase the funds in the athletic treasury. A public sale of tickets is now being carried on throughout the city.

Bowdoin Man Ill

Unfortunately the gripe has taken for the time being from the Bowdoin track team one of its most promising freshmen. Harold Phelps, Jimmy Hoyt under Centre has been ill at his home all the Spring vacation, and due to the effects of his previous illness that he had last year will probably keep away from the running game for the rest of this term. He was taken sick just before the fraternity meet was held, and, although he ran, he scarcely was able to do himself justice, placing fourth in the 300 yard run.

Hoyt Recovering from An Operation
Along with his fellow Newtonian, Charlie Phelps, Jimmy Hoyt underwent an operation for appendicitis, but was too ill to be removed to his home so he has had to remain at college. The tennis team was hit hard by his illness, and Jimmy missed the trip South that was on the boards for the coming vacation. He and Charlie are recovering as well as may be expected, and both will probably be able to resume their duties as counsellors at Camp Passaconaway this summer.

Shaw a Regular at Bowdoin

Due to the splendid progress that Alan Shaw has already made in the Spring practice at Bowdoin, he seems assured of the position at second base, and will probably lead the team's batting order. He is hitting as well as ever, and on top of that has added some speed to his already fairly swift base-running. He is said to be one of the finest prospects that the school has ever had there as far as baseball goes. If he can keep his playing ability up he will be another of the Newton boys that have won their letter while still freshmen. The Bowdoin team plays in around Boston here in the early spring months so it will be possible for all his friends to get out to see him in his new role.

Bowen Gains Letter at Cornell

With the close of the wrestling season at Cornell George Bowen was awarded his wrestling letter, a minor one at Ithaca. Although he sprang from comparative obscurity, he was one of the best wrestlers at the college when he finished the season. His previous football experience helped him a great deal, and he added to that a great deal of physical strength. His performance in one meet meant the winning of the contest for the Red, and he also won the college laurels this year in the heavy weight class.

Taber Academy News

Warren Skelton for the second year is out for a place on the crew. His first effort at the sport of rowing was last year, and after some time spent in learning the tricks of the game he began to forge steadily ahead. This year he should meet with greater success and possibly win a seat in the boat, although many of the past season's crew are back. Arnold Rich is an aspirant for the baseball team, after a successful track term, and seems cast for some position on the Taber nine. Last year's team was one of the best that the school has ever had, and from the material assembled this season's will not be far behind.

Yale Team Leaves for the South

Richard Vaughn of Newton Centre is taking his second out-of-town trip as a member of the Bulldog's best. He was selected by Coach Wood as the regular short-stop of the varsity despite strenuous opposition on the part of the last year's freshman quartet. His fielding which was somewhat erratic has improved and along with this gain he is becoming a consistent hitter. The trip will occupy over a week, and the almost veteran team is looking forward to a clean slate in all their encounters.

Stone School Rowing

If Stone School continues her policy to have an eight-oared crew on the Charles this spring, she will have a veteran bow-oar from Newton in the person of John Ball. Last year he won his letter as the in town school's aggregation made a splendid record as school boy rowers. Although he was lacking in experience as many other boys are for the rowing facilities are decidedly limited, he has become very proficient in the art of swinging the blade and will be good material for Harvard, where he is heading for this year.

Moody Out for Freshman Tennis

Despite the serious illness that left him in poor physical condition last year Maynard Moody is going out for the Harvard Freshman Tennis team. He has had a great deal of experience in the various tournaments that have been held in the city of Newton, and has won considerable praise for his showing in the same. Whether his health will permit his taking a complete part in this sport or not is the main difficulty. The freshman squad numbers some of the finest of the junior players in this part of the country, but thanks to the broad and enlightened system of athletics that is in favor at Harvard, all players have an opportunity to play and to gain more experience.

Warren Adams Wins Insignia

Warren S. Adams, former Newton high athlete, has been awarded numerals at Princeton. The Newton high football technician was one of the outstanding men on the Tiger yearling iceteam.

Basketball Opening Successful

The practically empty coffers of the Newton High school athletic treasury were benefitted to some extent by the success of the recent basketball opening. Nearly $350 profit was realized from the event which was made overwhelmingly successful largely because of the spirit of co-operation and sportsmanship displayed by the competing teams.

Annual Exhibition Coming

Plans for the annual exhibition are rapidly drawing to completion. The event will be staged in the Y floor on Friday evening, April 22nd. Among the events planned are a trained (human) elephant act, pyramids on the horse, and parallel bars, tiger leaping a vaudeville act by the incomparable Joe Bliss and Joe Champagne and the award of badges.

Y Bowlers Beat Hunnewell

The Y. M. C. A. Bowling team won three out of four points from the Hunnewell club team last Saturday night on the Hunnewell alleys. The Y team took two matches and the total pinfall, 1671 to 1595. Lawrence Lane of the Y team had a high three string total of 387 and Mr. Loring of the Club team a high single of 140.

The second teams of the two organizations split even with 2 points each. Lawrence Trowbridge's high three strings of 327 pulled the Y team into a tie by bringing them victory in the final string and total pinfall.

National Hexathlon Events Completed

The National Hexathlon events in four classes of boys has been completed. The Newton Y is in Class B and the five highest boys in each of the events at each weight scored a total of 9,691 points. Buttons will be awarded those scoring over 400 points. A gold award for those over 600 points, silver for over 500 and bronze for over 400. The following boys will be given their honors at the annual exhibition: W. Floring, 563; C. Gatchell, 469; A. Bugnon, 425; P. Mackin, 423; W. Earle, 419; J. Benson, 413; and C. Kittredge, 402.

Newton Five Out in First

The Newton team winners of the Senior league basketball recently completed entered the Two-state elimination tourney at Everett last Saturday. The local team was put out in the first round by the Fall River team, 25 to 9. The final match was won by Woonsocket.

Church League Sectional Tourney

The Watertown Methodist Episcopal church team champions of the Church league season of 1927 will enter the sectional tourney at Lynn tomorrow. They will meet the Central Baptist team of Quincy in the first round. The St. John's team, composed of Thurloves, Perkins and Phelps, forwards, Sherman, centre, and Capt. Ross and Parker, guards, hopes to emerge victorious. One of the teams they may have to meet in the course of the tourney should both win their first games, is the Needham Congregational five. This team was the winner of the Needham league as well as runner-up in the Newton circuit. The Newcomb brothers, Taylor, Stanley, and Drinkwater compose the Needham five. The winner of this tourney will oppose the winner of sectional tourneys being held in Providence, Brockton and Springfield in order to determine the state champion.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

If it isn't one thing then it's another. Just about the time we get all talked-out on filling stations and new city halls and pure water supply along come official orders to restrain all dogs. Well, that's something I can't argue over or even venture an opinion for I don't know a thing about it and obliged to take the word of the men who do.

When all is said and done dogs must be tied up in order to comply with the instructions of the Board of Aldermen. The simplest way for everybody, whether one is in sympathy with the regulation or not, is to comply with it. Apart from the scientific feature of this preventive measure I'm not so sure but it is a good thing for some dogs. Many well-intentioned people own dogs but neglect them. They do not mean to be heartless, but they feel that the dog may well be left to shift for itself and thus they pay little or no attention to its wanderings. Frequently it takes some such stiff backed ruling as the Aldermen have made in this instance to arouse the consciences of certain dog-owners. It may be that the actual loss of a pet through the agency of a policeman's bullet is necessary. I dislike to think it may be so, but you know what some people are. When the dog is gone the indifferent owner wakes up to the fact that it is largely his fault. And such an awakening brings with it a lesson. If one has a dog and that dog must live in the city it is absolutely essential that it receive attention and care. It is unwise to argue otherwise.

Before dropping the subject entirely I wish to add something that has occurred me after digesting the debate on dogs by the city fathers. Will not the restraining of dogs make the work of the assessors more agreeable? They may be sure of no interference while they make their rounds during the present month. And if any unrestrained animal should attack them they have only to take the matter up with the police.

And secondly! What better opportunity for the assessors to learn who is the owner of a dog? When the assessor calls, doggie will be tied up in the yard and the man from city hall will have no question to ask on that score but merely write down, "One house, one car and one dog."

Use of "Newton Corner" as descriptive of wards 1 and 7, is becoming more frequent. The other day I picked up one of those pesky handbills which certain storekeepers still think people like to have tossed on the piazza or front lawn. I glanced to see who the offender was and there observed that the address was given as Newton but that in smaller type was the word "Corner," apparently an afterthought.

That is just one more bit of evidence that new-comers are finding it difficult to locate themselves after they once get here. Furthermore, and I speak in all seriousness, it shows there is need of something besides "Newton" to designate, for the benefit of strangers, this particular section of the city. Inevitable growth has brought such a condition and frankly I think it has got to be faced sooner or later.

For my own part I am not keen for Newton "Corner" as a name and never was. We think of a "corner" as a resort of loungers. It may seem that I am painting it pretty drab, but who is there to say there is anything euphemistic in the phrase "Newton Corner"?

Not for the world would I suggest that we ape our English cousins and say, "Newton-Corner," but that, as queer as it sounds, is no worse than the present name. In fact, I think it an improvement. I recall that an English friend of mine once addressed a letter to me at "Newtons Newtons." This was a joke, and not a bad one for an Englishman. He had visited our beloved city and tried in a short time to grasp its geography.

The English have some strange names for towns and villages and also some which fall upon the ear with harmony. Maybe they might have some ideas that would be useful at the present time. I should prefer however, that we strive to maintain our Yankee traditions and at the same time find something better than "Newton Corner."

If I should be shoved against a wall and put through a series of sharp questions as to my objections to "Newton Corner," I should expect the poets of Newton to come to my rescue without delay. Every man, woman and child who does a little rhyming on the sly or in the open knows that there is no use trying to make a nice piece of verse and expect to do much with "Newton Corner." In the first place, no rhyming dictionary can help you out and any original idea would be too daring.

Imagine a poet's feelings if forced to write a poem and use "Newton Corner" in connection with some beautiful flight of fancy. It just cannot be done. Therefore, as far as I can see, wards 1 and 7 will never have a poem dedicated to them, collectively, and if it is it will not be the right kind of a poem. That is, it will have to be a gloomy composition at best, for about the only rhyme would be "mourner" and "corner" and that doesn't promise much mirth.

I am well aware that a lot of people are going to tell me that there is nothing wrong or improper in the name "Newton Corner" and perhaps it would be just as well if I were to mind own business. To them I can only say that those who would justify "Corner" should tell us how it first came to be used, its significance, etc. Should there be some tender sentiment along with it we might hear that, too. Let those who will say, "What was good enough for our forefathers is good enough for us" and let those who would find a more attractive name.

The Summer is coming on and there will be more time for loftier thoughts. Let each one of us make it a vacation matter and return home with some ideas, more or less fresh according to temperament, and begin the autumn will some topic that is new instead of that age-worn query, "Who's going to run against Childs?"

I wonder if everybody who attended the performances of the Players last week felt the same odd sensation as I that this hall was no longer to be the home of the organization? Of course there was much interest in what Mr. Hatfield said in his speech between the acts about a new home for the club, but the actual thought that it was a case of ringing down the curtain for the last time—well, it's the way things go and that's about all that can be said.

As one who has had the privilege of prancing on its boards many a time and oft I can say that it's too bad Newton is to lose so good an equipment for amateur performances. Few realize how well provided for were those who gave their plays in this hall. Mark you, there was ample stage room. Wherever amateurs play they usually find themselves inconvenienced in some direction or another, but not at Players Hall.

How many people, I wonder, know that the stage at Players Hall is as large as that of the New Park Theatre in Boston? How many realize that as much scenery as the Boston playhouse in question holds can be handled in the hall at West Newton? The tower permits of stowing away many scenic "drops" and in back there is considerable clear space during the progress of a performance.

Many a professional has said that Newton was very fortunate in the stage at Players Hall. I have heard them myself declare, "It is possible to handle almost anything on this stage." That is a great compliment, indeed.

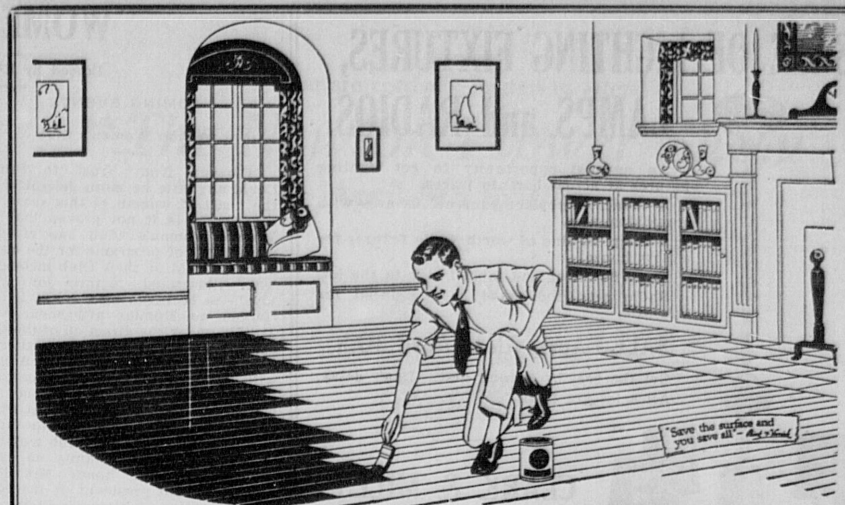

I hope that with the closing of Players Hall we are not to see the last real stage in Newton abandoned. Amateur dramatics are becoming increasingly popular and there is no reason why Newton should not hold its lead in the quality of such productions. If the stage is inadequate you cannot expect the performers to overcome such an obstacle no matter how hard they try.

Let us think about this thing a little and see if we shouldn't give it more than passing consideration. The North side of the city can support an auditorium providing one is opened. Here's hoping that it may be.

If there is a group of individuals who can always find something to do it is those who meddle in affairs with which they have no concern. These people are never found among the unemployed and for that reason I suppose they have reason to congratulate themselves.

In newspaper work I have met all classes and ranks. Some were very classy, while others were exceedingly rank. But many of both grades possessed an irresistible desire to find out things with which they had not the remotest situation. Especially true is this of political and legislative matters. You have no idea of the number of "snoopers" a piece of legislation or a campaign of political candidates can produce. Where they come from and who supports them is always a mystery. They are always around and it seems as if their work was never done.

These "snoopers" make newspaper writers their particular objectives. They seem to have an idea that a reporter is filled to the brim with "inside stuff" and that he ought to be ready to disclose it at any time.

The system of these "snoopers" is obvious. They take you aside, as if to divulge some great mystery, and hiss into your ear one or more pertinent questions regarding a matter which is no affair of theirs. The same type of person may be encountered most anywhere and will continue to thrive, I suppose, as long as the good nature of the public continues, and that at present seems limitless.

This is the Spring season when birds have the right to spring from branch to branch; when flowers may spring through the earth and budding leaves spring from the trees, while dress-designers and milliners may spring anything they wish and get paid for it.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

COMING EVENTS

Waban Woman's Club

"Flowers from Frost to Frost." Could any title be more delightful for the heart of woman at this season of the year? Is it not proven that the Waban Woman's Club has given a perfect list of programs for the enjoyment and aid of their Club members? This illustrated lecture—joy upon joy!—to be given by Edward I. Harrington on Monday afternoon, April 11th, is under the direction of the Conservation Committee, Mrs. Walter L. Tougas, chairman. A question hour will be of material value, and add greatly to the desire for attendance. Then of course there is the tea which furnishes the social side of the afternoon. At this time the Club members will have the opportunity to greet their guests of honor—Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., the president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Joseph Congdon, the director of the twelfth district of the State Federation.

Mr. Farrington is secretary of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, and as such is in touch with nurserymen, landscape architects, and private growers all over the country. He is editor of Horticulture, in which capacity he has made it his business, naturally, to learn everything that is new and worthwhile in the "field of flowers," and he is one of the official lecturers of the famous Arnold Arboretum. His story and his pictures should be a delight and inspire many a garden to bloom in Waban.

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

Mrs. Sanford E. Thompson is hostess for the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. for their meeting on Monday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, April 11th, opening her home 1090 Walnut street. "Peer Gynt" is to be studied, with Mrs. George F. Hardy presenting the discussion.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

Mrs. J. E. Peckham and Mrs. H. J. Fewkes are in charge of a Book Review which is to be the program for the Monday meeting of the Monday Club on the 11th. Mrs. Seward W. Jones of 49 Columbus street, is hostess.

Social Science Club

The members of the Social Science Club have the unusual experience of faring forth for their next meeting, Wednesday, the 13th, when they will visit the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Mrs. Henry J. Marcy, Jr., has arranged this meeting at which Mr. Francis S. Kershaw will speak on Chinese Porcelain. Not only to hear but to see on the very grounds, one might say, is a method of program enjoyment that is worth copying by other Clubs.

Boston Woman's Civics Club

State Treasurer William S. Youngman will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Boston Woman's Civics Club, Wednesday, April 13th, at the Hotel Brunswick. His subject will be "The Short Ballot," a matter that is being much discussed in this State at present. The Current Events period will be in charge of Mrs. John A. Groves and a report of the very interesting meeting of the Boston City Federation will be given by Mrs. Hettie L. Reynolds. The president of the Club, Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, has returned from Florida where she spent the past Winter, and will be present to greet the members and preside over the program.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Grace Morrison Poole gives her monthly Current Events lecture for the education and education of Newton Centre Club members in matters not worldly but of world interest on Thursday, April 14th, at 10:30 o'clock in the Club House.

The Class in Furniture Painting, which is proving so fascinating in progress, under the direction of Mrs. Ethel T. Caldwell, will have an Exhibition of their work in the Art Room beginning April 14th, the same date. Club members will be interested to see the outgrowth of this excellent Class, and to view the various lovely pieces, and to appreciate the genius of fellow members in their choice of color schemes, etc. Certainly, such an exhibit will be a source of satisfaction, and offer unquestionable proof of the immense enjoyment and pleasurable fruition of such instruction.

Newton Community Club

The Annual Musicals that has so many years been enjoyed by the Newton Community Club once more comes to entertain them on Thursday afternoon, the 14th. The Club Chorus which has again bloomed forth in the last two years will give the entertainment, supplemented, no doubt, by other stars in musical firmaments. Tea and the social hour that now can be enjoyed after every meeting with out extra expense of paying for parlors, since the Club has met in Underwood School Hall, will follow.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The same date, the 14th, marks the close of the Club year for the Auburndale Woman's Club in their Annual Meeting at the Auburndale Club House. The polls open at 12 noon, and close at 2:30, and election is interesting this year in that officers change, with a new presiding officer among them. This is always true in that outgoing officers and incoming ones give in their addresses so many fascinating experiences, memories, and look forward into an inspiring future. Of course, too, there is the sadness in parting with old and tried friends, but appreciation softens the change.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 by a group of workers for the Club's Special Fund, a time of get-together that is most sociable and engaging. At 2 o'clock this will be further added to by the presentation by talented members of an "entertainment. Reports and business come at 2:30 o'clock. The treasurer will receive annual dues at this meeting.

Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands

"Leading Motives and Character Traits Shown in these Plays"—Othello, Taming of the Shrew, Timon of Athens, which the Shakespeare Club have been studying since October 30th—is to be the subject for the next meeting of this Club. On Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Club will meet with Mrs. Mary Blakemore, 58 Eldredge street, Newton, and Mrs. A. L. Pratt will have charge of the Quiz which will bring out what members think of the comparative characters, motives, virtues, actions, emotions, actions, reactions, and retroactions, of heroes, heroines, villains, and other such necessary appendage personages of all well-regulated plays.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Members of the Newtonville Woman's Club, and in fact, all other Clubwomen, are reminded that from April 25th to 30th will be Better Homes Week at the Priscilla Proving Plant. During that time lectures will be given. The program may be seen on the Woman's Club Bulletin Board, and anyone interested in attending any of the talks is requested to get in touch with Mrs. George E. Eames, not later than Saturday evening, April 9th.

As noted last week the Arts and Crafts Exhibition has been postponed from April 15th to 22nd. The Arts and Crafts Exhibit given by gifted craftsmen members of the Newtonville Woman's Club will be held Friday, April 22nd, at the Bonar Atwood Studio. It will be open to the public from 1:45 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. A variety of work will be on display, and will be well worth a visit from Newton people. To see what is being done in this community in artistic lines will be a revelation.

Newton Circle, Inc.

The annual meeting of the Newton Circle, Inc. will be held at the Winton Crittenton Home (near Oak Square) on April 29th at 2:30. Mayor Childs will be the speaker of the afternoon, after which Mrs. Wellman will tell us of her work.

The annual bridge party will be held at the home of Mrs. E. P. Brown, 14 Washington street, Newton, on Wednesday, April 27th. The tables are five dollars each and the tickets may be secured from any member of the Board and from Miss Kate Potter, corresponding secretary, Walnut park, Newton.

The bridge furnishes not only an excellent way to help the funds of this worthwhile Club but also sociability and enjoyment of friendship.

State Federation

ANNUAL MEETING. The Annual Meeting for the State Federation is once more announced for the attractive and convenient New Ocean House, Swampscott, where for three years now the women of the State have gathered. The success and popularity of this locality has so been proven. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday are the days for this year's gathering, where Wednesday, Thursday and Friday have previously been chosen. May 17, 18, and 19 should, therefore, be marked upon the calendar of all Clubwomen. Credential tickets for this meeting are gray, and will be mailed to presidents of Federated Clubs before April 25th, and if not received by that time the Clerk should be notified. Reservations for rooms should be made as soon as possible, and delegates must make their own reservations. Rates: double rooms with bath, single beds, $8 per day, per person. Large rooms, three single beds, $7 per day, per person. Program and details will be given in this column after May first. The report of the Nominating Committee follows, and it will be noted that Mrs. Clarence W. Clark, the first vice-president, and Mrs. Edward E. Hobart, the third vice-president, have retired from office—of course at their own wish. The time limit also retires the clerk, Mrs. Ernest R. Brackett; the assistant clerk, Mrs. W. S. Ripley, and the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Clinton A. Ferguson.

For president, Mrs. Arthur D. Potter; first vice-president, Mrs. A. A. Packard, Springfield; second vice-president, Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, Belmont; third vice-president, Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Cliftondale; fourth vice-president, Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Whitinsville; clerk, Mrs. Edwin L. Pride, Somerville; assistant clerk, Mrs. Allen V. Mosher, Waltham; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Boyd F. Bowles, Wollaston; and Treasurer, Mrs. Frederick S. Davis, Boston. New directors to take the places of those retiring in the following districts are Mrs. Philip H. Tirrell, district 8; Mrs. Lewis R. Hovey, district 10; Mrs. George H. Sawyer, district 11; Mrs. P. N. Lynch, district 14; and district 3 director yet to be announced.

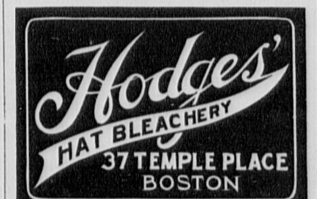

The nominating committee for 1927-28 includes Mrs. Joseph C. Otis, Boston, chairman; Mrs. Charles P. Bates, Brighton; Mrs. J. Horberry Libby, Weymouth; Mrs. Edward A. Rice, Deerfield; and Mrs. Frank E. Underwood, Natick. The present nominating committee includes Mrs. Joseph S. Leach, chairman, Mrs. George B. Churchill, Mrs. George A. Mellen, Mrs. Franklin Russell, and Dr. Lillian G. Perry.

In proof that a musical treat is in store for all who attend this meeting, the Swiss Room of the Copley Plaza is now every week a busy place, with "six circles of chairs occupied by enthusiastic women who are planning delightful pageants" for the May 17th amusement—may, instruction. The six episodes include the Indian, this working out an Indian Ceremonial, showing some characteristic action for the warriors, and an Indian love Song for their more softened moments; the Colonial, with its always charming Minuet, and—of course—the figures of our beloved George and Martha Washington, Betsy Ross, etc.; the Negro Episode, an extensive search into Negro music; the Civil War, with those prominent, such as Harriet Beecher Stow, Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Lincoln, and some of the northern and southern—a wise recognition—army officers; and the Pioneer Episode, with its pathetic and courageous "covered wagon"; and the Present Day Episode, with attractive surprises for the finale. An orchestra, a permanent chorus of 100, solo and group singing on the stage, promise a musical background that will be enjoyable.

Another feature promised that will be welcomed by press chairmen is the Luncheon planned by the capable publicity leader, Alice Gwendoline Albee, this being a combined feast of wit, wisdom, material good cheer, and mental tonic.

NEWS STORY CONTEST. And Miss Albee also makes another welcome announcement for press chairmen who are writing the wonderful story that is to win the prize in the contest which closes April first, that she will give a bit of leeway, so that all stories that reach her by April 10th—so alluring for delay in mails—will be approved for entry. So all those industrious authors who haven't quite found just the magic words that express their most eloquent writup will sigh with relief in this respite in which they may still pursue the will-o-the-wisp of their fancy. Miss Albee announces that over 65 stories so far have been received for the State press contest for which the winners will be announced at the annual meeting of the State Federation May 17, 18, and 19 at Swampscott.

Department of the American Home. A simple ceremony of dedication in a new home a year ago has set the whole country thinking. Prof. H. A. Smith of Boston University and Mrs. Smith with their children and a group of friends held service in their home to consecrate it to the ideals of love, prayer and sympathy. This year April 13 is being observed in more than 100 (Continued on Page 9)

Here is relief for the budget batters, who just can't see a new hat on the immediate horizon. Hodges' Hat Bleachery is much like Cinderella's fairy godmother. Your old hat, which now reposes forlornly on the wardrobe shelf, can be steamed, dyed, cleaned, remodeled into any of fifty new styles which Hodges has to choose from, and is finally persuaded to look as trim and saucy as the latest millinery creation sponsored by Paris and New York.

If you have an expensive hat that is badly soiled—take it to Hodges' Hat Bleachery, where they have satisfied thousands for the last 50 years. They can renovate it without removing the trimming at all. No matter whether it is a Milan, a Visca or a Felt, they will give it renewed confidence in its smartness.

New wires and binding put in hats of all kinds within 24 hours' service.

Soiled gloves cleaned and repaired the very best possible. Take those to Hodges! You'll find the service unusually prompt, and the results amazing.

SALARIES OF POLICE AND FIREMEN INCREASED

Alderman Heathcote referred to the statement made by Chief Randall last year when the discussion took place over placing the fire department on a two-platoon basis. At that time the Chief said "that 14 additional men were needed to put the department on an efficient standing." He argued that Brookline with a smaller population and considerably less area than Newton, has 96 policemen against Newton's 109. He went into detail regarding the cost of living in Newton to show that the police and firemen need increases of $200 to enable them to meet their necessary expenses.

Alderman Gallagher stated that the two departments require more men to be efficient. He stated that some of the men on these departments work 8 hours daily, others 12, and that two lieutenants on the Police Department work 24 hours a day. Thomas Edison has nothing on these last two. He made a motion that 5 additional men be added to the Police Department. Alderman Heathcote then asked Chief Burke for details regarding the need of the seven men he had asked for. The chief, in replying, stated that he will be compelled to withdraw a night patrolman from the Waban section and another from the Farlow Hill section unless he obtains the additional number asked for.

Alderman Hodgdon asked Chief Burke, "Are school children in Newton properly protected from traffic dangers?" The Chief replied in the negative, and estimated that the police force must be tripled to afford proper protection. Alderman Favinger remarked "that it would be an impossibility to furnish protection for children at every danger point. Even though a policeman were stationed at every street corner, children will be in danger from automobiles. He criticized Alderman Heathcote, saying "that the latter had been walking around the aldermanic chamber talking with the policemen and firemen present, when he should have been in his seat during the consideration of budget items involving the appropriation of hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Alderman Favinger denounced "the vicious principle of trying to keep up with drives in other cities to give the police and firemen increased salaries. After such drives have extended throughout the State, they started over again, until the point will be reached where persons cannot afford to reside in cities, so high will the tax-rates become." He chided Alderman Heathcote for advocating that Newton should reduce the expenses of running its Accounting and Building Departments because Brookline, Waltham, Watertown and other places spend less on such departments, and then advocating that Newton give salaries to the police and firemen here which will equal those paid by Brookline, Waltham and Watertown. He asked "Which principle does he stand for?" He accused Alderman Heathcote of absenting himself from committee meetings when these matters were being discussed, and then coming before the open meeting with the assistance of considerable lobbying and asking the aldermen on the spur of the moment to appropriate many more thousands of dollars in still further salary increases. He asked the aldermen to withstand the pressure from the members of the two departments, and to back up the Finance Committee in its recommendations.

Alderman Heathcote in reply said, "At the last aldermanic meeting when the matter of restraining dogs was discussed, the Waban alderman (Favinger) stated that he thought thousands of persons did not know that dogs must be licensed. His argument on the police and firemen is so ignorant, that I put it in the same category. It does not merit an answer."

Alderman Hinckley remarked, "Anyone of the 21 aldermen would not hesitate to protect the school children, but it is ridiculous to ask for 7 more police for such a purpose which occupies but 15 minutes twice each school day. Why not assign some of the patrolmen from other duties to this work for these brief periods each day, or have the school janitors act as traffic guards in front of the school houses?" This last suggestion brought a laugh from some of the spectators present, and Alderman Hinckley retorted "It might seem a joke to some to ask the janitors to do something extra."

Alderman Gallagher called attention to the fact that while two policemen guard the children at the Waban school from traffic, no policeman is stationed at the Lincoln school in Newton. Alderman Collins suggested to Chief Burke that the night patrolmen who constitute the large majority of the force, be assigned for duty in guarding the crossings while the children are travelling to and from school. Chief Burke answered, "I have taken this matter up with the Mayor, and this plan is impracticable."

Following more arguments by the aldermen, Joseph Fitzgerald, a fireman assigned to headquarters at Newton Centre addressed the chair. President Weeks naturally did not recognize him, as none but an alderman has the right to take the floor at an aldermanic meeting. A couple of minutes later Fitzgerald again addressed the chair. This time Alderman Heathcote asked that Fitzgerald be given permission to talk. The aldermen voted to grant this request and Fitzgerald commenced to question Alderman Collins of the Finance Committee, and was called to order by President Weeks. He then made a speech favoring the granting of $200 increase to the firemen.

A vote was then taken on the motion to add seven more men to the Police Department, Alderman Favinger calling for a "Yes and No" vote so that the aldermen would be recorded. The only votes in the affirmative were those of Gallagher, Heathcote and Hodgdon. Alderman Heathcote then moved "that the salaries of the policemen be increased $200 instead of $100 as recommended." This motion was also lost. Those voting for it were Gallagher, Grebenstein, Heathcote, Hodgdon, Noone and Leahy. Alderman Favinger also called for a "Yes and No" vote on this, as well as on the two similar motions affecting the firemen.

Alderman Gallagher's motion, "that five additional firemen be added to the department was defeated. Noticing that some of the aldermen were not in their seats, he asked that City Messenger Davis corral them, so that they would be put on record. Those voting in favor of his motion were Grebenstein, Gallagher, Heathcote, Hodgdon, Leahy and Noone. These same six aldermen voted "Yes" on Alderman Heathcote's motion to have a $200 increase given to the firemen. The aldermen voting in the negative on these motions were Ball, Baker, Collins, Gordon, Wakefield, Weeks, Favinger, Pratt, DeMille, Madden, Pitts, Hawkins and Hinckley. Alderman Bliss was absent.

GIRL SCOUT RALLY

McGregor of Troop No. 29, Newton, and Mary Miller and Winifred Scott (by proxy) of Troop No. 18, Auburn-dale. Five year service stripes were given to Jane McGregor, Troop No. 20, Dorothy Allen, Troop No. 10, Newtonville, and Anna Sullivan, Florence Sullivan, Esther Temperly, Katharine Murphy, Margaret McLaughlin of Troop No. 17, Newton Upper Falls. Community service pins and ribbons were earned by Virginia Gray and Ethel deMille of Troop No. 13, Newton Centre, and Eleanor Burnham, Helen Warren and Marjorie Whitaker, Troop No. 14, Waban. Blue ribbons for intermediate and beginner bugling were won by Ethel deMille of Troop No. 13 and Barbara Mildram of Troop No. 22. Merit badges earned during the winter were given out by Miss Jeanne Kenrick chairman of the Court of Awards. 176 girls received 269 merit badges in 27 different subjects, ranging all the way from athlete and bird hunter (with classes, not gun) to homemaker and pathfinder. After the awarding of the badges came a surprise for Miss Kendrick, for she was presented with a beautiful gold thanks badge, the gift of all the Girl Scouts in Newton who have ever received merit badges. This badge was handed to Miss Kendrick by three Golden Eaglets, Elizabeth Plimpton, Lisbeth Leighton, and Elsie Barber, while the Girl Scouts sang a song composed for the occasion. For years Miss Kendrick has given freely and generously of her time in planning and supervising the merit badge tests for the Girl Scouts and it was a great joy to them to be able to show her in this way a small measure of their affection and appreciation.

Retreat brought all to attention while the flag was being lowered and after the girls had marched from the hall "Taps" was played and sung, echoing and re-echoing softly from corridor to corridor, sounding the end of the "very best rally yet."

Girl Scout Motto, "Be Prepared" On Thursday last a girl scout of Troop No. 3, Newton Centre, had an opportunity to use her second class knowledge of how to ring in a fire alarm. During the scout meeting a fire was discovered in the cellar of the Congregational Church where the troop was meeting. Two girl scouts were immediately sent to the nearby fire house where Charlotte White rang in the box alarm. Although the girls were not able to aid in extinguishing the fire, yet they were very intensely interested in watching the fire men. By a curious coincidence the girls of Troop No. 22, Newtonville, were at the fire house studying fire prevention for their rally stunt when this alarm was rung in.

Mrs. Harry Huntington Powers was the speaker at the Blue Triangle Club on April 4. She chose "Doors" for her subject and showed pictures and told of doors dating from the year 1000 up to the time of the bronze doors of Ghiberti at the Baptistery in Florence said by Michael Angelo to be fit to be the doors of Paradise. This talk was preceded by a group of songs sung by Martha Boothby.

Miss Anne L. Leathers will give a short Lenten talk at the next meeting of this club. There will also be songs by Martha Boothby and violin selections by Alta Blakely. Recognition of this Easter season is also being made by the groups of Girl Reserves at their meetings on Tuesdays and Fridays.

HOME DEDICATION DAY

"Home Dedication Day" will be observed in both Newton and West Newton on April 13. Prof. H. Augustine Smith of Boston University School of Religious Education and Social Service is sponsoring a nation-wide observance of the day. In Newton the services will be under the direction of Rev. Ray Anderson Eusden, pastor of the Eliot Church, and Rev. Paul S. Phalen of the First Unitarian Society of West Newton will direct observances of the day there.

Song services, prayer services, the unveiling of inspirational pictures, the lighting of hearth fires—these and other forms of home dedication programs are planned by various churches, individual social service organizations, clubs, and others who will observe the day.

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

How many main bearings in your motor car? Nash recommends 7

for the finest and smoothest performance results, you need 7, rather than 3 or 4.

Obviously, 3 or 4 supports for a crankshaft cannot give it the rigidity and smoothness of 7. That is why Nash—with customary engineering progressiveness—has developed the 7-bearing motor for all Nash models.

The 7 bearings of Nash achieve power-smoothness and quietness, and achieve it, moreover, with no sacrifice of acceleration. In fact, the proper support of the crankshaft decidedly improves the energy and aggressiveness of the car.

Here is another fact to remember about the 7 bearings of Nash: They have more bearing surface, by actual measurement, than any 6-cylinder engine of similar size and price, no matter how many bearings it has. (Actually 20 square inches more than cars with fewer bearings.)

When you buy your 1927 motor car be sure to ask: "How many main bearings?" And for better results choose the car that has 7. Nash offers you this performance-advantage in every single model, whether you pay $2090 for it or only $865.

WELFARE BUREAU CAMPAIGN

Dear Fellow Citizens:—The most delicate compass ever oftered costs you less than two dollars ($2.00).

Were you ever lost in a forest, or befogged at sea without any compass? At least you have read of the horror of such experiences.

Right here in Newton, only last year, almost five thousand (5000) compasses were given to people and families who were lost in the forest of overpowering circumstances or befogged on the sea of misfortune. The Newton Welfare Bureau, a private organization, gave these people compasses in the form of human interest, constructive advice or directions towards a safe port. Many did not have definite or organic ills; for such there are definite institutions. Only less than two hundred of them needed unrefunded financial aid. They were just lost; befogged.

A worker in our campaign to raise twelve thousand (12,000) dollars will call on you soon, to tell you how we can offer so delicate a compass at so low a cost; also how you can underwrite one or more of them, for there are many more needed than we can now supply.

(Signed) Aldrich Taylor.

SCHOOL NOTES

Bigelow Junior High School

Bigelow is fortunate in having many and generous musical friends who have assisted at recent Wednesday morning assemblies.

Last week Mrs. Clara Sexton Crowley gave two soprano solos: "Robin, Robin Sing to Me," and "Lindy Lou." In response to an enthusiastic encore she sang "Springtime Waltz." Mrs. Crowley was accompanied by Mrs. Dana Hadden.

Miss Eden, Miss Elizabeth Chase, and Mr. F. W. Chase sang a trio, and later Miss Eden and Miss Chase a duet.

On Wednesday morning, April 6, Mrs. J. W. Thompson favored us with violin solos. Miss Hamilton accompanied. Mrs. Thompson's first selection was the Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman." She then played "At Dawning," by Cadman, and for an encore, "Venetian Song" by Nevin.

King Cole was very cleverly given in pantomime by the Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Lena Manning. The following took part: Alice Everts, Ethel Watkins, William Acton, Arthur Dauten, Sumner Anderson, William Perry, Vincent Murphy, Mary Dunn, Enid Kiernan, Phyllis Baker, Willard Mosher, James Sutcliffe, Ann Cummings, Daisy Bernier. Jeannette Houghton's soft piano accompaniment gave to the performance a rhythmic finish which was very pleasing.

Miss Hamilton's Seventh Grade had the highest attendance for the month of March 97.9%. Miss Manning's Opportunity Class was a close second with an average of 97.1%.

At assembly Wednesday morning Mr. Baker awarded letters to the members of the Senior and Junior Hockey teams.

Mason School

The sixth and seventh grades assembled in the hall Monday afternoon, April fourth, to hear the finals of a reading contest given by the seventh grades under the direction of the Newton Centre School Association. Every seventh grade child read to a committee of judges two weeks ago and six were chosen from each of the four rooms. The semi-finals were then held and the judges selected eight children, two from each room. The finals were held Monday and the winners of the first prize, Alice Parkin and Jack Malley, each received a two and one-half dollar gold piece. The winners of the second prize, Robert Giddings and Marjorie Thompson, each received a one dollar bill.

F. A. Day Junior High

The Camera Club, in charge of Miss Goodnow, has just concluded a two weeks' exhibit of their snap shots. Many of them showed photographic skill of which older devotees of the Brownie could well be proud. The subjects were diversified and included a Dog Tryptich, Nature scenes and Kay Brown, aboard and half way up a telegraph pole. There were also several artistic interiors. The exhibit attracted attention and plaudits from Mr. Carr, faculty and pupils.

For the past two weeks the Assemblies have been the product of school talent. The 7th grade Dramatic Club put on "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil" with an able cast. The Daytonian Club very cleverly presented a Daytonian magazine from cover to cover. Everyone entered into the spirit of the performance and the enjoyment of the audience showed itself in long and hearty applause.

Hyde School Notes

Several of the children in the Hyde are competing for the safety prize offered by the Highway Education Board for the best essay on "Why I Should Be Taught Street and Highway Safety at School and at Home." Margaret Green, then a member of the seventh grade, was the recipient of the prize offered last year.

After careful preparation, a special lantern lesson on Africa was given by Miss Green's fifth grade, to which the sixth grades were also invited.

The eighth grade posters for the W. C. T. U. were recently judged by Miss Bragg and Mr. Wetherby. The prize was awarded to Virginia Weed and Constance Marcy received honorable mention.

On Wednesday of this week, Office Kiley of the Newton Police Department addressed the student body on public safety. He was a most interesting and fascinating speaker, and the children listened to him eagerly.

Stearns

Several interesting contests for regular positions have featured the practice sessions at baseball these last few days. Yesterday's game between Stearns players brought out some heavy batting on the part of DePasquale and Branca. Maillet and DeRose bore down more in their pitching workouts and Mr. Winslow believes that before long they will be picked for the first team. Neither reports any difficulty with his throwing arm.

Angier School

We are all very glad that Miss Kingman has returned.

Mr. Penny presented the following pupils from Mrs. Forbes, 5th and 6th Grade with School Citizenship Pins: Ned Dupes, Harry Nordbeck, Ava May Millard, Betty Miller, Martha Laurie, Katherine Douglas, and Lorin Gates.

Last Thursday the Girls played a game of basketball against the St. Charles school at Waltham, Angier beat 18-12. The boys played against our boys at Waban in baseball. St. Charles won 7-6. This was a very exciting game. They played two more innings than the regular number and it was a tie until the last hit.

Mrs. Benson's second grade had no tardy marks during March.

At Wednesday's assembly Mrs. Benson's children entertained with songs:

1. The Good Morning Song, Madeleine Proctor.
2. The Bubble Song, Molly Soule.
3. The Brook, Ruth Keever, Beth Moir, Virginia Ramsay, Anne Shea, Virginia Wells.

4. The Whippoorwill, Madeleine Proctor, Virginia Mosser, Miriam Luger, Priscilla Johnson, Betty Day, Thomas Godino, Billy Washburn, Earl Colvin, Malcolm Hardy, Bradbury Webber, Bob McMullin.

5. Soldier Boys, Bob McMullin, Bradbury Webber, Norman Nagle, Thomas Godino, Earl Colvin, Joshua Burnett.
6. The Snowdrop, by a large group of children.

Miss Chase's room entertained with Folk Dances.

BUDGET PASSED

$3,664,441.36 Appropriated After Long Wordy Session

The Newton Board of Aldermen met Monday evening at 5:40 to discuss the recommendations of the Finance Committee on the budget for 1927. So long were the discussions, that it was not until 1:55 Tuesday morning that the meeting adjourned. When the meeting started, about the only spectators in the gallery were several attractive young lady clerks from various offices in City Hall, and a couple of firemen, but as the meeting progressed department heads and city employees continued to arrive until the aldermanic chamber was crowded with policemen, firemen and other city workers. The "cops" had the largest delegation. The word had been passed "that some of the aldermen would stage an exhibition of verbal fireworks," and this display was given. In addition to the "set pieces" which had been prepared, other features, not on the program, blazed up for the edification and amusement of the spectators.

The meeting was called for 5 p.m. but it was 5:40 when President Weeks called the members to order. Order prevailed for a few minutes, but for most of the ensuing period, until the plethora of words subsided at two hours past midnight, the affair was more or less informal, consisting largely of interrogations by a few of the aldermen who differed from the views of the Finance Committee, and the explanations given by the aldermen who compose the Finance Committee.

Alderman Collins, Chairman of the Finance Committee, at the beginning of the discussion on the budget, stated "that each year during the six he has been on the Board, the tax-rate has been increasing. This shows that expenditures have been growing faster than revenues. Such a condition cannot continue indefinitely. We have had an unusually expensive program of school construction for the past three years. It is not concluded by any means. During the coming year the new Wales street bridge must be constructed, and within a year or two a new fire station will be constructed at Newton Corner, and a new signal system installed. The Finance Committee realized the budget must be considered with great care. No new work, such as resurfacing of streets, was provided for. The budget figures as recommended by the Mayor were reduced $130,000."

Referring to the salaries of the clerks at City Hall, Mr. Collins said, "This is always a vexatious problem. The committee considers that the higher paid clerks in the offices at City Hall have about reached the maximum for work such as they perform, and are being well paid, when compared with clerks performing similar work for private corporations. We endeavored therefore, to give the increases to the lower priced clerks."

Alderman Heathcote said, "I would like to supplement the remarks of the Chairman of the Finance Committee by making one correction. One year, when Mr. White was chairman of the Finance Committee, there was a drop in the tax-rate. We should consider the budget as a whole, and not as it affects different departments. Last year we had no more than passed the budget, when other items came in and were passed with little consideration—such as $22,000 for cleaning Bulboughs Pond, and $98,000 for a new stable on Eliot street. We should guard against a repetition this year. Such things run up the expense of the city government. I believe in strict economy. We should examine all items carefully."

He then went on to criticize the matter of money being saved on painting the streets with tar and oil, with the result that the surfaces of the streets "are now in the worst condition they have been in for years." He stated "that the overhead cost of certain departments is a cause for alarm. It has been increasing too fast." He then quoted figures to show that the cost of conducting the Accounting and Building Departments in Newton, are much higher than the costs for such departments in Brookline, Waltham and Watertown.

The first clash over any specific recommendation on the budget was on the salary of the Mayor's secretary. The Mayor had recommended that it be increased from $1450 to $1600. The Finance Committee refused to agree to this recommendation. Alderman Heathcote inquired as to the reason for the committee's refusal to allow this increase. He argued that it was the only increase asked for by the Mayor in connection with his department, and should be granted. He moved as a compromise, "that a $50 increase be given to the Mayor's secretary."

Alderman Favinger replied, "It is unfortunate to have to discuss any specific salary in this open meeting; to discuss the ability of anyone, or the kind of work one does. The Finance Committee gave very careful consideration to all items on the budget. The members of the Board as a whole, do not know all the details. It is bad principle for the aldermen to override the recommendations of the Finance Committee at the suggestion of some member who may be actuated by political motives, or influenced by personal pressure. To do this would break down the system of budget consideration. If we give this employee a $50 increase, we should give it to many other employees of the city much more entitled to it than she. She should be treated as any other employee of the city, even if she is the secretary of the Mayor."

Alderman Gallagher said, "I am surprised to see the Finance Committee try to establish a 'Holler than Thou' policy. The Finance Committee says, 'We are the last word.' There are 21 aldermen on this Board, and we all are going to pass on this budget." Alderman Heathcote said, "The more we make our form of government like the old town meetings, the better. I challenge the Waban alderman (Favinger) to show any reasons why the mayor's secretary should not receive this increase." Alderman Favinger answered, "There are many clerks in City hall with many more years of service and who do much more work, who are more entitled to increases." A vote was then taken on Alderman Heathcote's motion to increase the salary $50. The motion was lost, only Aldermen Gallagher, Heathcote and Hodgdon voting in favor.

Alderman Hodgdon attacked the increases recommended on the salaries of most of the department heads, totaling he said, "about $3000." He asked Chairman Collins of the Finance Committee to explain why they are worth more money? The latter replied, "that he considered that the heads of the major departments are worth $5000 and could obtain more money if working for private concerns." He paid special tribute to the ability and character of Comptroller White, who had been singled out by Aldermen Heathcote and Hodgdon as entitled to no salary increase. Alderman Hodgdon asked, "What department heads will receive pensions?" He was informed that the Chief of Police and the Chief of the Fire Department are the only officials who enjoy this benefit. He criticized the Mayor and Finance Committee for recommending further large increases in salaries to department heads, when $50 increases are refused employees who are not getting a living wage.

Alderman Heathcote criticized the Building Department of Newton as being overmanned. Alderman Pitts arose to praise this department and the work it is doing.

At 6:40 the aldermen took a recess to partake of a buffet lunch which was served in one of the committee rooms. Members of the press were invited to the lunch, but because of the limited quarters in the temporary luncheon room, the newspaper men feared they might discommode the aldermen while the latter were endeavoring to "connect" with the lobster salad and scalloped oysters. So the scribes went over to Nagle's lunch and gulped down a few sandwiches, and then hastened back to City Hall to be present when the feast of oratory would be resumed. The alderman apparently had a more bounteous repast than the press representatives, as they did not reassemble until 7:50. At this time hearings on various petitions were held, and other routine business acted upon, before the consideration of the budget was resumed.

Alderman Hodgdon argued against the salary of the City Treasurer being increased from $4800 to $5000. He said, "The Mayor is always 'passing the buck' to the aldermen on salary increases." He also suggested that instead of departments hiring temporary clerks during rush periods, that clerks from other departments, which would not be busy, should be transferred temporarily to help out. Another suggestion from Alderman Hodgdon was, "that instead of each department buying its supplies separately, that the department heads get together and co-operate in buying the supplies, thus saving money for the city."

Alderman Heathcote asked why City Messenger Lucian Davis was recommended for a $40 increase in salary when he has less work to do than he had a year ago? Chairman Collins replied "that Mr. Davis was recommended for this increase so that his salary would be on a par with that of the watchman at City Hall." He also stated that Lucian is the poorest paid City Messenger around Greater Boston. Alderman Hodgdon next started a lively argument when he advocated that all repair work on city owned automobiles be performed at the Crafts street garage.

The debate over the granting of increased salaries to the police and firemen was so long and acrimonious that details of it are given in another article printed elsewhere in the paper. Another long argument resulted over the fight waged by Alderman Gallagher to have $1354 additional appropriated for the Health Department so that the school nurses can conduct clinics for children under school age during the summer months. After considerable discussion in which adenoids, tonsils, scarlet-fever, and tuberculosis were talked about, the expert knowledge of Dr. Curtis and Dr. Gallagher evidenced, this matter was referred back to the Finance Committee for further consideration.

Another hot controversy was waged over the appropriation of money to buy a new automobile for the City Home at Oak Hill. The superintendent at the home, Mr. Ewart, asked for $520 to obtain a Ford sedan to replace the old flyover he has used there for six years. The Finance Committee recommended but $358 for an open car. Alderman Heathcote flayed the committee for granting thousands of dollars to department heads, and begrudging $162 to assure the poor old folks at the City Home proper protection when being carried to and from the home away over at Oak Hill. He said, "You will cash through an appropriation of $22,000 to clean Bulboughs Pond, you appropriate $100,000 to build a barn, but you would refuse $125 to buy a Ford sedan for the City Home. Aldermen Gallagher, Ball and Hodgdon also rallied to the cause of the Tudor sedan. Alderman Collins argued "that Supt. Ewart's own closed car can be used to carry the old inmates during inclement weather. In return for free gasoline supplied him."

Alderman Gallagher attacked this argument stating "that it is unfair for the city to impose on Ewart by compelling him to use his car in return for the donation of some gasoline, which is but a small part of the cost of running an automobile." The Ward 1 alderman asserted that it costs him 17½¢ a mile to run his Ford, and 22¢ a mile to run his larger car. Alderman Baker suggested that a Ford sedan which had been cast off by the Street Department might be given to the Charity Department for use at the City Home. This suggestion drew ironical remarks from Aldermen Gallagher and Hodgdon. A vote was then taken on Alderman Heathcote's motion "that $125 extra be appropriated to purchase a Ford sedan for the city home." This motion was carried, but then Alderman Gallagher discovered that this extra appropriation might not be sufficient to buy a sedan, and he had the vote reconsidered.

ered to permit the appropriation of $162 extra, as asked by Supt. Ewart.

At 12:10 a. m. Tuesday morning Alderman Heathcote started a discourse on the salaries of school teachers. As he arose holding a sheaf of papers to argue that the teachers in the Newton schools should all have their salaries raised another $100, Alderman Noone asked him, "Are you starting a filibuster?" He read and argued for 30 minutes and then made a motion to have the salary increase granted. His motion was defeated; he and Alderman Gallagher being the only members to vote for it.

More discussion followed regarding certain items in the appropriations for the Street Department and Playground Department. Finally the budget was adopted just as recommended by the Finance Committee, with the exception of the $162 extra for the Ford sedan, $100 extra salary for Supt. Murphy of the Forestry Department, and the abeyance in the appropriation for the salaries of the school nurses, pending further consideration of the matter of adding $1350 to this appropriation to keep these nurses on duty all twelve months of the year. The total amount appropriated was $3,664,441.36. Of this $1,155,208.90 was for schools, $558,295.07 for the Treasury Department (most of this for meeting payments and interest on bond issues), $288,379.50 for the Police Department, $240,138 for the Fire Department, $863,454 for the Street and Forestry Departments, $73,391.44 for the Accounting Department, $116,345.95 for the Public Buildings Department, $44,450 for the Health Department, $37,134 for the Engineering Department, $64,373 for the Charity Department, $71,265 for the Library Department, and $78,791 for the Playground Department.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

cities here and abroad as Dedication Day in our homes. The Massachusetts Department of the American Home in the State Federation of Women's Clubs urges this observance.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Mothers' and Daughters' Day of the Newtonville Woman's Club, held at the Newton High School Auditorium Tuesday afternoon, was a success, if the enthusiasm of the large audience is a true criterion. The program opened with a shadowgraph on "Bumming Rides," which Norma Kendall introduced with an explanation of the subject. The Anti-Bumming Ride Campaign must be greatly furthered by this clever shadowgraph depicting the danger of bumming rides so clearly. The Girls' Glee Club sang three charming selections, "Come Ye Fairies," "Little Mother of Mine," and "Birds Are Singing."

The dances included The Todd's Mistake, The Big Brown Bears, Sweet Rosie O'Grady—particularly well done with a comic air—Scarf Dance and Greek Dramatized Games.

The work shown by a Class in Corrective Posture was very interesting and showed how strenuous indoor exercise can be.

The Drama Club presented "The Romanesque," by Edmund Rostand, an amusing sketch acted with ease and with the light touch so necessary to its meaning. Dorothy Shute played charmingly the part of Sylvette, Leon Perducci, Bradford Cove and Richard and Clark was a romantic suitor as Leahy made excellent fathers, and Warren Berry was a skillful Straforel.

In the lobby the Classes in Sewing and Applied Design displayed their work, an exhibit that deserves much praise. It is hoped that April 5, 1927, will not be the last of the enjoyable meetings that mothers and daughters of the Woman's Club may have together.

Very regretfully did the audience at Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole's last lecture on Current Events before the Newtonville Woman's Club Wednesday, March 30th, leave the hall. To hear Mrs. Poole give a resume of the outstanding events in National and International affairs is a privilege. Her clear exposition, lightened by her irrepressible humor, furnishes a stimulation rarely given by Current Event lecturers to their audiences. Within the limited space of an hour Mrs. Poole touched upon the methods used in filibustering, the bill putting Prohibition Enforcement Officers under Civil Service control, the Federal Reserve Banking Law with its new provision concerning the establishment of branches, the Nicaraguan and Mexican problems and their relation to Mr. Borah, the refusal of Haiti to allow Mr. King to enter the country, the Supreme Court decisions allowing no State to restrict colored people in their rights to purchase property anywhere in the United States to limit the amount of money speculators can get. Then by the aid of a colorful map Mrs. Poole instructed her listeners in the affairs in Europe and Asia.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, on Thursday afternoon, March 31st, listened to Lady Adams, instead of to Sir John as they had so confidently expected to do. Sir John, it seems, lost his book of dates. (Other Clubs take notice) and went to Pennsylvania instead of coming to Massachusetts. Lady Adams, however, was an interesting substitute. She read a paper giving intimate and pleasant descriptions of literary clubs and the people who belong to them, in London, and was especially happy in describing the technique of success in placing a joke with Punch for publication. Her English manner and voice were pleasingly strange. She intoned a French poem with such a magnetic quality of tone that her audience was absolutely motionless and silent—most unusual in a gathering of New England people, especially in March, and in Boston, where coughs and colds are so much in evidence.

On Monday morning in the Art room Mrs. Norman Pratt gave her last literature program. She presented Mrs. Frank Anderson, who gave a brief resume of the life and writings of Eugene O'Neill.

The Club is very much indebted to Mrs. Pratt for her series of mornings in Literature. They have been most valuable from an instructive point of view, and charmingly informal. The Course has been free, but one well worth charging an admission fee to hear. The Club has been fortunate to possess a Literature Chairman so well grounded in her department of knowledge as Mrs. Pratt.

The last of the garden lectures, under Mrs. W. Cornell Appleton's able leadership, occurred also on Monday.

Newton Centre Junior Woman's Club

The Juniors of the Newton Centre Woman's Club gave great pleasure when they journeyed on Tuesday afternoon to Stone Institute, Newton Upper Falls, and repeated for the hostesses there their very charming play, "Grandma Pulls The Strings," which they have previously given twice for the Senior Club. This delightful bit of modern life leaves an impression of such worthwhileness that it attests its place in the literary world, and as one at least—of the audience in the Newton Centre Club House said when it was given there "It is a masterpiece." The Juniors who played these parts so excellently were: Adelaide Lincoln, Beatrice Brooks, Betty Pratt, Cornelia Wing, Norma Morgan and Hannah Bond.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The Committee on the Conservation of Natural Resources, Mrs. Harold O. Cook, chairman, directed the regular meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon, March 31st. The program opened with a group of violin selections, played by Barbara Werner Swaab with Mrs. Lowell D. MacNutt at the piano. The music was especially good.

Mrs. Myron Davis, chairman of the State Federation Conservation Committee, and Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge of the Newton City Federation, brought greetings and messages of appreciation of the activity of the Auburndale Woman's Club Committee. Mr. Philip W. Ayers, of the New Hampshire Forestry Commission, was the speaker of the afternoon. Stereopticon pictures were shown of the efforts being made to replace the forests which have been stripped from our hills east of the Rockies. Mr. Ayers' explanations were both lucid and entertaining, and his listeners came away quite convinced that with such intelligent leadership, co-operation on the part of the average citizen would do much to further legislation that would restore our forest areas.

Newton Circle, Inc.

The regular meeting of the Newton Circle Board of Directors was held on March 25th in the Community Welfare House, the president, Mrs. John T. Lodge, in the chair.

Those present were Mrs. J. T. Lodge, Mrs. D. M. Lodge, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Gaskin, Mrs. Hutchins, Mrs. Pearsall, Mrs. Champion, Miss Edith Hull, Miss Georgia Emory, Miss Potter and Miss Cobb.

The report of the secretary was read and accepted. The treasurer reported a balance of $893.09, which report was approved and referred to the auditor. Mrs. Gaskin reported twenty-seven new members and five renewals. The annual meeting will be held at the Home at 2:30, April 29th, followed by tea. Mayor Childs will be the principal speaker. Mrs. Wellman will report in full.

Upon motion of Mrs. Clark, duly made and seconded, it was voted to appoint the following to take charge of the tea: Mrs. Hutchins, Miss Hull, Mrs. Harwood, Miss Emery.

Mrs. Pearsall reported a flourishing Junior circle. The attendance at meetings averages forty-four to fifty-five. The membership dues have been declared from one to five dollars. It was suggested that a supplementary list of Junior members be added to the Year book.

On account of the lateness of the hour Mrs. Wellman was unable to give her report. The meeting adjourned at 11:55.

Community Service Club of West Newton

Annual Meeting started out most auspiciously for the Community Service Club of West Newton with a delightful luncheon served in the Unitarian Parish House on Wednesday at one o'clock under the capable management of Mrs. M. H. Ballou and Mrs. Irving J. Fisher, who arranged the tables most attractively with pots of narcissus and yellow forsythia. The cleverly followed the spring decoration of green and yellow also in the service, even the salad being temptingly arrayed with green sprays and bits of yellow cheese. About 125 sat down to the luncheon.

Mr. E. E. Clive, of the Copley Theatre, spoke on drama: "The Stage Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," and touched upon a few outstanding features of the times. He admitted that there was a great deal of criticism of the present plays presented, but claimed that the public itself must take the blame, since it did not demand change, and state its opinion. He also blamed the sensationalism and luridness of the moving pictures as influencing the spoken drama. He declared that the repertory system was the best devised, in that it gave all actors opportunity for good parts, and the plays ran long enough for them to live, and so act adequately, the parts. The plays given in the so-called high price ones he stated gave opportunity to one star, at the expense of other actors and at expense of the play itself in value. As for the Stock theatre system his criticism was that the change from week to week in plays did not give the actors the chance to become well enough acquainted with their parts to act them as if they really were living them, or, in fact, to allow them to live them. Switzerland, he claimed had the best system.

He stated that the high prices at the best theatres were prohibitive for many would gladly attend, and that they should be reduced so that a better and larger class of patronage might be secured. He declared that the Women's Clubs could and should organize to effect this change, in making appeal to managements for this needed remedy.

Mr. Clive told of several good plays coming, and answered many questions from his audience. He admitted that Boston is slow to recognize the worthwhile plays, so that they only begin to attend when the play is forced to end for lack of responsiveness—by Friday—when the company has decided to move on because of the empty seats. It is, of course, then too late to keep the good plays.

The business meeting followed, with reports of officers and of standing committee chairmen. Mrs. A. Shirley Ladd, in a valuable report as recording secretary, stated the Club had now 315 members, and reported a change in the bylaws accepted by the board, of the date of meeting from the first to the third Wednesday in the month for the next Club year.

The treasurer, Mrs. Murray H. Ballou, stated that the Club had a balance of approximately $282, after having done a one thousand dollar business during the past year. Mrs. Roy R. Merchant, the corresponding secretary, gave a most humorous report of her duties, a bit of wit that was greatly enjoyed and appreciated. Mrs. John G. Waddell reported for the Refreshment Committee; Mrs. George Fuller for Philanthropic; Mrs. Hubert Carter for Education; Mrs. A. J. Steadman for Work; Mrs. Richard M. Ott for Civics; Mrs. Norman Bingham for Volunteer Service; and Mrs. John D. Roquemore gave a most pleasing report for the Art Committee that the Club had donated to the Museum $100 as a nucleus for a fund that would purchase in the future some object of art to be presented to the new High School. Miss Mabel Bragg told, with dry humor, experiences in the clinic for pre-school children.

Mrs. W. F. Bartholomew, clerk and publicity chairman, stated that the Graphic was their most satisfactory avenue of Club activities, in preference to outside papers.

The Nominating Committee, Mrs. H. L. ## WINS 16 PRIZES

William A. Riggs of 47 Freeman street, Auburndale, again scored heavily at the Spring Flower Show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, held last week at Horticultural Hall, Boston. Out of twenty exhibits entered by him, he won sixteen first prizes with his hyacinths, jonquils and narcissi, competing against leading horticulturists from all over New England, at the best show held in the last twenty years.

Mr. Riggs' skill has made him for many years one of the best known florists in this section. He learned his profession forty years ago in his native Scotland, and has since been acquiring valuable knowledge which only comes with experience and careful application to his work. His greenhouses on Freeman street are a riot of color from the thousands of beautiful plants in blossom there, and will repay a visit from anyone who admires flowers.

ABBIE SPEAR

One of Newton's oldest and most respected residents, passed from this life Wednesday when Miss Abbie Spear died at her late home, 89 Walnut Park, Newton. She was in her 91st year and had lived in Newton for 84 years. Miss Spear was the daughter of the late Edward Spear and Abigail Penno Spear. As a young woman she taught school at Newton Centre for seven years. Thereafter her life was devoted to philanthropic work, and hundreds of poor Newton families during the past two generations benefited by her kindly acts. She was a woman of beautiful Christian character and during her long life was active in the affairs of Eliot Congregational Church. Miss Spear was one of the directors of the Stone Institute for Aged People at Newton Upper Falls, and until last year was chairman of the Admission Committee of this institution. She is survived by one sister, Miss Elizabeth Spear.

3 ALARM FIRE

Considerable Damage Done To White Block, Newton Centre

One of the worst fires this city has experienced for some time occurred Wednesday noon in the business block at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Centre streets, Newton Centre.

The building is owned by Augustus White. It contains a number of stores on the first floor, and the second floor is occupied by offices. Just at noon Wednesday, as D. H. McCarthy, who conducts a market on Commonwealth avenue, was waiting on a customer, the woman told him she smelled smoke. McCarthy opened the door leading to the cellar and a sheet of flame burst out which scorched his face. He slammed the door shut, and telephoned Fire Headquarters. Engine 3 was sent to the scene and Box 714 sounded. When the firemen arrived, the cellar was a seething mass of flames, and dense volumes of heavy smoke prevented anyone being able to enter it.

So quickly did the fire spread, that when the firemen arrived, the stairway leading from the second floor was so filled with smoke, that Anna Oberge, who runs beauty parlor in the building, and three other women were unable to make their escape. Ladders were raised, and the women were taken down by Captain Turner of Ladder 2, Lieut. Russell and Hosemen Foley and Burke of Engine 3. These firemen were assisted in the rescue work by Ed Henrikus, a retired fireman, and Paul Mullen.

Chief Randlett ordered a second alarm as soon as he arrived, and this was followed later by a third alarm, which brought all the apparatus in the city. Fire trucks from Watertown, Wellesley and Waltham came in and covered the various sections of the city while the Newton firemen were fighting the blaze. That part of the cellar where the fire started was near where the gas meters for the various stores and offices were located. The flames soon reached the meters, burned off the connections, and gas from seven pipes poured forth to make the cellar an inferno. The intense heat and the suffocating smoke prevented the firemen from entering the cellar for a considerable time. Solid brick walls at the Rice street side of the building also retarded the firemen, as they prevented access to that part of the cellar where the flames were fiercest. After a persistent struggle, Chief Randlett and his men, succeeded in bringing the fire under control. They deserve credit for confining the flames to the cellar of the building and to that part of the first floor containing the stores of D. H. McCarthy, Giles Mosher, druggist, and Mahlon Hill, realtor. The damage was estimated at $20,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

POLICEMAN MARRINER GIVEN $3035

Policeman Henry J. Marriner, for 33 years a member of the Newton Police force, the last 17 of which were at Chestnut Hill, as day officer, was retired April 1st, having reached the age of 65 years. Part of his work consisted in seeing that the small children attending the private school at Chestnut Hill were protected from passing automobiles while coming to and from the school. In behalf of the parents of these children, and of the residents of Chestnut Hill, Mr. Marriner was presented by A. Windsor Weld with a check for $3035, and a suitably inscribed gold watch. The children presented him with a booklet of poems which they had written expressing their appreciation of him.

POLICE NEWS

As Mrs. Olof Ohlson of Crafts street, West Newton, emerged from a Waltham store Saturday afternoon she saw her automobile being driven off by some stranger. She shouted to a passing driver who informed the nearest policeman, a traffic officer on duty at a crossing. The officer, Patrolman Wheaton, arrested in an auto and gave chase, arresting after a hard battle, Robert Greeley, 21, of 26 Maple street, Waltham. He was charged with drunkenness, driving while under the influence of liquor and larceny of an automobile. In court Monday his case was continued until April 14.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning Louis Garcia, an Argentine student living at 1249 Massachusetts avenue, Boston, was arrested, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He will be tried next Wednesday.

Joseph Steiner of Dunster Hall, Cambridge, was fined $10 for speeding, in court on Wednesday.

Monday at 1 a. m. Patrolmen Henrikus and Riley found a Ford coupe on Gordon road. The car had been stolen from the yard of its owner, John Hardiman, Fisher avenue, Roxbury, on Sunday. The thieves had stripped it of its battery and two tires.

Tony Lupo, 16, of 108 West street, received a suspended sentence to the Industrial School at Shirley, Lawrence, 17, of 89 Gardner street, was sentenced to that institution, and Domenico Civetta, 18, of 16 Middle street, was sentenced to the Concord Reformatory, by Judge Bacon on last Friday. The three were found guilty of stealing old metal from Nonantum junk dealers.

OIL BURNER DID NOT CAUSE FIRE

One of the Boston papers on Wednesday evening contained an article stating that the serious fire in the White Block at Newton Centre on Wednesday noon, was supposed to have been caused by an explosion in the oil burner which is used in the heating plant in that building. This statement was utterly inaccurate.

In the White building is a NOKOL OIL HEATER. It had not been in operation for several days before the fire occurred. It is located in a different part of the cellar of the building from where the fire started, separated by partitions from that part of the cellar where the fire did originate. After the fire was extinguished, the shut-off on the oil heater was found to be closed, and none of the connections on it had been injured in the least by the fire. The flames did not reach that part of the cellar where the oil heater is located.

Fire Chief Clarence Randlett will verify the statement "that the fire in the White Building was in no way caused by the NOKOL OIL HEATER located there. Neither was any of the fuel oil which was stored in a tank outside the building burned. (Adv.)"

WINS OPENING GAME

Newton High Baseball Team Takes Needham High Into Camp, 7 to 6

The Newton high baseball team opened its season auspiciously on Tuesday by taking the veteran Needham nine into camp, 7 to 6, in an interesting game at Claffin field. Incidentally it was the visitors' second defeat in as many games as they lost a close contest to Waltham high on Saturday. Newton got off on the right foot in the first inning, scoring two runs on two errors and a clean single to right by Penny deMille. Another was added in the second when Donald Wilson scored Stout, who had previously tripled to the left field canvas with a single. Don Wilson pitched the first three innings in great style, retiring the Needham batters in order and not allowing a man to reach first. He forced five to knock up easy flies, fanned one and two were thrown out at first.

Wilson retired at the end of the third in favor of Macey. The latter got by the fourth and fifth without much trouble. In the sixth, however, the head of the visiting batting list came up and they greeted him with four consecutive safe blows, one a pretty bunt and another a triple by Carter on which two runs scored. Castagnetti followed Carter with a single, knotting the count. Linguist relieved Macey and issued a pass to the next batter. A sacrifice and two hits brought two runs before the side was retired.

Not to be outdone the orange and black got two men on by a pass and an error. Both counted on Spain's triple which bounded over the center-fielder's head. The score was again knotted. Spain came home on Mullin's single to put the locals in the lead. Mullin moved up on Proctor's sacrifice and scored on McCleary's ringing double, making the score 7 to 5.

Needham staged another rally in the ninth which threatened disaster. Bill Rilly went in the box at the first of the eighth and retired the side in one, two, three order, fanning two and throwing the other out at first. To start the ninth he hit Godfrey in the back with a fast ball. This evidently upset him a little as Smith followed with a single. Both advanced on Carter's sacrifice. Castagnetti bunted but Andres was on the ball in a flash and had Godfrey halfway between third and home. He tossed the ball to Casey who was then playing third but the throw was off the bag and the runner got back safely. Casey was on his toes, however, turned to Spain and tossed him the ball. Spain touched out Smith who was within twenty feet of third base for the second out. Vincent, a pinch hitter, batted for Durkee and came through with a single scoring Godfrey. The tying run was now on second and the winning run on first. Sparkes, batting for Chambers, who had failed to connect in three times at bat, fouled out to Casey for the final out.

NEEDHAM NUGGETS

One of the best plays of the game occurred in the seventh inning. Godfrey of Needham had got around to third on a walk, a steal and Carter's single; Castagnetti laid down a bunt but Andres smothered it six feet in front of the plate. Making a headlong dive he touched out Godfrey as the latter slid for the plate.

Andres caught the entire game and what a whale of a job he did. Without previous experience and but a week of practice he showed his ability as an athlete. No one could ask for a more alert player than Andres. If his play-

AUBURNDALE FORUM

Opening Meeting Last Sunday Creates Much Interest

The opening meeting of the Auburndale Forum was held on Sunday afternoon, April 10. The Club House was filled to its capacity with a responsive audience, which sang with fervor the patriotic hymns at the beginning of the program, and asked questions freely at its close. The first fifteen minutes of the Forum was devoted to music. Rev. Earl E. Harper conducted the community singing, which was led by a large Ensemble Choir from three Auburndale churches. The choir also sang a beautiful anthem, "The Sun Shall Be No More Thy Light by Day." Mr. Gerald Frazee was the accompanist.

Charles B. Floyd, president of the Club, next introduced George W. Coleman, LL.D., who gave a brief but vivid history of the Forum movement from his own twenty years' experience. He spoke of the advantage of holding a Forum in a neutral place, recognizing neither race, class, or creed, and said that no community needs a Forum more than a homogeneous, residential suburb.

Professor Clarence R. Skinner of Tufts College was then introduced by Dr. Coleman. His stirring and illuminating address was entitled "The Dangers of Being a Human." He stressed the marvelous contribution America has made to the world by establishing new standards in self-respect and freedom, political, religious and economic. Nevertheless we are threatened at the present time by the dangers of prosperity which are incident to greatness. The speaker listed three: (1) The danger of being materialized in our philosophy of life, of becoming a jazzed, thingized nation; (2) The danger of overlooking poverty, sickness and misery, of ignoring the many lives lived below the border line of self-respect, under

The Junior leaders named above, will form mat pyramids. An act featuring a trained "human" elephant will be a headliner. The two Joes, Bliss and Champagne, will perform comedy acrobatic stunts. Members

ASSOCIATES MEET

Newton Business Men Discuss Plans At April Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Newton Business Associates was held Tuesday evening at the Hunnewell Club. Following an excellent meal served by Caterer Andrew Scher of Paxton's, President Harold Moore called the meeting to order. Secretary Albert Walker, who had been seriously ill for some weeks was again on the job. The principal matters discussed were the half-holidays for the stores during the summer months, and the problem of donations by business men to persons and organizations seeking contributions and advertisements for programs. Committees were appointed to investigate these two matters and to report on them at the next meeting. Some of the members favored closing one afternoon each week during the entire year. In the past this half-holiday has been enjoyed only during the summer months.

Treadwell's Orchestra, with Larry Fredericks as violinist, entertained the assemblage during the dinner. Songs were given by Eddie King of Pine Grove Inn. Eddie also led the members in a choral competition. The rendition of popular songs by different groups in this singing contest was so spirited, that residents of Billings Park telephoned Police Headquarters fearing that a riot was in progress. Robert H. Evans, who has recently returned from California told of the community spirit prevailing in the cities of that state. All the business men and residents of the various California cities are boosters for their respective communities. They refrain from knocking their home towns and co-operate.

Cunningham, Walter Moore, William Skelton, William Russell, and Thomas Stuart.

Mrs. B. P. Mansfield is general chairman, Harrison Hyslop is in charge of tickets, Walter Moore, publicity, Sylvanus Smith is stage manager and Mrs. Howard Moore, accompanist.

NEWTON WINS OPENER

ing on Wednesday can be taken as an indication of what his season's playing will be there will be more than one catcher who has hopes of making the all-scholastic team, disappointed.

Captain John Proctor had an off day at bat. He reached first his initial time at bat on an error, was thrown out by the second baseman the second time, flied to centrefield the third, laid down a pretty sacrifice on the next, and sent up a puny fly to the second baseman on his final appearance. Perhaps tomorrow he will find his batting eye and show the Lawrence nine why he was the leading batter in the Suburban league last year.

The Newton high school band was on deck to liven things up. Outside of a brisk wind, which blew in the first part of the game was ideal. Towards the end, however, the sun failed to furnish much warmth.

Of the Newton pitchers Wilson and Reilly looked the best. Wilson had the enemy eating out of his hand in all three innings in which he worked. The chances are that he could have gone through the entire game without much difficulty but for the first time it was better for him not to attempt too much. Reilly, also looked good in the last two innings. But for the failure of Godfrey to duck one of his fast ones he probably would not have got into the hole he did. Fortunately his teammates helped him out by playing heads-up ball.

Macey must have felt as though he were facing a siege gun in that hectic sixth inning when five runs trickled across. Four safe hits in a row off his delivery and a base on balls, coupled with two hits, off Lindquist, changed the game from a certain victory to a real guessing contest. From then on it was anybody's game until the final putout.

Needham outthrew Newton 12 to 9. Each team had a triple and Stout of Newton got the only two bagger. Oakman pitched well for Needham but his two wild pitches in the second cost him a run while errors helped to start Newton off with two tallies in the first frame. The four runs the locals scored in the sixth were mainly the result of the bound Spain's hit to centre took over the centrefielder's head. Had the latter not come in too fast to take it he could have held it to a single. Newton's next game will be with Lawrence tomorrow afternoon at Lawrence. The orange and black is hoping to avenge last year's 6 to 3, defeat.

One of the spectators at the game was none other than Tom Gilligan, star catcher on last year's nine. Tommy could not resist the temptation to come out and see his former teammates start the new season in the right way.

TW-LEAGUE MEETING

The first meeting of the Newton Twilight League for this season will be held next Friday evening, April 22nd, at the Newton Catholic Club, at 7:30 p. m. Plans for the coming season will be discussed. As was the case last year the league will be run under the supervision of the Playground department. They will again be officially represented in the league's affairs by Rufus Bond, assistant supervisor to Mr. Ernst Herrmann. It is expected that the first half of the schedule will be started the second week in May and continue for seven or eight weeks after which the second half schedule will be drawn up. The winners of the first and second halves will meet in a series for the city championship and the second leg on the Newton Graphic Cup which was placed in competition last year. The Newton Catholic Club won the first leg by defeating the Earnshaw Mills team last September.

Several teams not members of the league, are said to be seeking admission and the league may be enlarged to accommodate them. The Nonantum Boys Club and The Newton Lower Falls A. A. are hoping to join the organization and it is possible that the Y. M. C. A. will also be represented. Rumor has it that the Earnshaw Mills first half champions in 1926, will not put a team in the field although no definite confirmation of this has been secured.

Officers of the league will be elected either at the meeting next Friday or at the following one. In the hopes of making the league even more successful than it was last year some public spirited citizen is being sought to assume the presidency.

BROWN ELECTED HOCKEY CAPTAIN

At a meeting of the letter men of the 1927 championship hockey sextet at the Newton high school last week James Brown was elected to lead the 1928 outfit. The captain-elect displayed his best hockey of the season in the final round-robin series at the Arena. Substituting for Stubbs he came through in fine style and did more than his share in helping to win the title. Not only did he score the goal which downed Cambridge Latin in the final game but he was a big aid in the other contests.

From all indications Brown will have plenty of able teammates next year in striving to repeat. Among those available besides the captain-elect will be Spain, Langdon Powers, Champagne, Bennett, White and Kendall. There is a possibility that Stubbs may return to school another year. The biggest loss will be in the graduation of the two star defence men, John Proctor and Harold Andres. The low number of goals scored on Thompson, goalie, gives a good picture of the work these men played in turning aside the opponents' dashes.

E. K. Appleton will manage the 1928 team.

TRACK CANDIDATES OUT

Outdoor track practice at the high school started this week at Cabot Park track. For more than a week the various leading performers have been practicing on the nearest available track. Few were out at Cabot park. Coach Donald Enoch will whip his athletes into shape for the first meet with Brookline on April 28th at Brookline.

The remainder of the schedule follows: Saturday, May 7, B. C. Inter-scholastic meet; May 12, Medford; May 14, Yale Inter-scholastic meet; May 17, Concord at Concord; May 19, Milton Academy at Milton; May 21, Brockton at Brockton; May 24, Quincy at Quincy; May 30, Brown Inter-scholastic meet; June 4, State Meet at Harvard.

Brookline Loses Opening Game

Brookline high, Newton's greatest athletic rivals, dropped its opening game of the 1927 season on Tuesday when Brighton high batters scored five runs in the tenth inning to win, 11 to 6. Going into the ninth the wealthy Towners were one run behind but, after two were down, they tied it up. In the tenth "Sonny" Sondheim, Brookline ace, took over the mound duties. He got a warm reception—a single and a double. Next he walked two men, hit another and then watched Teddy Bowden of Brighton knock the ball out of the lot for a home run, cleaning the bases. It is no wild assertion to say that Sondheim will be a far different pitcher when he faces Newton than he was Tuesday. When he is right, and an early season game does not give much of a line on the ability of a pitcher, the Brookline twirler can hold his own with any in the Suburban league. It will be a great battle when Don Wilson, Bill Reilly or Linquist of Newton match their wares against his.

Newton Men Out At Brown

The season of spring football practice is here and the Brown Iron Man is one more out on the field warming up in preparation for a long course of sprouts that McLaughery has for them. Among the regulars of last year that reported are Charles Considine and Ned Kevorkian. Considine has put on some weight, but as yet has not lost that uncanny ability to put the ball wherever he wants to. His charge has speeded up, too, and with the ability to get down under punts with the speed that delights a coach's eye, for it means less likelihood of long run-backs, when a man comes down the middle lane with the ends. Kevorkian is not in the best of condition due to some colds that he has been having this winter, but a few days stiff work-out will take care of him. From all signs the line will be built around him and Farber, the star sophomore, with that end in view the Brown line should be as good next year as it was this season, for the two men are of great size and have that necessary instinct of what to do at the proper time. Another of the candidates, who also hails from Newton, is Philip Lingham who, between his baseball and his football, is going to have a busy season. He is once more trying out for end, and with his added weight should give the coaches at least good material to work on.

Mahoney Gets Home Run

Neil Mahoney, the Northeastern University catcher, has shown by his work this year that he is off on a big season. Ordinarily a weak hitter, he connected regularly in the Providence game, and succeeded in adding a home run and a double to his hitsmith's tally. Also he has kept the pitchers coming, and seems set for a real season in every way.

Stone Out For Bowdoin Nine

Another Newtonian went out for the Bowdoin Varsity when Stuart Stone joined the fielders. His past experience at Newton, and later at Williston should help him. He always has been a good batter, at his best in the pinches, and has added to that no little fielding skill, and a powerful throwing arm. Whether or not he can make the team this year is an open question for there is a wealth of material at Bowdoin, but he will have experience that will be valuable next year.

Cronin Improving Fast

On the Providence Grays of the Eastern League, Bill "Crundy" Cronin is doing his stuff for the benefit of the on-lookers. Bill, who was one of the cleverest back-stops in the Suburban League, has continued to improve so that this year he is even better than last year. Last spring he had a trip down south with the Braves and made good, only an abundance of catching material forcing the Boston Club to send him to their warming grounds. Last season he was loaned to Pittsfield and made a good record there, but this year he has started off with even more of a bang than before. He is hitting for well over 400 and it is said that the pitchers never delivered so well as they are right now. In the game against Brown, and also against the Red Sox his throwing to bases was accurate and sure, and the cagey way that he played bunts drew a great deal of attention. At the present rate it will not be long before he is up in the magic circle and this time for good.

Lingham Brown Yearling Ace

The Cubs at Brown are just preparing the line-up for the opening of the season, and one of the leading candidates for the role of opening pitcher is Philip Lingham. He has shown the most ability of all the freshmen hurlers and since he heaves the ball from the wrong side his chances of drawing the assignment are greater than before. The coaching of Dubuc has given him added confidence and with a few games to try out his courage he should be an asset to an already promising nine. Even if he does not pitch the opening game he will probably be in the line-up as an outfielder for his hitting ability can not be denied.

brook was holding down one of the Team A backfield positions. Although this means little at this stage of the game, it does show that he has possibilities and may stand more than an even chance of making good next year. He is ideally suited to the Harvard system of a good number one back in the starting line-up, and his ability to throw passes and kick should make him a strong contender.

Marchant to Run Marathon

Among the many entries received by the B. A. A. for its annual Ashland-Boston marathon is that of Peter Marchant of Newton. He will run under the colors of the Circle Franco-American.

Lawless Goes Hitless

"Gyp" Lawless, B. U. star, went hitless in the game with Harvard last Saturday. The West Newton youth, batting in the clean-up berth, failed to register a safe blow in his three official times at bat against Barbee, the Harvard star.

of the Boston Y. M. C. A. gymnasium team will perform on the high bar and parallel bars. Later on the program they will put on a wand drill and a fancy calisthenic drill.

Perhaps the best part of the program for the boys and their parents will be the presentation of the individual awards to those who have scored sufficient number of points in the various athletic events and contests run off during the past winter.

The entire program will be interspersed with clown acts which will humor and fun to the evening's entertainment. All in all and part by part the entire program, in addition to making the public acquainted with the work of the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. will be of interest to all.

Y. M. C. A.

Boys Work Secretaries of Massachusetts and Rhode Island met at the Newton Association Monday, April 11th. Mr. William McCormick of Boston Y. M. C. A. presided. Rev. Arthur M. Ellis of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville made the first address of the morning. A group of ladies from the Auxiliary provided a very fine luncheon. Among other speakers were Mr. John H. Geldart, Newton Y. M. C. A.'s Secretary in China.

Mr. George Irving, Religious Work Secretary of the National Council of the Young Men's Christian Association, New York City, spent last week in Newton. Under his leadership laymen and pastors from ten churches and a group of older boys from the Association met each evening for Christian fellowship, afterwards going out and calling upon people in the interest of their several churches.

The speaker at the Fellowship Club on Monday evening, April 11th, was Rev. Robert L. Rae of the North Village Church. His topic was appropriate to the Lenten Season.

Members of the Boys' Division will have an Easter morning breakfast next Sunday at 8:30. Members of the Boys' Cabinet will serve the breakfast after which Mr. David Black is giving a brief message on, "What is Easter to a Boy?"

Vacation week is full of interesting events. On Monday afternoon the boys will go to the General Baking Company in Charlestown. Tuesday is a holiday and there will be a treasure hunt in the morning followed by the usual holiday morning swim. There is another trip on for Wednesday to the United Drug Company where we'll want to know what they put into pills. The Annual Gymnastic Exhibition and Circus comes on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. On Saturday comes the Boys' Division Monthly Dinner and afterwards there will be a foot hike to Perkins Institute for the Blind in Watertown.

State Leaders' Club Conference. Members of Senior Leaders' Clubs in associations throughout Massachusetts and Rhode Island will attend the conference at the Newton Y to be held on Saturday afternoon and evening of next week. Mayor Childs and President Frederick C. Fuller of the Y. M. C. A. will address the conference.

Vachon and Arsenault to Wrestle. Henry Vachon and Joe Arsenault have been invited by the Lynn Y to wrestle two representatives of that association next Friday night at Lynn. The occasion will be "Odd Fellows Night" when the Lynn Y will entertain the Odd Fellows of Lynn.

Wins and Losses

In the eastern Massachusetts church division basketball championship tournament at Lynn last Saturday the St. John's Watertown M. E. team routed the second round before being eliminated. In their first round match they defeated the Central Baptist Church team of Quincy, 26 to 24, in a nip and tuck game. Perkins, Thurlow and Ross starred scoring 6, 10, and 8 points respectively. The Newton league champions were defeated by the Washington street Baptist team of Lynn, 37 to 24. The victors in this game won the division championship. Thurlow and Perkins scored 11 points each.

The Needham Congregational team, winners of the Needham league and runners-up in the Newton league, were put out in the first round by the St. Anne's team of Gloucester, 46 to 38. Taylor, Needham's centre, was the individual star with 25 points while W. Newcomb, forward of the same team, counted 10.

America rather than in America; (3)
The danger that in contrast with other nations we beget their suspicion and hatred. We must have markets for our wealth. Surplus wealth demands that we send protection, and this may easily embroil us. At home we have begun to close our gates.

Nations think in terms of danger.
The challenge to us is to be positive in friendship, honest, and scrupulous-ly just. We should place our emphasis on the cultural and spiritual, making America a great adventure as our fathers did, with ideals dedicated to all men. These dangers may be wiped away in a vast gesture of friendship and justice.

The question period showed the keen interest with which the audience had followed the address, and brought up several timely topics. Every citizen, it was stated, has only one right but the duty to express his opinion.
There is no public opinion until it has been made. This opening Forum,

EDITORIAL

The Newtonite, the school paper of the Newton High School, recently advocated holding the Read Fund lectures in the High School hall. This is an excellent suggestion, but unfortunately one that cannot be carried out as the late Charles A. Read, donor of the Read fund, specifically provided in his will that the income of the fund, among other objects should be used as follows:—"Second. For free lectures on scientific subjects at Newton Corner, eight hundred dollars." Incidentally, the Read Fund Trustees might well ponder whether the recent lecture course could be considered "scientific."

In requiring parallel parking in the business district at Nonantum square, the police evidently do not realize the difficulty that the average motorist experiences in attempting backing into a narrow parking space or in attempting to get out of a space closely packed with cars. It takes an experienced chauffeur to do either and the many futile attempts by amateur motorists take more time and cause more obstruction to passing traffic than the slight gain in street area warrants.

While we have absolute confidence in the righteousness of the verdicts of the courts in the Sacco-Venizetti case, we are of the opinion that Governor Fuller will act wisely if he commutes the sentences of both men to life imprisonment.

We note with pleasure the action of the aldermen in granting a bus line through Centre street from Newton to Newton Centre and believe it will be well patronized.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The end of the session appears to be in sight, and surely will be done before the end of the month. The only obstruction to prorogation appears to be in the settlement of the Elevated problem either by passing additional legislation or by postponement to next year.

The bill to extend the Hammond Pond parkway through Brookline and Newton has received a slight setback, Ways and Means approving the sum of $50,000 for extension to the corner of Hammond and Newton street the present year. It was hoped that enough money could be found to carry the work to Beacon street. But that will have to wait until another year evidently.

The bill to build a new bridge over the Charles river at Wales street, Lower Falls, is passing through without much opposition. The bill carries $50,000 of which Newton will pay 37 1/2%, Wellesley and the County of Norfolk, 25% each and Middlesex County 12 1/2%.

The bill to regulate the practice of Chiropractic to which Representatives Saltonstall and Luitwieler both dissented is passing through both branches against considerable opposition.

We have not been able during the past two weeks to report the action of our representatives on the various measures vetoed by Governor Fuller. It may be of interest, even at this late day to scan the record.

We find that on the four bills to allow trust companies to establish branches, all four representatives voted with the governor on the Wayman Trust, the Rockland Trust and the Clinton Trust. Mr. Thompson voted against the governor on the Quincy and Granite Trust bills, and Mr. Saltonstall was not recorded on the Quincy bill. On the bill to restore J. H. Maher to the Boston fire department system, three voted against the governor, Mr. Saltonstall not being recorded. On the Boston tax limit veto Mr. Hollis voted to sustain the veto, the other three opposed the veto.

All voted for increases in the salaries of judges and the gas tax. Mr. Hollis opposed the recess committee on election laws, and he and Mr. Luitwieler favored the establishment of a Boston bridge or tunnel district. Mr. Saltonstall opposed and Mr. Thompson was not recorded.

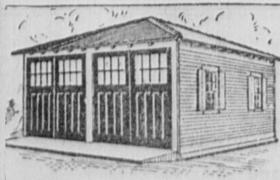

Mr. Saltonstall occupied the Speaker's chair during the session last Monday.

Mrs. Adelbert Fernald, D. R. State Regent, has received an invitation from the city of Quincy to be guest of honor at a luncheon and unveiling of a tablet to John Adams and John Quincy Adams in that city on April 19th.

At the close of the business session Mrs. Henry B. Plakham, who was in charge of the program of the day, presented Miss Naomi Hewitt, who played two groups of cello solos. The speaker, Dr. Tehyl Hsieh, was not only exceedingly entertaining but he made many points of the Chinese question clearer. His subject was "An Easterner Facing the West."

A social hour and refreshments were enjoyed, the hostesses being Mrs. Robert J. Estabrook, Mrs. Henry B. Plakham, Mrs. George A. Salmon, Mrs. George H. Snyder, Mrs. Spencer W. Shephardson and Miss Emma M. Sibley.

"MAGDA"

"Magda," a religious drama by Ethel Gesnor Rockwell, was presented on Wednesday evening, April 13th, by the Woman's Association of the Auburndale Congregational Church.

The time of the play is the Passion Week of our Lord; the scene, a courtyard in the home of Magda, a Greek woman living in Jerusalem. The theme of the drama is the conflict in the lives of Magda and Thomas as to the significance of Christ's death and resurrection. In beauty of line and deep spiritual meaning this play is unusually impressive, and the acting throughout was so realistic that the audience sat speechless until the end. Especially fine was the interpretation of Magda by Lorraine Holmes, and the part of Thomas, a disciple, by Ralph Weston. All the other parts were convincingly portrayed.

The scenic effects and the costumes, most of which came from Palestine, were set off to advantage by excellent lighting. The midnight scenes were particularly beautiful, while the blackness of the night of the Crucifixion, with its thunder and flashes of lightning were startlingly effective.

Adding to the impressiveness of the drama was the organ and quartet music off stage between the scenes, and the beautiful rendering of "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," by Mrs. E. Dana Kendall.

Mrs. Graham Bates was general chairman of the evening. She was assisted by Mrs. Earl Ordway, Chairman of Scenery; Mrs. J. Scott Reder, Chairman of Costumes, and Mrs. Lee Malambro, Publicity Director.

The cast included: Lorraine Holmes, Ruth Obermeyer, Roy Johanneson, E. Graham Bates, Ralph Weston, Bradley Hills, Warren Conn, Nathan Wentworth, Allen Davidson.

KIWANIS CLUB

Fifty members were present at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday. The speaker of the day was Irving Dierdorff, past president of the Boston Kiwanis Club. Mr. Dierdorff condemned the tendency of so many in New England to "knock" this section. These persons claim that New England has been slipping, that it is losing its manufacturing supremacy to other sections of the country. He read statistics to prove that New England is still the busiest and most prosperous part of the United States. Contrasting the pessimism of New Englanders with the optimism of business men in the South and West, Mr. Dierdorff asserted that New Englanders are in a much more favorable position to prosper because of their wealth and resources than are parts of the country which lose no opportunity to bring new industries to their midst. He advised the Newton Kiwanians to lose no chance to boost Newton.

Mr. Dierdorff, who is New England manager of the American Bond and Mortgage Company is a resident of Newton Centre.

DR. EWING DEAD

He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Miss Thelma Ewing.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon and the burial will be in the Newton Cemetery.

FIRE RECORD

2-Alarm Fire At New West Newton Junior High School

Yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock a fire started in the cupola of the new junior high school near the corner of Washington and Myrtle streets, West Newton. Copper-smiths who had been working on the cupola were on their noon hour when the blaze started, and the fire was discovered when a spark from it dropped onto a horse standing in front of the school. The animal naturally bolted and his action caused the workmen nearby to observe the burning cupola. The high wind quickly fanned the flames and the woodwork on the cupola, together with the staging around it soon became a mass of flames. Box 352 was pulled at 1 p. m., followed by a second alarm at 1:06. The flames were confined to the cupola and a copper flushing underneath it prevented heavier water damage to the school building. The damage is estimated at about $4000. The cause of the fire is unknown, but is thought it might have been started by the blow torch used by the workmen.

Despite the fact that Chief Randlett has ceased issuing permits for grass fires because of the unusual drought, persons continue to set fires without authority, even on the windy days such as prevailed this week. Yesterday the department was kept busy answering alarms caused by grass fires. At 7:15 a. m., Box 641 was for a grass fire on the land near 1439 Centre street; at 3:13 p. m., Box 723 was for a grass fire in a pile of leaves in the yard of Mrs. John Bergeson, 855 Beacon street, Newton Centre. Monday at 1:07 p. m., Box 622 was for a slight blaze on the roof of the house at 363 Elliot street, Upper Falls, caused by a spark from a chimney. The house was owned by the New England Spun Silk Company, and occupied by Mrs. Florence Walker.

Sunday evening at 8:05, Box 19 was pulled for a fire on the roof of the Mount Ida School building. It was extinguished before much damage was done.

an experienced catcher. The berth was expected to be capably filled by Tom Gilligan who has since left school. However, the New Hampshire school will be represented by two former Newton high athletes. Francis Gilligan has the first call at shortstop and John McCullough, 1926 captain at Newton high, has clinched the leftfield berth.

Coach Bond Hurt By Ball

Coach Rufus Bond, popular assistant to Playground Director Herrmann and baseball coach at Northeastern University, was hurt one afternoon last week by a thrown ball. The sphere hit him over the left eye, knocking him down and cutting a gash which required two stitches to close. After having the injury attended to Bond returned to the field and ordered a game between the regulars and the Yannisians. Leo Crowley pitched the Yannisians to a 6 to 1 victory over the regulars.

Seeley Tenth in Road Race

Bill Seeley of Newtonville, running under the Newton High school colors, placed tenth in the annual Cathedral Young Men's Catholic Association 10-mile race last Saturday afternoon. The race was won by Paul Kanaly of Belmont in elapsed time of 59:17. Seeley's time was 61:29 which with a three minute handicap over the scratch man gave him an actual time of 58:29 for fifth place.

Harris Has Veteran Team

Coach Polly Harris of the Belmont High school baseball team has eight letter men from last year's squad available this spring. Every position on the team with the exception of catcher will be filled by a veteran. The Belmont mentor has high hopes of an excellent season.

Crowley Given Poor Support

Leo Crowley, Newton Upper Falls boy and a three-sport athlete at St. John's prep school, is now attending Northeastern University. The local lad went the full distance against the B. U. nine Wednesday afternoon, allowed but four hits, but lost out, 3-2. Poor support in the first inning allowed three Terriers to cross the plate. Thereafter they were baffled by Crowley's slants. Neil Mahoney, another Newton youth, holds down the catching berth for Coach Bond's huskies. In the first inning he allowed the third tally to count when he threw wild to second base in an effort to stop a steal and retire the side. In the fifth he did his best to redeem his error by cracking out a single with one down. Crowley came through with another hit, sending him to third. Both scored on a teammate's triple. "Gyp" Lawless, B. U. fielder, got one hit and scored the Terrier's second run.

Cronin Making Fine Average

If present indications are any criterion then Bill Cronin, Newton youth with the Providence team Eastern league champions in 1926, should have a fine batting average this season. Last Saturday Cronin got two hits out of four times at bat against the Brown University team which beat the minor leaguers, 5 to 2 and Sunday he duplicated his batting of the day before against the Red Sox. Providence won this game 10 to 6. Cronin's average for the two exhibition games is .500 in two full games. "Crungy" kept his average at the same level by getting two more safe blows in four times at bat in a return game with Brown University on Wednesday. The Grays turned the tables on the Brown bears in the second game of the series between the two nines.

Cantabs Lose Opener

The Cambridge Latin nine lost its opening contest of the 1927 season on Wednesday afternoon when they were blanked by St. Mark's School, 2 to 0. The feature of the game was the pitching of Herbert McKinnon for the Cantabs who struck out 14 batters. St. Mark's scored on a passed ball in the fifth and added another tally in the seventh which was earned. Safe hits were few, each side getting but four.

Whitmore and Ellison Going South

Howie Whitmore, former star pitcher at Newton High, was one of seven pitchers to be selected by Coach Fred Mitchell of Harvard to go on the annual southern trip which starts next week. Bill Ellison was also chosen as one of the outfielders.

Junior High School Notes

The girls of IG showed their ability in the culinary line in Mrs. Sanborn's class the other day. They made salads which were both tasteful and artistic. Dorothy Wayland designed a candle by means of a banana with a pineapple for the holder. Marguerite Stanley was responsible for some pineapple daisies which had brown eyes made from peanut butter. There were dainty basted modeled from cucumbers; there were butterflied of mixed colors. The only trouble with serving any of these salads at a luncheon would be that the guests would be certain to wish to take them home as souvenirs rather than to eat them.

At last the looked for day arrived and a dozen or so girls were excused from their classes in order that they might have a new preliminary suggestions in modeling for the Pile Fashion Show. The dresses which Filene brought out to show were all so attractive that it is safe to say that several families were made uneasy that night by insistent demands of "Mother buy me one of those." As each succeeding dress was shown the oh's and ah's grew more rapturous. What a good thing it is to instill ideas of style into children of Junior High School age, especially when the style is coupled with practicality! As hangovers from the show we have heard of several girls who have chosen their life work in the field of designing children's clothes. Others have decided that the life of a clothes model would be all roses!

The Assembly on Wednesday was in charge of Miss Manning and the entire seventh grade took part. The purpose of the program was to show what Social Studies teach. All the pieces on the program were appropriate because they brought out clearly the fact that this subject tries to foster a spirit of tolerance and a brotherly love. The mistress of the ceremonies was Ethel Henchey. Others taking part were: Della La Porte, Marie Custeau, Barbara Hunting, Janet Greene, Joseph Cuniff, Robert Bankart, Dorothy Carol, Arthur Terrio, Howard Langill, Louis Sabetti, Louis De Stefano, Ralph Bixby, Kenelm Winslow, Gould Decker, John Fitzgerald, Eleanor Thompson.

The unison work of the seventh grade was remarkably clear and showed interest on the part of the speakers in what was being said, together with inspirational training.

F. A. Day Indoor Track Meets

The Junior High School boys finished their indoor work by three interesting track meets. These three meets furnished many laughs and thrills for the spectators who consisted largely of teachers and pupils although a few outsiders did attend and enjoy it very much. Mr. Simmons, sponsor of these meets, ran them off perfectly with the help of the boys he had picked as officials.

The seventh grade meet afforded many thrills but more laughs to those who were present. The meet started off with the thirty-five yard dash which was run off in very fast time. The winner in the finals proved to be Harold which always has been the easy team in the dashes. Dartmouth took second place by a narrow margin. In fact the four boys in the finals were only separated by inches at the finish. The next event the seventy yard dash, was taken by a Canadian team, Toronto. The Toronto team won this event by their skillful passing of the baton and that counts a lot in a relay. The runner-up in this event was the Colorado team which was a very good team in this event and promised to place well near the top at the conclusion of the meet. The next event, the saddle back relay, was won by Fordham but they just nosed out their rivals, Boston College. During this event the laughs began and no wonder. A seventy-five pound boy might have been carrying a hundred and twenty pound and the outcome of the event was a foretell. The tosses were frequent although each boy gallantly got up and told his man to do the same. Santa Claus didn't prove to be very good to some of the small boys in the bags during the Santa Claus relay because they were first dropped hard and then tripped over promptly afterwards. Colorado again took a first in this event although the Boston Col. boys proved that they also had experience in doing the Santa Claus stunt by finishing second. The boys of the F. A. Day would be late much of tenor if they put their coats on as slowly in the morning as they did in the Hat and Coat Relay. The Fordham team and the Purdue team which came in second have no excuse on this score at all because they did it in very fast time. The wheel barrow race was won by Holy Cross but Colorado finished second showing them that they had learned that art in the West. The obstacle race which was run in laps was the funniest event of all. Most of the boys took very hard tosses during this race in their efforts to go fast. This race proved the maxim, "Haste makes Waste." The race was won by Washington, and Harvard was close behind these two. Although these two places do not get much fame from potato raising they won the potato race!

In the cross and back relay Fordham showed they knew the firemen's carry and this ability won them the race although Holy Cross finished close behind them. In the Apparatus relay, Middlebury showed their gymnastic ability by winning first place and Colorado finished second. The final score of the first meet was as follows: Fordham 1st with fifteen points. Colorado 2nd with fourteen points. Holy Cross 3rd with twelve points. The eighth grade meet, which was run off on Monday, was the most contested of the three meets. Two teams were tied with seventeen points at the end of the first meet. Penn State got to a flying start by taking both places in the thirty-five yard dash and this netted them seven points. Mouser and Quinlan took both places for their team and proved themselves very fast men and in later events proved valuable. In the seventy yard dash Quinlan again showed his speed and Penn State took first place with Rhode Island second. In the saddle back relay, Conn. Agg. captured first place and Stanford second. The Santa Claus relay was won by Stanford, proving he does visit California once in a while. Second place was taken by Illinois. The hat and coat race was taken by Penn State thus adding more to their already long score. Mass. Agg. showed efficiency in the handling of the hat and coat but they were not fast enough to take first. N. H. State took the wheelbarrow race with R. I. State a close second. Stanford won the obstacle race not by their speed but by their ability to stay on their feet and Illinois was a close second although if one of their men had not fallen they would have won. The potato race was won by Columbia with Oregon second. In the Apparatus relay, Stanford proved that they would make good firemen although Oregon was closely on their heels at the finish. In the last event, which was the apparatus relay, Oregon took first and N. H. State second. Two teams were then found to be tied for first place so Mr. Simmons, the official starter, decided to run a straight relay between the two teams that were tied.

The special event was to be contested between Stanford and Penn State. The start of this event was taken with much excitement by the spectators. The boys in this event were very eager to fight out this relay so as to bring to their team the honor of winning the meet. The boys that started were "Stretch" Potter and "Mouse" as he is known by most of the boys. His Christian name is Alfred Mouser. Those at the finish were so close together you could not tell who had passed the baton first. The same thing happened up to the third and one of the Stanford boys dropped the baton and gave Penn State about a foot lead which she kept till the end, giving them the meet.

The final scores: Penn State first with 22 points. Stanford second with 17 points. Oregon third with 9 points. The Ninth Grade meet proved that quite a few of the men will be valuable athletes next year. The first event, the thirty five yard dash, was won by Iowa State and Williams was a close second. In the seventy yard relay Amherst captured first by skillful passing of the baton although Wesleyan was right behind, they had dropped the baton once giving Amherst the lead and the race. The saddle back relay was won by the strong Wesleyan team which consisted of all letter men. Wesleyan has the Captain of the baseball, football and basketball teams and the other men were basketball and football men. Amherst won second place by hard work. The Santa Claus relay also was won by Wesleyan but only after Bob Kengett the boy in the bag was dropped and Ed Tenney a big 120-pound football man handed on top of him almost knocking the wind out of him. Boston University took second place. The Ohio State team took the Hat and Coat relay and Iowa State took second place. Wesleyan again gained five points in the wheelbarrow relay and Amherst took second. The obstacle race furnished much laughter and excitement for the spectators. Fred Schipper, captain of the Wesleyan team, got into his bag at the start and hopped on his long foot so fast that he outstepped everybody and his team did the same thing winning the race by at least ten yards. Amherst came in second but not without mishaps and the tosses they took kept the onlookers in uproars during the whole event. The potato race was taken by Iowa State with B. U. a close second.

Across and Back relay again gave the strong men on the Wesleyan team a chance to bring home the bacon and win first place. Second place was taken by Amherst. The last event was by far the most exciting. First the boys had to run up and down the auditorium and then over the parallel bars that were raised to six feet high and covered with mats. After that they went through or under the bars and then over the horse and over the buck. They then came back the same way. One accident happened when one of the boys coming from under the bars bumped into a boy just starting going at full speed. The winner of this event was Amherst and the runner up was Iowa State.

The final score:

Wesleyan first with 27 points.

Amherst second with 17 points.

Iowa State third with 16 points.

This concludes a very successful year indoors for the boys. The basketball team won four games and lost five games. The winner of the Inter-Collegiate basketball tournament was Williams.

Mason

Playground activities for the girls of the Mason School District, which began Tuesday, April 12, will continue throughout the remainder of the school year on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. Miss Temperley has been assigned as Supervisor of these activities.

Boys selected to represent the Mason School on the baseball diamond were measured for uniforms. The money was contributed by the men of Newton Center.

At the assembly Wednesday afternoon, the sixth grade entertained the seventh and eighth grades with a program appropriate for Patriots' Day. There were tableaux, poems, and musical selections by the pupils, and a vocal solo by Dorothy Sanders, well-known to the WEEI Big Brother radio audience.

One day last week, the pupils of the Mason School had the pleasure of listening to a very interesting and instructive talk on "Safety," by Officer Kiley of the Newton Police Department.

The sixth grade in Room 3 has bought a beautiful framed picture of "Old Ironsides" and presented it to the school. The poem of the same name by Oliver Wendell Holmes is a favorite of the class and so it seemed an appropriate picture for that room.

Captain-ball is still the favorite game among the girls and several good room teams have been formed. The Mason team which did such splendid work last year will soon be in trim for spring games.

The library is splendid in its new dress. Two of the pictures of the Abby series are already hung and in time many more of them will be on the walls. Soon, perhaps, one will feel because of the paintings and the wealth of fiction and reference material, that he has wandered into the Boston Public itself!

Stearns School

With the advent of warm weather, indoor games are becoming things of the past and many classes are out for play in the open.

It is interesting to note that the obstacle and relay races that were so popular here in the fall are equally popular this spring. Many new teams have been formed with the Bruins as prospective champions.

Kind to Animals Week has been well celebrated by our pupils. Many wished to answer the Humane Questionnaire sent to us by the American Humane Education Society while others came forward with readings, songs, stories, and quotations appropriate for the week.

Health work has certainly been efficient here through the winter as recent reports prove. Seventy-five per cent of the Red or under weight group have gained the normal rating. Respiratory diseases that are so common through the winter months were reduced to a minimum. Sleep and proper diet played a large and important part in our procedure for all around good health. The children were taught what to eat, how to eat, and when to eat; and with co-operation from the parents we were able to obtain results.

Hyde School

We have a recent addition of 110 stereographs for scopes which are already in use.

Baseball practice has made its new start this year under the leadership of Coach Lawless. The first practice game was played this week with Angier.

The Hyde class of music appreciation with Mr. Spaulding has developed into one of the largest classes in New ton. Nearly half the members have joined the Junior High band in a very short period of time.

Bigelow Junior High School

Miss Manning, who is the permanent substitute in the opportunity class for the remainder of the year, takes the place of Mrs. Albert E. Everett. Mrs. Everett was very popular with the boys and girls, and we are fortunate to have a teacher who is able to take up the work where she left it. Miss Manning is a graduate of the Emerson College of Oratory and is already proving her success in the activities of the class and dramatic club.

The patriotic program Wednesday morning included appropriate recitation, and the story in prose and in poetry of Paul Revere's Ride. This was given by Louise Killon, Harry Goff, William Thomas, Margaret Hodges, Harold Reed, Emily Kiley, Milton Copp, and Alberta Tradsham, all from Miss Chase's class.

After this Officer Kiley gave a very earnest and effective talk to the girls and boys. His subject was Safety. He spoke of the necessity of watchfulness and care on the part of all pedestrians where they cross streets, especially where traffic is congested by automobiles. He also warned them against playing in the street or suddenly darting from the sidewalk in the midst of their play. An impressive list of avoidable accidents, in which children have been the sufferers, followed.

Angier School

The first grade children were responsible for the Assembly this week. Poulard MacDonald led the music; Potter Trainer, the flag salute, Augustin Root, the prayer. A group of children sang "The Circus" and "The Clown." John Miller and Gardner Creamer appeared as clowns.

This was followed by two little plays, "No More Mosquitoes" and "The Runaway Toy." The children taking part were Margaret Seaver, Richard McLellan, Carl Klotz, Jane Mosser, which check, Sylvie Pierce, Anne Woods, Edith Mair, Charles Dearborn, Theodore Davidson and Franklin Sweetser.

The eighth grade class play written by some members of the class will be given some time in May. A French play will be presented at the same time.

Some of the eighth grade pupils are going to the New Junior High and some are going to the regular High School. The present sixth and seventh grades are going to the New Junior High.

Mr. Penny presented the following pupils from the fifth and sixth grades with School-Citizenship pins: Dorothy Jones, Helen Walker, Robert Simmons, and Martha Lawrie.

The first School-Citizenship pin presented to a member of the seventh grade was given to Jacob Mosser.

LASELL

In place of the regular vesper service on Sunday, April 17, the students will attend the Unitarian Church at West Newton where the Easter Pageant, "Sir Galahad," will be presented.

On Wednesday evening, April 20, the Orphean Club consisting of over one hundred voices under the direction of Mr. George Sawyer Dunham will give their annual concert at the Auburndale Club at eight o'clock. The assisting artists are David Blair McClosky, Baritone; and Amelia Ferrazzi, Soprano.

horse power" car. The horses used by the old street railway companies were excellent animals. They were well fed, well groomed, light and rangy enough to be fairly speedy, and muscular enough to pull the car with the 30 or even 40 persons who sometimes crowded into these old fashioned vehicles. The team of horses which hauled the cars out of Nonantum Square would pull the car as fast as the stables at Mount Auburn, opposite the cemetery, where they would be relieved by another pair which would pull the car to Bowdoin Square, the Boston terminal of the line, and back again to Mount Auburn. The teams would alternate on the long and short hauls. At Watertown, near the Common street Cemetery, a tow-horse was stationed to help pull the car up the grade on Mount Auburn street.

The conductors on these cars were equipped with heavy punches containing a little bell; said bell tinkling when a fare was punched on the strips carried by the conductors. These pasteboards strips were of different colors. On one strip the 5 cent fares were punched; on another the 10 cent fares. A through trip to Boston from Newton cost 10 cents; shorter distances could be travelled for a 5 cent fare. Children under 12 paid many fares would have started in the straw carpenters of the old cars. A large kerosene lamp, suspended from the ceiling, at the centre of the car, illuminated the vehicle.

Sometimes exuberant youths, riding in one of the old cars, would "start something" by teetering the car so violently that the single truck would jump off the rails. Other times a small stone on one of the rails would cause the truck to leave the track. The cars were so light, that it was a comparatively easy matter to replace one car on the rails after one of these mishaps. The running time from Nonantum Square to Bowdoin Square was one hour, except when bad weather conditions prevailed. In the Winters, after heavy snowstorms, puns were used. No traffic jams interfered with the progress of the horse cars, unless some wagon broke down on the car tracks.

The horse cars from Newton to Boston ceased to run over 30 years ago when they were replaced by electric cars. The last horse cars to be operated by the West End Street Railway, the predecessors of the Boston Elevated, were those on the line running on Marlboro street, Boston. This line was discontinued in December, 1900.

PROPERTY OWNERS

From now on salesmen after salesmen from various roofing concerns will be stepping on each other as they climb your front steps to try and sell you a new roof.

Don't allow one of these men to make a big commission by selling you a roof of inferior materials haphazardly applied, for a proportionately high price, simply because he offers you a ten year "guarantee" and the "privilege" of paying by instalments.

Two companies who were guaranteeing roofs last year are out of business this year. The others had from two to six men busy all winter repairing "guaranteed" roofs. I have been roofing houses in the Newtons and elsewhere for ten years and have never been called back to repair one of my roofs. I have no salesman salesmen, managers, superintendents or chauffeurs to pay I put in my time on the roof, got in an office. Therefore I can save you from fifty to two hundred dollars on your roof and give you a good workmanlike job of the best materials.

IMPORTANT REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENT

The large estate formerly owned by Charles W. Leonard on West Newton Hill is being developed into house lots by Haynes & Hernandez of Newtonville. The estate, one of Newton's show places for many years, contains twenty acres of land, and will be divided into seventy attractive building lots. It is bounded by Forest avenue, Otis and Highland streets, and while accessible to schools and transportation, is sufficiently secluded so as to be highly desirable. Mr. Leonard, who has acquired national fame for his interest in thoroughbred horses, and who for many years was responsible for the continuance of the Readville Trotting park, thus maintaining Boston's prestige as one of the country's centres for the breeding of high grade horses, spent a large sum in beautifying his estate at West Newton with trees and shrubs. So far as possible the trees have been preserved in the development of the estate.

Haynes & Hernandez, who are developing the Leonard property, are devoting it as the Beaumont Estates. They have already developed a number of high grade residential neighborhoods in other parts of the city, and it is their intention to make the Beaumont Estates a neighborhood that will be entirely in keeping with the reputation which West Newton has enjoyed as one of this city's finest residential sections. The new streets which are being constructed, will be entirely completed by Haynes & Hernandez, and restrictions have been placed which will assure homes of attractive architecture being built on the property.

PARALLEL PARKING CAUSES ACCIDENT

The new parking restrictions at Newton Corner imposed by Chief Burke, which compel parallel parking at certain points, resulted in an expensive accident last Saturday. Miss Emily Ransom of 29 North street, Newtonville, had parked her car in front of the Woolworth store. She parked the car at an angle, as she had always been accustomed to do. Traffic Officer Taff informed her of the new rule which compels parallel parking. Endeavoring to back her car out of the space, and hampered by other cars parked nearby, Miss Ransom's automobile ran into a small truck owned by Thomas Nolan of 75 Alder street, Waltham, and forced the truck over the sidewalk and through a plate glass window at the Washington Market. Fortunately for Nolan he was not in his machine, but was eating in a nearby restaurant. Miss Ransom's car was badly damaged.

FIRE DEPT. APPRECIATED

Editor Newton Graphic:
May I offer through the columns of your paper my appreciation to the Newton Firemen.

The work of Chief Randlett and the men at the fire in the block at Newton Centre was worthy of sincere appreciation. Coming at the noon hour as it did when the Department is liquidated they succeeded in checking the fire admirably.

HIGHWAY ROBBERS IN NEWTON

Four gunmen, apparently well acquainted with Boston and Newton, in one hour last night stole an automobile and committed three hold-ups, one of them in Newton. Just after 10, the police of Boston received news that a sedan had been stolen at Roxbury Crossing. Fifteen minutes later word came in that Hector Hart of Cambridge, had been robbed in front of 377 Washington street, Brighton, by four men who drove up in a sedan. A few minutes later another complaint was received by the police that Harold Allen of Roxbury had been robbed at the corner of Arlington and Leicester streets, Brighton, by the same quartet. Allen was sitting in his parked car when robbed.

Even as the Brighton police were getting Allen's tale of woe, the Newton police were called on by Manson Brent of 573 Washington street, Brighton. Brent was in his parked car on Kenrick street, Newton, when the four robbers drove up in the stolen sedan. They pointed a gun at him, took $100 from him, and vanished. The car used by the thugs was later found abandoned in Jamaica Plain. The robbers were attired in overalls such as are worn by milkmen.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Now that we are looking forward to the celebration next Tuesday of Patriots' Day I wonder if it isn't an appropriate time to call attention to one of the greatest masterpieces of American literature written on this historic event. To me, and I am sure to all Newton people it will have a special interest. First, because anything to do with the firing of "the shot heard round the World" should be read by all patriots of all ages; second, because it stands as example of polished oratory by a past master of English—George William Curtis, and third, because his son, Dr. Francis George Curtis is a resident of Newton and for years has been the efficient chairman of the Newton Board of Health.

George William Curtis was one of the most prominent literary men of his day. As editor for more than a score of years of the Harper publications he was known throughout the world. His "Editor's Easy Chair" is regarded today as a classic. Not only did he contribute and edit the Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly but he wrote a number of books which will be found today on many library shelves.

At the centennial celebration of the "Concord Fight," April 19, 1875, George William Curtis was the orator of the day. Dr. Curtis, then a small boy, was among the listeners. The utterances of the elder Curtis on that occasion were memorable. The entire address is worthy of study for, I am sure, it would be not only appreciated but greatly enjoyed by those who turn to it. I am, however, offering only an extract, but am confident that the readers of the Graphic will be glad of the opportunity to peruse it.

"The Minuteman of the Revolution! And who was he? He was the old, the middle-aged, and the young. He was the husband and father, who left his plow in the furrow and his hammer on the bench, and marched to die or be free. He was the son and lover, the plain, shy youth of the singing school and the village choir, whose heart beat to arms for his country, and who felt, though he could not say with the old English cavalier:—

"I could not love thee, dear, so much Loved I not honor more."

"He was the man who was willing to pour out his life's blood for a principle. Intrenched in his own honesty, the King's gold could not buy him; enthroned in the love of his fellow citizens, the King's writ could not take him; and when on the morning of Lexington, the King's troops marched to seize him, his sublime faith saw, beyond the clouds of the moment, the rising sun of the America we behold, and, careless of himself, mindful only of his country, he exultingly exclaimed, "Oh, what a glorious morning!" And then, amid the flashing hills, the ringing woods, the flaming roads, he smote with terror the haughty British column and sent it shrieking, bleeding, wavering and reeling through the streets of the village, panic-stricken and broken.

"Him we gratefully recall today; him we commit in his immortal youth to the reverence of our children. And here amid these peaceful fields—here in the heart of Middlesex County, of Lexington and Concord and Bunker Hill, stand fast, Son of Liberty, as the minuteman stood at the old North Bridge. But should we our descendants, false to justice or humanity, betray in any way their cause, spring into life as a hundred years ago, take one more step, and lead us, as God led you in saving America, to save the hopes of man.

"No hostile fleet for many a year has vexed the waters of our coast; nor is any army but our own likely to tread our soil. Not such are our enemies today. They do not come proudly stepping to the drumbeat, their bayonets flashing in the morning sun. But wherever party spirit shall strain the ancient guarantees of freedom; or bigotry and ignorance shall lay their fatal hands on education; or the arrogance of caste shall strike at equal rights; or corruption shall poison the very springs of national life,—there, Minuteman of Liberty, are your Lexington Green and your Concord Bridge. And as you love your country and your kind, and would have your children rise up and call you blessed, spare not the enemy.

"Over the hills, out of the earth, down from the clouds, pour in resistless might. Fire from every rock and tree, from door and window, from hearthstone and chamber. Hang upon his flank from morn to sunset, and so, through a land blazed with indignation, hurl the hordes of ignorance and corruption and injustice back—back in utter defeat and ruin."

It was very thoughtful of "Cabot Park" to summarize for my benefit and incidentally for the readers of his column, the various rumors concerning the coming mayoralty campaign in our fair city. It is plain that the study made by "Cab" was an exhaustive one and involved many hours of concentration and conversation. For my own part I shall never be able to adequately express to him my thanks but I trust that all others will strive their utmost to show their appreciation of what he has done.

"Cab" writes, "We have been informed in several sections of the city that Alderman Walter A. Hodgdon, successor to Hon. Thomas W. White, is to be a candidate for the mayoral chair in December." From this statement it is fair to assume that "Cab" has got his car out and has been testing its brakes on some of our best hills, including those of Upper Falls. He must have made several stops, due to the condition of the car or some other reason, and overheard heated discussions among his fellow citizens.

It is astounding to read in "Cab's" article that Mayor Childs has given no intimation of his plans. The Mayor's silence is a great surprise to me and I wonder if by any chance our fellow columnist has missed anything. That hardly seems possible and yet he asks us to believe that the Mayor is keeping his own counsel as to the future. I shall depend on "Cab" to verify this.

From "Cab" we also learn that Aldermen Weeks and Heathcote are "mentioned." Here is another astounding bit of news which I know was not obtained without effort. On the whole, my friend has worked hard and I am grateful to him. He says that I have been "wondering what has happened to the Garden City's political pot" and am puzzled because it is not "simmering." I may now say that after contemplating his article I have come to the conclusion that the pot leaks and might well be abandoned for a new one.

I must say that I am pleased with the most recent addition to the treasures of my scrap-book. I refer to the answers to the forty-five questions contained in the Graphic's "Newton quiz." Here is revealed a lot of intensely interesting information. Possibly much of it was known to many but ability to answer all questions was possessed by few as the results showed.

If this does not show the need of an organization founded for the purpose of studying local history I don't know what does. As I see it the only way of accumulating this data and presenting it in attractive form would be through the agency of an historical society. The free public library has books containing all that is desired but only those who are patient and willing to look things up are thus informed.

After reading the answers to the "quiz" it strikes me that it would be well if all of us learned more about the history and the present condition of Newton. What's the use of living in a place if you can't tell a great many things about it to visitors or to those you may encounter on your travels in distant places. To be well-informed as the history of one's home city is to be a good patriot, as I view it.

No doubt there are those who, ignorant of Newton's history, would resent any charge that they lacked patriotism. To me patriotism should include not only an enthusiastic spirit of devotion to one's home city, as part of one's country, but knowledge of historical events.

I wonder if lectures on Newton's history would not have an appeal. Perhaps if we as citizens could get together at a public meeting for the purpose of hearing a talk on Newton it might lead to a movement that would result in a permanent organization.

Here is a problem which I must pass along as no one man, who has regular work and not any great amount of spare time, can solve it off-hand.

"Dear Lev—Can you tell me what's going to happen when all the hotels that are being built in Boston are open for business? Who's going to patronize them and will there be enough money-spenders to go round? I don't mean to go round spending their coin, but I mean to go to the hotels and squander enough for the landlord to make a living and the help to keep high-priced automobiles?

"I almost shed tears when I read how the noble Mr. Statler was sacrificing himself for the people of Boston and vicinity by investing millions with no thought of himself but just to make the folks in Massachusetts proud of the fine new hotel in Park square. Wasn't it generous of him? And wasn't it nice of the mayor of Boston to issue a proclamation calling upon the people to get in line and do the right thing by Mr. Statler and spend all they could afford in his restaurant?

"Now, Lev, there's going to be at least two more swell hotels opened this summer. The people who are putting them up are no doubt as noble as Mr. Statler and of course they should have the same 'boost' that he got. They are investing millions, too, and we must stand behind them. I hope that no citizen of Greater Boston will falter in his plain duty. Whatever else we do we must see that every hotel has all the business it can handle. Isn't that the way you figure it, Lev?

"I am trying to keep up my payments on the car, but I would be almost willing to lose the old boat if I thought any of those grand hotels in Boston had to close their doors."

"What do you say, am I right or wrong?"

THE GIDEONS are to raise a fund to place Bibles in every room in Boston's new hotels. No hotel that we know of has furnished Bibles for its patrons, even a good old-fashioned large family Bible, in any of its past history. The Gideons have the most of what it gives its guests, but leaves it to the Gideons to furnish the Bibles, and the Gideons do it gladly, for they are an organization of traveling men and know the need of resorting to the Scriptures for comfort, inspiration and solace. It is surprising the number of people who will read from a Bible if it is within reach. The Bibles of the Gideons have the most noteworthy passages designated so that they can be easily found. This work of the Gideons is among the foremost for good in our country.

August Sweeney of Newton Lower Falls, by winning seventeen games out of twenty in the Newton Pocket Billiard League, won the fifty dollar first prize and the championship of the city. Mr. Sweeney was easily the class of the league and was never in any danger of losing out.

Mulhern, playing for Nonantum took the second prize of thirty dollars by winning thirteen and losing seven games.

"Pammy" Toland, finishing the schedule for West Newton in place of "Pop" Cronin (who was operated upon for appendicitis during the league season) took the third place twenty dollars with nine wins and eleven losses.

Eddie Shea of Keefes, Newton, Coffey of Blakelys, Newton, and Rhea of Newtonville finished next in the order named and received fifteen, ten and five dollars respectively.

The new champion announced that he would defend his title against any legitimate contender. Immediately following this announcement Charles Blakely, proprietor of Newton Billiard Hall and former city champion, challenged Mr. Sweeney for a match for the title. The challenge was accepted and plans for the match are now being completed.

Saint Charles Director

When Donald Houghton took charge of the Saint Charles School in Waltham it was decidedly decadent as an athletic unit. Although fairly young to be a full coach at a preparatory school he has met with unequalled success due to his peculiar ability to get the most out of the boys, and also his untiring devotion to the cause of youth. Upon his graduation from high school Don decided that he would make coaching his life work, and accordingly began to help at the Angier School in Waban where he turned out some of the finest athletes in the High School today. From there he drifted over to the Fessenden School in Waltham where he had charge of the youngest boys of the school. As usual success crowned his efforts and his teams were practically champions of their class in the three major sports.

After leaving Fessenden he took over the Hyde School in Newton Highlands where he turned out a splendid ball club despite the dearth of first class material. This year he has been physical director at the Saint Charles School, and has done such a worth while thing over there that he has all the boys going out for the teams, and has turned in such results that they have astounded even the casual lookers-on.

His football team this year was said to be one of the greatest machines that the newspaper men have seen for some time even though it was composed of the younger boys. This season's basketball team has won practically all its games and is entered now in the Boston tournament with a reasonable chance of coming out on top in the finals of its class.

His baseball material is good, and since that sport is his favorite, another good team should be forthcoming. All in all he is one of the best of the new crop of coaches that is springing up, most of them coming from the new preparing place; the playground.

BAY STATE WEEK

Prizes Offered in Connection With Paint Demonstrations

Much interest is being manifested in the demonstration of Bay State paint, varnish, and lacquer products to be held in several hardware stores throughout the city during the next eight days. The Wadsworth Howland Company, makers of high grade paints and varnishes under the trade name of Bay State are co-operating with their dealers in the Newtons in enabling the public to obtain the most expert advice relating to the use of these products and the demonstration of the newest fads in interior decoration.

Demonstrations in the use of "Wacholac," Flat Wall Finish, Bay State Varnish Stain, and Bay State "Inor-out" Varnish will be made. The Flat Wall Finish, or Bay State Mottle Toning as it is called, makes possible the beautification of walls by application with a type of sponge. The effects and designs which can be made from this method of application now coming into frequent use, can be procured by unskilled hands. It is not necessary to employ professional help in applying this product. The demonstration of the Varnish Stain will show those interested in the proper methods of graining. Varied and artistic effects of unusual nature are possible. In connection with the demonstrations of the Bay State "Inor-out" Varnish very spectacular results are promised, as to durability and other advantages. By means of a steam test, which is unique within itself, interesting and surprising results will be obtained which will also make the demonstrations worth witnessing.

In addition to witnessing these demonstrations the public is invited to participate in a guessing contest. In the windows of each of the dealers, who are featuring this event, an ordinary paint brush is displayed. Blanks are furnished upon which a guess as to the number of bristles there are in the brush can be entered. The person in the store when the contest is decided who has guessed closest to the actual number of bristles in the brush will be presented with a prize. The prize offered is the choice of $15.00 in cash or $25.00 worth of Bay State Paint and Varnish Products. The correct number of bristles in the brush is written on a slip contained in a sealed envelope which will be opened at 6:00 p. m. on the last day of the demonstration in that store.

Today and tomorrow, April 15 and 16, demonstrations will be given at the store of Moore and Moore, Centre and Hall streets, Newton, well-known hardware dealers. Monday and Wednesday, April 18 and 19, the manufacturers have selected their dealer the Orr Hardware, Washington street, Newtonville, as the place of demonstration, the final demonstrations will be held next Friday and Saturday, April 22 and 23, in the leading hardware concern in Newton Centre, C. Skelton and Sons Co., 47 Langley road.

A PROTEST

Newtonville, Mass.
Newton Graphic.
Is this kindness to animals?
Yesterday, on looking from my window, I beheld a sight that both shocked and disgusted me. Seven or eight small children, each one from a different home, stood looking curiously at the limp, broken form of a cat. They did not seem to consider the poor thing's agony, for it had, no doubt, been run over. One little boy, approached it and kicked the suffering body in its bleeding side. The cat moved feebly. Another boy kicked it again and sent it hurtling into the book below the bridge on which they were standing, a drop of several feet. Is this what they learn in school and at home? I asked them that and they laughed! I have seen these same children stone a harmless squirrel, or bird, that happens to be seen by them on their way from school.

Children of the lowest slums would have more heart, more compassion.

Sincerely,
A. GRAHAM.

EXCHANGE BUREAU

The nature work of the boys and girls at the Children's Museum is now organized under the plan of an Exchange Bureau. This gives opportunities to boys and girls interested in collecting specimens to make field trips with competent naturalists, to receive help in identifying specimens and arranging collections, as well as to exchange specimens with other collectors and with the museum. The first meeting will be held on Saturday morning, April 16, at 10:30 and all those interested are invited to attend. The first field trip will be a round walk from the museum at 9 A. M. on Monday, April 18. Other trips will follow each morning of that week.

ENLARGED OFFICES

They have also become the agents for the Bay State Mortgage Corporation, an organization headed by prominent Boston men for the purpose of financing construction and construction-permanent loans.

MACNIDER COMING

Assistant Sec. of War to Speak at Public Meeting

Final plans have been made for the big public meeting to be held in Technical High school hall on Saturday evening, April 30, under the auspices of Newton Post 48, American Legion, at which Col. Hanford MacNider, Assistant Secretary of War and former National Legion Commander will be the chief speaker.

Col. MacNider has notified Vice Commander Edmund T. Dunagan of Newton Post, in charge of arrangements, that he will come to Newton immediately after the Apremont Day exercises in Boston. He will probably reach Newton late in the afternoon and will go directly to the home of Col. Sinclair Weeks, president of the Newton Board of Aldermen, on Valentine street, West Newton, for dinner.

He will then be tendered an informal reception by Commander Julius Ramm and the other officers of Newton Post, after which he will be escorted to the high school. Company C, 101st Infantry, in their new dress uniforms, will act as guard of honor, under Capt. Thomas F. Hickey.

The meeting at the high school will start at 8 o'clock. Col. MacNider's subject will be "Industrial Preparedness." In his official capacity, Col. MacNider is in direct charge of this phase of national defense and is considered a leading authority on the subject.

On the platform, with Col. MacNider, will be Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Lt. Col. Weeks, and several other city and Legion officials.

A blanket invitation to all residents of Newton, men and women, to attend the meeting, has been issued by Commander Ramm. As this is the first time that Col. MacNider has visited this city, arrangements have been made to handle a capacity gathering.

Legionnaires will serve as ushers during the evening. Music will be furnished by an orchestra. There will be no admission charge or other financial demands. Community singing will be conducted during the evening.

Col. MacNider is probably one of the most decorated officers to serve in the A. E. F. He was first awarded the D. S. C. for extraordinary heroism in October 1918. Later, his bravery won him the oak-leaf cluster, corresponding to a second D. S. C. Twice winner of the French Croix de Guerre with palm, he was made a member of the French Legion d'Honneur by decree.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB AND GUESTS AT WOODLAND GOLF CLUB

The international aspect of Rotary was emphasized at the weekly luncheon of the Newton Club, held on Monday at the Woodland Golf Club.

This was due to the fact that Felice Seghezze of Genoa, Italy, a director and representative of Rotary International was a guest of the club and made a few brief remarks. With Sig. Seg-hezze, as another guest was Miss Choy Wong of Peking, China. Miss Wong was a student at Lasell some ten years ago, later attending Tufts Medical school and completing her study of Pharmacy in New York. Soon after she returned to China where she has built up a remarkable business as a wholesale and retail pharmacist.

Miss Wong gave a most interesting talk on China and was quite emphatic in her belief that England was largely responsible for the present chaotic conditions in that country.

EDUCATIONAL MOVIES

Supt. of Schools U. G. Wheeler has been invited to attend a conference to be held next week in Rochester, N. Y., to consider the matter of educational moving pictures.

Newton has been selected as one of the four schools in the country for classroom experiments in visual education.

By September, at least forty motion pictures for use in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in the study of geography, elementary science and hygiene will be ready. These pictures will be shown regularly in four public school classrooms in each of the following cities: Newton, Mass.; New York city; Atlanta; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Detroit; Chicago; Kansas City; Lincoln, Neb.; Denver, Oakland, San Diego, and Rochester.

These experiments will continue for at least one year, and possibly two years, and will be followed closely by educators throughout the world and especially by the National Education Association. In all educational work, amateur standard safety film will be used to obviate all possibilities of danger.

SERVICE CURTAILED ON NEEDHAM BRANCH

The State Department of Public Utilities has approved the petition of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company for discontinuance of passenger train service at Newton Highlands station on the Needham branch. The department says:

"The proposed abandonment of the passenger station at Newton Highlands by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company is a part of a plan agreed to by counsel for the railroad and the transportation committee and Board of Selectmen of the town of Needham for improved service for Needham. We can see no objections to the proposed abandonment, in view of this improved train service."

This order affects the train service between Newton Highlands and Newton Upper Falls and Needham.

ENTHUSES OVER HIS CHRYSLER

Harry Broudy of the Newton Public Market is an enthusiastic admirer of the Chrysler automobile. Harry returned from Florida some weeks ago after spending part of the winter there, as has been his custom for some years past. Harry says, "I have not, as yet, discovered the Fountain of Youth, which Ponce de Leon and others expected to find in Florida, but when I arrived back to Newton and again had the privilege of driving my Chrysler, I felt a thrill, such as no Fountain of Youth could give."

According to Mr. Broudy, "His car just floats over space." Bellerophon mounted on Pegasus, or Sindbad journeying on his "magic carpet," enjoyed no better means of travel than he possesses with his Chrysler.

COLLEGE NEWS

By Harold P. Carver; N. H. S. '26

Once again we travel through Harvard Square in an effort to narrate the adventures of the successful followers of John, the pursuers of the Tiger. The first of these students that we take up today is a member of the senior class, John Simpson. Graduating from Newton in 1923, he participated in many of the activities of the senior class, also left a fine record behind him for work accomplished while an underclassman. He had a leaning toward athletics and consequently was seen out on the field with a degree of regularity that was an asset to the rest of the aspiring candidates. He was a member of the football and baseball squads his sophomore year at Newton, and then in his senior season was on the varsity hockey, and pitched some games that spring for the nine. In the way of extra-curricula activity he also had some interest in the club work of the school, for he enrolled in the English Club his final terms.

Two members of the class of 1924 at Newton decided to view the world of business before they attempted the circle of college. Gordon Ellis after graduation tried the task of money collecting in a Boston bank, while Lawrence Durocher took up post-graduate work while he helped the Boston and Albany trains run on time. His achievements at the high school were not as great as they might have been because he needed the outside work and consequently many pleasures and interesting study had to be foregone. However, he did find time enough to join the Spanish Club, that was a mere infant at the time, and also the Mathematics Club, an organization that even then was becoming one of the most powerful in the school. Ellis on the other hand was an athlete for the most part, dealing particularly in track, in his earlier years at Newton he was a member of the football team, but unfortunately, his height was against him, and he gave the sport up in favor of track where his natural ability soon brought him into prominence. In his senior year he was the best standing broad jumper that there was in the school, setting up a number of marks for the later aspirants to shoot at. In the outdoor season he blossomed out as one of the best hurdlers in the winning of the 100 yard race, and was responsible for a large number of the points scored in his pet event, while he also picked up some points in the running broad jump. Since going to Harvard he has been out of training so long that he has not taken up any actual competitive sport but may before his years are out. He also was elected to the Forum his senior year, winning distinction in the intra-mural debates that were fostered by that organization. His chief work outside of the usual round of studying is the synopsis of a weird instrument from the south, namely the banjo. As a specialty man he has more than made good, making money, and also providing himself with an entire that is often times more valuable than he played on the football field. He represented the High School, and now he is doing much the same work over at Harvard, where he also was a member of the Varsity band despite the fact that he is only a freshman.

Two other members from this same graduating class have entered the sacred Yard, Sargent Goddard and Le Baron Foster. Barry Foster is a junior at the college, and one of the finest musicians in the whole institution. While at Newton his music was one of his chief delights, for he played on the newly formed orchestra and was one of the workers whose spirit has made the whole thing possible for the later classes. He also joined a variety of clubs, doing yeoman service in Alpha Gamma Tau for two years, acting as a steady hand throughout its initial steps when the need for constant attention to detail was the prime requisite. The Forum and the French Club also had him as a member to their circles, and he also was enough of an actor to be in the cast of the Senior Play of 1924. He did a great deal of writing the final months for he was chosen to be one of the writers of the newly organized Newtonite, and from that he was elected to the Newtonian staff of editors. His last activity was that of many others in that he was enrolled in the English Club, the biggest and most influential of all of the organizations in the school. Goddard was the very antithesis of Barry in that his particular skill ran along the line of athletics. Although he graduated with the class of 1924 he returned for more work at the High School the next year with the result that he is only a sophomore at the Cambridge institution now. He was one of the finest guards in the big years of championship football, playing on the team in 1921 and 1922. Since he has gone to Harvard outside work has pressed him and he has been forced to relinquish his hopes of making the varsity. He also was chosen by his class as a representative to the Student Council his sophomore year. The last graduate of this class to furnish a target for the blue coats to try their skill on, is Wakefield Perkins of West Newton. He held a great fondness for dramatics and was more than usually successful at his interpretations on the stage. He took part in the Senior Play his final year, and was enrolled in the Drama Club for two years, where his native ability was aided by Mrs. Mills' wise direction. The division of Mathematics was added to his adventures in the realm of amusements, and for two years he was in the Alpha Gamma Tau, being one of its first members.

Theodore Day of Newton Highlands, one of the numerous Juniors that hail from Newton at the college, entered the High School from Fitchburg High and immediately threw himself into the activities of his new allegiance. In his senior year he was in the Orchestra, which was just then making its first formal bow, and the Glee Club, which had been organized along broader lines at this time. He also kept up his interest in English Club, and later in its subsidiary, the Forum.

Ambrose Cray of Newton Centre is one of the few sophomores at Harvard who claim Newton as their home town. He was an enthusiast over all the sports, but most particularly football, where he made his Junior Varsity letter his junior year, and later he was a member of the football team. Unfortunately, his height was against him, and he gave the sport up in favor of track where his natural ability soon brought him into prominence. In his senior year he was the best standing broad jumper that there was in the school, setting up a number of marks for the later aspirants to shoot at. In the outdoor season he blossomed out as one of the best hurdlers in the winning of the 100 yard race, and was responsible for a large number of the points scored in his pet event, while he also picked up some points in the running broad jump. tion, it is the rare instance rather than the usual when the president of the lower class takes the reins of leadership, but that was the case on the last three years of Howard's tenure, for he dominated the student representatives and accomplished much in the way of a better government. He was the chairman of the Athletic Committee, one of the most important of the various committees that make up the student government for it then guided the policies of Newton relative to all her sports. When he was elected to sit on the Board of Publications it was another instance of the well-balanced life that he was leading, since this office is practically the censor and the last word on all affairs pertaining to all the publications of the school. Howie was knee deep in athletics his first years at the High School and finally narrowed his ambitions down until only the hockey and baseball squads held his name on the attendance chart. The freshman class relay team had him as a member and due to his efforts and those of his companions they succeeded in taking second place to the seniors. Tennis and class baseball each had their attractions for him in this first year, but at the beginning of the sophomore season he was determined to make the baseball team. After a long hard season of work he turned in a brilliantly pitched game against Brookline that presaged all that was to come in later years. His last three years of baseball were one honor after another. Chosen captain the last two seasons he led teams that often times were inferior in all around worth to victory by reason of his pitching skill and leadership. Although taken ill with appendicitis his final year, Howie gamely came back and pitched as much as the coach dared to let him with the result that Newton gave Somerville with Danny McFadden one of the closest games of the season. Whit was always a gentleman on the field or off, winning or losing, and his actions had their effect upon the team for they, too, showed little of the tendency to backbite at decisions. The hockey squad with all its splendid players attracted him and he was a member of the sextet for three years, filling in as substitute forward as a general thing. Thanks to his good offices the cheering of the school became better organized during his three years as cheer leader, and the new cheering system is really a take-over from his ideas. In the intellectual circles he proved that all play and no work was not his idea of a good time, by becoming a leading actor in the senior play until illness forced his giving up the role. Fortunately his health was such that he was able to take a minor role at the last moment. The English Club had his ability at their service for three years, and in his final terms he was a speaker at the Forum. After leaving Newton he went for a little more than a semester to Dartmouth where a recurrence of his illness forced him to resign and spend the balance of the winter at home. The next fall he enrolled at Harvard and has made good over there despite the difficulty of over-coming the weakened vitality due to illness. He was one of the leading freshmen pitchers last season, beating the varsity badly in one of the precise tilts. He also was in the Varsity Club where he soon became one of the most popular boys in it, and this year had a leading part in the Pi Eta show which was the hit of college dramatic circles. This season sees him in line, if his arm will hold out and not show the old symptoms, of being one of the leading varsity hurlers.

In the freshmen class is none other than John Fellows, one of the most effective orators for his size that ever graced the speaker's platform. John was in the English Club for a little over two years, acting as general adviser to the social committee the last term. The Drama Club also had him as a member, and his staging of the plays that he selected was the best of all the wholly amateur performances put on at Newton. His work in this club easily entitled him to a part in the biggest play of the year, the Senior Play, where he made his first hit with the audience. His writing ability claimed him in turn for the Newtonite and later for the Newtonian, where his humor showed to the best advantage. During the first years of high school Johnny showed enough English ability to warrant his being placed on the new Alpha Beta list, which is a freshmen-sophomore English Club. He also achieved enough credit to be in the Mathematics Club for a year, and then to show that his scholarly interests really had some background he became one of the charter members of the Ex Libris which at that time was struggling to prove the value of Latin.

THE PLAYERS

Interesting Historical Sketch of Newton's Fine Amateur Dramatic Club

Newton has always had reason to be proud of the high standard of excellence maintained by The Players, as well as the fact that it is in all probability the second oldest amateur dramatic club in the country.

An account of the club's activities was recently prepared for the official program by Mr. Leverett D. S. Bentley. It is reprinted herewith:

The Players' 100th Series

At this presentation of the 100th series of performances by The Players it is with much interest we glance back at what has taken place since the curtain was lifted on our first production.

Under the leadership of Mr. Edward Call and his sister, Miss Annie Payson Call, a cast of amateurs presented a play called "Home." This took place in the winter of 1886-87 on the stage of the present City Hall.

The cordiality of the public response stirred the ambitions of all who had contributed to its success. A meeting was called to discuss possibilities and to determine if it should be worth while to form a club. The first meeting was held in the office of the Mayor of Newton, Mr. Mayors Pulsifer presiding. Intensive interest was displayed, not only by those who would take part or assist in the stage management, but by others who were willing to subscribe for tickets and thus supply the necessary financial support.

A name was chosen—The Players—and a policy defined. The productions were to be of a character which would reflect discriminating taste. Furthermore, the presentations were to be made events of social importance. On this latter point stress was laid and a rule adopted "that no hats shall be worn by the ladies." Not necessary these days, but that was forty years ago and before the time the regular theatres printed on their programs, "Ladies are respectfully requested to remove their hats."

Mr. Call was chosen president, Mr. E. C. Burrage, treasurer, and Mr. Pierpont Wise, secretary. Mr. Wise and Mr. George Phelps alternated in the direction of the stage. Mr. Call served as president two years. Undoubtedly his term would have been longer had he not removed from the city.

The second president was Mr. Benjamin P. Cheney, who was succeeded by Mr. George Royal Pulsifer. The latter's presidency extended over a period of twenty years. Mr. Pulsifer's successor was Mr. Waldo F. Glidden, the present president.

The Players gave their first performance May 12, 1887, on the stage at City Hall. The auditorium occupied the present Board of Aldermen chamber. The play was "Our Boys," by H. J. Byron, and the cast was as follows:

Sir Geoffrey Champneys, Mr. John Conkey; Talbot Champneys, Mr. George Wetherill; Percy Middleton, Mr. T. E. Stinson; Charles, Mr. Phillip Perrin; Kempster, Mr. Herbert G. Pratt; Poddles, Mr. Brackett; Violet Melrose, Miss Alice M. Newell (Mrs. Francis Newhall); Mary, Miss Annie Payson Call; Clarissa, Miss Evelyn Purdy and Belinda, Miss Elizabeth Thurston.

It is with pleasure and satisfaction that we note that Mrs. Newhall and Mr. Stinson are still on the active membership list, the former a member of the Board of Directors and the latter first vice-president.

Music for the earlier performances was furnished by the Newton High School Orchestra. After that, for a considerable period, there was The Players Orchestra, conducted by Mr. Wallace Goodrich, now among America's most prominent musicians.

Performances were given at City Hall until the spring of 1897 when the City Government voted that the entire building should be remodeled for the exclusive use of the municipal government and its branches. The final production in City Hall was "Our Regiment," in April—thirty years ago.

In December of that same year The Players obtained use of the stage at Temple Hall (Masonic Building), Newtonville. The first performance there, December 13, 1897, consisted of three one-act plays, "Red or White," "Fennel" and "Dunducketty's Picnic."

Changes in the State's fire prevention laws, which, among other things, forbade the use of scenery in a hall not constructed for theatrical purposes, compelled The Players to abandon the stage of Temple Hall. The last performance there was "Jedbury, Jr.," May 1, 1905.

No plays were given until March, 1908, when Players Hall was made available. On the present stage The Players produced "The Private Secretary."

It was through the generosity of Mr. Charles E. Hatfield and Mr. Harry L. Burrage that Players Hall became the home of our organization. They purchased the old Unitarian Church property and had it remodeled, with a view of providing The Players a stage and auditorium of their own.

Indeed, any sketch of The Players' history is incomplete without reference to the staunch support of Mr. Hatfield.

field, who, since his first association with the club, has given freely of his time and money. Whatever plans were outlined or ventures undertaken there was always the assurance that Mr. Hatfield's interested and financial aid could be counted upon to carry out the aims and ambitions of The Players.

Forty years have elapsed since a group of earnest people offered for the entertainment of their friends in Newton that which they hoped would establish them and their successors as believers in the highest standards of amateur dramatics.

Today, when everywhere the amateur actor mounts the stage of school, college, church vestry, clubhouse and community hall, it is far less an event than when The Players made their initial bow. It is said that with one exception, we are the oldest amateur dramatic club in the country. That, however, is not important. Have the hopes of the founders been fulfilled and have their ideals been upheld? The Players leave the answer to you, their loyal friends.

LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY.

STEARNS SCHOOL CENTRE

The Newton Jolly Juniors' ambition in life is to "go" on Saturdays and Sundays. In the old days they would have sailed the Spanish Main, provided they could get home at dark. Which would you rather—sit and see a movie—or do something? "Do" is the answer.

Mostly the N. J. J.'s adventure in a Ford, but sometimes they are invited to ride first class in a Packard. Last year on May 1st they set out for Wellfleet and incidentally came in for the May Day festivities—a new land indeed of gay costumes and dances, shining lake, smooth lawn, and beautiful Tower Court in the midst. After the May Day exercises they all canoed—their most thrilling adventure—till dusk when there was a little flurry of excitement, two girls thinking they were deserted on a forest shore with night coming on.

During the summer there was swimming at Lake Walden—some of the girls' mothers helping with chaperoning and transportation. In the Fall a trip to the Peabody Home for Crippled Children opened many eyes and so roused their interest that they sent a very grand doll at Christmas time.

One Sunday afternoon in winter there was tobogganing at Snow Shoe Cottage when thrills were furnished through the necessity of getting out and easing the Ford down an icy hill. The Ford reached the bottom safely, the girls safely, but clothes were not intact. At dusk the terrors of lonely woods arose, for these adventurers certainly prefer lighted streets and houses when evening falls.

Another Sunday afternoon with the Ford quite deserted for its betters, the group went to the Gardner Museum. The beauty of the Palace and its treasures are quite beyond description. The memory of the whole afternoon is one of color, rich omnipresent color against walls of blue.

Finally on a Saturday afternoon in March they went to Wayside Inn. The Ford and its load were lost on the way, but to explain the delay, invented a tale of adventure which was unexpectedly believed. At the Inn they were received with traditional New England hospitality, were shown all over the house with its treasures of old New England. In the great kitchen, the spinning wheel, the tremendous fireplace, the apples to eat, the big bench by the fire, summed up an atmosphere which was compared with the modern. They even wished they could really try living in the atmosphere awhile. The Tales, King Robert of Sicily, and the Birds of Killingworth, must have a new interest. In the old ballroom they spoke most of modern efficiency perhaps excluding certain pleasant qualities. They rather wondered whether they preferred a pump in the school yard or a drinking fountain.

Part of the crowd returned through the marshy land by the mill and like "the pussymen from the city, that saw what he thought was a kitty," they came to grief and rode home with their shoes hanging outside the Ford. But this was distinctly an addition to an interesting and merry afternoon.

These young adventurers—the Jolly Juniors—are only one of the many clubs of the Stearns School Centre presided over by Miss Emily Reed in co-operation with the teachers of the school and backed by the Board of Directors.

There is Recreation for every age, from the Mothers' Club and its costume parties. The Senior Girls Club with 70 members has well organized and varying activities, fulfilling requirements as a member of the Massachusetts League of Girls Clubs. The Colonna Club is preparing its Italian Community Night Program. The Boys Club plans to become a Scout Troop. Since Christmas there is a little girls' Dramatic Club. In the afternoon there are clubs for smaller girls—a story hour—and the Baby Clinic.

There are ventures on which many have embarked and found good claim for loyalty.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

One newspaper account of the last meeting of the Newton Aldermen in referring to the debate on the matter of appropriating enough money to provide a Ford sedan for the City Home rather than a Ford touring car stated, "that Aldermen Gallagher and Hodgdon snorted." This statement was incorrect. Neither of these two Aldermen is "horsey."

Alderman George M. Heathcote, in arguing for the $200 increase in salaries for the police and firemen, referred to the fact that the children of today must be better attired than were the children of the past generation. He told his colleagues "that when he was a boy, he went barefooted much of the time." George, evidently, was not kept so "dolloped up" as was Master Heathcote, whose likeness was recently purchased by Governor Fuller for $250,000 or thereabouts.

Alderman Heathcote made the remark at the last aldermanic meeting, "that he believed our government should follow as closely as possible the 'town meeting' form of government." Well, the last meeting of the Aldermen resembled a "town meeting" more than anything we have witnessed for a long time.

Many persons in Newton complain that they must travel to Boston to purchase clothing, furniture and other articles, because they can buy such merchandise at lower prices in the big city. The reverse is very frequently true, but Newton housewives have become so accustomed to shopping in Boston, that they will suffer the nervous strain occasioned by traffic conditions in Boston, when they could save money by making their purchases in Newton. Last week one of Newton's furniture stores advertised a couple of specials to draw trade. These specials, tables and chests, were priced at lower figures than what they had cost the store. They were priced at one-half, or lower than the big Boston stores sell them for. Did Newton residents rush to take advantage of these real bargains? They did not. But if these same articles will be advertised at much higher prices by one of the large stores in Boston, Newtonians will be in the crowd struggling to purchase them.

NEWTON POST NO. 48, AMERICAN LEGION

The regular monthly meeting of Newton Post No. 48, American Legion will be held in Dennison Hall, Newtonville, on Thursday, April 21, 1927. This meeting will be in the form of a "get-together" party, or what will be known as the Second Annual Army Chow Night; supper being served at 6:30 P. M. Among the invited guests will be District Attorney Bushnell, a member of Somerville Post, Harold B. Willis, who served in the World War from 1915 to 1918, as a flyer with the Lafayette Esquadria, Carol Swan of the Crosscup-Pishon Post, Department Commander McGinnis, Mayor Childs, and delegations from the G. A. R. and Spanish War Veterans. A well known jazz orchestra from Boston will furnish the music, and in addition the new Legion Uniform which was adopted on April 6, 1927, will be demonstrated at this meeting.

C. Raymond Cabot is chairman of the committee, assisted by Irving House, Roland Allen, and Francis J. Barry.

Newton Post has voted not to conduct a Poppy Drive in the City of Newton, and wish to inform the public that they will not conduct any such drives in the city. They will hold their Second Annual Welfare Concert at Norumbega Park on Sunday, May 22, 1927, to raise funds to carry on their Welfare and Community Service work.

A DREADFUL DISEASE

Two clear-cut facts stand out and challenge our intelligence. The first is that cancer is responsible for one in every eight deaths of people over forty years of age. The second is that, at least, one out of every five of these deaths is unnecessary and the result of delay. Can anyone afford to falter and hold back when it is known that delay means suffering and death, and quick action means relief and cure? Because there is no pain in early cancer, people delude themselves thinking that there is plenty of time even though they know that something is wrong. Perhaps a spot on the face or in the mouth is a source of constant irritation, perhaps a lump in the breast has caused a little fearful wondering, or maybe a slight abnormal discharge makes one question if all is well. All such signs are warnings that cannot be neglected if one wants to save.

If any of these abnormal conditions has appeared, don't put off an examination. Go to the Newton Hospital. There you can have diagnosis and advice free, at the clinic which is held on the second and fourth Fridays of the month from 3 to 4 P. M.

Why not discard the dangerous motto, "Why worry?" and adopt the safe and sane one, "Safety First?"

COMING EVENTS

Shakespeare Club of Newton
Highlands

Mrs. Mary Blakemore of 56 Bldridge street, Newton, is hostess for the Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands at their next meeting, Saturday, April 16th, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. A. L.
Pratt will be in charge of the Quiz, which will be upon the various plays studied during the year. A comparison of the characters depicted by Shakespeare, their motives, virtues, actions, reactions, retroactions, and emotions, in the plays Othello, Taming of the Shrew, and Timon of Athens should make a most fascinating study and discussion.

Christian Era Study Club

The last of the interesting papers on the general topic of the 20th. Year,
The War of American Independence at the members of the Christian Era Study Club will be given at their meeting on Monday, the 18th, when the Club secretary, Mrs. H. E. B. Case opens her home, 20 Ware road, for their entertainment. Mrs. Harry Perkins will read a paper on "Lord North," and Mrs. Nathaniel L. Grant will read one on "Charles James Fox."
These two outstanding figures of those stirring days should give much of material for thrilling tales.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

The tenth anniversary of the founding of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club is to be informally observed at the luncheon preceding the Annual Meeting, Wednesday, the 20th. With all the past president assembled at the head table. The first one to preside over the destinies of the Club, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, is to give reminiscences of those early days, and all familiar with Mrs. Wetherbee's inimitable manner of presenting a subject, anticipate a humorous review.
The luncheon is to be served at 12:30
under the capable management of Mrs.
Frank A. Campbell and members of the American Home Committee and those planning to attend, should secure tickets at once from Mrs. Campbell. The brief entertainment will immediately follow the luncheon, and then adjournment to the auditorium of the Parish House will follow, and the Annual Meeting will be called at 2 o'clock.

After the reports and election of officers, there will be a half-hour entertainment arranged by Mrs. E. S.
Drowne, chairman of the Dramatic Committee, who will present Floyd Sawyer with his xylophone, Miss Katherine Howes, who is to give readings and Little Ada Merriam, who is to do some fancy toe-dancing.

All in all it is apparent that the final summing up of this Club is to combine with business a goodly array of pleasure!

Social Science Club

Mrs. A. Starr Best will speak on "The Art of Playgoing" for the Social Science Club at their meeting on Wednesday, the 20th, at Hunnewell Club Parlors. Mrs. Vernon B. Swett and Mrs. William G. Lennox will be the hostesses.

their Annual Meeting and for Luncheon at Babson Park Inn, making a festive affair of April 21st. Reports of officers and election will take place at 11:15 a. m., followed by luncheon at 1:30 o'clock. Amusement—possibly hilarity—will be added to thereafter in an original skit on the year's work, written by a Club member, and played by other brave members. It is hoped that the secret of its authorship and of the skit itself will be forthcoming after the event.

Another Club to sally forth into the country—but not so far as their sister Club of Auburndale—for their Annual Meeting and Luncheon, so giving a delightful change is the West Newton Women's Educational
Club

The annual meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will be held at the Brae Burn Country Club on Friday, April 22nd. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m., after which there will be the election of officers, reports of various committees,
and other items of business.

Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller will be the guest of honor. Norman Arnold, tenor, of the Knickerbocker Club, will entertain, with Mrs. Laurence Sprague as accompanist.

Mrs. Harry S. Wells is chairman of the day—one of the most enjoyable and important in Club life and affairs.
Annual dues may be paid at this meeting.

Newton Circle, Inc.

Two events for the enjoyment and business interest of their Club and friends are at the Brae Burn Country Club on Friday, April 22nd. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m., after which there will be the election of officers, reports of various committees,
and other items of business.

There are probably few in this city who do not know of the several avenues of kindly deeds trodden by this quiet but effective society, and there are many boys and girls, young men and women who have had cause to bless the day when understanding and a helping hand was extended to spare them from the results of thoughtless-ness, carelessness, or unfortunate early environment. It has established a Social Service department at the Newton District Court, so preventing many neglected children from being committed to the care of the State, and pecuniary aid is not the least of its many needed and best forms of aid.

Mrs. Celia Wellman, woman probation officer, could doubtless tell many stirring stories of her work, and so could those who have profited from the fact that there is such a woman in these surroundings to lean upon. Surely the satisfaction of this alone, and of all the fine bits of service for which this Club is responsible, should make all Newton folk who have not joined the ranks of this organization willing and eager to do so, that they may add their mite.

The Club is making an intensive "drive" for such willing members, and at their Annual Meeting, which takes place on the 29th, at 2:30 p. m., at the Florence Crittenton Home near Oak Square, those who come will learn of the year's activities, and of the aims and plans. Mayor Childs will speak—surely an eloquent voice raised —as always—in a good cause—and Mrs. Wellman, on her work.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Quite in the same class of excellent, inspiring and talented endeavor with their play of two weeks ago, is the Exhibit of the Newtonville Woman's Club.

The annual exhibition of the Newtonville Arts and Crafts, under the auspices of the Newtonville Woman's Club, will take place at the Bonar-Atwood Studio, opposite the Newtonville station, Friday, April 22nd, from one to six o'clock in the afternoon and from seven to nine in the evening.
The public is cordially invited to see the hand-work of the Newtonville people displayed at this exhibit. Mrs.
Royal B. Farnum, chairman of the exhibit, has obtained many interesting pieces of work for the display, among which will be water-colors and stained glass by Mr. Charles Konick, watercolor scenes in Provincetown by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Reed, and a few of Mr. Charles Wilson's interesting studies of ships. Mr. Frederick Daniels will also display paintings. Together with the paintings there will be work of various kinds to interest everyone. Italian cutwork, hook rugs, jewelry, pottery, decorated china, colored photography, and etchings will all have a place in the exhibit.

At four o'clock in the ladies' parlor of the Methodist Church tea will be served for club members only. At this time the short stories that have been chosen as the best will be read.
Tickets for the Annual Luncheon must be purchased before April 22nd from Mrs. J. Mervin Allen.

Newton Community Club

The April Bulletin of the Newton Community Club was in the hands of Club members on Monday, the 11th, and the first thing to catch their eye, we believe, was the design that for the first time made its appearance on the cover. Explanation was forthcoming to satisfy curiosity in the statement in the Bulletin that this is the insignia that has won the prize offered last December for the most suitable one to be used on the Club Year Book, Bulletin, and stationery. To Miss Dorothy Emmons falls the honor of having submitted the design that is to grace all publications and epistles of the Newton Community Club, and we venture to say that the prize of $10 so won does not compare with the thought that this drawing is considered by the judges to be the "best artistic expression of the ideals of the Club." The judges further say that all of the drawings submitted were most original, showing unusual talent, so that this decision is the more valuable. We congratulate Miss Emmons and the Club. The design is of graceful wing, giving the idea of soaring to lofty altitude of ideals, with the light of torch in the centre, symbolizing once more the same light of idealism in the torch that should be borne aloft, and the words, also centered, below,—VISION and SERVICE—complete the motto of the Club.

Chairmen of the Newton Community Club also make announcement in this Bulletin of activities. On April 21st, there will be a Hike, and members are requested to meet at the Newton Library at 1:30 o'clock. Transportation will be provided, so that those who contemplate going should notify the leader, Miss Marion Bryant, tel. N. N. 2845-W. The trip will be made to Middlesex Fells Reservation, and from there a short walk through the woods to Bear Hill observatory will be enjoyed. Out-of-doors and good company makes an excellent combination.

Mrs. Walter E. Brownell asks Club members interested in having Riding Lessons to notify her at once, tel. N.
N. 4883. She has found opportunity for lessons and horses at most reasonable rates, and she states that the costume is informal.

Club members who have been longing for a playground—and the return to childhood days, and have been enjoying the youngsters in their good times—will be surprised and pleased to be told that Mr. Herman, the Newton Playground director, will come himself to the Bigger Playground every Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, during May and June, to lead personally a play program for the women of Newton Corner! There will be a chance for games of all kinds, including tennis, with an instructor, lessons in handball, and outdoor setting-up drill. We are surprised to discover that "the playgrounds belong to the women as much as to their children," and surely "here is a chance to start something new on the playground history of Newton!" Telephone Mrs.
Brewster, N. N. 4382-W if you think you can join in this play time.

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Dramatics Committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, Mrs.
Everett C. Winslow, chairman, gave its annual play on Thursday night, April 7th. Members were allowed to take guests, and they filled the house with a heartily appreciative audience.

The play, coached by Mr. Henry A.
Tomlinson, was "The Boomerang," and the cast was as follows: Dr. Gerald Sumner, Mr. Philip Dalrymple; Marian Sumner, Mrs. Montague Ford;
Emile, Mr. Charles Hyde; Virginia
Kelva, Mrs. Willis Pattison; Mrs.
Creighton Woodbridge, Mrs. Norman
Pratt; Budd Woodbridge, Mr. Samuel
A. Fuller, Jr.; Gertrude Ludlow, Miss Virginia White; Grace Taylor, Miss Molly Draper; Preston DeWitt, Mr.
Willis Pattison; Hartley, Mr. Fred D.
Bond; Mr. Stone, Mr. Robert Holdsworth; and Guests at the Party:—the Misses Alice Scott, Jane Cobb; and Messrs. M. P. Ford, John Pratt, Benjamin Fawcett, and Frederick Potter.

Mr. Tomlinson produced a rarely smooth and enjoyable performance. It is a pity, however, that those who saw and so enthusiastically applauded it, could not have seen, also, the fine patience and painstaking work which brought about so satisfactory a result.

Here is relief for the budget battlers, who just can't see a new hat on the immediate horizon.
Hodges' Hat Bleachery is much like Cinderella's fairy godmother. Your old hat, which now reposes for-lornly on the wardrobe shelf, can be steamed, dyed, cleaned, remodeled into any of fifty new styles which Hodges has to choose from,
and finally persuaded to look as trim and saucy as the latest millinery creation sponsored by Paris
and New York.

If you have an expensive hat
that is rather soiled—take it to Hodges' Hat Bleachery, where they have satisfied thousands for the last 50 years. They can renovate it without removing the trimming at
all. No matter whether it is a Milan, a Visca or a Felt, they will give it renewed confidence in its smartness.

New wires and binding put in hats of all kinds within 24 hours'
service.

Soiled gloves cleaned and repaired the very best possible. Take those to Hodges! You'll find the service unusually prompt, and the results amazing.

Mr. Tomlinson is an artist who gets his happy effects with no undue pressing pressure on his players, and they vote him unanimously:—"a wonderful coach!" The club is deeply indebted to him for his generous contribution of time and skill.

The Dramatic Committee did wisely in going outside the club membership to secure real men for the men characters. It was a pleasant innovation and many thanks are due the men for their inspiring co-operation.

Mrs. Harry M. Sutton and Mrs. Stanley F. Barton who arranged the stage settings are also to be congratulated.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

A most interesting talk on "Humor and Humorists in English Literature" was given by Rev. Arthur M. Ellis at the West Newton Women's Educational Club meeting on Friday last. He said "An Englishman wants some one to laugh with; an American something to laugh about."

There are three types of humor. First, a burlesque of the attitude of life; then, pastoral simplicity; and, lastly intellectual integrity.

"There is a difference between written and spoken humor," "Buffoonery is needed in spoken humor but not in written."

He gave a number of passages from the Pickwick Papers.

"Pickwick is not read for the sake of the climax but because it contains friendships." "What a gallery of friends you have!" "The Lunatic in charge" was another book referred to as containing humorous compilation. Readings from other books were given which were most enjoyable.

Miss Anna Austin, contralto soloist, rendered artistically "My Beaming Eye," by McDowell and "My Irish Harp," by Weatherly. Tea and a social hour followed.

Mrs. A. L. Day, of Pine Ridge road, Wellesley Farms, was hostess to the Travel Class on Monday, April 11th, when Mrs. F. E. Nowers gave a very interesting paper on the social conditions in Mexico.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. This was the last meeting of the season.

The Juniors Of The West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Juniors of the West Newton Women's Educational Club held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. James K. Eaton, 60 Greenwood avenue, West Newton, Monday evening, April 11th. During the business meeting plans were made for their annual meeting which is to be held in the form of a house-party at Clifton, with Mrs. Louis A. Bacon, their director, as hostess.

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer spoke to the girls. Her subject was "The House with the Golden Windows." It was very interesting and enjoyed by both the girls and their guests.

Punch, sandwiches and cakes were served by the hostess. Their last meeting proved to be one of the most interesting of the year.

State Federation

MOTION PICTURES. Mrs. Tyler, Motion Picture chairman for the General Federation says: "We are in danger of a false feeling of security, due in part to the prevailing policy of talking only of the good. So far, about 10 per cent of pictures reviewed have been suitable for the family group to see. Estimates in February on 50 films give 12 endorsed for SOME AUDIENCES; 12 pronounced trash or worse; 26 are marked mediocre or less."

Surely this should recall the writer in this column by your Club editor, of the Moving Picture Conference under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. a few weeks ago, and which proved that Massachusetts MUST have some system of review—suggested by Mr. Carl Milliken, the secretary to Will Hays, as the only way to stop the patronage, even production, of poor moving pictures, but also said by Mr. Milliken to be hardly a State possibility. The women of the Massachusetts Clubs have here a challenge, and they should demonstrate to Mr. Milliken that such a State Preview is not only possible but demanded! This is a worthwhile piece of work for the Clubwomen to undertake, protecting the mentality and morality of the children.

For the benefit of the Clubwomen who desire to have their children go only to decent pictures the lists are given by Educational Screen are here quoted. Educational Screen, by the way, is published in Chicago, and the address and cost of the magazine will be furnished to all interested by Mrs. Arthur J. Crockett, the State Federation Community Service Chairman, whose address is 58 Kenneth street, West Roxbury.

"Flesh and the Devil," "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," and "Twinkletoes," are given as decidedly NOT for children. "White Black Sheep" is given as "doubtful," and "Winning of Barbara Worth" has the unenthusiastic criticism of "perhaps," while "Cruise of the Jasper B" has the equally light statement of "passable." "Remember" is conceded "harmless, but beyond them." "Canyon of Light" is called "very thrilling," which is objectionable for thoughtful parents. Four are given as food for children: "Eucharistic Congress," which is "impressive"; "Her Big Night," which is "amusing"; "Tell It to the Marines," which is called "good"; and "What Price Glory," which is "fine, unless too exciting."

Now for the value of these same pictures for the adult and for youth from 15 to 20 years of age "White Black Sheep," above the average for adults, and "good," in their opinion for youth; "Flesh and the Devil," notable for adults; "unwholesome for youth"; "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," interesting to adults, and "better not for youth"; "Twinkletoes," is entertaining to youth, interesting to adults; "Winning of Barbara Worth," only passable for adults, but good for youth; "Cruise of the Jasper B," good for youth, amusing for adults; "Remember" is "rather good" for youth, but only passable for adults; "Canyon of Light," is all right for youth, but hardly of interest to adults; "Eucharistic Congress" is impressive for both; "Her Big Night" is amusing for youth, and above the average for adults; "Tell It to the Marines" is excellent for youth, and "notable" for adults; and "What Price Glory" is excellent for both.

These criticisms may prove of value to those who are wondering what plays they wish to see, and what they wish their young people and children to see and not to see.

BOOK DRIVE. On April 25th the drive for books for the American Merchant Marine opens, and will continue so long as books come in. Every Club member in Massachusetts is urged to donate at least one book, this to include non-fiction as well as fiction. There were 54,000 volumes collected in this State in 1925, and it is hoped that there will be 60,000 collected this week for the benefit of sailors and marines. The libraries will be glad to receive donations, but be sure to mark them for the American Merchant Marine. Probably few realize how much these books—both for pleasure reading and for worthwhile information—mean to the marines, and how eagerly they are seized upon by hungry minds, and by the unoccupied, possibly homesick and friendless sailor.

Y. W. C. A.

The committee which has been working on the finance campaign to raise $9767 are meeting Friday morning, April 22nd, at ten o'clock with Miss Mary Louise Allen of the Finance Division of the National Board. Various plans are under consideration whereby the $500 already raised shall be increased to the amount needed.

At the meeting of the Blue Triangle Club for April 18th there will be a talk on health to be followed by a social hour. Plans are under way for extension work. The various members of the club each plan to see the girls in her own district and to interest them either in the work of the club, or in some other phase of the Association program. This intensive effort will be continued through the next month, and it is hoped this way to gain an active group of new members and to learn more than the interest and wishes of the girls in this part of Newton. The meetings of the club at the present time are of unusual interest, and goodly numbers are coming out for supper each week.

The Tuesday evening gymnasium class is being carried on very enthusiastically this spring. Some new members enter almost every week until there are now over thirty in the group.

The groups for younger girls meet Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and are continuing to be well attended and to hold the interest of the girls.

On April 30th the Senior Girl Repertory will present a play entitled "Patty Makes Things Hum." For weeks the girls have been coached by Miss Helen Ratcliffe, and every effort is being made to secure a successful presentation. Tickets are being sold by patronesses and members of the club and also in the Association office. The money raised in this way will be used to send girls to conference. It is earnestly hoped that many friends of the Association will come both to increase the funds of the girls and to encourage them in their work.

"SEASCOUT SPRAY"

The latest development in Seascouting will be the addition of a thirty-eight foot sloop to the sailing equipment. This boat with a few minor repairs will give the boys an excellent training on local waters this summer.

Portmaster Brown's boat will be ready for the water in a few weeks. It has been scraped, painted, and thoroughly overhauled and will see much service this summer.

The two sailing dories have also been undergoing the process of being overhauled. These boats have been pointed the real sea going "War Gray" on the outside with a lighter "French Gray" on the inside. The boats will be placed on exhibition for the Boston Council next month with full sail equipment after which they will be launched in the Charles River Basin.

An A. B. C. Sailing skiff is now under construction. This boat will be entered in the cup races of A. B. C. Regatta at Dorchester Bay and will carry the colors of ship No. 13.

Sunday the twenty-seventh the annual court of honor was held with five boys present. This shows the progress of the new boys who have been joining at the rate of two and three a week.

The ship has been divided into four squads of eight men and a coxswain. This will give the new boys a chance for individual instruction. There will be a Mate for each squad who will help the boys and be their leader. This plan will promote competition.

There is still an opening for a limited number of boys. If you plan to be with us on our cruise on the "Black Duck" this summer now is the time to join.

DRASTIC BUT DESERVED

(From the Houston Post-Dispatch.)

The drunken driver of an automobile is coming under the condemnation of the law in a way that is well calculated to lessen the menace that he creates. Most cities and States have specific legislation to deal with him, and the penalties are being made stiffer. In Indiana the other day Governor Jackson signed a bill making a person convicted of driving an automobile while intoxicated liable to a fine of from $100 to $500 and to a jail term of from thirty days to six months, for the first offense. For a second offense, the convicted one is made liable to a sentence of from one to five years in the penitentiary. The action taken by the Indiana Legislature is somewhat drastic, but the penalties are no more than commensurate with the gravity of the offense for which they are imposed. An intoxicated man at the wheel of a motor car is a menace against which the general public has no adequate defense. There is no excuse for the drunken driver, and whatever means may be necessary should be taken to eliminate him. He is fully as dangerous as a maniac with a gun.

NEW EXECUTIVE

Mr. L. A. Bruce, Jr., Elected As Boy Scout Head

The Executive Committee of the Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, voted unanimously at its meeting on March 28th to employ Mr. L. A. Bruce, Jr., as the full time Scout Executive to carry on Scout work in the Newtons. Mr. Bruce began work on Monday, April 4th, at headquarters, Room 18, 259 Walnut street, Newtonville.

The new Scout Executive has been active in the Boy Scouts organization since 1913. At that time he was Assistant Scoutmaster of a troop in District 2 of the old Greater Boston Council. Later he became Assistant Deputy Commissioner in the same district and a member of the supervising council there. He continued his interest and activity in the Scout organization while at Harvard College, acting as Camp Master and Assistant Camp Director in "Three Pond Camp," which in those years was the summer camp of the Boston Council.

He enlisted in the United States Navy in March 1917, and after being called for active duty, trained for service in the "Mosquito Fleet Unit" and was later transferred to the United States Naval Aviation Corps. He became an instructor pilot with a rank of Ensign and served till some time after the Armistice at the Naval Flying Station, Pensacola, Fla. Upon Mr. Bruce's return to civilian life, he became Field Executive of the 2nd District of the Boston Council with supervision over 1500 Scouts and volunteer leaders. He continued in this office till late in 1921, when he joined the Playground and Recreation Association of America. He was local director of that Association in Plymouth, Mass., for about a year and a half and was then promoted to the national staff of that organization. Educational and promotional work for the district including Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Nebraska was placed in his charge, and he continued that work in the middle west for some time.

In January 1925 Mr. Bruce became sales representative for the Badger Fire Extinguisher Co. and later a fire protection engineer.

Upon questioning Mr. Bruce, the Executive Committee learned that the early influence of scouting definitely turned his mind in that direction, and, despite two other associations, the idea of returning to Scouting has never really left his mind.

Scout Executive Bruce has had a very general experience in administrative work, having served on the Board of Directors of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, and more recently as chairman of the Re-Organization Committee of that body.

The Executive Committee of the Norumbega Council feels confident that with the public support and volunteer leadership that exists in the Newtons, only the greatest success can result under this new plan of having a full time Executive in the Council. Mr. Bruce is married and has a son about four months old, and plans to move his family to Newton as soon as possible and make his home here definitely.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending April 2:—Patients in hospital, 130; patients paying as much as cost of care or more, 50; patients paying less than cost of care, 49; free patients, including babies, 31; patients treated by out-patient department, 152; by eye clinic, 9; accident cases, 5; babies born, 9; social service calls at homes, 14; patients transferred by social service car, 12.

In March the average daily number of patients at the hospital was 131.39. This is the largest daily average so far recorded with three exceptions—158.93 in April of 1918 during the influenza epidemic, 140.20 in February 1920, again due to influenza, and 138 in March 1925. The total number of patients admitted to the hospital during March was 305 and the number discharged 301, the largest number of patients in the hospital during any one day 147 and the smallest number 116. The out-patient department treated 617, the eye clinic 54. There were 28 accident cases, 172 operating room cases and 179 x-ray cases. Of the 59 babies born 35 were girls and 24 boys.

The social service department made 90 calls at the hospital, 64 at homes and transferred 54 patients in its car. There is a reduction in the number of contagious cases at the hospital there being now 11 scarlet fever cases and one diphtheria case.

Last Monday was a busy day for the ambulance as it answered six calls between nine in the morning and four in the afternoon.

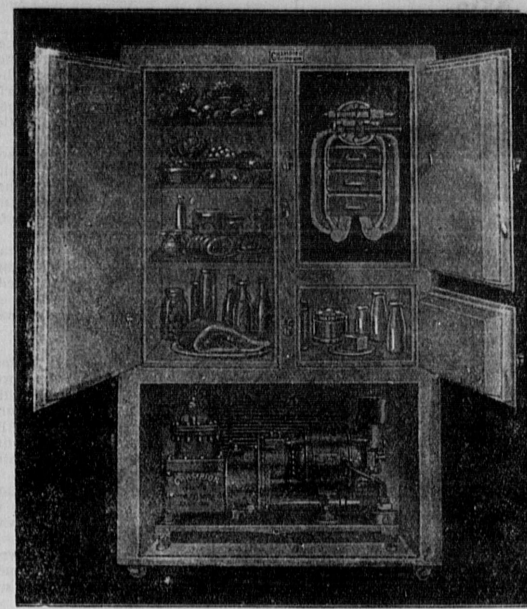

Miss Carey and three of the pupil nurses attended the meeting held last week in Cambridge of the Foreign student group of the Metropolitan Student Y. W. C. U. at which Mr. Sayre told of his duties as adviser to the King of Siam.

At Wednesday's meeting of the Newton Nurses Alumnae Association at the Nurses' Home after the business of the regular monthly meeting Dr. Channing C. Simmons, a member of the staff and a consultant at the Collis P. Huntington hospital, spoke on general cancer and later Miss McGill, the president of the Boston Women's Industrial Union told of the work and activities of the organization.

CITY HALL

From figures issued by the Tax Commissioner regarding uncollected taxes in the municipalities of the state, on January 1st, Newton had $760,638.40 of 1926 taxes, $6,317.30 of 1925, $1,595.40 of 1924 and $1,547 of previous years.

Buildings Commissioner Chadwick reports 123 permits issued in March, 42 for single dwellings valued at $417,900, with 18 for double dwellings valued at $170,000, a loss of about $100,000 for each class over the same period for 1926.

PRE-SCHOOL CLINICS

Parents Urged to Bring Children for Examination

The city of Newton that has gained such a reputation throughout the country for its contribution in school health is to start an innovation in pre-school clinics under the direction of Dr. Francis George Curtis of the Board of Health.

These clinics reflect the fine public spirit of our city. The Newton Board of Health, the school department with its staff of school principals and teachers, the Newton Central Council, and the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, are all co-operating to start a movement which will give the school children of Newton a chance to start school in September in good physical condition.

Everybody knows that health is the basis of happiness and success in school and life. The parents who take their children to these clinics this spring will be able to find out whether they have any defects and to get most of them corrected before the first day of school in September. If they do not wish to make use of the clinics they are urged to take the children to their family physicians for physical examination and advice as soon as possible. Physical handicaps give a child a wrong start in the beginning of their school life. Even what may appear to be slight handicaps may be just enough to keep a child below par and prevent him from being promoted. Absences from school, colds and irritability and nervousness, interfering with happiness and success, may be the result of such handicaps. To start the child in good physical condition is to help him to succeed.

For the benefit of such parents as wish to have their children examined in this way, the Board of Health will hold such clinics at the Stearns School in Nonantum, the Davis School in West Newton and the Hyde School in Newton Highlands. These clinics will be held on Tuesdays at 1:30 p. m., beginning on Tuesday, April 26th, and every Tuesday thereafter until June 14th. Children intending to enter the public or parochial schools of Newton in September may be brought to these clinics where they will be examined free of charge.

A physician and nurses will be at each clinic from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m., and will make a careful physical examination of such children as may be brought by their mothers.

No treatment will be given at these clinics, as their only object is to find out any defects which the children may have, which may prevent them from getting the best results from their schooling. If any defects are found, the parents will be notified so that they may have an opportunity to take the child to their family physician and have him remedy the trouble before the child enters school. If there is no family physician, parents are urged to take the child to a hospital. In some cases where neither of these can be done, the parent should notify the nurse and arrange with her about having the child taken to a hospital.

In cases where parents wish to have the child examined by their own physician, they should get blanks from the School Department or the Board of Health. These blanks should be filled in by the examining physician and returned at once or else should be brought with the child on the first day of school.

Parents are also urged to have the child vaccinated before he enters school, as by doing this they may save time and annoyance. The State law requires that every child entering a public school must be vaccinated, except under certain exceptions, and it will help very much if he has his vaccination card ready on entering.

If the parents wish to have the child immunized against diphtheria they should notify the nurse beforehand.

Parents who have not already arranged to have their child examined at a clinic should at once notify the principal of the school which the child is to enter in September, so that a nurse may call and make an appointment. They are urged to do this immediately as the number of children who can be examined is, at present, limited and the earlier the name is recorded the sooner the child can be examined.

Through the courtesy of the Department of Health and the schools there will be a series of mothers' meetings throughout the city to which the

ALDERMAN FAVINGER EULOGIZED

Board of Aldermen Pay Tribute To His Services For The City

The Newton Board of Aldermen met in regular session last Friday afternoon and the first order of business was the eulogizing of the late Charles L. Favinger, one of its members, who died suddenly last Friday afternoon. The regular order of business at the meeting scheduled for Monday night. In the absence of President Weeks, Vice President Madden called the meeting to order. A communication from Mayor Childs, relative to the death of Mr. Favinger was read. The aldermen voted to have a special committee appointed to draw resolutions on the death of the Waban alderman and aldermen Ball and Baker were appointed. The resolutions which were presented Wednesday evening follow:—

Charles L. Favinger, a member of this Board, died suddenly on April 15th. He was serving his second term as Ward Alderman from Ward 5.

His service had not been long, but in a few months he had gained a mastery of the affairs of the city which usually requires years.

He had a keen interest in all municipal affairs and a rare capacity for dealing with them. He took his work seriously. He gave his attention to every question, large or small. About each question he thought independently and clearly and his thinking was tempered by a fine sense of justice. He adhered to his conclusions fearlessly. He was moved only by the highest considerations of the public welfare.

He had become an outstanding member of this Board and takes a place in the long line of strong men who have served in the city government of Newton.

To us, his associates, there will be a lasting satisfaction that we were privileged to engage with him in a common undertaking and to enjoy his friendship.

WHEREAS death now has taken him from our midst and cut short a life of great usefulness and

WHEREAS we wish to convey our sympathy to our colleague's family and to give expression to our own sorrow and to the sense of loss to ourselves and to the city:

BE IT RESOLVED: That these resolutions be entered on the records of the Board and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

As an added tribute Alderman Baker said, "Alderman Favinger rendered fine service. He made a great personal sacrifice in behalf of the city, seeking nothing for himself in return; he was actuated by an impelling sense of duty. He was one of our newest members, but because of his wise counsel and his knowledge of matters in general, his opinion was sought by members of the Board. His friendly aggressiveness, his ability to see questions wholly, his confidence and courage, his consideration of the Newton of the future as well as the Newton of today, made him a type of citizen who will always be needed in public life. He set a high standard of service to which we may all well aspire."

CANTABS WIN

Newton High Defeated, 5-1 In Opening League Game

Cambridge Latin and Newton high crossed bats on Clavin Field Tuesday morning in one of the two opening Suburban league games of the 1927 season. Cambridge emerged victorious, 5 to 1, in a game featured by the flashy playing of the Cantab infield and the masterly pitching of McKinnon, winning twirler, who allowed Newton but eight well-scattered hits.

Sam McCleary made his 1927 debut in the box for Newton and the warm day seemed made to order for him. Only two men reached first in the first three frames, one in the first inning when Spain threw over deMille's head on Horan's rap and the other in the third when Temple singled. Both were left. In the fourth, however, Horan led off with a single, Cote sacrificed him to second, Cook drew a pass, and Hilliard doubled to right center scoring both men. Andres attempted to nail Hilliard when he tried to reach third on a short passed ball and allowed him to score when he threw over Stout's head. Harlow fanned and Tierney was thrown out by deMille, McCleary making the put-out. Three runs had scored.

In the next inning McKinnon reached first when Spain made his second wild heave of the morning. McCleary bore down and fanned both Temple and Davis. Horan leaned on one for a triple, scoring McKinnon and scored himself when Cote singled. Cook also singled but Cote was held at second. Both advanced when Sam uncorked a wild pitch. Hilliard was thrown out by Stout to end the inning.

Linguist went in to pitch for Newton at the beginning of the sixth and allowed but one hit in four innings. The Cantabs threatened in the sixth when, with two down, McKinnon singled, Casey fumbled Temple's rap and both were safe. Davis hit to Proctor who by a fast play nailed Temple at second.

Newton scored its run in the sixth inning when McCleary singled, took second on a wild pitch, reached third on McCleary's out at first, and counted on Andres second clean hit of the day. In the first inning Newton went right after the MacDonald outfit. Proctor singled, reached second on Spain's perfect sacrifice but was left when McCleary fanned and deMille was thrown out by Horan. In the second Mullin showed his speed by stealing second and third after getting a life on Cote's error after Andres had struck out. He was nailed at the plate by Temple's perfect peg on Stout's smash. Two lightning fast double plays, Cote to Horan to Tierney stopped threatening rallies by Newton in the fourth and seventh innings. These plays took out of the local players what pep there was left in them and they had no further chances.

Sidelights of the Game

It is said that John Cote, Cantab shortstop, will be an even better player than his older brother, Warren, former Holy Cross athlete.

Several bits of poor base-running by the Newton players did not help matters any. In the third frame

CHOIRMASTER HONORED

Mr. Charles N. Sladen Completes Forty Years At Grace Church

A feature of the Easter services at Grace church, Newton, last Sunday, was the presentation of a substantial check to Mr. Charles N. Sladen in recognition of the completion of forty years of service as choirmaster of the church.

The presentation was made in the choir hall of the church at the close of the morning service.

The rector, Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure in presenting the check, said in substance:—

Mr. Sladen: The Choir, the Women's Choir, and the whole congregation of Grace Church wish to express their appreciation, today, of your forty years service in this Choir and Church.

We are not unmindful of how diligently you have worked here, and how you have knit to you and to the church the men and boys who have come under your influence. Many of them have become members of the church, while singing here. Many have gone to Harvard College, to be quickly and gladly received into the Glee Club, and two, at least, in my memory, have become leaders of that Glee Club. We know how when men who have sung with you, and have gone far afield, came back to Newton for a visit they delight to come back and sing with your choir, if only for a day. We remember that the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Vested Choir, some years ago, men came back from New York, New Jersey and one from as far away as Pittsburgh, Pa., to sing with those nearer at hand, and how they filled our church to the number of seventy men—crowding out our boys at the time.

You have become an "institution" to generations of Newton boys; and, indeed, in this end of Newton when a community carol service, or a community singing festival is proposed, at once it is said—"We must get Mr. Sladen to lead it."

At the same time you are training a choir in Natick, teaching the girls at the Walnut Hills School, drilling a choir at the Central Congregational Church in Newtonville and our Women's Choir, here.

As a slight token of our appreciation, we wish to hand you this check—representing the voluntary offerings of the whole parish of Grace Church—and to say—"Thank you, and God bless you!"

At Grace Church, in addition to training the boy choir, Mr. Sladen has organized an auxiliary women's choir, which for several years produced oratorios and operas with great success. This took too much of his time to be continued, but the choir continues to assist in the services at the church.

NEW SCHOOL AT LOWER FALLS

At the meeting of the aldermen on Monday night a resolution was passed asking permission of the Legislature for the City of Newton to use land at the Grove street Playground as a site of a new school to replace the old Hamilton School. The Hamilton School has been declared unfit for further use and a new building is needed as soon as possible. Alderman Fitts of the Public Buildings Committee stated that it is proposed to erect a one-story building at the Grove street Playground. This site is approved by the School Committee and the people of Lower Falls. As soon as the necessary permission is received from the Legislature, construction work will commence and it is expected that the school will be ready within a year.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

CANTABS WIN LEAGUE OPENER

White drew a base on balls, Proctor flied out, Spain got on by Cote's error and White was safe at second. McCleary hit a high fly to right field on which White should have held the base. He could have made third after the put out was made but instead he waited halfway to third until the catch was made and then had to get back to second. DeMille forced Spain at second for the third out so the lapse did not materially matter but it would have been better baseball to have held to second.

Johnny Mullin, little leftfielder, is the fastest man on the team—there is not much doubt of that. He stole second and third easily in the second inning. In the fourth Mullin beat out a bunt and got credit for a hit. The one trouble is that he is apt to be a little too reckless on the paths and in such a case his speed would be more of a handicap than a help.

In the fifth inning White singled and then tried to steal second. With none down he might have been advanced but he got his signal crossed and a nice throw from Cook to Cote nailed him.

Umpire O'Connor surprised DeMille and many others by calling McKinnon safe at first in the eighth frame. McKinnon hit to Casey who threw perfectly to DeMille. The Newton first baseman took his foot off the bag a fraction of a second before catching Casey's throw. Several times before this DeMille came close to duplicating this error and the umpire would have been justified in calling other runners safe. DeMille, with experience, will no doubt overcome this tendency.

Many comments were heard regarding the lack of spirit displayed by the high school students attending the game. Many of them were seen to leave before the seventh inning. It would help the team morale greatly if every spectator would remain until the final out in the final inning. The game is never lost, no matter how many runs the team is behind, until the game is over.

Another unexcusable display of poor sportsmanship occurred when one of the girls in the portable stands (understood to be a Newton high school student) was detected flashing a small mirror so that the sun would be reflected in the players' and batters' eyes. Not only the opposing team was treated to this but even some of the home team men. Such actions are decidedly uncalled for and anyone indulging in them should be barred from the field and severely called down.

LAWRENCE TRIPS NEWTON

Newton high went down to its first defeat of the season last Saturday at Lawrence 7 to 1 when Broaca, Mill City twirler, held the Newton team at bay. He allowed but five hits, fanned nine, and passed none. A peculiar incident of the game was that none of the Lawrence outergardners had a putout. The game was cleanly played, neither team making an error.

Lawrence tallied twice in the opening inning after which Don Wilson sailed along serenely until the seventh when he was chased from the box. Linquist relieved him but when the smoke had cleared away five solid hits, all singles, were good for four runs and the victory was clinched.

Johnny Mullen led at the bat for Newton. His single and his double would each have been good for more bases but for the short centrefield fence. His double followed by Stout's single in the second frame counted Newton's only run.

Until the seventh Don Wilson pitched a good game, fanning eight, allowing but four hits. He blew up in the seventh and brought his total number of free tickets to seven before Linquist took over the burden.

TW-LEAGUE MEETING

As announced in this column last week the first meeting of the Newton Twilight League will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Catholic Club when plans for the coming season will be discussed.

N. A. A. ANNUAL MEETING

Announcement has been made of the annual meeting on Monday night, April 25th, of the Newton Athletic Association at the Newton Club at 8 p. m. It is the duty of every member to attend and help this organization to accomplish its worthy purpose—Dickinson Field. While the election of officers will be held the main topic of discussion will be that of an appropriate athletic field for the high school athletes and the carrying out of the late Coach Dickinson's ideas.

McCullough in Left Field

Exeter played her first game on Saturday and won with little difficulty. Buster McCullough was at his old place on a new team, for he patrolled the left side of the garden. His hitting was still weak, as is evident by his low position on the batting order, but his uncanny ability to go and get them has made him sure of a place on the team. Along with his fielding ability, he turned in one pretty throw that cut off a straying runner, and his speed on the bases accounted for some of the scoring.

Hemeon and Johnson On Cushing Nine

Up at Cushing two boys that never played baseball for Newton are the shining lights of the pre-season training. Buster Hemeon and Wallie Johnson are sure of their positions for this year, since they are hitting the ball hard and fielding according to the best principles. Hemeon is catching and his work is reminiscent of the way that Cronin used to hold a pitcher up to his work, and at the same time bother the batter. His arm is good and he has speeded up, so that he is a fine prospect. Johnson is covering the first corner where his fielding has bordered at times on the sensational, and his hitting has been a big asset to the team.

Newton Youth on Brown Lacrosse Team

The Brown Lacrosse team, that is entering into its first real season of the sport, has Roger Case of Auburn-dale as one of the forwards. Although the team was badly beaten by Union College, the trouble was mainly due to the inexperience of many of the players. Case has proved to be a fast carrier, whose shot is nearly the best on the forward line, and his covering in the recent game was one of the few promising features of the fracas.

Lawless Playing Fine Game

In the close game between North-eastern and Boston University two Newton Alumni had a prominent part. Lawless had the intown team up in the air in the first few innings by his hitting and his base-running. Gyn has set an enviable record all year by being the leading hitter and base-runner of the Terrier squad. Mahoney, after hitting well in that game, has been shifted to the second place on the batting-order where his skill at inside baseball will be of more benefit. He has been hitting better this year than ever before, and his work behind the bat has been of such calibre that the pitchers have been delivering better this season.

Souther Wild in First Appearance

Hartwell Souther, in his first effort as a twirler since his grammar school days, had an off-day in his appearance against Milton Academy. He was wild and his relief was as bad so the game was hopelessly lost. However, he showed that he could still hit, and as a result played in the outfield in the second game where his bat gave the opponents no end of trouble. He probably will draw another chance at the pitching assignment this week and the warmer weather should aid him getting better control.

DeMille Reports at Williams

In the spring clean-up at Williams they called out the track squad and indulged in practise for the coming meets. A number of regulars reported, among them John DeMille of Newton Centre, who holds the college discus record and has been a consistent place winner for two years at the Berkshire College. With the large group of regulars back and some fine freshman material the team should be one of the best that has ever represented the Purple.

Zeigler Second in High Jump

The Inter-Class meet at Technology was an overwhelming victory for the upper classes with the freshmen a very poor last, but one Newton boy managed to place for his class in the high jump. Alfred Zeigler of Newtonville rolled over the bar at a height that allowed him to take second place in the event. He has had no previous competitive experience and his ability to high jump has not been very well known before this, but his work should make him a strong contestant for the varsity team next year.

Hoyt Returns To Williams

Jimmy Hoyt, after convalescing at Atlantic City, has returned to Williams where he will take up his studies once more. The attack of appendicitis ruined his chance of playing any varsity tennis this year, and he lost his opportunity for a hockey letter because of it, after being taken on the varsity at mid-years.

Vaughan Out With Bad Ankle

Dick Vaughan, Yale shortstop, who went on the southern trip last week with the Eli nine, suffered an ankle injury which kept him out of most of the games. It is hoped that he will be able to take his position in the infield shortly.

Four Local Lads in Marathon

Among the many starters who were in the field when the gun barked to send the marathoners on their long and weary way on the holiday were four Newton youths. Carlyle M. Brown of Newton Upper Falls wore the number 26, Herbert A. Winrow of Newton Centre No. 30, Peter Marchant of the Circle Franco-American No. 27 and Julius K. Ober, N. H. S. No. 164.

Martin Turns In Good Game

The Belmont Hill School has started off to another victorious season under the skillful pitching of Ken Martin who has been the varsity hurler at the school for some years now. He turned in a good game the other day and added the needed hits at the proper time, too. His younger brother is helping the family keep in the sporting circles by playing a fine game in the infield. The two boys have succeeded in being the main levers at the head of the athletic machine at Belmont.

Shaw Marked

Until he manages to get off of marks Alan Shaw will not be able to play ball this spring. He slipped in one subject and now must make it up at mid-semester or else forfeit his chances of playing. He is the first string catcher at the present time and his hitting has made him certain choice if he can avoid the official displeasure. He will probably be all right, since his work has been good, and he is a natural student in any event, so the team will be that much better this coming week.

Lingham Allows Only Four Hits

When the Brown Cub team, against the bewildered Technology nine, plastered the score of 17 to 2 on the would-be engineers, Philip Lingham took a major part in the proceedings. He twirled ball in such a mystifying manner that the Tech boys were able to draw only four hits off him while he worked, and he added some five strike-outs to his string. His ability to score was still with him for he romped around the bases twice, while he fielded his position perfectly.

You can't look at a tire and tell how far it will run

YOU CAN'T SEE a tire carcass because it is covered by the tread. Yet the way this carcass is built tells how far the tire will run.

Dunlop has had 39 years to learn all the hidden points where tires wear. Dunlop carcasses are built from the best long fibre cotton, spun in Dunlop's own mills into the famous Dunlop cable-twist cord.

These cords are elastic, so they give and take as your tire runs; strong, so they resist constant load and pounding. They build the best possible foundation for the Dunlop tread—the toughest rubber development known.

Thus Dunlop's extra years of experience build added value into every vital tire-part. That is why, not one Dunlop—but every Dunlop—gives you more service than you can reasonably expect.

We recommend that you put Dunlops on your car especially during Lent and at Easter. His choir now contains 18 boys, eight girls and nine men, and is rated as one of the best in Greater Boston. Charles G. Wilson assists Mr. Sladen as organist. Although he admits freely of being 69 years old, Mr. Sladen has a tenor voice which is still sweet, with a range which is kept extended by his efforts in showing his pupils "how to do it." He studied originally under a number of Boston teachers, including George L. Parker, and began his work at Grace Church as tenor soloist in the quartet which then was the only choir. He gradually assumed the leadership in the church music, organized a boy choir, and has led it since, with distinction.

In addition to his work at Grace Church, he is choirmaster of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Natick; choral director at Central Church, Newtonville, and master of music at Walnut Hills School in Natick. For 19 years he was choirmaster also at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church in Lowell and at St. Ann's Episcopal Church in the same city.

NEWTON CATHOLIC CLUB

Ralph W. Crossen, who has directed like performances for Masonic Chapters, and the St. Alphonsus Association, has coached the production and arranged a program of thirty-one first class numbers. These include dance specialties, solos, musical specialties, character sketches, and many other features.

A brilliant staging effect has been arranged with a firm of Boston costumers, and the decorations from start to finish are a riot of color with an extraordinary number and effect for the finale. Through the co-operation of the Rev. Fr. O'Brien, four members of the Knights of the Holy Cross will act as pages at all performances. They are Francis Tuscher, Joseph McElaney, Joseph Cosgrove, and John Kenney.

HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

The city can ill afford the loss of men like Mr. Charles L. Favinger. Although comparatively a new member of the board of aldermen he had already become one of the most influential members by his wise counsel and broadmindedness. His loss will be particularly felt at the City Hall.

PAY TRIBUTES TO ALDERMAN FAVINGER

Alderman Hodgdon said, "I would like to add a word of praise to the memory of Alderman Favinger. I hope that when I retire from this Board, at least one member in it will have as much respect for me, as I have for our late colleague." Alderman Pratt said, "During the time Mr. Favinger was a member of the Board he occupied the seat next to mine. I always admired his fairness, his keen sense of humor which enabled him to consider all questions in a friendly manner, and his utter lack of animosity."

ALDERMANIC MEETING

The regular meeting of the aldermen, which was to have been held on Monday night, was postponed until Wednesday evening because of the death of Alderman Favinger. As President Weeks was away on a business trip, Vice President Madden presided.

The first hearing on petitions was that of Frank Avantaggio for a 4 car garage at 43 Elmwood street, Newton. Hugh Boyd, who appeared at attorney for Mr. Avantaggio, told the aldermen that "it is eminently fitting that a 4 car garage be erected on the site named in the petition." He explained that large public garages are located on both sides and at the rear of the site; that the place is in the business zone; that the proposed garage will be fireproof, and will replace a 1 car tin garage now there; and that there is no opposition against the permit being granted. The aldermen acted favorably on the petition.

No one appeared to favor or oppose, when the hearing was called on the petition of Robert Gould Shaw, 2nd, for a permit to erect a 3 car garage at 777 Dedham street, Newton Centre. The permit was granted.

Hugh Boyd took the floor a second time as attorney for Frederic A. Cahill who asks for a permit to build a gasoline station at the corner of Court and Washington streets, Newtonville. It will be an outside station with tanks holding 4000 gallons. Mr. Boyd said, "I feel quite comfortable in asking for a station on this location." He argued "that a station on this site will be less dangerous than other gasoline stations along Washington street for which permits have been granted. There is less traffic by this location than along other parts of Washington street. No churches or schools are nearby to attract pedestrians." Mr. Boyd called attention to the fact that the petitioner, Mr. Cahill, is a life-long resident of Newton, has been engaged in the automobile business for some years, owns the property, and applies for himself, and not as a "stalking horse" for someone else. He also remarked "that Mr. Cahill has not sought other permits, and so cannot be accused of worshipping the 'Golden Calf.'" As it is sometime since this mythological bovine first was dragged into the aldermanic chamber, this "calf" is rapidly approaching the age, where in the future it must be designated as "bull." No opposition appeared against Mr. Cahill's petition, and it is probable that the permit will be granted.

Several jurors were drawn to serve at the civil sessions of the Superior Court at Cambridge next month. They include John J. McLaughlin, 76 Clinton street; George L. Asplund, 517 Hammond street; Carl E. Nordstrom, 247 Cherry street; Charles Nicholson, 57 Hancock street; Albert Moore, 3 Chandler street.

Alderman Hawkins, Chairman of the License Committee, asked that the list of annual license applications be granted with the exception of a comparative few, which for various reasons the committee had acted upon unfavorably. Among the latter were two applicants who sought to break into the limited circle of Newton's junk collectors. These two, Solomon Rubin of 13 Chandler street, Newton, and Michael Hughes, an outlander, from Whitney street, Roxbury, were given leave to withdraw. It is difficult to understand why more should seek to enter the junk business in Newton. In this, as in other cities, "the pick-ins" are much less than they were in the days before the 13th Amendment wiped out the lucrative bottle business. None of the seventeen junk collectors of Newton is becoming wealthy gathering old papers and tires. And so the aldermen refuse to allow more competitors to the sixteen Israelites and one Celt, who for some years have not "waxed fat" collecting Newton's rags, old metal, et cetera.

Alderman Hawkins commented on the fact that certain of the persons in the taxi business applied for several more taxis than they have operated in the past, or than they have had licenses for. In fact, some of these applicants who have not been operating as many taxis as they had permits to operate, this year applied for even more permits. The only explanation for their eagerness to obtain surplus permits seems to be "that the Amendment in the local taxi business is so keen, that some of the taxi operators, with a peculiar sense of strategy, believe they can checkmate their competitors by procuring an imposing number of licenses."

Alderman Pitts referred to the increased fares charged by taxi operators in Newton because of the compulsory insurance they must carry. He called attention to the same action taken by Boston taxi owners, who later reduced the rates again after the Boston papers waged a campaign against the increases. He asked: "Is the taxi business in Newton conducted in accordance with the local ordinances?" Mr. Hawkins gave the information "that taxi operators in this city are permitted to charge a minimum fare of 50c for a distance of 3/4 of a mile. Prior to the enforcement of the compulsory automobile insurance law, taxi operators at Newton Corner charged but 25c instead of the 50c they could have charged. As they must pay $263 insurance on each taxi they operate, they have increased the minimum fare to 50c. Alderman Pratt dolefully commented "that at Newton Centre, one has to pay a minimum fare of 50c for a taxi ride." So there is some advantage in residing at Newton Corner.

Alderman Noone remarked, "There are too many taxis in this city. Because of this the taxi owners get comparatively fewer passengers, and so must charge higher rates. If we had fewer taxis in the city, we would probably enjoy lower rates."

Alderman Collins, Chairman of the Finance Committee, asked for the appropriation of certain sums to cover items which had been originally included in the Mayor's budget recommendations, but which had been held up when the regular budget was passed by the aldermen. These items included $1800 for an attendant at the Crafts street garage, and $41,550 for the protection of child life. At the last meeting of the aldermen, considerable discussion occurred over this item. Alderman Gallagher, who is a physician, asked at that time that $1350 be added to this amount to permit the extension of this work during all twelve months of the year by school nurses. Dr. Curtis, Chairman of the Board of Health also advocated the extra appropriation so that children of a pre-school age could be examined during the summer months. It was stated at that meeting, "that while $1350 will be required to pay salaries of the nurses during the summer months, the physicians who co-operate in this work will donate their services. Alderman Collins explained "that while the Finance Committee is not opposed to the clinics being held during the summer months, it has been learned that some of the physicians will not serve gratis. In order to clear up this matter, and other details which would arise if this work is carried on during all twelve months, his committee desires more time to consider the matter."

Permits were granted for 30 private garages. The petition of Jeremiah Monahan for a 2 car garage at 147 Austin street, was held up until certain

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

15 extra hours on the NASH motor to be certain it is right

The illustration shows two Nash Advanced Six engines hooked together in the great Nash testing room.

One of these motors is driving the other, to limber it up. After a few hours of this, the motor now being driven will limber up another.

Then, after 8 to 10 hours on its own power, it will be taken apart. Bearings, connecting rods and pistons carefully inspected. Valves ground and resealed.

Next, the trained ear of an engine expert will listen to the operation of this motor. When he is sure it is absolutely right, it will be mounted on its chassis. Then another rigid examination, in the car, out on the road. 15 extra hours in all are consumed before the motors shown above are ready for their owners.

How easily Nash could save this time and expense. You would never be able to see the difference. But every Nash owner knows there is a difference!

There are extra hours of extra care in every Nash, to lift it above the level of the average car—to be certain Nash performance leads the world!

51 YEARS IN BUSINESS

Yesterday marked the 51st anniversary of Dr. Arthur Hudson's arrival in Newton to start in business as a druggist and chemist. He retired from the drug business several years ago, but still continues in his profession as a chemist and bacteriologist. Every week-day, and frequently at night, Dr. Hudson labors in his laboratories at the Hudson Drug Store and the Stevens Building. Despite his 80 years, he puts in long hours at his calling, and though not so active physically as of yore, mentally he is as keen as men fifty years his junior. Dr. Hudson's reminiscences of Newton dating back over a half century are very interesting.

NELLIE E. McLAUGHLIN

Miss Nellie E. McLaughlin of 70 Bourne street, Auburndale, died Tuesday morning of pneumonia. She was born in Donegal, Ireland, 52 years ago, and had resided in Auburndale for about 30 years. Miss McLaughlin conducted a hand laundry and was highly esteemed by the many residents of Auburndale who formed her clientele. She was one of the most zealous workers in Corpus Christi parish, and very charitable. She had adopted five children, three of whom were under her care at the time of her death. Her funeral service was held this morning at Corpus Christi Church and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. She is survived by a brother, Edward McLaughlin, and two sisters, Mary and Sarah McLaughlin, all of whom resided with her. Another sister, Mrs. Hugh Gallagher, resides on Woodbine Terrace.

WILL GET NEWTON WATER AGAIN

Unless the unexpected occurs, residents of Newton will have the pleasure of being supplied again from Newton's own water supply next Sunday. The joyful news was spread by Alderman Hall at the meeting of the Board on Wednesday. He stated "that all the needed improvements at the water reservation have been completed, such as cleaning the conduits, rebuilding certain man-holes, and taking measures to prevent seepage into the supply of surface water. Sampson & Weston, the consulting engineers, have made tests of the water recently, and found it to be the very best municipal water ever examined by them. It is absolutely sterile. Sterile soil is very undesirable, but sterile water is otherwise. According to the water experts, aqua pura that is sterile is free from pathogenic bacteria such as colon-bacillus, or other "bugs" which, according to some persons, Newton water was thickly populated with, a few months ago. The officials of the State Board of Health also have been making tests of our water supply, and their findings coincide with those of Sampson & Weston.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

There was a time when there were slot machines in which one could deposit a coin, then grasp a pair of handles and exert one's full strength, thus revealing the power of one's muscles. As I recall the idea, the idea was popular for a time at least and then suddenly the contraptions disappeared. There was some value in the scheme but it was represented largely by the owners of the machines and the profits that they obtained. Of course, if the figures, which, as I recall were stamped on a card, showed one to be possessed of unusual strength there was the satisfaction of displaying the card among one's friends. In other words, it gave one a chance to boast and to back it up with statistics.

Newton Corner has a strength-tester which may be used without cost. I do not believe it is popular for the most stout-hearted and strongest among us have weak moments. That is, we are not anxious at all times to be called upon to exert all muscular power we possess. Especially is this true when there is nothing in it for us. This particular "machine" is not really a mechanical invention. It is just a plain door, but it calls for all the muscle in one's arms, together with a knee or two, and a shoulder.

I refer to the door through which we are compelled to enter the postoffice at Newton Corner. Now here is something which cannot be blamed on any postoffice officials of high or low degree: It has nothing to do with the sale of stamps, the departure and arrival of the mails, the delivery of letters or the delay of improperly addressed communications.

The postoffice is a tenant and apparently can do no more with a landlord than anybody else. I call upon all who enter and leave the Newton Corner postoffice to tell me if they know of a door that is more difficult to enter than the great, heavy portal that leads to our own stamp emporium. The only time that one may enter with ease and comfort is when somebody immediately precedes you and does all the work, leaving you to say "Thank you" and put out your hand to prevent the door from closing.

I am willing to admit that I dread trying to enter the Newton Corner postoffice. In the first place the latch is placed low and one must stoop a bit in order to lift it. Then it becomes necessary to summon all the muscular power one may command. It cannot be done with one arm unless that arm is as mighty as a blacksmith's. There is need of two arms and they must be unusually powerful.

To employ the shoulder takes some of the strain off the arms, while thrusting the knee forward further divides the responsibility. The door frame is of heavy wood but the panel is of glass so that the odds are all against you, for no one wants to bang into a door that is going to crash and break. To be found standing amid a quantity of shattered glass would be embarrassing, even if one could prove by witnesses he had no criminal intent.

To enter the Newton Corner postoffice with one's arms filled with bundles is a feat, combining all resources and tricks of a circus strong-man and a sideshow juggler. The juggling comes first. You shift the bundles until you think you have a free arm movement. Just at this point one of the bundles slips out and falls to the ground. Then you replace that and start again when a second bundle falls. If you cannot cleverly juggle these bundles you'd better put them down, open the door and step over them and then turn around and pick them up.

It is my advice, after experience, that no one person should try to enter the door without assistance. If two people join forces the struggle is far less. In fact it becomes simpler. The ideal way would be to enter in a crowd, but that requires organization, and one wants to take the chance of being accused of making a "gang" attack on the postoffice.

The Cheshire cat which figures in "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland" had a grin that brought him undying fame. An even broader grin is worn by the cats in Newton these days. I made the discovery myself, not suddenly but in a slow and conservative manner, quite in keeping with Newton's method about everything. The cats in our city are naturally sedate and slow to betray emotions. Therefore, I was unaided but gleaned the information all by myself.

I am not unfriendly to cats and yet I cannot say that I dote on them. As pets they have a place and I am glad to accord it to them. I think them wise and what they do amuses me, but I cannot say that I enjoy the confidences of any one feline. Just what I lack in their opinion I am at loss to say. And why they do not trust me I have never been able to ascertain. In consequence, I shall not feel that anything I may write at this time is to be construed as a breach of faith. I am under no obligation what ever to hold my tongue.

It was on or shortly after April Fool's day that I noticed a larger number of cats on the streets, sidewalks and lawns than I had seen for a long, long time. Their conduct seemed different. Instead of scampering at my approach they made no attempt to quicken their leisurely gait. In fact, they continued to saunter, independently and with evident self-satisfaction. I am tempted to characterize their deportment as "cocky," and I think I shall yield.

After several observations, during which I became more and more convinced that all cats were assuming a "high hat" attitude, it struck me that I ought to look into this thing. "What does it all mean, and why?" I asked myself. That very morning, as I walked down to the village, I saw two cats coming toward me. They were walking side by side, strolling. I might say, I thought to myself, "Now here's a good chance." As they approached, I stopped, expecting them, too, would do the same. I was mistaken. They ignored me. Instead of pausing in acknowledgment of my polite bow, they actually crowded me off into the gutter.

I was a trifle incensed, for my dignity had been upset, but I restrained myself. Had I not repressed my feelings and subdued my anger I doubt if I would have made the discovery that followed. Instead of thinking mean thoughts I concentrated on the question itself, "What's come over all the cats in Newton?" And then the solution dawned upon me. It was plain as A. B. C. I laughed as I said to myself, "Why all the dogs in Newton are either tied up or dragging at the end of a leash and the cats have everything their own way!"

I was looking over the new Parker House, Boston, the other day while passing through School Street and was pleased to see what a splendid bronze tablet had been placed on the side of the building. The tablet contained information regarding the historical importance of the place—something that even the busiest "go-getter" would pause to read with interest. I happened to remark to a friend that I thought it an excellent idea.

Then we began going over the general practice in Boston of placing these historical tablets on the side of buildings or in such spots as they may be read and studied. Boston offers ample opportunity for this and I am particularly gratified to find that both the city officials and individuals are availing themselves of these chances to do a public service.

Now, then, what is Newton doing? Certainly there are no end of places that possess historic significance in this city. And how much do we know of them? People who "dig up" such things and old-timers who live in the neighborhood are informed. As for the rest of us, we are always interested to learn but we never shall unless it is through the medium of a tablet or something of that order.

I am not urging the city, which, I believe, should bear the cost, to undertake a wholesale setting-up of bronze tablets. I am, however, firm in my belief that there should be markers in such spots as have to do with events in Colonial history and even later days. Many things which should never be forgotten have taken place in our city. Why not preserve knowledge of them in a substantial form?

If a fund is not available, let the work be done gradually. Pick out one or two places a year and see that they are appropriately marked with bronze tablets or stones. It would be no great struggle to determine the facts through official sources and by the appropriate marking necessary would be small. I have no doubt there are a number of patriotic citizens who would contribute to such a fund.

In this way it would be shown that Newton's citizens of today honored the deeds of Newton's citizens of yesterday. It would show that as a municipality Newton stood for something then and stands for something now.

With no thought of the recent agitation in Boston against the sale of books disapproved by the District Attorney's office of Suffolk County, the literary department of which seems to have been working overtime to let I wonder what books were selling best. You'll never guess what one man told me.

"What are they buying most now?" I asked as I leaned against a shelf of "current fiction."

"I can't answer for anybody but myself," came the bookseller's reply, "but it looks to me as if everybody was going to Paris this Summer. There has never been such a demand for French phrase-books and travelers' guides."

S. S. ASSOCIATION

The Annual Convention of the Norumbega District Sunday School Association will take place next Tuesday evening, April 26th, at the Newton Centre Baptist Church. Supper will be served at 6:30 P. M. Reports of progress in District work will be given, including the Community School of Religious Education, the Young People's Inter-Church Council, the Music Festival, and other phases of the Community work in religious education.

G. Lewis Foster, president, will preside. Professor J. P. Berkeley of Newton Centre, and Dean of the Community School, will award the credits earned during the past season. The address of the evening will be given by Dr. Samuel M. Lindsay of Brookline, on the subject, "Jesus the Teacher." It is said that Dr. Lindsay has made an unusually careful study of the Life of Christ, and presents this subject in a masterly and inspiring way.

An interesting feature of the Convention will be a handwork exhibit prepared by pupils of the Sunday School of the Baptist Church where the convention is being held. This will be on display during the evening.

SEASCOUT SPRAY

The "A. B. C." sailing skiff has been completed and is being exhibited at Horticultural Hall, Boston, with the two sailing dories and Seascout equipment, in connection with the Boston Council Boy Scout Jamboree. This boat was built by the Seascouts with the help of Mr. Shumway of the Youths Companion, in four days. This boat is one of the swiftest boats of its size in this part of Newton.

The next lecture by Mate Donald M. Hill will be on Ground Tackle and Purchases. Blocks are what a landsman might call pulleys. They take their name from the fact that blocks of wood were first used, fitted with sheaves, or scored wheels over which rope was worked. Tackle is pronounced TAYKLE and is a mechanical device for applying power.

Visitors are welcome at any of these lectures on Friday nights.

The Seascout Leaders' Training Course at Boston Navy Yard is open to any who are interested in Boys and Boats. Registration blanks are to be obtained by calling at the Veterans' Fire Station, Watertown street, West Newton, or writing to Mate Alden C. Dinsmore, care of that address.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Building Commissioner Chadwick and his department are fortunate in possessing such an ardent supporter as Alderman Pitts who is Chairman of the Public Buildings Committee of the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Pitts is a "loyal rooster" for the Building Department and is largely responsible for this department receiving so much favorable consideration from the aldermen. Some of the other departments perhaps would fare better if they too had had ardent advocates.

"Jack" Walsh of the Walsh Battery Shop has entered politics. He has been elected as a member of the "Town Meeting Members" of Watertown. Undoubtedly with his genial personality and forensic ability, Mr. Walsh will advance rapidly in his new sphere.

If Alderman Hodgdon of Ward 5 becomes a candidate for Mayor this Fall, he will have a definite program. Among other things he will advocate full publicity on all city affairs, where publicity should be given, a policy opposed to the "closed meetings" so in favor with recent Boards; more, but less expensive school houses; sufficient appropriations to properly resurface our streets; exercising the Mayor's prerogatives over city departments; the creation of the office of City Purchasing Agent.

Sand, and plenty of it, should be spread without delay on all the streets in this city where the tarvia has become oozy because of the warmer weather.

Wilfred Chagnon of Hubbard's Pharmacy spent the holiday at "Lakewood Camps" George Meie's beautifully located resort at South Sandwich on Cape Cod. George sends his regards to his many Newton friends.

NEED BRIDGE

Structure at Crescent St. Would Benefit Many

A couple of weeks ago we had a paragraph in About Town referring to the fact that certain West Newton residents had been discommoded because the Putnam street bridge over the B. & A. tracks was blocked by a house which was being moved. This comment of ours aroused the mirth of some persons in Ward 4. These persons say: "If the few residents of West Newton, who possibly might be inconvenienced a little by the temporary blocking, or a few days, of the Putnam street bridge, arouse your sympathy, what about the hundreds of Auburndale and West Newton folks who for over 30 years have been compelled to travel long distances because there is no bridge between Washington street, West Newton, and Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale?"

According to our Auburndale friends, hundreds of persons residing in Wards 3 and 4 have for 30 years, or less, as they are young or old, been forced to walk several extra miles daily because the city has failed to insist that a bridge be constructed over the B. & A. tracks at Crescent street. Before the tracks were depressed, some 30 years past, there was a grade crossing at Crescent street, but at that time so dominant was West Newton hill in the Newton City Government that not only were bridges built at Washington, Highland and Chestnut streets, where grade crossings had been located, but also at Putnam and Felton streets, where there had been no crossings before. This gave the residents of West Newton hill five bridges on which to cross the tracks, all located within a distance of a few hundreds of yards. To accomplish this no bridge was erected at Crescent street. The crossing there was abolished, and the folks who had used this crossing were compelled to walk to West Newton or Auburndale while going to and from their homes. In other words, to afford unusual facilities to the West Newton hill people, hundreds residing on "the flats" between West Newton and Auburndale were discriminated against. The few of them who attempted to short-cut by intruding over the railroad tracks at Crescent street faced arrest for trespass. In fact, a number were arrested from time to time for this offense. Respectable law-abiding persons received the stigma of police court records because of this. Many, so arrested, were "on their way to church when taken into custody."

It is argued that a new and very potent reason has come into existence to demand the building of a bridge at Crescent street in the near future. This reason is the new junior high school at Washington and Myrtle streets. Comparatively few of the pupils who will attend this school will come from the territory to the west of it. The Waban children will be provided for, within a few years, by a junior high school at Newton Highlands. Comparatively few children will come from Newton Lower Falls. Two golf courses and a private school occupy much land to the west and southwest. A large percentage of the pupils of the West Newton junior high will come from the territory across the B. & A. tracks. These children, residing in those sections near Lexington, Pine, Elm and Webster streets, and Auburndale avenue, will be forced to make long trips to reach the school, and to return to their homes. A bridge at Crescent street is absolutely required to serve these pupils. Some of them undoubtedly will yield to the lure of crossing the tracks where Crescent street should cross. Fatalities may result from this practice. The proponents for the bridge at Crescent street call attention to the provisions being made for a foot tunnel at the Eliot depot, and for a foot bridge at Chestnut Hill. They ask: "Is there not a much greater need for a bridge at Crescent street?"

The High School group of Girl Reserves will present "Patty Makes Things Hum" in the gymnasium on the evening of Saturday, April 30, at eight o'clock. The play, written by Caroline Draper Gilpatrick, is being coached by Miss Helen Ratcliffe. The cast is as follows: Captain Braithwaite, Mary Moriarty; Captain Little, Chloris Horsman; Mr. Green, Eleanor Babbitt; Mr. Smith, Mildred McVean; Mrs. Smith, Olive Clark; Mrs. Green, Isabel Soule; Patience Little (Patty), Anna McPhee; Helen Braithwaite, Margaret Sutcliffe; Hope Dunbar, Beulah Angell; Hyacinth, Ethel Arsenault. The girls have been working very earnestly in preparing for this play and we hope they will be rewarded by a large and enthusiastic audience. The proceeds are to be used for Conference expenses.

Mr. White, Instructor of English Literature at Boston University, will speak on "Modern Poetry" at the meeting of April 25. Mrs. Clarence C. Smith spoke on "What Money Cannot Buy" at the meeting of April 18. Following the talk, there were games, particularly demonstrating some of the points spoken of by Mrs. Smith.

SMALL HOMES LANDSCAPE
DEPARTMENT OPENS

There has been such a demand for better home grounds and gardens by small home owners, that WARREN H. MANNING OFFICES, INC., Harvard square, Cambridge, announce the opening of a small homes department in connection with their regular landscape work and regional planning.

Arthur S. Talbot has been made director of this new service. He has been representing the Manning Offices in the same type of landscape work in Chicago and Cleveland, as have other members of the organization who have given this idea a trial in St. Louis and Birmingham, and other cities, where smaller homes were being artistically arranged in new subdivisions, and suburban developments.

Mr. Talbot expects to help the smaller home owners in the vicinity of Metropolitan Boston arrange their new grounds or rearrange the existing ones and promote community development.

The minimum charges which make this service possible, include a visit or two on the grounds, discussions with the client as to their desires—and the presentation of planting plans—sketches of garden features, and any other details pertaining to the exact location of various trees—shrubs—perennial beds, and garden features. This plan will enable the owner to continue to develop his property, gradually as the pocketbook permits, but always contributing to a finished design.

MORE DRUNKEN DRIVERS

The report of the Newton Police Department for 1926 shows that more persons were arrested in this city last year for driving while under the influence of liquor, than had been arrested during any previous year. Altogether 82 drunken drivers were brought to police headquarters last year. Forty less drivers were arrested than the preceding year. That is, forty less ordinary jags. As there were 22 more drunken drivers arrested in 1926 than in 1925, 18 fewer soused individuals reached the cells at West Newton during last year than during 1925. However, that is a slight improvement, and cause for hope. For violating the liquor laws, 28 offenders were brought into court during 1926 as compared with 21 in 1925. In the juvenile court 245 boys and girls of 16 or under appeared. Of the 1813 adults arrested during the year, 71 were women. Fifty-three persons were sent to the House of Correction at Cambridge, two to the Concord Reformatory, two to the women's prison at Sherborn, seventeen boys were sent to the Lyman School and one girl to Lancaster. Appeals from sentences were taken by 129 found guilty.

SPIDERS

Mr. J. H. Emerton will give an illustrated lecture on spiders next Sunday, April 24, at 3 P. M., at the Children's Museum of Boston, according to an announcement made recently by the Museum. There will be colored drawings of spiders on exhibition showing different varieties, and live specimens making their webs.

This lecture is intended for adults and children above the fifth grade of school. Tickets may be obtained free at the Museum, and at the Public Libraries of Brookline and Jamaica Plain.

DEATH OF ALDER-
MAN FAVINGER

Sudden Death Last Friday Night of Prominent Lawyer

Alderman Charles L. Favinger died suddenly Friday night at his home on Windsor road, Waban, death being attributed to heart disease.

Mr. Favinger was serving his second term as a member of the Newton board of aldermen and was a valuable and influential member of that body.

He was born in Frederica, Del., 17 years ago, and was the son of Cyrus B. and Mary (Luff) Favinger. He first studied at Wilmington Conference Academy at Dover, Del., then at Tome Institute at Port Deposit, Md., where he prepared for college. He then entered Bowdoin, from which he was graduated in the class of 1906, later taking the course at the Harvard Law School from which he was graduated in 1913. That same year he was admitted to the bar and became affiliated with the Boston law firm of Blodgett, Jones & Burnham, later becoming a partner in the firm.

Mr. Favinger was a specialist in Laws governing banking, and was counsel for the First National Bank of Boston in important cases, including the bank tax case.

He was a member of the Boston Bar Association, Zeta Psi Fraternity, the University Club, the Boston and Newton Chambers of Commerce, and was president of the Bowdoin Alumni Association of Boston.

Mr. Favinger is survived by his widow, who was Alice Poore, and three children, George L. Favinger, Helen P. Favinger and Anne Favinger, all living at home.

Funeral services were held at his late residence on Monday afternoon and there was a large attendance of friends and business associates.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. Joseph C. McDonald, pastor of the Union Church at Waban. A trio played Handel's "Largo," Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Lead Kindly Light." The pallbearers were Donald M. Hill of Waban; Albert T. Gould of Waban, who is connected with Mr. Favinger's firm; Robert W. Moore, Jr., of Waban, City Solicitor; Joseph W. Bartlett of Waban; George U. Hatch of Greenfield, who was his classmate at Bowdoin College, and S. C. W. Simpson of Newton Center.

Mayor Edwin O. Childs and the members of the Board of Aldermen were present in a body, and as further mark of respect on the part of the city flags on all public buildings were flown at half-staff as they had been since Mr. Favinger's sudden death on Friday.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Rev. Mr. McDonald.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

COMING EVENTS

Shakespeare Club of Newton
Highlands

The meeting of the Shakespeare Club scheduled for the 18th was unavoidably cancelled too late for notice in this column but two enjoyable events only a week apart will reconcile members for its loss. On Saturday afternoon, the 23rd, the Club most appropriately—not to mention pleasantly—celebrates the dramatist's birthday by attending the performance of "Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Repertory Theatre, preceded by a Luncheon.

On the 30th, Mrs. Mary Blakemore of Newton, will be hostess for the Club's Annual Meeting at the home of her niece, Mrs. William Forrest Pillsbury of Berwick road, Newton Centre. This double courtesy to the Club for their big day of the year is most gracious.

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

On April 25th the members of the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands continue their study of "Peer Gynt," under the direction of two of their associates, Mrs. George F. Hardy and Mrs. Ernest G. Haggood, who are more than this neighborly term implies, since they occupy the two leading offices of the Club, president and vice-president respectively. Mrs. Edward G. Swift opens her home at 25 Woodcliff road for this meeting at 2:30 o'clock.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

On Monday evening, also, the 25th, the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club brings to a close its delightful year of activities and programs. The Annual Meeting will be held at Pettee Inn at 7:30 o'clock, with reports of officers, election of new leaders, a social gathering, and refreshments.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

On the same day the Monday Club of Newton Highlands adds one more triumph to its yearly array of goodly things by celebrating its Annual Meeting with a Luncheon at the home of Mrs. Florence E. Foster, 1058 Walnut street. Wisely, Mrs. Foster is made chairman of the Committee in charge of this event, with capable helpers in Mrs. P. A. Campbell, Mrs. James Kingman, Mrs. Charles Ogden, and Mrs. R. W. Barnes. It may be safely prophesied that to the business of annual reports and election of officers will be added some pleasurable program, as well as the beauty and satisfaction of a decorative and appetizing feast.

Waban Woman's Club

Now are indeed the days of Annual Meetings, and the Waban Woman's Club has elected to tie itself—or themselves—unto the Brae Burn Country Club on Monday, the 25th, for this Annual Event with reports and election of new officers, so that they may enjoy in these beautiful country surroundings a Luncheon at one o'clock, preceding the reports. It is announced that membership fees are due at this meeting, and should be made payable to the Waban Woman's Club, and sent to the treasurer, Mrs. George V. Phipps, 196 Kent road.

Newton Federation of Women's Clubs

The last Executive Board Meeting before the Annual Meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will take place next Tuesday afternoon, the 26th, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Welfare Bureau, 12 Austin street, Newtonville. Delegates and interested Clubwomen are urged to be present. This is the last Board Meeting over which Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., will preside, as she has decided to leave the president's chair after two years of service.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The Newtonville Woman's Club will enjoy their Luncheon that always precedes their Annual Meeting, with reports and election, at the Central Congregational Church, at 12:30 o'clock, on Tuesday, April 26th. The time for the Luncheon has been set ahead a half-hour this year, to allow of the many business reports, and the clever speeches that make up this combination of feast, fun, and formality.

Boston Woman's Civics Club

The many Newton members of the Boston Woman's Civics Club are looking forward with keen anticipation to the Luncheon and Annual Meeting of this small but decidedly "peppy" Club. The "celebrities" who belong to it, and others who always come when invited, promise a program of wit and wisdom in speeches, toasts, and entertainment that vie with the feast, and ways so attractively and bounteously prepared by the Brunswick. This gala day this year comes on Wednesday, April 27th, and will be held at the Hotel Brunswick, with the reception at 12 o'clock. The following guests of honor will be in line: Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, Mrs. A. A. Packard, Mrs. Herbert J. Curney, Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, Mrs. Carl L. Watson, and Mrs. Samuel W. McCall. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 promptly. The president, Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, will act as toast mistress.

Mrs. Mina del Castillo, famed in the music world of the State and General Federation, will furnish a musical program, which will include a noted violinist, and piano solos by her own noted self. A feature of the program, too, will be a playlet, "The Bath Room Door" given by members of the Dorchester Woman's Club.

Newton Circle, Inc.

The date for the Bridge Party of the Newton Circle is Wednesday, April 27th, and not the 22nd as stated last week. This will give an opportunity to those who may have been unable to go to this enjoyable party on the 22nd, although it is regretted that there may be some inconvenience by the incorrect announcement. The Bridge has been arranged as a method of adding to the coffers of this excellent Club that is doing so much good quietly in our community, and surely there is no way—acknowledged by all who plan schemes to entice funds from open pocketbooks—that is so effective. It would seem that Bridge lovers abound, possibly not only for the game but for the attractive sociability that surrounds it. Mrs. E. P. Brown generously opens her home, 14 Washington street, for the affair.

Two days later, the 29th, the Annual Meeting takes place at the new Florence Crittenton Home near Oak square, at 2:30 o'clock. This meeting has been opened to all interested persons to attend, that they may learn of the splendid work this Club is doing, if they are not aware of it, and be enthused to aid it by becoming members. Mayor Edwin O. Childs will speak—an eloquent voice raised as always in a good cause—and Mrs. Celia Wellman will tell of many interesting experiences in her work. Mrs. Wellman's life is full of experiences in aid of young people before the Newton District Court, and what she can tell should be an inspiration to all who wish to see thoughtless, indifferent, browbeaten and consequently perverted, youth protected and cared for. Unfortunate environment can be responsible for great unhappiness that leads to crime, or to degradation, and the sympathetic understanding of this, and wise correction, such as is the work of the Newton Circle should be helped by all who can give their aid. Attendance at this Annual Meeting would give full information.

Newton Community Club

April 28th—Thursday—is the date for the Annual Meeting of the Newton Community Club. The Underwood School Hall is the place of meeting, as usual, at 2:30 o'clock, and annual reports of officers and chairmen, election of new leaders, music, and refreshments are the order of the afternoon. Mrs. J. Porter Russell retires as president, her allotted two years having expired, and the meeting will vote in a new presiding officer, as well as other changes that must be made. The Annual Meeting that sees a change is always more exciting and interesting, as it witnesses clever fare well speeches, and as clever ones of acceptance of the new trust.

Members are reminded that dues must be paid at this time, and the treasurer will receive them at this meeting.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Next week with the Newton Centre Woman's Club is one of many and varied delights, opening with the Annual Children's Carnival on Tuesday, the 26th, at 2 p. m., for which the Department of Activities, under the chairmanship of Mrs. George J. Murphy, has made elaborate plans. The entertainment will be followed by dancing and refreshments, three things to thrill the hearts of childhood. And all children may claim this pleasure, whether of Club members or not, the only stipulation being a fee of fifty cents admission.

The program following the regular monthly business meeting which takes place on Thursday, April 28th, at 2:30 o'clock, is in the hands of the Public Health Committee, Mrs. Alden D. Wheeler, chairman. The speaker of the afternoon is Dr. Abraham Myerson, and his subject "Some Fundamental Qualities of Personality," sounds very fascinating. The elusive success-provoking element of life, Personality, is of a quality that one wonders what qualities will be ascribed to it, by this speaker.

The Art Committee, of which Mrs. W. Cornell Appleton is chairman, and which has given so many worthwhile studies for the Club members during the season, once more scores in the announcement that they are arranging for an Exhibition in the Art Gallery from April 28th to May 5th of the articles completed in the Furniture Painting Class, which has been meeting under the direction of Mrs. Ethel T. Caldwell. This opportunity to view the results of their labors, and the prowess of their hands, will be welcomed by fellow members, and the only "out" about such an attractive display is the arousing of envious feelings on the part of those who had the chance to do likewise and lost their golden opportunity. If there is anything that gives more happiness than the creation of pretty and useful things, through the skill of one's own hands and mind, it has yet to be discovered in this world of modern and mysterious inventions!

Last—and by far the most alluring, perhaps—of the week's offerings is one by the Activities Committee, with Mrs. Fred L. Morgan acting as chairman for the Pageant: "The Holy Grail" which is to be presented with the Club women in the east, and under the supervision of Mrs. Maude Nichols Lyon, on Friday, April 29th, at 8 p. m. (sharp, is the added information). After the opening of the performance the doors will be closed for twenty minutes, and those who plan to attend should note this rule, that they may not lose the prologue that is evidently planned as the beautiful keynote. No more fitting time could have been chosen than the Easter season for the presentation of such a subject.

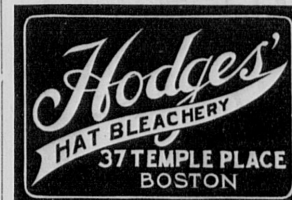

And besides these offerings there is the announcement of great joy to students who desire to go to college, and possibly do not see the way clear, to learn that application may now be made for the Jennie C. Harwood Scholarship, which is awarded annually by the Newton Centre Woman's Club, and which is another outlet for good.

This Scholarship is available for girls graduating from the Newton High School in June, who need financial aid during their Freshman year at college. It is preferably awarded to a resident of Newton Centre, other conditions being equal. The applications should be filed in writing, at once, with the chairman of the Educational Committee, Mrs. Frederick M. Gileson, 29 Park Lane, Newton Centre. Lists are closed Monday, April 25th, at 6 p. m.

RECENT EVENTS

Auburndale Woman's Club

The thirteenth Annual Meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club was held at the Club House on Thursday, April 14th. Two hundred members, a capacity number, enjoyed the luncheon served by a committee for the benefit for the Club's Special Fund. Mrs. J. Warren Buckman was chairman, assisted by Mrs. E. K. Burgess, Miss Edith Kimball, Mrs. William Medlicott, Mrs. Stuart Southgate, Mrs. John Stickney, Miss Gertrude Wightman (Continued on Page 13)

Here is relief for the budget
battlers, who just can't see a new
hat on the immediate horizon.
Hodges' Hat Bleachery is much like Cinderella's fairy godmother. Your old hat, which now reposes for-lornly on the wardrobe shelf, can
be steamed, dyed, cleaned, remodelled into any of fifty new styles
which Hodges has to choose from,
and finally persuaded to look as
trim and saucy as the latest millinery creation sponsored by Paris
and New York.

If you have an expensive hat
that is rather soiled—take it to Hodges' Hat Bleachery, where they have satisfied thousands for the last 50 years. They can renovate it, without removing the trimming at
all. No matter whether it is a Milan, a Visca or a Felt, they will give it renewed confidence in its smartness.

New wires and binding put in hats of all kinds within 24 hours'
service.

Solded gloves cleaned and repaired
the very best possible. Take those to Hodges! You'll find the service unusually prompt, and the results
amazing.

Newton Community Club

On Thursday, April 14th, also, the Newton Community Club enjoyed its annual Musicales, arranged by the chairman of the Music Committee,
Mrs. R. LeRoy Schell. The Club Choral Class, assisted by Carl Webster, Cellist; James R. Houghton, Baritone, and Mrs. George Pratt Maxim, Reader, gave us a most delightful afternoon, singing with harmony and beauty, and with excellent interpretation. Mr.
Houghton has proven himself a director of ability.

The preliminary business was very brief, and then Mrs. Russell turned the program over to Mrs. Schell. Two announcements of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Raymond G. Coppins, are called to the attention of Club women: first, the drive for $10,000 by the Welfare Bureau, and second, the notice of a Reading to be given at the Newton Community Theatre, by Richard Halliburton, author of "A Royal Road to Romance," on Sunday afternoon, April 24th, at 3:30 o'clock. The

EASTER PAGEANT

The Young People of Trinity Church on Sunday evening gave "The City of God," an Easter pageant by Esther Willard Bates. The pageant opened with the Hope of the World (the Star of Bethlehem) bringing the foundations (the twelve daughters) to the City. The daughters are repulsed, and the building of the City is retarded, by Unbelief, Temptation, Persecution, and Betrayal. These evil powers cringe before Martyrdom, the Passion Angels, and the Four Martyrs; and finally are overcome by the symbols of our Lord's Passion, as presented by the Twelve Angels. The final scene is that of the Triumph of the City of God, and the victory of Martyrdom.

The cast included Barbara Randlett, Thelma Davy, Barbara Flecknoe, Marian Williams, Ruth Johnson, Dorothy Warner, Dorothy Dubois, Esther Waters, Helen Whiteman, Phoebe Coombs, Barbara Hockridge, Virginia

COLLEGE NEWS

By Harold P. Carver, N. H. S. '26

Turning from the time from the haunts of John Harvard we will trek over the Boston and Albany to the city of Elms, or New Haven, where the beloved Bull Dog holds forth, eating in an eager fashion from the huge Bowl that receives all the wandering athletes that dare its approaches. Here, where the comrade of John, Ellihu Yale, set up his establishment of learning, and fount of knowledge, some Newton boys have made this their stopping place for some four years. Needless to say the educational system of the East develops largely from one or the other of these two universities that are mentioned above. Yale's Dramatic School and her Sheffield Scientific School are landmarks on the upward climb of the searchers for knowledge. The college is different in other ways from Harvard, since it has the national fraternities, only barring them from having a chapter house and limiting the number of members that can be taken in each year. Nevertheless the fraternity system at Yale is one of the best in the country and the finest type of spirit prevails there at all times. Also the marvelous campus that has been rapidly gaining headway in the last few years is one of the distinctive features of the Blue's home hearth. The plans call for the massing of the buildings in a true campus effect, patterned after the more recent western colleges and entirely different from the usual city college that has a large body of undergraduates. Her athletic system also has shown its value in that she, too, believes in athletics for all and to that end is making plans for her great Walter Camp Memorial Field, an enterprise that all colleges have helped in to some degree. This last is one of the finest samples of true sportsmanship for the colleges, all that were on the football playing field, dedicated, their largest game to the great inventor and preserver of the game, an act of genuine unselfishness that was tempered with no thought of jealousy. All in all Yale well may hold its head high and receive the honors due a college that has kept abreast of the times in all matters of education, physical, mental, and moral.

There are three boys from Newton attending classes at the university although at present the above statement is not quite true since they are on vacation. In the senior class of this year is Robert Spencer of Newtonville who graduated from Newton in 1923 after entering from Morrilton High School. He was one of the most brilliant boys that ever left Newton, standing as ranking man most of the time. His literary time that he was there. The work was of the finest type, and the future should be bright for him in the ways of writing. Along with the gift of writing, he added that other valuable faculty of speaking and in that end was the Class Orator of his class, an office that is now buried in the shades of the past due to the inertia of the student body as a mass. In this connection he was a member of the old Debating Club for some three years, being chosen as the Vice-President of the group in his final term. He was on the debating team his junior year and when the prize speaking contests were inaugurated he was selected as one of the speakers at the opening trials. The innovation of a speaking club that was not a debating club was nourished in his brain and when the old organization had clearly showed that it was a remnant of the past, he presented the idea of a Forum where the class could meet and discuss, rather than debate. Accordingly the idea was accepted, and he found himself designated as the first president. During his time in the chair the club was most efficient and the object aimed at was achieved. There is no doubt that an organization of this sort is needed, but to create an interest in the youth of today for speaking in other than the social sense is an utter impossibility. The Glee Club held his attention for the two years prior to his graduation, and he also wrote in some sports along with his other work. He was manager of tennis his final year, and the season was a great success due to the team, and also to the splendid schedule he arranged. When the Newtonite came into existence he gave up his Review work and plunged into this new type of editing and then was delegated to publish the Newtonian for that year, which he did with excellent results.

Richard Vaughn of Newton Centre, a member of the junior class at Eli, has been following in the foot-steps of his elder brother, Wayland, who graduated two springs ago from the same university. Dick left Newton after a splendid career in athletics to spend a year at Andover where he carried on much as he has done lately, being the mainstay of the hockey team and later of the ball nine. While at Newton he was one of the great sextet that took into camp practically all the leading teams in the vicinity and only fell before the team that came out of Melrose. While at Andover, however, he retaliated to the extent of being the leading scorer at the Academy and one of the finest skaters that had ever graced the ice at the school. In his last two seasons at Newton he convinced Mr. Dick that he was capable of playing short-stop and despite an erratic fielding average he was one of the best players in that position. His hitting was not as heavy but it was hard, and when it came to running bases he was decidedly in advance of most school-boy base-runners. His hitting was one of the things that saved the day for Andover more than once and when he left for Yale he was already labeled as a good prospect for the teams. He more than lived up to the label for he promptly became the back-bone of the hockey sextet, and then when baseball came around was the chief reason for the humiliation of the Harvard freshmen that spring. He reported the next year for the varsity, and after some early season substituting he earned the regular berth as wing on the varsity. Later when the call for the ball candidates came he faced even a stiffer task for he was out for short-stop against a reputation, if nothing else, for he was trying for Mac Aldrich's place. His again demonstrated his ability and was held as the varsity short-stop all the year. This season his wizardry at hockey has made him such a figure in Yale hockey circles that they elected him unanimously to lead the team next year.

The third aspirant for a degree is Malcolm A. MacIntyre who graduated from Newton in '25, and now is a sophomore at the university. He is one of the most industrious boys that ever entered a college, for he is putting himself through and has so far managed to swing a fairly heavy burden. He is a member of one of the best fraternities on campus, and is excelling as usual along the lines of scholarship. His maiden effort at football was crowned with success since he made his numerals against Harvard in the rout of the Crimson his freshman year. For a boy that transferred to as large a high school as Newton, he made a greater success than any person working under similar difficulties. The two largest clubs elected him into their membership in his first months at the school; namely the English Club and Alpha Gamma Tau. He then was selected by his classmates to various class offices that held a great deal of responsibility for the holder. Under the new constitution he was chosen as Vice-President of the Associates, the governing body, and then was elected by his own class to the post of treasurer. The Executive Council had the benefit of his wisdom for the year, and then he was chosen to be the Editor of the Newtonian, an unusual honor for a newcomer. His work was most successful in the publishing of the year book, and his experience that he had gained in the Newtonite office helped him immeasurably. His efforts in track were first class, for he was one of the leading dash men of the team that year, placing in a number of meets. The Prize Speaking attracted his attention and after some efforts his ability won him second place. When one stops to consider that he did all this in the brief space of one year, one wonders what would have happened had he spent all four years at the school.

HAVE YOUR HEADLIGHTS FOCUSSED

A campaign has been on under the auspices of the Boston Automobile Club to correct the thousands of improperly focussed headlights on automobiles. It has been impossible to drive with any degree of safety at night time because of glaring headlights. Lamps that should cast their beams down on the streets ahead of them, are so focussed that they cast the beam up or sideways, mostly up. Such improperly focussed lights prevent operators of automobiles approaching from an opposite direction being able to see the road ahead. Hundreds of pedestrians have been killed as a result, and many had accidents caused.

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin states "that a vigorous drive will be waged against automobile drivers whose cars carry improperly focussed lights. It is about time that such a campaign should be waged. Few of the larger states have been so lax in enforcing the headlight law as has Massachusetts. It is also about time that the police of cities and towns should co-operate with the state officials in this matter. Mr. Goodwin, with his small staff is utterly unable to enforce this law. There is no good reason why Newton, for instance, with its large number of police officers, cannot apprehend those autoists whose cars have glaring headlights, but also the many cars on the streets which have but one headlight working.

SOME MUCH NEEDED INFORMATION ON FLOWERS

The Belmont Gardens, at 159 Brighton street, Belmont, has issued a very attractive booklet giving the public directions for keeping cut flowers and plants after they are purchased from your florist. This is an excellent idea and should be of interest to those who buy flowers. Many times flowers do not keep and sometimes it is due to lack of knowledge of their proper care. This booklet is called "How to Care for Flowers." The Belmont Gardens will gladly send one copy free of charge upon request. Address, Belmont Gardens, 159 Brighton street, Belmont.

WELD SUBURBS

Metropolitan Regional Council Not to Promote Annexation

Another meeting of the organization being formed under the initiative of members of the Boston City Council to bring about closer relations between Boston and its suburbs, was held last Friday night at Boston City Hall. Aldermen William E. Earle was present as the representative of Newton. The other communities represented were Everett, Woburn, Belmont, Lexington, Waltham, Milton, Canton, Quincy and Braintree. Most of the cities and towns within a ten mile radius were not represented. The feeling still seems to prevail that the movement is but an opening wedge for another annexation scheme, which meets with but scant approval from the great majority of the communities which would be affected. To dispel this belief the following declaration of purpose of the movement was presented:

1. The name of the organization shall be the Metropolitan Regional Council of Boston. Its purpose shall be to co-ordinate all phases of regional activity within the Metropolitan District and to promote community interest and co-operation. It shall not in any way contemplate annexation by Boston of any of the cities and towns in the Metropolitan area.

2. The organization shall consist of a voluntary association comprised of one representative from each of the forty cities and towns within the Metropolitan District, said representative to be appointed in the cities by the Mayor and City Council, and in the towns by the Board of Selectmen. Representatives shall preferably be appointed from among the Mayors and members of City Councils or Boards of Selectmen but may be appointed out of side of these bodies when it is thought best.

3. The Council shall organize by the election of a Chairman, a Vice-Chairman, and a Secretary and Treasurer, who shall serve as three of the members of the Executive Committee provided for in Paragraph five.

4. The representatives from each of the following groups of communities shall further organize by the election of a Chairman, a Vice-Chairman, and a Secretary and Treasurer, who shall serve as three of the members of the Executive Committee provided for in Paragraph five.

Former directors and members are expected to attend in large numbers and invitations are extended to all men who are interested in the work of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association.

Mayor Edwin O. Childs will be the toastmaster and president Frederick D. Fuller will outline the proposed improvements in the building and equipment. ### THE PLUMMER MEMORIAL LIBRARY

Enthusiastic Mass Meeting at Auburndale Club Hears Description and Financial Status of New Building to be Completed by January, 1928

A very interesting project is on foot to provide Auburndale with proper library facilities in the shape of the Plummer Memorial Library, to be located at the junction of Ash and Auburn streets, where a suitable site for the library was donated by a prominent Auburndale family, together with a generous money contribution. It was in recognition of this valuable aid that it was decided by the people to name it the "Plummer Memorial Library."

It is expected that the building will be completed not later than January next when it will be turned over to the City of Newton to be operated as a branch of the Newton Free Library.

The architects, Smith and Walker of Boston, with E. C. Redstone associated, in making their plans, considered carefully the triangular plot and designed a most interestingly planned building, one which will present an exterior of unusually striking and picturesque quality. The architects have developed the building along the lines known as the "butterfly" or "sun-trap" plan, consisting of two wings meeting at an obtuse angle, with the entrance vestibule at their junction, and directly at the rear, opposite this, an ell to provide for the librarian's room and service. Tudor Gothic has been decided upon as the style best suited to this particular case. The exterior will be of textured brick, laid with an interesting lozenge bond, the lower wall introducing granite merging into the brick, with the trim of cast stone. The bay window elevation will show an excellent use of half-timber work filled in with brick in special patterns, and the chimney end will be developed with an unusual but effective use of slate and will be topped by clustered flues. The entrance porch, buttressed and picked out with cast stone trim, with its cartouche-panel and patterned brick, will be a very handsome feature, one which will give the final touch of distinction to a building which will rank as unique in this region, and one which will reflect great credit on all concerned.

A very large and successful Mass Meeting was held Monday evening, April 25th, in the auditorium of the Auburndale Club.

After a few words of welcome Dr. J. Arthur Furbish, President, the pupils of the eighth grade of the Burr School sang some very lively and interesting songs, one of them specially written for the occasion.

Then followed a stirring address by Mayor Childs in his usual forceful and happy vein, setting forth the necessity and advantages of a well equipped library for the use of our Village.

MINSTREL SHOW

Palestine Chapter Presents Successful Show Before Large Audience

Some eight hundred spectators pronounced the Eastern Star minstrel show which was given last Saturday evening in the Newton high school auditorium, an unqualified success. From the opening chorus until the grand finale the rapid fire jokes, pleasing dances, songs and other features kept the audience on the qui vive. Mr. Alfred Allen, the interlocutor, kept things going smoothly.

End man William Skelton as "Asperin," was the outstanding end man of the show. His continual line of patter, comic antics and his solo, "If I Didn't Know Your Husband and You Didn't Know My Wife," made a big hit. He was ably supported on the ends by Cuticura (Mrs. Edna T. Cunningham), Peruna (Miss Gertrude L. Spear), Bromo Selzer (Walter Moore), Iodine (William G. Russell), and Swamproot (Thomas W. Stuart), and by a competent chorus. Every singer and every feature act was forced to give an encore so enthusiastic was the audience.

The first feature was the singing of several songs by Miss Annie Blake, more to which the audience responded generously. Mrs. S. Elizabeth Lewis recited a piece entitled "Husbands Is Husbands" and if the applause is any criterion it was not only appreciated by many wives but by many husbands as well.

"Moonbeam, Kiss Her For Me," one of the popular songs of today, sung by Swamproot was one of the biggest hits of the show and he was given a great ovation. A Spanish dance and song entitled, "In A Little Spanish Town," by Miss Frances Crowley followed. Interlocutor Alfred Allen then gave Peruna the centre of the stage and she sang "All Men Are Devils" which pleased the audience especially when she ended with the line, "but the girls are the devils just the same."

$6000 QUOTA

American Red Cross Asks Newton For Contributions

President Coolidge, as President of the United States and of The American National Red Cross, has issued a proclamation to the people directing their attention to the "sad plight of thousands of their fellow citizens" in the flooded areas of the Mississippi river and its tributaries, and urging "that generous contributions be promptly forthcoming to alleviate their suffering."

The flood situation changes rapidly from hour to hour and it is impossible to estimate the extent of the damage. The flood affects eight States and is one of the most extensive in the history of our country—threatening to become our greatest flood catastrophe. If the floods reach the heights river engineers predict the number whose most primary needs must be cared for will jump to double or treble the present estimates.

Every discomfort is being experienced in the stricken area—there are no lights, shelter is scarce, food is carried by boat, heavy rain and sudden cold add to the suffering.

The Newton Chapter of the Red Cross has been asked to send $6,000 to Washington. The President has said "The Red Cross has never failed us and it never will so long as it holds your generous support." Checks should be made payable to the "Newton Chapter, American Red Cross," and sent to 12 Austin street, Newtonville, the office of the Newton Chapter or left at any office of the Newton Trust Co.

WEIRD 8TH BEATS NEWTON

The Everett High School baseball nine defeated Newton high, 9 to 2, last Saturday afternoon at Everett in a game which for eight frames was the best in schoolboy circles this year. Newton should have won by a score of 2 to 1 but for a series of bad breaks in the eighth inning which saw eight Everett players cross the platter.

Newton played like the teams of old for seven frames with the exception of the first when Everett counted once on a single, sacrifice, wild pitch, and a poor throw to first by Stout. From then until the eighth Linquist stood them off when he was backed to the limit by the infield. The local team tied the count in the fourth when deMille, with one down singled, took second on Andres' hit to left and scored when Dragone let the hit get by him. Andres pulling up at third. Mullen sent a high fly to deep left which Dragone speared. Andres beat the throw in to the plate but the umpire ruled Andres out when DiMott threw to Graffam who touched third, claiming that Andres left before the ball was caught.

In the sixth Proctor led off with a single to centre, took second when Fisher let a throw from the pitcher get by him, third on Spain's out at first and counted when DiMott dropped Graffam's throw on McCleary's smash. Neither side threatened again until the disastrous eighth. Fisher led off with a single to centre which Gatchell played safe. DiMott dumped a bunt down the first base-line which Linquist threw wide to Proctor, covering first. Bieller laid down a bunt in front of Andres on a hit and ran play on which Andres tried to nail Fisher at third. The Everett runner had too much of a start and everyone was safe. Graffam doubled down the first base line sending three tallies over. Pagluccia singled, Graffam going to third, stole second and both scored on Ward's single. Noonan drew a pass. Dragone fanned for the first out but Rice singled. Fisher came up again and hit to Linquist. The Newton pitcher deflected it towards shortstop but Spain slipped and fell as he turned to go after it. The hit went for two bases and two more runs counted. Mullen threw to the plate to catch Rice, Andres returned the throw to Stout and he and Proctor ran down Fisher between the sacks. DiMott fled to Proctor to end the inning. Newton had no chance to score in the ninth although McCleary singled. DeMille fanned. Andres fled to Noonan and Mullen struck out.

Notes of the Game

Up until the eighth inning Newton played a great game, the best of the season to date. The eighth was a heart-breaking inning and probably all Everett's runs came as the result of Linquist's bad throw to first. Had the throw been a good one and DiMott retired then Andres would not have had a force play at third on Bieller's bunt and could easily have retired him at first. In that case the situation would have been greatly changed and no damage would have resulted. At best the score would have been tied.

Proctor's single in the sixth frame was like he used to make last year. It was the first time this season that the Newton leader looked natural at the bat. He was taking his old-time swing and local fans are hoping that it will soon mean a return to his old-time form. Gatchell had a quick choice to make in the first of the eighth. Fisher sent a long low fly towards him. Whether to make a stab for it or play it safe was the Newton centrefielder's problem. With none down and the score 2 to 1 in Newton's favor to have attempted a shoestring catch with an even chance of having the ball get by him and go for a triple or possibly a home run would have been inviting disaster. He held up and took it on the first bounce, holding Fisher at first. With a possible chance of a double play Gatchell was right in his playing of the hit.

Andres led the Newton team at bat with two singles out of four times at bat. Linquist, Proctor, deMille, and McCleary each got one single apiece for Newton's other hits. Andres was robbed of a run in the fourth inning when the umpire ruled that he left third before Mullen's fly to left was caught by Dragone. Spain made a nice play on Pagluccia's smash in the second. Bieller had doubled down the third base-line and reached third on Graffam's out. Pagluccia hit to Spain who held Bieller on third by a fake throw and then nailed Jerry at first with a hard and accurate peg.

NEWTON WINS 8 TO 1

Although outlived the Newton high nine defeated the St. Mark's team of Southboro, 8 to 1 at St. Mark's field Wednesday afternoon. Johnny Mullen led the Newton attack with two singles, a sacrifice, and a free ticket. He was closely followed by Sam McCleary who connected safely three times out of five, one of which was good for two sacks.

Wilson and Linquist were found for eight hits but when St. Mark's threatened they tightened and kept the home team shut out until the eighth inning. Newton scored once in the first and fifth and twice in the third, seventh, and ninth. Frank Spain, batting number one crossed the plate four times, Mullen who followed him counted twice as did McCleary. Don Wilson was in good shape, fanning twelve and passing but one.

Spain and deMille flashed a nifty double play to stop a threatening rally by St. Mark's.

Spring Football at Bowdoin

With the sudden appearance of the spring weather that everyone has been looking for, it may seem somewhat out of place to mention that fall is coming with its favorite sport football. Up at Bowdoin, however, there is a keen interest being shown in the spring practise because the coach of last year has turned over the reins to his assistant who is a recent graduate of the college, Morrell by name. Under his charge there are a few of the boys from Newton who are left from last year's Varsity and some of the coming sophomores. Alexander, who has held down the guard position on the front rank, is shaping up well enough to hold his job, and his fraternity brother Shaw, is showing some ability at end play. The real end from Newton is Bob Adams who made a berth this year and is a sure starter the following fall. Along with him is Ham Oakes who has recovered from his injury enough to warrant the prediction that he will see plenty of play in the line. Dan Kennedy the varsity tackle has been out and displayed that his past ability has not decreased. Howland and Spear two substitutes last fall, are endeavoring to work out the kinks. Stuart Stone who lost almost half the freshmen playing season because of a kick received in scrimmage is all right again and seems as if he might be one of the starting backs. Despite the graduations it seems as if the Polar Bear would have as many Newton men on his eleven as formerly.

Adams and Thayer Expected To Score

Although his football interests keep him busy at this time, Bob Adams has devoted himself to constant practise with the javelin and the results are being shown this year. He was a letter winner in the event last year and from all indications is going to be one of the surest scorers that the Maine college has this season in their dual meets. His distances have been the best in the state and are constantly improving by reason of his increased weight and skill. Along with him in the field event section at Bowdoin is Harry Thayer, former Waban boy, who has taken up the hammer-throwing event with considerable prospects of making good in it. He is very light, but offsets that deficiency with agility while he is in the ring.

Green Freshman Runners Out

The reason that Philip Rising has not been mentioned in the recent news dispatches about the Big Green's track team is mainly due to an injury that he received this winter to his thumb which has caused him some pain but most of all has forced him to give up his favorite event, the javelin throw. Gallagher and McQuestion, the two freshmen stars, are beginning to find the outdoor conditions to their liking and with a little warmer weather will be ready to turn in some record times for the 1926 team.

Miss Dennett At Pembroke

At Pembroke, the Woman's College of Brown, the work of Miss Florence Dennett has been attracting a great deal of attention. She has developed the ancient policy of games for all, along a little different line, for she has tried to teach the girl to excel in the line that she takes up. With that in mind she travelled this past month through the United States trying to discover new games and methods at the various leading universities. Her class meet was a most successful affair where there were so many participants that the work was unusual and at the same time remarkably well done. She is respected by all the students and seems to have a knack of bringing out the best that is in them.

Lingham Chalks Up Win

The Brown freshmen continued their victorious way when they sank the Wentworth Institute nine by the close score of 2 to 1. The game was a close battle due in the main to the fine work of the opposing pitchers, and it was only by dint of a particularly well-pitched game that Philip Lingham was able to come off with the honors. His style was scarcely that of a strike-out king, but by keeping his change of pace back and with careful pitching he did not give the Engineers many good balls to hit at, as the five hits will testify. He not only pitched well, but fielded his position with dexterity turning in five assists.

Bartlette May Win High Honor

With the drawing to a close of the college season at Dartmouth the honor of awarding the Barrett Cup which is the highest honor that a senior can obtain again comes under consideration. One of the Newton boys was selected to be one of the six men from whom the ultimate winner will come. Charles Bartlette of Waban was chosen by his classmates as one of the men who stand out in their class in the all-around way. He has been an active man on campus all of his years, brilliant in his studies, and this year was manager of the Dartmouth football team.

Pals Win Opening Game

The Newton Pals won their first game of the 1927 season last Sunday afternoon from the Riverside B. C. at the Russell Hoyt field in Cambridge. A home run by O'Keefe in the ninth inning dissolved at 6 to 6 tie and gave the Pals a 7 to 6 victory. Jakey Pass was on the mound for the Pals and although touched for nine hits sailed along easily except in the first, fourth and eighth. The Pals counted twice in the first, once each in the third, fifth, sixth, seventh, and ninth.

Hunnefeld Stinging the Ball

Bill Hunnefeld, former Newton boy, now with the Chicago White Sox, is playing the shortfield regularly. He is batting in second place and is stinging the ball hard at all times. The past week he has connected for several timely singles, and counted several runs for the White Sox. Tuesday he led his team at bat with four hits out of four times at bat, all singles.

Vaughan Back in Game

Dick Vaughan has recovered from the ankle injury he received while on the southern trip with the Yale nine. Against Brown last Saturday the Newton Centre youth got one hit in three times at bat, a nice sacrifice, and made two assists in helping the Blue win from Brown, 8 to 2. Tuesday the Tufts nine defeated the Eli team, 2 to 1. When Sawyer, Jumbo twirler allowed but three hits. Dick Vaughan tripled in the seventh inning and came home with the Blue's solitary counter on the next batter's sacrifice fly.

Country Day Hittless

The Country Day school nine went against the Milton Academy team last Saturday at Milton and failed to get a safe hit off Wheeler, star Milton moundsman. Milton got but five hits but took advantage of nine passes and numerous errors to sum up a total of 11 runs.

Hemeon Hitting Well

Buster Hemeon, former Newton high athlete now at Cushing, connected twice in three times up for the Ashburnham team last Saturday against the Athol high team with the academy nine winning 13 to 2.

Exeter Beats Huntington

Exeter, with one former Newton high athlete, and Huntington, with a Waban youth, in their lineups crossed bats last Saturday at Exeter. The home team won, 5 to 2. Neither of the Newton youths hit safely. McCullough played left field for Exeter and got one putout while Souther played third base for Huntington and made one putout and two assists. He also pilfered one sack.

B. U. Athletes Get Certificates

The local youths who have competed on Boston University athletic team during the past year were among those who received their awards at the second all-university assembly at the Boston Arena, Tuesday afternoon. John Lawless, captain-elect of hockey received his certificate to wear the "B. U." J. Frederick Onthank received one in track, Leo Boya, manager in cross-country, and Joe Saunders, 1928, was presented with a certificate of track numerals.

Lawless Homer Wins

The Boston University nine defeated the Lowell Textile School ball tossers Wednesday afternoon, 5 to 4, at Lowell. "Gyp" Lawless of West Newton connected for a home run to break a tie in the sixth just previous to the calling of the game because of rain.

Bryant To Captain Green Mermen

John W. Bryant of Dartmouth College was elected captain of the 1928 Green natators at a meeting of this year's letter men Wednesday. The local youth has been the most consistent dash performer on the Hanover squad this past season.

Country Day Outclasses Belmont Hill

The Country Day school nine outclassed the Belmont Hill team Wednesday afternoon at Belmont, winning by a score of 11 to 5. The local private school players got but seven hits off F. Martin's deliveries but stole 17 bases and profited greatly by Belmont's 11 errors. Madden in right field and Green featured with the stick for Country Day.

Souther Hits For Circuit

Hartwell Souther, Waban youth playing third base for Huntington school, hit for the circuit in the second inning of the game with the Tufts' yearling nine on Wednesday. The bases were empty at the time. The Medford college cubs won out 8 to 5 with a three run rally in the ninth.

Newton Golfers Off To Fast Start

The Newton high golf team got off to a flying start this week by winning both of their scheduled matches. Monday they shut out the Fessenden school golfers, 6 to 0, and Wednesday they lost but one out of six matches to the strong Lowell high team.

Why we sell the DUNLOP TIRE

FOR 39 YEARS Dunlop has been building the world's supreme tire. Dunlops wear longer because Dunlop knows how to build better at each vital point.

Take the hidden carcass beneath the tread. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills for no other purpose than to spin the best long-fibre cotton into the famous cable-twist cord that goes into this carcass.

The extra strength in these cords means an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

The extra "stretch" enables the carcass to give under severe blows, and to come back into its original position without internal injury.

The Dunlop tread—the toughest rubber development known—wears slowly and smoothly, making sure that you get out of your Dunlops, all the extra mileage that added care and longer experience have built into them. We recommend that you put Dunlops on your car.

ANNUAL CIRCUS

Exhibition at Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium Draws Capacity Crowd

The annual exhibition and circus of the gymnasium classes at the Newton Y. M. C. A. was held last Friday night with an interested audience which filled nearly every seat. Throughout the entire evening the interest and enthusiasm of the spectators was kept at a high pitch by the attractive program presented.

Ringmaster Clyde G. Hess, resplendent in high hat, high boots and red coat, announced each event in regular circus fashion. The opening number, a grand parade of all classes, with "Bosco," a trained "Human" elephant, bringing up the rear was followed by marching by members of the Cadet and Junior A classes. Led by Leonard Martin the two classes marched into different and difficult formations terminating with the formation of the letters "Y. M. C. A." The Junior B and Employed boys classes gave a short demonstration on the "elephant," parallel bars covered with mats. Class races, with the Junior B teams the victors, in the majority of contests ended the third number.

Mat pyramids, formed by the Junior Leaders Clubs, brought forth enthusiastic applause from the audience. Later in the evening pyramids on the horse and parallel bars by members of the Senior class were much enjoyed.

Following the mat pyramids President Frederick D. Fuller presented the awards won by the boys and young men during the winter season. The following awards were made:

The Junior B and Employed boys then engaged in a team contest of "Biffen."

Donning boxing gloves and astride a horizontal pole six feet from the floor, one man on each team attempted to knock his opponent from the pole. The Junior B team also came off the victors in this event.

Several members of the Boston Y gymnastic team next put on a wand drill with intricate movements, gracefully performed. Later this same team had a callsthetic drill, showing the movements used to promote muscular development.

Biss and Champagne, two local acrobats, gave a comedy act with clever stunts of balancing, and mat work. Joe Biss drew forth a great round of applause when, to end the act, he called two other men to the floor and lifted them, as well as his partner about a foot off the floor.

Mr. Norman Kitching, one of the members of the Boston Y Gym team, gave one of the most wonderful exhibitions of rope-skipping ever seen in Newton. He neatly cleared the rope as it whirled about him and on one occasion the rope passed between his feet and the floor five times while he was in the air about a foot from the floor.

"Bosco," the trained elephant, whose fore legs were Phil Hardy's and hind legs were Jack Purcell's then came on the floor. His intelligent mathematical feats whose results he gave by movements of his tail or ears, according as the problem was one of subtraction or addition, as well as his ability to stand on four stools and two stools was greatly appreciated. But when Ringmaster Hess asked him if he could Charleston, "Bosco" brought down the house when his hind legs did this now famous dance.

Much interest was displayed in the tiger leaping contest won by Anderson of the senior class. Members of this class dove from a springboard, over a cross-bar, onto the horse. Starting at a fairly low elevation the bar was raised up until at the height of 6 feet, 6 inches only two cleared it successfully, Garfield Anderson and Melville Westgate. On the next height Westgate failed and Anderson won out.

The final act of the evening was performed by the Boston gym team on the parallel bars and the high bar. Difficult acts, concluding with a giant swing on the high bar, on both pieces of apparatus were successfully performed.

The personnel of the exhibition in addition to the members of the Y classes, the Boston team, Ringmaster Hess and the Junior Leaders Club composed of William Earle, John Simonds, Ralph Dunbrack, Andrew Kasper, George Simonds, George Gulan, William Barba, Clifford Kittredge, David Murray, Leonard Martin, Edward Fleming, and Everett Keeler was as follows: music by Miss Florence Walsh; ushers, Geryon Crummett, Norman Stoney, George Van Buskirk, Creighton Gatchell, and Alfred Allen, Jr. The program was under the direction of Physical director Richard B. Simmons and his assistant E. Melville Westgate.

EDITORIAL

Somewhat or other, the following remarks of District Attorney Bushnell, strike us as remarkably appropriate for the present situation: "We are witnessing a most remarkable combination of thoughtlessness on the one hand, and arrogant egoistic delusions of superiority on the other."

"Since when, have we tried cases before the faculty of Oshkosh, or even Harvard or any other college or university, however well-meaning and well-intentioned the gentlemen? Were the faculty of Oshkosh in court when this case was tried? Did they see the witnesses? Did they have the same opportunity as judge and jury to decide guilt or innocence? Are their opinions entitled to the slightest weight whatsoever?"

"Are the mild-mannered gentlemen of South America and Europe, who bombed American embassies in protest against a verdict in a court which they never saw or heard of until they read the paid propaganda sent to them by international organizations, entitled to more weight than the opinion of an upright judge, a decent American jury, after a trial which one of the greatest courts in the English-speaking world has found to have been free from error?"

The sympathy and prayers of all good citizens will be with Governor Fuller during the next few weeks in the decision he must make in the Sacco-Venzetti case. No matter which way he decides there is sure to be a large amount of dissatisfaction. Sensible people, however, will bear in mind that the Governor, with all the facts before him, will, if his acts in the past are any criterion, do what he believes is right, both for the condemned men and for the Commonwealth, and should be prepared to give him their hearty and complete support, no matter what their individual convictions may be in the case.

The attitude taken by the Legislature in the important matter of the future of the Boston Elevated Railway is most disappointing and the leaders of both branches ought and deserve the condemnation of the people for their neglect and indecision on the solution of this problem, which affects so many residents of the Metropolitan area.

The Red Cross has assigned Newton a quota of $500 for the relief of the flood sufferers in the Mississippi valley. With the record Newton has made in the past to these calls for relief, there will be no question that this amount will be promptly raised. Do it now.

We are glad to note that another hearing is to be held on the proposed widening of St. James street, Newton, and we trust that definite action will speedily follow. With this street made a one way street for travel coming on from Boston on the Charles river boulevard, the present conditions are extremely dangerous.

WABAN BUS LINE

Many persons are inquiring, "When will the Waban bus line start?" It appears there is considerable red tape "necessary" before the bus line will be placed in operation. After having been authorized by the Newton Board of Aldermen, the Board had to go before the State Department of Public Works. This Commission decides whether, or not, the streets on which the buses will be operated, are in proper condition to assure the safety of the passengers who will ride in the buses. Wednesday the Public Works Commission ruled that Centre, Lincoln, Woodward and Beacon streets are safe for travel. Today this report of the Public Works Commission was presented to the Public Utilities Commission. This last body will set a date for a hearing on the matter, and when this hearing will have been held, the bus line will be started, assuming that the Public Utilities Commission decides that such service is wanted. As the Board of Aldermen has opined that Newton wants this bus line, it is but a matter of form to hold the hearing.

WEST NEWTON GIRLS' CLUB

The West Newton Girls' Club held a successful bridge and whist party on Tuesday night at the new library building. The first prize in bridge was won by Miss Irene Sullivan; Mrs. Esther Sullivan won second. Mabel M. Thomas took first prize for ladies in the whist contest, and Bessie Peters was second. Louis Burgess won first prize for gentlemen, and Reginald Carvey was second. Following the award of prizes, refreshments were served.

SCHOOL TEACHERS' SALARIES

Several years ago the School Committee of Newton had a manual printed for distribution to the teachers. In this manual it was stated that teachers in the primary and grammar grades would receive a maximum salary of $1800 to $2000. The maximum, however, until last year was $1800. The School Committee felt that in justice to the teachers, because of the statement made in this manual, that the maximum should be increased, and so last year the committee asked the Board of Aldermen to make provision in the 1926 budget for a raise of $100 to all the grade teachers. One reason advanced for giving this increase was—"that the cost of living in Newton is higher than in most cities in Massachusetts, because of the high rents here." At that time Newton stood 5th among the cities of this State in the rate of salaries paid grade school teachers. After the increase was granted, Newton was about second, as compared with other cities.

When the budget was being considered this year, the School Committee again asked the Finance Committee of the Aldermen to recommend another flat increase of $100 to the 135 grade teachers in the Newton schools. This would have brought the maximum to $2000. The members of the Finance Committee asked the members of the School Committee "what reason they could advance for the additional increase?" No economic reason could be given by the School Committee, but it was contended that because of the statement made in the manual, that the maximum was $1800 to $2000, to keep faith with the teachers, they should receive a maximum of $2000. The Finance Committee took the stand "that Newton's grade teachers receive almost the highest salaries paid in Massachusetts for this work, and the taxpayers of this city should not be called upon to pay still higher salaries." The committee refused to recommend the additional increase, and its recommendation was sustained by the Board of Aldermen when the budget was passed.

A peculiar situation exists in Massachusetts as a result of decisions made by the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth regarding increases granted to school teachers in Springfield and Peabody by School Committees in those two cities. After the increases had been granted in those two places, the aldermen of those cities refused to coincide with the action of the school committees, and legal action resulted. The Supreme Court decided "that school committees in Massachusetts possess the right to grant whatever salaries they see fit to the teachers in their respective communities, regardless of the approval of such action by the aldermen, councilmen or selectmen of their cities or towns." The Court said, "that it is inconceivable that the aldermen of a city will refuse to appropriate money to pay salaries authorized by school committees." But the Supreme Court did not state how aldermen and selectmen may be compelled to appropriate money to pay salaries which school committees grant against the wishes of said aldermen and selectmen.

According to rumors current in this city, the Newton School Committee is not entirely pleased at the refusal of the Aldermen to grant the asked for increase to the grade teachers. Cognizant of the ruling of the Supreme Court, the School Committee realizes it could "take the bit in its teeth" and grant the $2000 maximum, despite the adverse action of the aldermen. But the Newton School Committee, composed of reasonably conservative persons, is not apt to act impetuously, and, according to rumor, it has asked for a formal opinion from City Solicitor Joseph Bartlett. If these rumors are true, it is possible that sometime in the near future, the School Committee may have more legal information regarding this vexatious question. Having received it, the committee can then decide whether to abide by the action of the aldermen, or to override said action, and accord the grade teachers the additional $100, which will bring the maximum salaries to $2000, assuming that the aldermen would agree to appropriate the necessary funds.

MEETING FOR PARENTS

There will be a public meeting for parents interested in college affairs at the New High School Auditorium, Newtonville, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the school authorities to discuss the matter of college board examinations. Mr. Francis L. Bacon, director of secondary education for the Newton schools and Mr. Ray Farnum of the Boston Normal Art School will speak.

SIX MONTHS FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

On February 22 Maurice Renton of Cambridge was arrested in this city for driving while under the influence of liquor. He was tried in the local police court the following week and fined $100 for drunken driving, and $10 for drunkenness. He appealed. His trial came up in the Superior Court at Cambridge on Tuesday. He had as a witness Richard Lindsay of New Bedford, who testified that he, and not Renton had been driving the car on the night of the arrest. According to Lindsay's tale, he went into the Alpine Lunch at Newton, leaving Renton and a man named Connor drunk in the car. While he was in the lunch room the police arrested the other two. The police testified that Renton and Connor were the only occupants of the car, and Renton was the driver. When they heard Lindsay's testimony, they had the case continued until Wednesday, and then brought into court as a witness the manager of the Alpine Lunch. He testified that Connor was the man who had come into the restaurant on the night of the arrest, and that Lindsay had not been present. The jury found Renton guilty, and Judge Dillon characterized Lindsay's testimony as one of the worst acts of perjury he had observed in 28 years experience on the bench. He then sentenced Renton to six months in jail, remarking that he had been a party to the perjury. The police are looking for Lindsay.

Yesterday was "wutiol" day at the West Newton Court. Four men were found guilty of operating automobiles "while under the influence of liquor," and fined heavily. One, who had been convicted of a similar offense five years ago, had to go to the Cambridge jail for 30 days. John J. Sullivan of 741 Beacon street, Newton Centre, was the unlucky man who drew this sentence. In addition he was fined $25 for driving without a license.

James McVicker, the Babson Institute student who was arrested at Nonantum Square a week ago by Officer Feeley, had a flock of charges to answer, and he was found guilty on all of them. For driving "wutiol," he was fined $100, for being drunk $10, for driving without a license $25, and for carrying a revolver without a permit, he was given a suspended sentence of six months in the House of Correction. McVicker testified that he was unaware that the gun was in the pocket of the automobile, where Officer Dargon found it. The car was not his.

Richard Hoover of 438 Washington street, Brighton, and Arthur Lindgren of 159 Waverley street, Belmont, were each fined $100 for driving "while under the influence of liquor." They were arrested on the same morning as McVicker. The police detected them when they raced through Nonantum Square in two flivvers, each accompanied by a young girl; sisters residing in Watertown.

In court yesterday Albert Warren of Newton street, Weston, charged with refusing to produce his automobile license when requested to do so by a police officer, had his case placed on file. Another case placed on file was that of Avery Stevens of 125 Beaumont avenue, Newtonville, charged with driving on the north side of Commonwealth avenue. Charles E. Buckley of the Copley Plaza Hotel, was fined $10 for speeding.

The motorcycle squad is now riding new Indian motorcycles, which have replaced the Harley-Davidsons. Officer "Bill" Dowling, the veteran of the squad, is the day motorcycle officer, and will cover the whole city. "Larry" O'Donnell and "Bert" Turner will again chase the speeders along Commonwealth avenue nights. Two new men on the squad, John J. Murphy and Alfred Hammell, will "gather in" those menaces who use Washington street as a race-track. Officer "Jim" Goddard, who for several years rendered very efficient work as a motorcycle cop, has become too "heavy" for the cavalry branch of the police, and has been assigned to infantry duty.

George Wallace, an electrical contractor from Everett, was fined $50 by Judge Bacon on Wednesday for destruction of property. Wallace had installed the electric lights and wiring in two houses at 17 Garland road and Jackson terrace, and had not been paid for his work and fixtures, so he broke into these houses and removed what he considered to be his property, tearing plaster off walls and doing other damage in the process. A detective named Callahan, employed by the Guarantee Mortgage & Security Company, which holds mortgages on the houses, caught Wallace as he was unloading the houses. Judge Bacon found Wallace not guilty on the charges of larceny and breaking and entering.

In court tomorrow Carl Moore of Neshoba road, Waban, will answer to the charge of keeping an unruly dog. The complainant is Alderman George Heathcote who also lives on Neshoba road. He alleges that Moore's dog, a big shepherd, wallowed a small cocker spaniel belonging to him. Moore was summoned into court following the complaint, but twice failed to appear. He claims that his wife received the summons and failed to give it to him before departing to Georgia.

DEATH OF MR. MURPHY

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting and luncheon of the Woman's Association of the Auburndale Congregational Church was held Wednesday of this week in the Church Parlors with about one hundred and fifty present. Mrs. F. F. Davidson, the President presided at the social and business meeting. Following the luncheon, members of the program committee presented an amusing skit, "The Melodrammer." At the business meeting annual reports were read and a review of the year's work was given. It was a very enthusiastic meeting and the accomplishments of the year were most gratifying. Total receipts were $2388.16 and expenditures were $2054.76. The officers for the year 1927-28 were elected as follows: President, Mrs. George F. Howland; Vice President, Mrs. W. H. Medlicott; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Dean Walker; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Lee Malandre; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Florence Bridgman; Treasurer, Miss Helen Balch; and Auditor, Mrs. C. W. Blood.

CHANNING ALLIANCE

The annual meeting of the Channing Branch of the Alliance was held Tuesday, April 26, at 11 a. m. There were reports from the officers and chairmen of committees and the election of officers for the coming year followed by a luncheon at 1. After lunch, Mrs. Paul S. Phalen of West Newton spoke of the work of the National Program Committee of which she is chairman.

The newly elected officers are President, Mrs. Chester A. Drummond; Vice-presidents, Mrs. John T. Alden, Mrs. Henry P. Curtis, Miss Margaret S. Ball; Recording secretary, Mrs. Harry L. Walen; Corresponding secretary, Miss Eleanor Crocker; Treasurer, Miss Jessie M. Fisher; Auditor, Mrs. Philip Nichols; Directors for 1 year, Miss Leonora N. Soule; for 2 years, Mrs. Horace C. Cushman; for 3 years, Miss Hattie H. Henry.

NEW SCHOOL ON GROVE STREET

Good team work between City Solicitor Bartlett and Newton's representatives in the Legislature brought about the seemingly impossible, when, during the past few days, a bill was rushed through the Legislature, and signed by Governor Fuller, authorizing the City of Newton to take part of the Grove street playground as a site for a new school to replace the Hamilton School. This matter did not come before the aldermen until the last meeting and many thought, that, with the Legislature almost ready to prorogue, there was little chance that the bill could be put through at this session.

AUBURNDALE LIBRARY

Then the audience sang a song written by Miss Rosalie Winslow followed by an address by Mr. Julius Lucht, Librarian of the Newton Free Library. Mr. Lucht described the library requirements for a Village of our size and stated that the trustees of the Free Library were cordially in sympathy with the proposed building and its equipment.

Then followed another song specially written for the occasion by Miss Winslow.

Mr. Philip H. Smith of the firm of Smith & Walker and E. C. Redstone, Associated Architects, of the new library, then gave a most interesting and instructive description of the library illustrated by eight lantern slides setting forth the beauty and utilities of the building as planned.

Mr. J. Parker B. Fiske, Chairman of the Finance Committee, explained the financial status of the project which started exactly two years ago with a Mass Meeting followed by the solicitation of funds resulting in net subscriptions of $27,000. The proposed building complete with furniture will cost $35,000, leaving $8,000 on the original project still to be raised.

The necessity for additional land to give the building proper setting and to provide for future extension was thoroughly demonstrated by lantern slides. The additional land will cost $6500.00 net making the total to be raised for the completion of the project $14,600.

Mr. Fiske aroused great enthusiasm by the statement that of this sum $9,000 had been raised by private subscriptions leaving but $5,600 to be raised by popular canvass. This canvass is now under way and is being handled by ten teams each with a captain and five solicitors—a total of 60 in all. Each person in the Village who has not recently subscribed will be asked to contribute to his fullest extent. The children especially will be invited to take hand in this important project which has been conceived and will be completed largely for their benefit.

The school children are being organized into teams by classrooms and will provide necessary funds for the building of the fireplace which forms an important feature in the Children's Room.

Upon leaving the auditorium, every person was given a copy of a beautiful illustrated booklet describing the project published under the management of Mr. Herbert H. Longfellow.

The officers and directors of this new library project are: J. Arthur Furbish, President; Frederick Plummer, Vice-president; Charles E. Almy, Treasurer; Grace E. Gai, Secretary; Ernest Braithwaite, W. K. Corey, H. T. Dougherty, Mabel T. Eager, Margaret Haskell, William A. Leighton, Wickliffe J. Spaulding, Charles E. Valentine, and Alice Van Patten Steiger, Directors.

FOR THE LIBRARY FUND

Castle Stirling, Knights of King Arthur, gave the play, "The Varsity Coach," on the evening of the 19th at the Auburndale clubhouse. There was a fine attendance and about $75 was added to the fund for the Plummer Memorial Library. The cast included Nathan Wentworth, David Walter, Robert Nason, Royden Johannesson, Cooper Harpin, Dudley Braithwaite and Taber Willcutt.

Miss Gertrude Spaulding was a large factor in the success of the play.

NEWTON CENTRE LIBRARY

The Newton Centre Library Committee have rendered a real service to their community. Through their efforts the past year the citizens of Newton Centre have contributed the sum of $60,000 for the purchase of land and the erection of a branch library. About 2,300 persons have participated in the fund. Dr. E. A. Andrews is chairman of the general committee and Mr. A. Oram Fulton is chairman of the building committee.

Ritchie, Parsons & Taylor of Boston are the architects and the contract has been awarded to D. A. Ferguson of Newton Centre. The building will be constructed of selected water-struck brick and concrete, with variegated slate roof of graduated lengths and copper flashings. There will be two major adult reading rooms, a large delivery hall and a children's room. There will be no stack room but the two principal reading rooms and delivery hall will be equipped with bookcases seven feet high and these with some special bookcases back of the librarian's desk will provide space for between 6,500 and 7,000 books.

The plans have been examined by and have the unqualified approval of the Library Trustees of The City of Newton.

Construction will start immediately and it is expected that the building will be entirely completed by the middle of November. It is the purpose of the Committee to deed the building to The City of Newton when finished; a completely equipped branch library ready for immediate use.

EASTERN STAR MINSTREL SHOW

The curtains then fell and Horwood's orchestra swung into a lively march. Onto the stage, before the curtain, marched Doc Clark, dressed in a doughboy uniform and carrying a little sawed-off popgun. He rendered his now famous monologue in his inimitable manner to the enjoyment of all.

When the curtain again arose upon the minstrels Miss Phyllis Ryerson gave a most pleasing dance. An end man's song, "She's Still My Baby," was sung by Teddie. The Palestine Quartet, consisting of Harry Wilson, Walter Moore, Tom Stuart, and Bill Skelton, next indulged in a bit of "Ha-Money." The audience gathered the impression that the "money" part of the title to the act came from the pair of dice that Swamproot brought into play as the four gathered at the centre of the stage. Joking aside, however, the harmony was near perfect.

A dancing act then with Misses M. Eleanor Reid and Emily Bown as the principals was the next feature. He announced, however, that Miss Leonora Ferrara, New England's premier accordionist, would take his place. Miss Ferrara's rendition of several numbers on that pleasing instrument gave the audience the feeling that much would have been missed if the scheduled performer had appeared.

End-man Asperin, singing "If I Didn't Know Your Husband and I Didn't Know My Wife," had a clever song to sing. Following this Miss Phyllis Ryerson and Whit Ireland gave a dance along Bowery lines. They were called back for encores. Walter Moore, or rather Bromo Selzer as he was called, sang "Didn't I" and he too was called forth for encores. A saxophone solo by Leonard Spinnelli and a toe dance by Lea Casano, followed by the grande finale brought the minstrels to a close. The chorus included Mrs. Mercy Atwood, Mrs. Edie Ames, Miss Alice Babbitt, Mrs. Edie Blackmore, Mrs. Sadie Black, Miss Emily Bown, Mrs. Helen Beamish, Mrs. Elsie Clark, Mrs. Bertha G. Cartwright, Mrs. Gertrude Fernald, Mr. James Irving, Mrs. Myrtha Ireland, Mr. I. W. Ireland, Mrs. Ruth Jones, Mrs. Charlotte Kellar, Mrs. S. Elizabeth Lewis, Mrs. Laura Lundstrom, Mr. H. W. Lundstrom, Mr. Everett Linnekin, Mrs. Grace MacPhee, Mr. Harry MacPhee, Mrs. Alice Macuen, Miss Frances McCullough, Miss Evelyn Perkins, Miss M. Eleanor Reid, Mrs. Violet Reed, Mrs. Mabel Ryerson, Mrs. Ella Rees, Mrs. Elizabeth Russell, Mrs. Catherine Skelton, Mrs. Pauline Stacie, Mrs. Eva Smith, Mrs. Elva Theall, Mr. David Theall, Mrs. Ella Tobey, Mrs. Grace Twigg, Mrs. Isabel Wilson, Mr. Harry Wilson, Mrs. Alice Wilson and Mrs. H. H. Woolway. Music was by Horwood's orchestra and the plants were from Ruane's.

Mrs. Charlotte S. Mansfield was general chairman of all committees and Mr. Silvanus Smith was the director. Mr. William Skelton was the assistant director. Mr. Walter Moore was in charge of publicity and the program. Mrs. Howard Moore accompanied the singers on the piano. Mrs. Margaret Babbitt was chairman of the candy committee. The ticket committee included Mr. Harrison Hyslop as chairman, Mrs. Grace MacPhee, Mrs. Marion Stuart and Miss Helen Woodman.

The results, to date of the Newton Welfare Bureau Campaign are rather discouraging. We are confident, however, that many busy people have scarcely had time to respond. The Bureau must have the ten thousand dollars, as published, to put its finances on a firm basis, and be ready for regular and emergency demands. The added number of new donors, who became members, will go far toward the future financial needs.

PRE-SCHOOL CLINICS

The first of a series of Pre-School Clinics in Newton was held under the direction of the Board of Health at the Davis, Stearns, and Emerson Schools on Tuesday afternoon, April 26, from 1:20 to 3:30 p. m. There were as many applicants present as could possibly be taken care of. Careful examinations were made by a physician with three nurses in attendance at each one of the schools. Defects in eyesight, hearing, posture, heart, lungs, adenoids, tonsils were reported to the parents. These defects will receive attention at once so that the little child will be in excellent condition for his school work in the fall.

These clinics will continue through April, May and up to June 14, on Tuesday afternoons between the hours of 1:30 and 3:30 p. m. They are open to all persons who have children old enough to enter school in the fall. They will be held in the Davis, Stearns and Emerson Schools.

BOY AND GIRL LIFE OF NEWTON

While the Delinquency problem is being discussed the country over at the present time, peculiar significance is attached to the meeting of the Newton Central Council on May 5, at the Newton High School when Newton's own delinquency problem will be presented by Newton's own interested citizens. This city is fortunate in being able to claim the State Commissioner of Correction, Hon. Sanford Bates, who will present briefly recent developments in the Delinquency problem in general. He will be followed by Mayor Childs who will bring facts that have been collected for the Newton Delinquency Survey, recently completed by the Newton Central Council. The officers of the Newton Council will be present and opportunity offered for questions and discussions. The remainder of the evening will be devoted to the "Ounce of Prevention."

If some of our young ladies continue to have their skirts made shorter, and then even shorter, said skirts will resemble ruffs.

GIRL SCOUTS

A tie score of 24-24 was the result of the competitive rally held between Girl Scout Troop 13 of Newton Centre, and Boy Scout Troop 5, Newton Centre, on Saturday, April 23rd, at the Newton Centre playground. The competitive events followed an opening at which the boys and girls repeated their scout promise and pledged allegiance to the flag of the United States. The events were as follows:—Knot tying (square, clove hitch, bowline, sheepshank), won by the Girl Scouts, semaphore signalling won by the Girl Scouts, Morse code signalling won by the Boy Scouts, water boiling won by the Boy Scouts, James Cobb and Jack Harmon had this event all to themselves. Bugling was won by the girls, Amada Lamont and Eola Niles placing first and second. Bandaging was won by the boys.

The joint bugle and drum corps of the two troops gave a short demonstration at the close of the rally with Amada Lamont as Drum Major. The judges of this rally were Miss Ruth Bass, Field Captain for Boston, and Mr. James Warren of Waban. The leaders of the two troops are Miss Isabel Skipwith of West Newton and Mr. William Breed of Newton Centre.

The vacation week was a busy one at Camp Mary Day, the Girl Scout Camp on Nonesuch Pond in Wellesley, and once again its great value to the young people of the city was proved, for over 225 girls and their leaders made use of its facilities during the week. For the most part the girls went out there in troops to spend the day, although two groups spent a night as well. This is earliest date that the camp has ever been used for overnight hiking. Most of the troops turned themselves into clean-up squads and cut wood, raked paths, washed windows, and painted the House. This latter job was reserved for older girls and we blush to relate how much of that expensive green paint they carried away with them on their hands, faces and clothes. We have no doubt that some of those eager painters carry the mark of their trade with them to this day. Anyhow the Camp House looks beautiful, and that is all that really matters.

On Wednesday evening, May the fourth, Troops 7 and 17 of Newton Upper Falls will give a movie show at the moving picture theatre in their village. The picture to be shown is "The Wizard of Oz."

Troop 19 of Newton Lower Falls is planning to hold an outdoor cake sale on Saturday afternoon, April 30th, on the lawn of the D. A. R. house on the corner of Washington street and Concord street from 2-5 p. m. The money raised in this way will be used to purchase an American Flag for the troop and to buy uniforms for its members.

A dozen or more girls of Troop 1, Newtonville, are planning an afternoon of fun at the Brookline Swimming Tank on Friday, April 29th. Captain Larcom will be in charge of the party.

It was moved that this declaration be adopted, but Alderman Earle objected, stating "that he was not authorized to commit the City of Newton to any program, but would have to report back to the Board of Aldermen of Newton, and allow them to take whatever action they might deem fit." He also called attention to the comparatively few places represented, and suggested that when the real purpose of the organization will become known, those towns and cities which have held aloof, because of suspicion, might join in the movement. Another meeting will be held next month.

"THE WIDDY BRIGGS"

This is the title of the play which is being presented Friday and Saturday evenings of this week in Odd Fellows' Hall, 15 Northgate Park, West Newton. Miss Marjorie Peirce Perkins, the genial bookkeeper for the Fred E. Perkins Plumbing Co., takes the part of the "Widdy Briggs." Donald Frail, a familiar employee of the Newton Savings Bank, takes the part of the adopted son; while the parts of Jimmy, Alvira and Melissa, Mrs. Briggs' own children, are taken by Harold Porter, Mrs. Evelyn Weldon, and Miss Bertha Trussell. Frank Stevens, well-known in the telephone world, is Siles Green. Mr. Lee is impersonated by Mr. Fred E. Perkins, and his daughter, Virginia Lee, by Miss Gladys Kidder. The parts of Daisy Thornton, Mrs. O'Connor and Mandy Bates are taken by Misses Eva Velnotte, Flora Hubbard and Jessie Adams. The play is being coached by Miss Myrtle Weldon, and it is very interesting and humorous.

NEWTON LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. LaRue Brown, Chairman of the Child Welfare Committee of the National League of Women Voters gave a remarkably good address to the members of the Newton League of Voters at their last meeting in the rooms of the Welfare Bureau. She explained the Shepherd-Towner (Maternity and Infancy) Act and gave a very clear explanation of Federal Aid, its history, and what it has done for the states.

The speaker for the next meeting of the League is Mrs. Helen Talbot. Her subject is America's Foreign Policy. This meeting will be held at the rooms of the Welfare Bureau, 12 Austin street, on Wednesday evening, May 4, at 8 o'clock. The League invites all women of Newton to attend.

RIDING ON AIR

Little did Dr. John B. Dunlop, the veterinary surgeon of Belfast, Ireland, imagine when he invented pneumatic tires in 1888, that his idea would be largely responsible for man-made machines attaining speed that in those days were unbelievable. The good veterinary surgeon devised his air filled tires (or tyres, as they call them overseas) to permit the easier propulsion of bicycles. His invention certainly accomplished the purpose for which it was intended, and cycling rapidly became tremendously popular as a result. It took muscle, and lots of it to push the old bicycles equipped with solid tires, but after John Dunlop conceived the idea of his pneumatic tire, bicycles were made by the million. Following the invention a company was rapidly formed by Mr. Dunlop and others, and the Dunlop Tire, the original pneumatic tire, became known the world over.

Not only did the pneumatic tire popularize the bicycle, but it was directly responsible for the development of the automobile. The universal use of bicycles created a demand for means of travel not dependent on the expenditure of human energy, and so within a comparatively few years, after Dr. Dunlop had produced his pneumatic tire, practical automobiles appeared. The development of the automobile motor enabled the Wright Brothers to invent their airplane. And so, from the idea of the Belfast veterinarian, sprang the two wonderful creations which have changed modern conditions, the automobile and the airplane.

Not so long ago, it was considered a great achievement for a railroad train to attain a speed of 60 miles an hour. Even today, this is about the maximum speed reached by trains on railways. Yet, a few weeks ago at Daytona Beach, Florida, Major Segrave of England, in his Sunbeam racing car, travelled at the rate of 207 miles an hour. Engineers of the General Motors Corporation had opined "that it would be impossible to build a tire that would withstand the heat and centrifugal force which would be generated at a speed of 175 miles an hour. Theoretically, the tire ought to tear into shreds and blow-out, when subjected to a speed of 175 miles.

According to Major Segrave, the two things his life depended on as he drove the 1000 horsepower Sunbeam faster than 200 miles an hour were—the power transmission chains, and tires. While the big racing car was tearing over the sand at such a terrific pace, the brake drums on it melted; the drive chains, made of hardest steel, stretched several inches; the knob on the top of the gear-shift lever became blistering hot. But the tires came through in perfect condition. Not a scratch, or a single pimble showed on them. And these tires, fittingly enough were made by the Dunlop Tire Company, which started making pneumatic tires for bicycles 39 years ago, when Dr. John Dunlop devised them. Experience does count. They are sold in this city by the Newtonville Auto Renting Company.

Twilight League Meeting

The first meeting of the season of the Newton Twilight League was held last Friday night at the Newton Catholic Club with representatives of the eight original teams present. Discussion was had on the desirability of increasing the number of the teams which will be determined by the Playground department. The Newton Y. M. C. A. and the Nonantum Boys club are anxious to enter teams. Lower Falls has not asked for admittance but a team to be called the "Old Timers" and to be managed by "Ginger" McCue may take its place. The Earnshaw Mills will again place a team on the field.

It was voted to ask Mr. William T. Halliday, treasurer of the Newton Trust Company, to accept the presidency of the league. An arbitration committee of three members who will pass on protested games was authorized. The South side member will be Thomas Hinckley, the North side member will be W. K. Brimblecom, and the West side member has not been chosen. Each manager is to submit the name of an umpire at the next meeting on May 6th and four indicator men will be appointed from this list.

Proctor Out—Medford Tomorrow
Captain John Proctor of the Newton high nine is laid up with an infected foot and will probably not be in shape to take the field with his teammates tomorrow against Medford at Medford.

Brookline Wins On Track
Brookline high won an unexpected victory over the Newton high outdoor track team yesterday afternoon at Brookline. Johnny Morrison and Eugene Record of Brookline upset the dope in the 100 and 120-yd. hurdle dashes by beating out Kinraide, who placed third in the 100 and Brewer and Allerton in the latter. Jimmie McCudden got the orange and black only first in the 880 while the relay team added five points by a victory. The final score was 45 to 32.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Many cities in the country have local radio broadcasting stations. Such stations are of low power and broadcast on wave lengths that will not interfere with the principal broadcast stations. Such local stations, if operated by persons properly qualified, render valuable service to the communities where they are located. They are called on frequently to broadcast information pertaining to civic affairs. Newton might well use such a station.

Albert H. Waitt of Ellison road, which is located in the geographical center of Newton, has a radio station which is equipped with an expensive broadcasting outfit of the most modern type. Mr. Waitt, who has long been interested in radio, and has been broadcasting in code for some years, enjoys the expert co-operation of Harold Batchelder of the Garden City Radio Company. Few men in this State have had more experience with radio than has Mr. Batchelder. Mr. Waitt some time ago made application for a station and was assigned letters, but as yet has not been allotted a wave length. He could have "pirated" one during the past year, as did so many other stations, but preferred to co-operate with the established stations. His station will be of but five watts, and will go on a wave length that will cause no interference with the big stations.

What's the use of having laws if little or no attempt is made to enforce them? Certain very necessary laws were passed in connection with automobiles. These laws seem to be dead so far as the police are concerned. How many automobiles do you see being operated with headlights out of focus, throwing the beams into the eyes of approaching motorists? How many automobiles do you see with but one headlight burning? With the tail-light out? With their number plates obscured by dirt and grease, or so placed under the car or truck body as to be unreadable? How many automobiles are garaged on the streets right after night without being lighted? Registrar Goodwin and his small force cannot apprehend the many thousands of autoists throughout the State who violate the laws. Why do not the local police departments show some activity in enforcing automobile laws? If they did, fewer automobile fatalities would occur at night.

The constant drain on the water reserves of big cities, including Boston and its suburbs, causes an increasingly serious condition. If the inadequate rainfall of recent years continues, we will be fortunate if we can obtain enough liquor containing even less than 1% of alcohol.

The long draught caused the usual spring green to be absent from the countryside.

This world is growing better. One of our local fraternal organizations, in its last bulletin, extended its sympathy to a member because of the recent death of his mother-in-law.

NEWTON SPORTS

GOLF TEAM HAS LONG SCHEDULE

The outlook for the 1927 golf season at Newton high is exceedingly promising. Last year's State Championship team has lost but one member. The two Gianferante brothers, Bill Bengier, "Red" Manning and Parker Devlin reported and hope to duplicate the record of the 1926 team. Today the team meets the St. Mary's Golfers at Albemarle where all home matches will be played. The remainder of the schedule is as follows:

May 2—Watertown H. at Newton.
May 4—Burdett College at Newton.
May 6—Lexington High at Newton.
May 7—Exeter at Exeter.
May 9—Dummer Acad. at Dummer.
May 11—Open.
May 12—Reading High at Reading.
May 13—Open.
May 16—St. John's Prep at Newton.
May 18—Harvard Fresh. at Newton.
May 20—Open.
May 21—St. John's High (Worcester) at Newton.

May 23—Swampscott H. at Swampscott.

May 25—Open.
May 27—Open.
May 31—Thayer Acad. at Braintree.
June 1—Open.
June 3—Open.
June 4—St. John's Prep at St. John's.

Tennis Team Has Fine Prospects

The 1927 tennis team of the Newton high school has excellent prospects of having a very successful season. Captain Robert Turner will be the outstanding player of the coming season. At present he is the holder of the State Junior Doubles championship with Frank Luce of Andover. Last year he was runner-up in the Yale interscholastics, being beaten by his cousin, Malcolm Hill of Waban, then of Loomis Institute and now a freshman at Harvard. Arthur Noble of Newton Centre is another versatile player who should score many points for the orange and black. Noble was runner-up to Junior Coen, protege of Bill Tilden, in the national boys' singles tournament at Longwood last summer. He will team with Turner in the doubles.

The remainder of the squad will include Dave Scott, Charlie Parker and Francis Broughton. Scott and Broughton will fight it out for the right to team with Parker as the other doubles pair. In both the Harvard and Yale interscholastics the team will enter six men. Each match won will add a point to the team total score.

The schedule, which was recently announced, offers some strenuous matches for any high school outfit. The first match will be played with Boston E. H. S. at Newton on May 3rd. The remainder of the schedule follows:
May 10—Boston Lat. at Newton.
May 14—Yale Inter. at New Haven.
May 17—Open.

May 20—Huntington at Newton.
May 21—Worcester at Worcester.
May 25—Andover at Andover.
May 30—Harvard Int. at Harvard.
June 2—Finals at Harvard.
June 7—Brookline at Brookline.
June 9—Groton at Groton.

Intermediate Nine Chosen

Although the final line-up of the intermediate varsity team at Newton high has not been decided upon the following have been retained on the squad: Langdon Powers, Gore, Pearson, Hogan, Bennett, Pieper, Chamberlain, Duggan, Fletcher, Swett, Pierce, Ellison, Hoyt, Sweetser, Becker, Sutcliffe, Hurley, Adams, Lodge, Coombs, Ham and Appleton. Ham, Hogan, and Swan are the outstanding pitchers. Gore, a former Brookline high athlete looks good behind the bat as does L. Powers. Pieper has the call at first and Fletcher at second.

Powers A Strict Trainer

Langdon Powers, who substituted on the 1927 champion hockey sextet, is a firm believer in training. During the various sport seasons in which he participates he does not indulge in pies, pastries, and the sweeter foods. The stocky lad has the right idea—too much of such food hurts an athlete and none at all should help him to keep physically fit.

Onthank At Penn-Carnival

Fred Onthank of Chestnut Hill is one of the veteran Boston University relay team men who is on the trip to the Penn relay carnival in Philadelphia today and tomorrow.

DeWitt Clinton Wins Easily

The DeWitt Clinton nine had little difficulty winning from the Rivers school team last Friday afternoon, 13 to 5, on the Rivers diamond. Shaw made five hits in six times up and Huntriss pitched well for the winners for six frames.

Martin Fans 17 Batters

Kenneth Martin, Belmont Hill school pitcher, fanned 17 Tabor academy batters last Saturday afternoon in a freak game at Belmont. Twenty-three stolen bases and fifteen errors by the Belmont team gave the Tabor team an 18 to 3 victory. Kimball started in the box for Belmont but was relieved in the early part of the game by Martin.

Adams on N. H. Track Squad

At the University of New Hampshire Ben Adams is getting into shape by going out for track. Although somewhat light he has been showing remarkable speed over the hurdles for a man as inexperienced as he is, for he lacks any competitive training that he might have obtained at Newton. He has had some help, for he was out for the high school track squad a number of times, but illness retarded his opportunities. The field events have also had an allure for him with the result that he has gained a fair degree of skill with the discus and probably will be entered in that event on the varsity meets even though he is a freshman.

POLICE NEWS

The arm of the law took a long time to grasp Henry M. Paul, formerly of Somerville, but whose address was given as 290 Columbus avenue, Boston, at the time of his arrest. Paul was arrested last Thursday by the Boston police for drunkenness. He was about to be released on this simple offence, when the Boston police headquarters discovered that a warrant had been issued four years ago, almost to a day, by the Newton police, for Paul's arrest. It is alleged that at that time Paul visited the Community Theatre one afternoon. He carried a large dress suit case which he left at the ticket-office of the theatre before he went inside to see the performance. He sat next to an 11 year old Newton girl in the theatre, made improper advances to her, and then fled from the theatre, not stopping to obtain his suit case. His name and address were found inside the case, and the warrant issued.

The girl who complained on Paul, identified him in court on Saturday morning. He was also identified by John Purcell, formerly special policeman at the Community. Paul, who said he served in the navy during the war, claimed that he is subject to nervous trouble and that he had been declared a psychopathic by government physicians. He stated that he had no recollection of the offence with which he was charged. His aged mother pleaded for him. Judge Bacon ordered Paul committed to the Psychopathic Hospital for one week for observation, and continued the trial until April 30th.

David Fenton of Jamaica Plain, and Thomas Adshade of Everett, were arrested early Monday morning by Patrolman Walsh. Adshade, who was driving an automobile, was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. Adshade's license to drive had been suspended, but the letter notifying him of this fact, had been returned to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles without having been delivered to Adshade. He was therefore not charged with driving after his license had been suspended. As he had no license, and was apparently driving under Fenton's license, the latter in addition to being charged with drunkenness, also had the misfortune to have the technical charge of "driving while under the influence of liquor." The cases of the pair were continued until next Monday.

Monday morning a man was found at the corner of Adams and Washington streets in a state of collapse. He was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance, and when he regained consciousness, was unable to identify himself. After sometime he was identified as Pasquale Saccerelli of Summer street, Waltham.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE MEETS

At the regular meeting of the School Committee, Monday night, the resignation of Cora L. Swallow of the Mason School was accepted.

The principals, teachers and clerks for the school year 1927-28 were elected. Members of the Knights of Columbus appeared before the Committee to ask the Committee to reconsider their vote of April 15th, refusing permission for use of the High School auditorium. Mr. William J. Dougherty, Mr. James S. Cannon and Mr. Coyne spoke at length on the desirability of encouraging debates between Boston College and Holy Cross as an educational feature, and felt that in order to attract wide public interest, such a debate should be held in a public building rather than anywhere else. After retirement of the committee, the School Committee discussed the matter and felt that, under the circumstances, due to the fact that no other building was available and that this date was one which could not be changed, reconsideration might be given the matter. They, therefore, voted to reconsider their vote of April 14th, refusing the petition and also voted to grant to the Knights of Columbus the use of the High School auditorium on Sunday, May 15th, for the purpose of a debate between Boston College and Holy Cross with the understanding, however, that in taking this action, the Committee disclaims any intent to establish a general policy with reference to the opening of school buildings on Sunday.

ROTARY CLUB

The meeting of the Newton Rotary Club last Monday noon at the Woodland Golf Club was devoted solely to Rotary business as it was the annual meeting.

President Duncan Wright presided and the chairmen of the various committees made annual reports. The most interesting was that of the Boys' Work committee given by Francis L. Bacon. Mr. Bacon said that in conjunction with the Newton Central Council a survey of boy life was being made in this city and a complete report would be made in another month. These directors were elected: Dr. Cecil W. Clark, Walter L. McCammon, Rev. Dr. Arthur M. Ellis, Frank J. Perry, Duncan Wright, George J. Martin and Irving C. Paul.

William T. Halliday was elected a delegate to the Ostend Convention of Rotary International and a liberal sum appropriated for his expenses.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Graphic readers have been well and regularly informed by the editor of this paper of the doings on Beacon Hill during the present session of the Massachusetts Legislature. I should like, however, the privilege of commenting upon that body of lawmakers, offering only one thought which I feel Newton people should share with me.

During the present year at least three of the larger cities of our Commonwealth have demanded more attention, it seems to me, than any other vital subject before the General Court. It is not unnatural that there should be many bills affecting Boston, for unlike all other cities in Massachusetts it is governed from the State House as well as from city hall. Then, too, it is the capital. Again, it has by far a larger number of Senators and Representatives who, for one reason or another, offer bills that they think should receive every consideration. Many of these are rejected and some are passed, but all involve hearings, debate, etc.

Then there are two other cities, whose names I refrain from mentioning, which bring their differences to the Legislature without hesitation. Instead of straightening-out their troubles locally they wait until the Legislature convenes and there proceed to "wash their political linen." Beacon Hill makes a poor place for washing municipal garments, and a poorer one for displaying these tattered pieces.

Let us thank our lucky stars that Newton is above these practices; that we have some able men to look after our affairs at city hall and the State House and that whatever happens we are not compelled to stand the brunt of public scoffing and laughing. We may have our faults in Newton, but we can restrain ourselves from going to the Governor and the Legislature and pulling and hauling in an effort to settle petty matters.

If you should wish further information and assurance of the truth of my statements just talk it over with those who know.

I envy those who are planning to make a trip to Europe this Summer. Among the experiences they will most enjoy will be the meeting of interesting people on shipboard. It will be their privilege to become acquainted with men and women who live in different parts of this country or in foreign lands. The result of such association is always delightful as it is sure to add to one's store of pleasant memories and to increase one's fund of general information.

For my own part I can tell of more than one person I found entertaining, not only as a fellow-traveler but as an individual. It happened that last Summer under such circumstances I formed a friendship with a resident of Auckland, New Zealand, with whom I have kept in correspondence. This man, a sheep-raiser, recently favored me with a copy of the Auckland Weekly News, "the fifth royal visit number illustrating the tour of New Zealand by the Duke and Duchess of York."

It is not my intention to take up the doings of the Duke and Duchess, but to give the readers of this column some idea of how a New Zealand newspaper handles the material of different departments. I would like them to glance over the treatment of a robbery and mark the difference between the Australian and the United States point of view as represented by the news editors of those countries.

Instead of "playing-up" what would serve as material for a column or so, this New Zealand newspaper places the single line heading, "Extensive Burglary" over the following:

"The Pavilion at Day's Bay was the scene of an extensive burglary in the night. Three brothers, Albert Windsor, porter, aged 31, Joseph Windsor, labourer, aged 28, and Lawrence Windsor, labourer, aged 25, were charged before E. Page S.M., with breaking and entering the premises and stealing 72 pounds in money, 5000 cigarettes, a quantity of tobacco, cigars and chocolate, and a safe and its contents, as well as other goods, all of a total value of 119 pounds and nine shillings.

"All three accused, who are serving a sentence of 12 months imprisonment for escaping from custody at Palmerston North, when charged with safe-breaking, pleaded guilty and were committed to the Supreme Court for sentence."

Before dropping entirely the subject of Australian journalists and journalists, I should like to print herewith a sample of their humor. I make no comment but would really like to know just how the readers are impressed with what the Auckland News describes as "A Strange Argument." Here it is:

A motorist was up before the Magistrate on a charge of driving his car while in a state of general befuddlement. A policeman was giving evidence.

"When I came upon the scene, sir," he said, "I found the defendant engaged in a heated argument with the Lord Mayor about the condition of the road."

"Well," commented the magistrate, "the does not reflect on him in any way. It proves nothing."

"No sir," answered the constable gravely, "but the Lord Mayor wasn't there!"

Stories of days gone by sometimes tell us of that interesting craft known as tinkers. In the fascinating opera "Robin Hood," you will remember, there is a "Tinkers' Chorus" sung by a band of amusing wayfarers. The trade was pursued in this country and there are those among us today who recall that a tinker was a man who went about in the rural districts mending pots, pans and kettles. They were for the most part rovers, but not always.

Today we do not hear of them, except for what they have contributed to our everyday speech—not the everyday speech of yourself, kind reader, but of those whose tongues are not so well controlled. Now, I beg you not to be shocked, but to bear with me until the very last line of this when, I am sure, you will be glad to learn something of much interest.

I refer to that which I confess myself I thought of as a cussword—"a tinker's dam." Thank heaven those who have unwittingly used it are hereby vindicated, that is, if they thought they were using an expressive and inelegant phrase. It really seems too good to be true, with the emphasis on the good.

In order to tell you I must quote from a learned professor of English, who writes, "Tinker's dam—a little mound of soft clay or dough placed around a leak or a joint that a plumber is about to mend, in order to retain the melted solder until it cools.

"After the clay has served its purpose, it is thrown away as it cannot be used a second time. Hence the proverbial worthlessness of 'a tinker's dam.'"

The latter word, however, through perversion or misunderstanding is often spelled damn to the detriment of the tinker's reputation."

My firm conviction is that we fellow columnists should treat each other with every possible courtesy. Sometimes I have been strongly inclined to break that rule and until now have resisted all temptation to do so. It is impossible for me to control myself longer and I must reply to my good friend "Cabot Park," who last week said things about me in his written broadcast.

As I see it "Cabot" is trying to jockey me into a position where I shall be spokesman for a mayoralty candidate. He even suggests that I may abandon my "lone campaign" to ride the city's sidewalks of bold and offensive bicycle-riders.

Let me impress upon this gentleman that nothing like the choice of a Mayoralty candidate transcends in importance any attempt to keep bicycles in the road where they belong. Anybody may run for Mayor; some of us are fond of doing so, but none of us likes to run from a sidewalk bicyclist, and that is what we are frequently compelled to do.

"Cabot" accuses us of starting a rumpus. Does he know of a better way of accomplishing one's purpose? We are after the violators of city ordinances and not looking for those who want the job of signing these ordinances at city hall.

A LETTER

To the Editor:

Our most recent holiday showed a greater profusion of flags displayed throughout the city. The practice of placing standards on the edge of the sidewalks has been extended and makes our village squares an inspiring sight. Nothing could be more appropriate and nothing more convincing as proof of the patriotic spirit of our citizens.

But more than this owners of private residences have taken up the idea. I saw, not in Newton I regret to say, the sidewalks in front of a number of houses where flags had been set but. The red, white and blue, surpasses all other flags, as well we know, but set along the grass border of a residential thoroughfare it heightens the beauty of the street.

In my opinion no custom is more to be devoutly observed than this one. Flags flying from poles, small or large, give us something to think about and something to set our hearts beating with pride for our country.

CITY AFFAIRS

Discussed by Well Known Speakers at Civic Club Meeting

The annual meeting of the Civic Club of Newton, one of the most unique organizations in the city, was held Friday evening at the Brae Burn club with about 50 members and guests present.

The Civic Club is composed of gentlemen who have been elected by the people as members of the city government or of the school committee and its meetings allow former members to greet each other and to come in contact with the present members of the aldermen and school committee.

The president Herbert M. Cole was in charge and the speakers included Mayor Edwin O. Childs, ex-mayor Henry E. Bothfield, ex-alderman Henry I. Harriman and ex-alderman Thomas W. White.

At the conclusion of the dinner, a silent tribute was paid to Hon. John W. Weeks and Alderman Charles L. Fawcett who have died since the last meeting of the club.

Ex-Mayor Bothfield, who has also served for some years as a member and chairman of the school committee spoke on the Newton schools as he knew them. He told of the installation of the merit system in teachers' salaries, of the birth and growth of the manual and technical training and of the construction of the Technical High School.

Mr. Harriman gave a most logical and convincing talk on the location of the proposed City Hall. Mr. Harriman did not specifically advocate the building of a City Hall at this time and merely gave his reasons for selecting the triangle lot at Commonwealth avenue and Walnut street as the proper location. Mr. Harriman stated that 15% of the present population of Newton resided north of Washington street, and 35% between Washington street and Commonwealth avenue. He predicted a future growth of the city in 50 years to about 150,000 people, most of whom he believed, would find homes south of Commonwealth avenue. He therefore favored a location somewhere on Commonwealth street, and best suited to serve the future population.

Mr. Thomas W. White spoke on the financial policy of the city and advocated most earnestly, a pay as you go plan without recourse to exceeding the debt limit.

At the close of Mr. Bothfield's remarks, Alderman Harry W. Pitts was requested to briefly outline the needs and demands of the city in the way of school buildings. He instanced the need of new grade school at Chestnut hill and Lower Falls, and suggested that the South side would probably require two junior high schools in the near future.

Among those present were Hon. A. R. Weed, Hon. George H. Ellis, Representatives Leverett Saltonstall, Arthur W. Hollis, Clarence S. Luitwieler, and R. C. Thompson, Aldermen Henry W. Bail, William B. Baker, John C. deMille, Harry W. Flitts, John H. Gordon, Fred A. Hawkins, George M. Heathcote, Walter A. Hodgdon, William M. Noone, Norman F. Pratt, and A. L. Wakefield, George H. Tracy of the school committee and ex-aldermen Lewis H. Bacon, Henry Bailly, W. S. Ball, D. F. Barber, F. M. Blanchard, G. P. Bullard, Chas. D. Cabot, Harry D. Cabot, R. M. Clark, Harry I. Cook, Reuben Fernald, Chas. B. Gordon, S. W. Holmes, T. E. Jewell, Arthur Kendrick, M. W. Melcher, F. T. Miller, F. L. Nagle, J. Earl Parker, Geo. W. Pratt, F. L. Richardson, W. J. Spaulding, F. W. Stone, W. S. Wagner, Guy M. Winslow, A. M. Lyon, a former member of the school board and William T. Halliday, and C. R. Cabot as guests.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

We thought provisions would be made this year for a new building to house Engine 1 and Ladder 3 at Newton Corner. Certainly the need of such a building has been mentioned often enough by the Mayor and the aldermen. It has been admitted for several years that the present quarters, built over a half-century ago, are woefully inadequate.

Located on the narrow part of Washington street, just below Nonantum Square, with streams of automobiles and the huge cars of the Boston Elevated impeding the exit of the fire apparatus from the house, the big trucks must pass through Nonantum Square where scores of pedestrians are constantly crossing.

Twelve firemen are quartered in this house. Their sleeping quarters on the second floor would not be tolerated by the Board of Health in any private dwelling. The beds are so crowded that if one man takes an extra snore, the others are apt to have their sleep disturbed because the supply of oxygen becomes utterly insufficient.

The building laws compel all garages contained within buildings used in part as dwellings to be of fireproof construction. The floors of such garages must be fireproof, so must the walls and ceilings. In addition fireproof doors must separate the garage portion of buildings from the dwelling portion. All these requirements are ignored in the quarters of Engine 1.

A wooden floor, wooden walls, wooden stairway and non-fireproof ceiling are there. No fireproof door safeguards the sleeping men upstairs from the menace underneath them. It is a peculiar situation when the government of this city will flaunt the laws which private citizens must obey.

It costs taxpayers of Newton $50 every time fire apparatus responds to an alarm. Firemen say "that most grass fires which they are called upon to extinguish, are started by persons who have received no permits to light grass fires." Perhaps if such persons were apprehended and fined, the citizens of this city might be saved considerable expense.

A citizen called our attention to a "Fashion Show" held at the Frank A. Day junior high school on April 7th. At this show, according to the information furnished by "said citizen," a prominent Boston store displayed the latest in dress for the growing generation. Young models strutted across the room where the show was held, to show-off the attractive garments. "Said citizen" expressed the opinion that the 7th period at the junior high school on the day when the show was held, might have been better devoted to imparting useful knowledge to the children, rather than having been set aside to assist in making the youngsters more fastidious.

According to newspaper reports, suspenders are becoming quite fashionable. They are being made in many dainty, fancy designs and will be worn by young ladies who want to be right "up to date." This is cheering news to those comparatively few of us who have been loyal to suspenders during those long years since belts became fashionable. Think of what we have endured. In addition to withstanding the supposed insults of being referred to as "rubes" and "chicks," because we wore galluses, we had to keep our coats on during the hot days of summer, when the male persons who wore belts could dispense with the coats and strip down to their madras, percale or broadcloth shirts. But this summer, by heck, Walter Whalin, yours truly, and the others of us who have clung to the suspenders (or to whom the suspenders have clung) can take our coats off in public places. If the ladies can display their suspenders, why can't we?

Governor Al Smith was not the only celebrity at Atlantic City over the Easter holidays. James P. Gallagher, Newton's witty attorney, was also a visitor to the famous New Jersey resort, accompanied by Mrs. Gallagher.

Talk about your "bottle torn flags," and moth eaten garments, a certain awning at Nonantum Square takes the prize for being the most frayed piece of cloth we have ever seen.

The City of Newton suffered a real loss in the sudden death of Alderman Charles L. Favinger of Waban. He was one of the most capable members elected to the Board in recent years. A man of ability and moral courage, he took his duties seriously, and undoubtedly in his physical condition, the added strain upon his energy occasioned by his services as Alderman hastened his death. Mr. Favinger did not "play to the gallery." He possessed sufficient backbone to speak his mind, and to cast his vote, according to the dictates of his best judgment, even though by so doing, he incurred the criticism of some who did not agree with him. Mr. Favinger was a Democrat in National politics, and more than one person who had observed him in the performance of his duties as an alderman, had suggested him as well qualified for advancement to higher political office.

George Briggs, the well known local tobaccoist, informs us that the photograph of the old horse-car, which was reproduced in a recent GRAPHIC, was taken by him 42 years ago. Incidentally, George was the first boy to become a member of the original Newton Y. M. C. A. gym, which was located on Elmwood street.

THE MAY FESTIVAL

By Charlotte Robertson Phalen

Oh, who will be our lovely Queen? Come, ponder well your choice.

This is the song which recurs to us along with the first note of the bluebird. Once more our faith and our yearning have brought us the lovely spring. Out into the open we come for our games and our songs. New life is stirring everywhere. How can we celebrate?

How better can we celebrate than by having a festival, not in April, before the skies are clear, nor in June, when our first thrill is over, but on the real anniversary of the advent of spring—on May-day—the day of song, of dance, and of rejoicing.

About sixty-four years ago last May-day the lads and lassies of the Unitarian church of Concord, N. H., gathered together for a May breakfast. Over the hills they came on horseback, a fair procession indeed with their gaily-beribboned crops, their fine horses, and their jolly young faces. The older ones, the ever-needed background for youth, had arisen before daylight to bake the rolls and drive with their provisions over the river to "The Plains" with the good things which were to furnish that first memorable May breakfast. We can imagine the lovely morning, the jollity, the freshness and the simplicity of it all. More of it we do not know, but somewhere we hope there is a full and complete record of that and the many celebrations following, each with its particular charm and joyousness.

As time went on, the festivals changed with the years. In our day they were held in the city Opera House. Early in March a dancing-master (George E. Wales) from Brattleboro, Vt., came to town to organize and arrange the dances. The following long weeks of careful preparation, for each dance must approach perfection before its appearance. And then long hours of sewing and fitting, for each costume must be a finished creation. The result was a lovely kermess. (There is no time these busy days for the preparation of such perfect performances.) No child in the city missed those May Festivals. It was the social event of the year for young and old. The afternoon party was followed by a famous chicken supper at the church. And the supper was followed by a dance (again at the Opera House) for the older young people. May-day was and is a great day in Concord, N. H.

A few years ago a small May Festival was started in Augusta, Me., under the auspices of All Souls Church. The small hall in which it was held was filled to capacity. There was a series of costume dances, a Punch and Judy show excellently done by one of the members of that church, the always popular balloons and the Goose-girl shining with her "grabs." The next year, a larger hall was engaged, which was likewise filled. Year by year the party has grown, until now the City Hall is regularly engaged and regularly filled with children from the entire city. As many of the plays and dances given take in children outside of the church, a part of the proceeds is given to local charity—perhaps to provide a free bed in the city's new hospital or some other appropriate child-welfare need. So all participate and so all are interested. Other churches in Maine, New Hampshire, and elsewhere in New England have as a regular part of their yearly program an annual May Festival. It would be both helpful and interesting if we could get together a complete list and further information regarding them. More and more of our churches are making them an annual event, and in many places it has come to be one of the Unitarian contributions to community life, this spring holiday for the children of the town. Until we reach that "far-off, dim, never" when all shall gather in one church for worship, each of our various denominations might contribute yearly some distinctive and special social affair to the community life. Let us adopt as our contribution the May Festival. Who knows but that in learning to play we may learn to worship together?

Let us plan an ideal May Festival. It must come, if possible, on May-day. Let us have it out of doors, if the day will allow. There is that lovely estate with the hilltop and the pond and the natural amphitheatre. Our audience will sit in the circle opposite the hilltop, with the pond between. Everything is now ready for our celebration. We hear a bugle call—or is it Pan's pipes? Some figures small and lithe in floating green and browns, orchids and yellows, make a long line of color as they proceed through the pines to the elfin music, down over the hill. A lovely child with curls and attendance follows the pipes and the pages. They seat her in state near the brink of the pond and then around its edge they dance their fairy dances and crown her queen of all. At one side is the May-pole gaily beribboned, and decorated with vines and flowers. Six merry couples from the hilltop cope skip over the ground and down to take the ribbons. Their steps are told by the delicate tat-tat-tat of drum-beats and the wind instruments of the fairy band. The May-party is well begun. Then a fair dryad asleep by the pond comes slowly to life. She stretches—and rises—and hears—then drum-beats, growing ever louder. A rhythm is stirring in her soul, an expression in her body. With her we see and feel the sun, the air, the soft breeze, and love, and we too would dance. Around and round the edge of the pond she dances, all grace and joy. At last she ceases and again sleeps by the water's edge. Now a great white rabbit comes from behind a tree on the hillside and hops expectantly down to a white spread table under the trees. There goes up a shout of joy as our dear Alice and the Mad Hatter and the March Hare come together for their hour of delicious conversation. Were ever memorable words spoken with more snap and pinger? Was ever a story-book picture so perfectly brought to life? No

'movie' could be half so thrilling! And now we are ready to eat and to buy. Pretty maids with trays of ice-cream cones—the hand-organ man and monkey—the balloons—the Goose-girl with grabs—and the roulette-wheel under an orange umbrella—all beckon. There is music from our own children's orchestra, and—the rest of the afternoon takes care of itself.

So, then, why not a May Festival after this fashion and plan in every community, that its traditions and charm may be continued year after year?—(Christian Register).

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending April 16:—Patients paying as much as cost of care or more 46; patients paying less than cost of care 64; free patients, including babies 32; patients treated by out patient department 157; by eye clinic 3; accident cases 7; babies born, boys 7, girls 4; social service calls at homes 10; patients transferred by social service car 5.

Between midnight and midnight of Patriot's Day three babies were born at the hospital, two girls and one boy. The hospital cared for one victim of the Patriot's Day Marathon, a runner who collapsed at the corner of Chestnut street and Commonwealth avenue. He was a South American of Spanish and Indian blood who after regaining consciousness told the hospital doctor that the race was his first, and last Marathon. His collapse seemed to have been due to utter exhaustion as his heart was in good shape and there were no signs of heat prostration. He remained at the hospital for only a little while as the B. A. A. on hearing of his case sent his clothes out to him and had him taken to the club house in Boston by taxi.

The Know More Kokki Klub was in session on Monday evening.

On the Friday before Easter there arrived at the hospital four beautiful Easter lilies and a hyacinth with a card on which was written "Please place these plants at bedside where there is likely to be little other reminder of Easter tide. From one who, at this season, holds the Newton Hospital in grateful remembrance." The directions of the unknown donor were carried out and the plants gave happiness in the ward where they were placed.

The hospital has received recently gifts of magazines, books and cross word puzzles and also one gift of about thirty-two books and three games for the children's ward from Betty Rogers of West Newton.

On the Nineteenth all the patients who could be moved were placed at windows, on the piazzas and on the lawn so that they might see the Marathon runners as they made their weary ways by the grounds.

The glassed in piazza of the children's ward make a wonderful convalescent ward and a sunny, airy place for children with pneumonia.

COMING EVENTS

Newton Mothers' Club

Mrs. S. M. Bolster, the Club president, opens her home 29 Exeter street, West Newton, for the Annual Meeting and Luncheon of the Newton Mothers' Club on Monday, May 2nd. The Luncheon, which is always such an enjoyable function of the Annual Meeting, will be at one o'clock, and those who wish to attend should notify Mrs. Norman W. Bingham of 125 Prince street, West Newton, as soon as possible. Tickets for the luncheon are one dollar.

Christian Era Study Club

Monday, May 2nd, is also the date of the Annual Meeting of the Christian Era Study Club, bringing its year of pleasurable programs and activities to a close. The Club will meet with Mrs. Dean Walker of Hancock street, at 3 o'clock will have its usual yearly business, and election of officers, and also decide upon its program for next year.

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

We hear the phrase "What is so far as a day in June" and well may retort "A May Day at Arnold Arboretum," and not only a day in May at this spot of beauty with blossoming trees, but even as alluring in prospect, a May Breakfast, is the delightful plan of the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands in celebrating their Annual Meeting on the 2nd day of this month. "Breakfast" will be served at 12 o'clock, then after a stroll through the grounds, the business of the meeting.

Newton Community Club

There will be a walk through the Middlesex Fells on Monday afternoon, May 2nd. Meet at Library at 1:30. Please call Miss Bryant N. N. 2845-W so that transportation may be arranged.

The Committee on Conservation of Natural Resources is planning a trip to the gardens of the Louthorpe School of Landscape Architecture in Groton on Thursday, May 5, or if it is stormy on that day, on May 6. The party will meet in the Parking Space on Washington street at 9:45 a. m., each person taking her own box luncheon. Any member wishing to go will please notify the chairman, Miss Margaret S. Ball, before May 1, so that transportation may be provided.

Newton Federation

Under the joint auspices of the School authorities, and that very proficient chairman of Education of the Newton Federation, Mrs. Walter Van Patten Steiger, there is to be a most important meeting on the evening of May 3rd, in the auditorium of the Newton High School, which parents—especially parents of children pointing collegeward—will do well to attend. This meeting is for the purpose of having parents and teachers get together on the stirring and much discussed question of college board examinations. Mr. Royal Farnham, of the Boston Art School, and Mr. Francis F. Bacon, of our own High School, will speak. It was at first intended that after these speeches the meeting would be open for discussion, but it has now been decided that as this would give only a small number a chance to be an answered, it would be better for each person to bring a query in his mind to bring it to the paper. These papers will be collected, and answered by the speakers. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of interested parents, for discussion and expression of opinion often times clears situations, and misunderstandings, and suggestions open new ideas and viewpoints of inestimable value, and mutual confidence and benefits result.

Newton Hospital Aid Association

The Newton Centre Woman's Club generously acts as hostess, opening their comfortable and beautiful Club House for the Annual Meeting and Luncheon of the Newton Hospital Aid Association, which will be held on Tuesday, May 3rd, at 10:30 o'clock. After a short business meeting, Dean Lucy Jenks Franklin, Dean of Women of Boston University, will address the audience on "The Psychology of Youth." Dean Franklin is a delightful speaker, and this is an advantage not to be missed to listen to her. She was formerly Dean of Ohio Wesleyan University and of Evansville College. After the lecture there will be opportunity to meet Dean Franklin, and Luncheon will be served at 12:30, to which tickets may be obtained before May 1st, of Miss Rose Loring, Newton North 5352-M; Mrs. G. W. St. Amant, W. N. 0505; Mrs. A. S. Pratt, W. N. 0118; Miss Tower, W. N. 0580; Mrs. H. M. North, C. N. 1401; Mrs. F. W. Johnson, C. N. 2172; Mrs. Pitt Drew, N. N. 0097; Mrs. F. N. Williams, C. N. 1426; Mrs. W. M. Flinders, C. N. 0933-W; Mrs. Frank Anderson, C. N. 0879-R; Mrs. H. W. Bliss, Aspinwall 6795; and of Mrs. Edward Wiswall, Wellesley 0702-M.

Waban Woman's Club

The Art Committee of the Waban Woman's Club, Mrs. Chester L. Churchill, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Alex. Caldwell, has arranged an exhibition of antiques and art or needle work made by members, to be held at home of Mrs. Wilfrid O. White, 1734 Beacon St., Waban, on May 4th, from 2 to 6 o'clock. There will be a very small admission fee, and tea will be included in this fee. Mrs. R. E. Clements has charge of the tea. The exhibition will include shawls, furniture, quilts, spreads, jesso work, glass, hooked and braided rugs, Italian work and needle point. The committee will offer for sale a table of moderately priced bridge prizes. Members may invite guests. This privilege will be appreciated not only on the part of members to view this choice exhibit of talent, but to share this pleasure with friends who are not of the Club.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will be held Thursday, May 5th, after the Luncheon at one o'clock, at the Club house, 100 Centre Street. Luncheon was served at 12:30 o'clock, with the head table having as its centre celebrity the president, Mrs. Fred M. Blanchard, and at her either hand a line of Club officers, and the two guests of honor, Mrs. George C. Phipps and Miss Emma D. Coolidge, at her right. To these two fortunate guests fell the added tribute of bouquets of superb panishes, which they found at their plates. The tables were most attractive. (Continued on Page 13)

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

Reminiscences of the early days of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club were given by Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, its first president, at the luncheon preceding the Annual Meeting, Wednesday afternoon, when a "birthday party" was staged in observance of the 10th anniversary of its founding.

One hundred and thirty members gathered about the log T-shaped table in the dining room of the Congregational Parish House at 12:30 to enjoy the luncheon, carried out both in food and decorations in the bright Spring colors of green and yellow. Place cards, in the form of miniature birthday cakes, were at the 25 covers on the head table, where were seated the past presidents and members of the boards, and as the dessert course was being served, a large birthday cake, surrounded by lighted candles, was placed before Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs, who, with presidential dignity, cut the large loaf with such mathematical accuracy, that every one present had a bit.

Mrs. Wetherbee was then introduced, and after relating a humorous experience in which Dr. Henry Van Dyck figured, and fitting a story of Mark Twain's to her own present position, she reviewed the days when the Club came into being, as the result of the vision of the presidents of five small study clubs in the village. Two hundred and sixty members were enrolled when the first meeting of the organization was held in January, 1917, the early meetings being held in the Parish House of the Episcopal Church.

The growth was so steady and rapid, that by March, the membership was literally and figuratively, "Newton Highlands' Four Hundred." Francis Wilson's daughter, the Baroness Huard, had been engaged to speak that month on War conditions in France, and with such a membership and the privilege of bringing husbands to that particular meeting, a larger hall was necessary and Bray Hall in Newton Centre was engaged for the evening. The night proved one of the stormiest of the winter, and as Mrs. Wetherbee humorously observed, "the bombardment of hail on the roof, throughout the evening, made a most realistic background for the stories the Baroness had to tell of the War Zone."

In tracing the growth and development of the Club, the speaker stated that the first year, the committee work was covered by five departments, social, hospitality, education, civics, and home economics and each year, additional committees were found necessary to cover the field, until now we have 15. The covers for the early year books were designed by the students in the Hyde School, until with in recent years, the seal now used, was designed by the Art Committee.

That there are no "slackers" in the organization is attested by the fact that this year the Club is helping its 7th freshman to enter college.

Humorous incidents by the score were related by the speaker, of those early days, when such well-known names as Brewer Eddy, Dean Brown, and Mrs. Hurl were among the lecturers. The latter addressed the Club on "The Madonna in Art," and one dissatisfied member was heard to remark in leaving that she "could have picked out prettier baby pictures herself."

In summing up the accomplishments of that period, Mrs. Wetherbee referred to the placing of the Bulletin Board where a hitherto unsightly spot in the Village Square had been the lodging place of all the vagrant newspapers blown about by the wind, the securing from the Boston Post Office, of a vehicle for the distribution of local parcel post, the petition to the City Fathers relative to the teachers' salaries, and now, on the 10th birthday of the Club, the gift to the community of the rapidly growing Club Workshop, and in closing, stated that 182 of the names enrolled that first year of the Club, are in the present year book.

The first of the reports read at the annual business meeting at 2:30, was the president's resume of the year's activities and was followed by the reports of officers and committee chairmen.

Officers elected to serve during the coming year are: president, Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs; first vice-president, Mrs. Fred G. Sandford; second vice-president, Mrs. J. T. Waterhouse; recording secretary, Mrs. Ernest W. Fisher; corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. W. Piper; treasurer, Mrs. Frank P. Patterson; auditor, Mrs. E. G. Swift; directors for one year: Mrs. E. S. Newton and Mrs. G. G. Watkins; for two years: Mrs. Harlan J. Maynard and Mrs. Frank D. Warren. A new feature, provided for by the revised by-laws is the standing Nominating Committee, appointed at this time to be preparing for its work throughout the coming year: Mrs. Lawson W. Oakes, chairman; Mrs. Arthur S. Williams, Mrs. H. P. Porter, Mrs. E. G. Hapgood, Mrs. C. H. Keeler, Mrs. H. H. Skelton and Mrs. Ralph E. Whitney.

At the conclusion of a full business session, Mrs. E. S. Drowne, chairman of the Dramatic Committee, put on a short entertainment, which included xylophone selections by Floyd Sawyer, fancy toe dancing by little Ada Merriam, daughter of Mrs. H. C. Merriam, and some delightful readings by Miss Katherine Hines, the entertainers representing local talent entirely.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Annual Meeting and Luncheon held at the Brae Burn Country Club by the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday, April 22nd, brought to a close the work of the forty-sixth year of this Club. Luncheon was served at 12:30 o'clock, with the head table having as its centre celebrity the president, Mrs. Fred M. Blanchard, and at her either hand a line of Club officers, and the two guests of honor, Mrs. George C. Phipps and Miss Emma D. Coolidge, at her right. To these two fortunate guests fell the added tribute of bouquets of superb panishes, which they found at their plates. The tables were most attractive. (Continued on Page 13)

Your old hat, which now reposes forlornly on the wardrobe shelf, can be steamed, dyed, cleaned, remodeled into any of fifty new styles which Hodges has to choose from, and finally persuaded to look as trim and saucy as the latest millinery creation sponsored by Paris and New York.

If you have an expensive hat that is rather soiled—take it to Hodges' Hat Bleachery, where they have satisfied thousands for the last 50 years. They can renovate it without removing the trimming at all. No matter whether it is a Milan, a Visca or a Felt, they will give it renewed confidence in its smartness.

New wires and binding put in hats of all kinds within 24 hours' service. Soiled gloves cleaned and repaired the very best possible. Take those to Hodges! You'll find the service unusually prompt, and the results amazing.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

with their bowls of jonquils, roses and lavender sweet peas, and with the adorable and quaint favors, fashioned from crepe paper of similar hues to the floral decorations, and painted with astonishing faces—this endless work being done by Mrs. Harry S.
Wells and her committee, attesting their willingness to serve their Club.

Mr. Norman Arnold, tenor of the Knickerbocker Club, rendered most delightfully: "A Memory," "My Menagerie," "Sylvia," "The Little White House," and "The Bedouin Song." The audience was so appreciative of his singing he generously favored it with "Sweet Little Woman of Mine," and
"Because I Love You." Mrs. Laurence Sprague was accompanist. Upon request Mr. Arnold sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold," playing his own accompaniment. His beauty of voice and his excellent control of it in interpretation and warmth was proven by the laughing remark of the president that members were suggesting dispensing with the Annual Meeting and permitting Mr. Arnold to continue for the afternoon. His rendering of "The Little White House" was especially satisfying.

Mrs. Charles E. Cunningham, the recording secretary, gave a report of the year's progress in well-carried-out thought of the dawn, high noon, and evening of a "perfect day," the closing of the year being likened to the "folding of tents by the Arabs, and as silently stealing away."

Mrs. Malcolm Warren, the retiring corresponding secretary, after her report was presented with a bouquet of lavender sweet peas by Mrs. George W. St. Amant, who paid her gracious and tribute to the pleasant bit of sentiment that she had won their hearts during her efficient and kindly service, and that she was the more glad to be the one to show her this courtesy since she knew her as a little girl.

Brief reports from chairmen of committees were also read. Mrs. Percival Waters, art chairman, in a plea for recognition and appreciation of American Art, stressed the realization that art is more Godlike than science. Mrs.
H. S. Hartwell, public health chairman, aptly hoped that the Club was proud of this sturdy child, this committee being now three years old and in rompers. The Hospitality chairman, Mrs. Sands C. Chipman provoked a laugh when she said that her committee had required for its work $41 plus, but was allowed $40, by the Executive Board, whereupon they raised the rest by selling cake at the last meeting. Mrs. Arthur Teulon, press chairman, showed 30 reports to newspapers to her credit, and 19 writings to the Graphic of past events, so proving the value of Club publicity. Mrs.
Hugo Sharpe, music chairman, paid tribute to Mrs. Bernard Early's "hand-picked" players for the day of the latter's play; a statement that was rewarded by appreciative laughter. Mrs.
John R. McLean asked that every member who had fifty cents give it to her before leaving—a request somewhat startling or questionable as to membership—until explained with a keen sense of humor that this would go for a subscription to Federation Topics, and that a cheque for one dollar—anything less being looked upon as askance as not legal—would buy both Federation Topics and General Federation News. Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald, chairman of Scholarship, brought a pleasing message in the good bestowed by the scholarship, and of letters written during the year by the grateful recipient who reported progress faithfully.

The following list of officers presented by the Nominating Committee, Mrs. Corabel R. Warren, chairman, was elected for the ensuing year:
president, Mrs. Fred M. Blanchard;
first vice-president, Mrs. Frederick A.
Cole; second vice-president, Mrs.
James G. Patterson; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Cunningham; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ernest F. Robinson; treasurer, Mrs. Charles
L. Anderson; auditor, Mrs. Adam
Haug; and directors for three years,
Mrs. Walter H. Blackler, Mrs. H. F.
Hartwell, and Mrs. Arthur H. Holmberg.

The president, Mrs. Blanchard, then made her brief speech of renewed thrust, and throughout ease, poise, and friendly spirit behind a perfect knowledge of parliamentary procedure, were a pleasure to witness.

The sense of security felt by an audience that knows its presiding officer is conversant with parliamentary law is inimitable. With a bit of humor Mrs. Blanchard asked Mrs. Phipps to present to her the gavel and introduce her to the members, "who do not know the president very well."

Mrs. Phipps arose to the occasion saying quaintly and quick-wittedly:
"Having heard that you are elected president, and I am indeed pleased, more than I can say, I will now tell you that you are the president of the Club."

The meeting closed with the custom of long standing—joining of hands forming a circle, and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Newtonville Woman's Club

An Arts and Crafts Exhibition, handwork of residents of Newtonville, and sponsored by the Newtonville
Woman's club, was held in the Bonar-Atwood Studio on Bowers street Friday, April 22nd. Great credit was due to Mrs. Royal B. Farnum who assembled the articles and arranged them most artistically.

Mr. C. J. Connick loaned generosity of his paintings, sketches, and designs and models of stained glass besides sending a man to hang them.
They were displayed to excellent advantage at the entrance, together with etchings by Mr. Hubert G. Ripley.
Other large collections of paintings were by Mr. E. G. Wilson, Mr. E. Donald Robb, and Mr. Fred H. Daniels.
Of very unusual interest were the marine scenes and etchings. Other paintings of note were those of Mr. Bonar, Mrs.
Fred Reed, and Mrs. Royal B. Farnum.

Observed with great interest, especially by her friends, were the sketches of Mrs. W. E. Strong, made on her recent trip around the world.

Mrs. Ruth Savor Davis showed examples of head photography. Particularly pleasing were the studies of children and of groups. Mrs. M. P. Rowe showed colored photographs, landscapes and studies of figures.

Very beautiful was the lustre, including some silver lustre, of Mrs.
Hicks. Miss Cora Carter had many interesting pieces of china and glass,
the latter resembling Sandwich glass.
Mrs. S. R. Comer exhibited glass of beautiful color and design.

Among the articles of needlework displayed was an exquisite piece of lace by Mrs. Liverus H. Howe. This showed that all beautiful lace is not made abroad, although few American women possess the skill and patience to do such work. Interesting, too, were scarves by Miss Eva Durrell and Mrs.
Arthur W. Church. Members of Mrs.
Nathan C. Jordan's Italian Cut-work
Class displayed their handiwork.

To illustrate hand-weaving were chenille bags made by Marguerite W.
Tyler and other articles made by Miss Mary Patrick and Mrs. Walter H.
Savor.

Hooked rugs were shown by Mrs.
Clinton W. Tylee, Mrs. J. P. Prescott, and Mrs. George W. Auryansen.

Miss Miriam B. Pearce of the Hillside Studios exhibited very beautiful leather work.

Batik were the work of Miss Margarita W. Ellis and Mrs. Mae Manamon.

Mrs. Walter J. Allen showed embroidery and crochet, an unusual piece being a sampler map of Colonial period.

The large attendance attested the interest in such an exhibition and it is to be hoped that it will be repeated often than annually.

Friday, April 22nd, members of the Newtonville Woman's Club gathered in the Ladies' Parlors of the Methodist Church for a social cup of coffee and to hear the report of the Short Story Contest. It will be remembered these stories were to be submitted unsigned, but titles and author's names were to be sent in sealed envelopes to the president, Mrs. Austin H. Decatur.
Eight stories were sent in, but as two did not conform to the conditions of not less than 500 or more than 2000 words they were reluctantly barred out in fairness to the other contestants.

Mr. Charles Swain Thomas chose the three best stories and his judgment was sustained by an editor in Houghton, Mifflin's and a young Woman in Ginn's. The stories were read very pleasingly by Mrs. Louis J.
Stietz, a graduate of the Leavitt Powers School, and as they were read before the envelopes were opened an added interest of one's personal choice was given.

"Verified" was an unusual theme treated boldly and in a manner to well sustain interest. A nurse who specialized in mental cases claimed that insane people, although they may seem sane, will eventually "give themselves away." To prove this she cited the case of a young woman subject to periods of hysteria and strange fancies.

When one day she assumed the role of nurse and relegated the nurse to that of patient it aroused curiosity as to how well she could play her part.
The game was continued daily with such perfect imitation that when an attack of influenza necessitated a stay at a sanatorium the nurse had an opportunity to test her theory. Accordingly she influenced her patient to play nurse while she herself seemed to be patient.

Then followed a well-told story of their reception at the hospital and the acceptance of the situation without suspicion of the doctors and nurses until the doctor's request for a chart brought in an element of strangeness with which the patient could not cope.
How this broke down her false strength, completely betraying her condition by her rambling and hysteria, concluded dramatically the story.

"The Old Order Changeth" was told with charm and humor. A house of a family long associated with a small town was announced to be sold. Its former owners were solid substantial people, donors of libraries and owners of the mills, but now narrowed down to a widow.

To the consternation of the town's people the house was purchased by an Englishman whose family consisted of himself, his wife and five boys, the oldest fifteen years old. How these boys boldly over-ran the place and even fraternized with an Irish family, the town's disgrace, was amusingly told. Queen Victoria's portrait was contrasted with the portrait of George Washington painted by the ancestor of the "Maiden Lady" next door. Even at church their Sunday devoutness aroused comment.

But when on the "Glorious Fourth" the Englishman gave $20 to the local band and his wife served tea on her lawn assisted by the five boys in most respectable fashion the town was won. To quote: "The colonizing English had subjugated the community."

"A Winter on Cape Cod" was a charming bit of description. How a mother and young boy lived in their summer quarters and saw out-doors from a different point of view from that which they had known former the theme.

A flock of gulls was compared to a soft gray blanket. A fox escaping from two dogs and shot down by a wandering duck hunter was sympa-thetically described. A steamer stranded on the bar, affording the great interest of the winter was well pictured.

When the decision was made known the blue ribbon story was "The Old Order Changeth," by Mrs. John F.
Brant; the red ribbon "Verified," by Helen D. Lapham; the yellow ribbon
"A Winter on Cape Cod," by Mrs. Edward S. Gilmore.

Every one voted the contest a great success and Mrs. Decatur said she hoped this favorable beginning would lead to larger results another year.

Newton Federation

The last regular Board Meeting of the season of the Newton Federation was held on Tuesday, April 26th, at 12 Austin street, Mrs. Spear presiding.
Notice was given of the meeting to be held in the High School on May 3rd at 8 o'clock, when the Federation will cooperate with the High School in an open meeting. Mr. Bacon asks that questions relating to the school interests be sent to him in writing before the meeting when they will be answered and discussed. Our schools and teachers are ready to serve our children and to co-operate with parents whose appreciation can be shown by filling the hall.

The Nominating Committee reported the ballot which will be voted upon at the annual meeting.

Mrs. Daniel M. Goodrich, for the conservation committee, introduced Mr.
Harold O. Cook of Auburndale, State forester, who gave a most interesting talk on State forestry work; on our resources and the lack of them; on our personal, individual responsibility toward the conservation of our forests and of its effect on the future welfare of this state. It was a most instructive half-hour and Mr. Cook left each member of his audience with a feeling of responsibility toward the preservation of our trees, not only from an industrial standpoint but from a scenic one.

Mrs. Spear urged a large attendance at the annual meeting on Tuesday, May 10th, at the N. C. Woman's Club.
The afternoon program is most inviting, being largely in the hands of our Junior members.

Mrs. Spear, with her usual winning grace, made a short plea for better response to the Welfare Drive for $10,000 and asked each person to consider it as a personal obligation:

"The Welfare Bureau does so efficiently the 'help one another' work which we all earnestly desire to have done, that we cannot afford to let it fall in ruin for the means of carrying on. Not one of us would refuse to help a near neighbor who was in need. The Welfare Bureau is doing this work for us for our neighbors, in an efficient and Christian manner, we can't afford to let them restrict their greatly needed usefulness. Let's all get busy and send them a cheering cheek!"

:- The Old Fire Engine :-

The picture shown above was taken about 45 years ago. The two old pieces of fire apparatus were Engine 1, a Hunneman steam fire engine purchased by the Town of Newton in 1868, and for some years the chief pride of the old town. The hose reel was purchased at the same time. This old steam engine and hose reel were considered very modern when purchased nearly 60 years ago, but as time passed they became antiquated and were replaced by more up-to-date apparatus. The Hunneman engine, after a long and glorious career, tipped over in a snow-drift at the corner of Washington and Jewett streets, while responding to a fire at West Newton, in 1892. It was succeeded by a smaller Amoskeag steam fire engine. The old reel was discarded for a horse-drawn wagon in which the hose was stored similarly to the manner used in present fire trucks.

The fire house in the picture antedated the apparatus. It was built in 1855, and was considered "some pumpkins" at that time. In fact it was almost the cause of splitting the town into two towns. Citizens in other parts of Newton considered it a great extravagance, and only the threat of Newton Corner to secede, brought about the erection of the building. Engine 1 house was the "last word" in its class 72 years ago, but like the apparatus it originally housed, it became inadequate long since, and should have been replaced by a more modern building in a less congested location.

The man shown on the driver's seat of Engine 1, is Frank Harrington, who for a number of years handled the ribbons over the horses which pulled the old Steamer. The man standing by the big wheels at the side of the engine, was Frank Judkins. He came from the Amoskeag Steam Fire Engine factory at Manchester, New Hampshire in 1874, and for 42 years was engineer of the old steamers, and until the advent of permanent firemen he also was in charge of the house. He retired in 1916. The man standing on the platform at the rear of the engine was Horace Lindley, stoker for many years, and like all other firemen at that time, except Judkins and Harrington, a call fireman. Horace was a house painter by occupation. The uniformed figure standing behind the engine was "Jim" Henthorn, Newton Corner's day cop for many years. "Jim" was a big fellow, and a great mixer. He was the first driver of Engine 1, preceding Harrington. The dog lying at the front wheels of the engine was a very intelligent Newfoundland, owned by Harrington, and known as "Punch." "Punch" was a great favorite with the Newton children of his day. He followed Engine 1, to every fire, and was killed in the performance of duty. Old age had slowed up "Punch," and one day while following the engine, he got in the way of the hose reel, which was close behind, and was run over.

At the other end of the picture from Henthorn, standing at the front of the hose reel, was "Bill" Emerson, one of the two night patrolmen at Newton Corner 45 years ago. On the driver's seat of the reel was Oscar Chick, a call fireman, and by occupation a house painter. Standing at the rear of the reel in order were Peter Hooseason, Andrew Nutting, and J. C. McDonald, the latter one of the members of the original Engine 1 Company. All of the men shown in the picture have been dead these many years with the exception of Harrington, who is still alive, residing in New York.

It will be noticed that no horses were attached to the apparatus, a seemingly strange thing, in view of the pose for the photograph. Forty-five years ago Newton practiced strict economy. Not only were almost all the firemen call members, but even the horses were "call fire horses." When this photograph was taken, the horses which pulled the engine and reel were performing their regular duty pulling carts used on the highways by the Street Department. When an alarm was sounded the man driving the carts to which these horses might be attached, would send them on the run from wherever he might be, to the fire house. Before doing this, unless quite near, he would first have to unhitch them from the street department wagon. Arriving at the fire house, the horses would be harnessed with all possible haste to the fire apparatus, and then the run to the fire would commence. Meantime the fire would be getting a real start. A few years after this picture was taken, horses were regularly assigned to the fire apparatus, and a permanent driver appointed for the hose reel. For many years two horses drew the engine, and one horse the hose reel. Later three horses were assigned to the engine, and two to the hose wagon.

The old apparatus has gone, the men who manned it have gone, but the house still remains. It too should go. There is a thrill in watching fire trucks responding to an alarm today, but it pales in comparison to the thrills we received when the fire apparatus was drawn by plunging steeds, guided by skillful horsemen, and the sparks poured out of the funnel of the old steam fire engine.

der a bed of plants and the bullets hidden in the attic. Perhaps irritated at his fortunes, Major Pitcairn, at the Wright Tavern, stirred his brandy with his fingers, and said: "I hope I shall stir the damned Yankee blood so before night." The symbol was unnecessary for the Yankee blood was already stirred. The British started to sack the town and so the Acton company started out to combat them. The British killed the Acton captain. Buttrick gave the command: "Fire, Fellow Soldiers, for God's Sake Fire!" The volley was effective and the British retreated.

There remained for Col. Smith only two things to do: to recall his troops from Barrister's or depart for Boston. In fact he did neither. He made no effort to safeguard the return of Capt. Parsons, the latter was fortunate in escaping with his men and no loss of life. At Merlans Corner the two forces had a skirmish which ended in the retreat of the British.

This began the running fight which soon carried the combatants out of Concord. It was only the forces of Lord Percy from Boston which saved the Expedition of Smith. The British returned to Boston after that memorable occasion much better acquainted with the American spirit.

JOHN WOODBURY LANE.

COLLEGE NEWS

By Harold P. Carver, N. H. S. '26

Since we have been dealing with masculine side of the house for the past weeks we are going to change and allow the woman to have the last word for a time. And the place that we have selected is the last word in attractive spots, at least a large percentage of the boys have thought so, judging by their actions. In Norton on the Cape is tucked away one of the prettiest colleges for women that ever have graced the earth. Wheaton is typically a small college in that it caters to the beautiful and the attractive rather than the great and Monstrous.
Here the Newton people should have even more interest, for Dr. J. Edgar Park of West Newton is the president of this institution, being recently appointed to the position last year upon the resignation of Dr. Smart another minister from Newton. The college has been steadily growing from one of small capabilities to large ones with particular attention to the department of History. The whole equipment of the college is of first rate appearance and the strides that it has taken in recent months shows that it intends to progress even further in the way of keeping up with the times and modes.

There are two in the senior class who give Newton as their home land, although one of these is a recent comer to the city. The latter is Priscilla Brooks, the sister of Frances a graduate last year from Newton. She is one of the leading lights in the school due to her musical ability and her unusual power along the lines of history.
Coming from Vermont some four years ago, she set out to follow the trail that her older sister, Margaret, had left for her, and she has succeeded very well.
Not content with making the honor society in history, she also went out for the hockey team and later the basketball six, and made both. She played for three years as forward on the hockey team, finally captaining the Blue in her last year, while as a centre in basketball she made up for her shorter reach by being remarkably swift on her feet. It was due to her efforts for the most part that Wheaton had as successful a season as it did. She plays the violin and has taken part in almost all the musical concerts that the college offers, besides singing in the choir for two years and in the glee club.
The other senior comes from Newton proper and is a graduate of the High School in 1923. She was one of the players on the class hockey squads her first two years and when the winter came around she was found interested in putting forward the best that she had on the basket-ball court. Her last activities along the line of sport took place her final year when she was a member of the girls' tennis team that won everything in sight that season.
There were many evidences of musical taste in her make-up, for she attended the Mandolin Club her two middle years at the school, making the group each term. Unfortunately this organization went into the discard and as a result we have it revived in the orchestra which has done notable work along these same lines. At any rate the Mandolin Club in this would be passe, it would have to be a Ukulele Club.
Her other field of interest seemed to be that of English. She was enrolled in the Club that goes by that name for four consecutive years, which is a unique record, and a fair criterion of her ability in the subject. In the same connection the Debating Club had her listed as an active participant for three years, and then when the Newtonite was founded she cast the fertile product of her pen to their disposal and was a prime factor in the success of that new adventure.

In the sophomore class two more of the girls from Newton join the cohorts of the Blue. Doris Brown of Newton Upper Falls and Ruth Henrich of Auburndale are the two who have enrolled in the good ship of Knowledge for two more seasons. Ruth while at school was of the studious turn of mind and stayed with her books the majority of the time and as a natural result came out near the head of her class when she graduated in 1925. She did have time enough to go out for hockey in her first two years at the school but after that she seemed to lose her interest and devote herself to the real reasons for schools. Her fellow classmate was much the same as she and, although she was selected for membership in the Alpha Gamma Tau and the English Club in her junior year, Dorothy Brown was interested in the main with her books. Although studies called these two girls, they found time to be good friends and each had a wide circle of acquaintances.

In the freshmen class this year are four young ladies from Newton, all of whom left splendid records behind them in high school. The first of these is Catherine Blanchard. While she was at Newton, most of her interest ran to the outside world, and the various departmental clubs, and she was particularly interested in the work of the French Club in which she was prominent her final year. The Mathematics organization also was one of her activities, for she was in that group for four terms. In the last session Catherine also was one of the large body of students that aided Mr. Griffin in putting over his splendid success, that of the amalgamated Glee Clubs. The second girl is Dorothy Brown, of Newton Highlands this time, and a girl whose ability caused her to be awarded the scholarship that is annually given by the Newton Highlands Women's Club. She was highly interested in the cultural subjects while at Newton, and, as a result, attained membership in the organizations that are opened to those whose ability has enabled them to meet the qualifications. In her last year she was elected to the Mathematics and French Clubs, taking a very active part in the work of each body. Barbara Farnum was one of the best liked of all the girls while at Newton and she has kept that record up at college where she is respected by all the students. Barbara had a busy session while she attended high school, being into almost everything that they had on the lists. In her third year she was selected to represent her class in the Constitutional Convention, and did her work right ably. Out of this she was returned as a representative and then was selected to be a member of the Girls' Athletic Board. Holding a great love for all the sports, she shone as a basketball player, being on the team for two years, and manager her final season. She also had time to give her studies plenty of attention and made the English Club for two sessions being one of Miss Richardson's props in her last term, and then also was enrolled in the French group, taking a part in one of their productions that they gave in an effort to prove that French really could be used in a way other than as a mere study. Then, too, the Mathematics Club and the Library Club had her as members of their respective bodies. As one of the last compliments to her executive ability she was appointed to the publishing board of the Orange Book which is the freshman Bible. Then the class chose her as the final member of the Executive Council, and on that body she did an excellent job as one of the best girl legislators that the school has had in some time.

COLLEGE DEBATE

Holy Cross and Boston College Orators To Debate Philippine Independence

The big event of the year for the young orators of Holy Cross and Boston College will occur in this city on Sunday evening, May 15, when the stars of the Fenwick Debating Society of Holy Cross, and the Fulton Debating Society of Boston College, will cross arguments in the annual contest between these two organizations in the auditorium of the new high school building on Walnut street, Newton-ville. The subject of the debate will be, "Resolved—That the Philippines should be granted immediate independence." The affirmative will be taken by Boston College, and the negative by Holy Cross. On the same evening the junior debating societies of the two colleges will argue this same question in Alhambra Hall at Worcester, but taking the reverse sides of the argument. It will be the final debate of the year for both teams, and in the forensic field it occupies the same importance as does the annual clash between these two colleges in football.

The debate in Newton is being sponsored by Newton Council, Knights of Columbus. The Newton K. of C. is showing a genuine interest in the big educational institution located at Chestnut Hill. Last winter the Council visited Boston College to greet Rev.
James H. Dolan, its President, and to present a substantial sum of money to aid the work of the college. Some weeks ago the Glee Club of the college furnished the entertainment at the annual Ladies' Night of Newton Council K. of C., and now the sponsoring of the debate is but another evidence that the local organization intends to continue its co-operation with the college.

Charles E. Coyne of Austin street is general chairman of the committee arranging the affair, and he is devoting much time and energy to assure its success. The chairman of the committee on arrangements is William J.
Doherty, and he has as assistants
George Brophy, Francis Frazier, Timothy Hickey, John B. Harney, William B. Doherty, Lawrence Lombardi, Paul Fitzgerald, John L. Sullivan,
Thomas Lyons, John Dunton, John Monaghan, Joseph Callahan. The committee on judges includes James P. Gallagher, chairman; James Waters,
William Geegan, William H. Powers,
George M. Cox. The Prizes Committee is composed of William Dorsey, chairman; John Gordon, William E.
Cahill. On the Entertainment Committee are Walter Kerns, chairman; Joseph Gildea, John E. Mahan, Edward Gray, and John J. FitzPatrick.
The committee on Guest and Invitations includes Robert Vachon, chairman; John Tierney, John E. Riley, Joseph Curran, James Cannon, Stephen Hughes, John P. Gallagher. Edward Heislein is chairman of the Reception Committee and he is assisted by Robert Burns, Chester Prior, Mark Croker, Jr., and Thomas Geegan.

Newton Council, K. of C., is donating a handsome silver cup which will have to be won three times to be retained permanently by either of the two colleges. Gold fobs will be given to the members of the winning team.
A list of names will be submitted by the managers of both debating societies, and from this list the judges will be selected by the Judges Committee of Newton Council, K. of C. Much interest is being manifested in this event and it is expected that the auditorium will be filled on the night of the debate.

tional Church, corner Linden street

COMMISSIONER CHADWICK AT CHICAGO

Public Buildings Commissioner, Celcil C. Chadwick, in company with Mr.
Louis K. Rourke, Building Commissioner of Boston, is attending the annual Building Officials Conference being held this week in Chicago, and is
